"Second Front" Again

Most of us had thought that the "second front" question was no longer a matter for pressure and agitation. Soviet Russia, we thought, was satisfied with progress and strategy already decided upon.

Today's news calls for a revision in such thinking, and opens the possibility of action. The agreement instead of the agreement which was thought to have followed in the wake of the Washington conference.

When there is an air raid warning DO NOT USE YOUR TELEPHONE except for serious personal emergency.

During recent air raid tests, most people have cooperated by not telephoning. However, there are still a few unnecessary calls, both during the alarm and immediately following the "All Clear."

In an air raid test or an actual emergency, TELEPHONE LINES MUST BE KEPT FREE FOR URGENT OFFICIAL CALLS... CALLS WHICH ARE BEING MADE TO PROTECT YOU AND YOUR COMMUNITY.

You may encounter slight delays in service before the first audible signal of an air raid alert, so please remember that is the critical period of alerting local defense personnel and is the time your telephone central office is extremely busy handling vital mobilization calls.
