Police Court Truck Driver Appeals Fine

Donald Ellison, 24, of 22 Sherman street, Hartford, was found guilty of speeding on East Center and Center streets on August 2 in Town Court this morning by Judge Raymond B. Bowers. Ellison, employed by the Viking Baking Company, was arrested on that date by Officer Joseph Steingart, charged with driving a truck at a speed of 35 miles an hour in excess of the limit of 30 miles an hour. Ellison testified that the truck was operated for three years and maintained a governor on the motor, limiting its operation and speed to 35 miles an hour. He testified that the truck on July 29 drove the truck on level ground and attained a speed of 50 miles an hour. Ellison testified that he did not look at the speedometer while driving from the Green to West Center street shortly before the arrest and could not state the speed at which he was traveling. Judge Bowers found Ellison guilty and imposed a fine of $20 and costs. Counsel for Ellison was William D. Molowsky, 27, of 151 Market street, Hartford, was fined $5 and costs for breach of the peace and judgment was suspended on a charge of intoxication. Molowsky was arrested Monday night when he caused a disturbance at 51 Adel Place and Officer Steingart was called to make the arrest. Molowsky was belligerent and troublesome when arrested, the officer testified. James K. August of 7 Cottage place, Williston, presented a charge of non-support of his wife, received a continuing order on September 3 upon his agreement to pay $20 a week to his wife. Upon the recommendation of the Prosecuting Attorney, the case of Robert Scramton, charged with unlawful punishment of his child Raymond Scramton, was continued until November 3 at a satisfactory arrangement had been made between the parent and the child in connection with the case. Scramton will be under the observation of the Probation officer during the period of probation.

No Softer Terms Offered to Italy

From any qualified Italian spokesman regardless of former affiliations came in a surprise denial in Commons. He said:

"We are as a war cabinet anxious to see Italy accept the unconditional surrender she was offered and anxious to see facilities given to her so that we can turn the war even more vigorously on to Germany."

"We are anxious to see a peace in which Italy can play her part as a respectable nation once again. If we accepted unconditional surrender from anyone I would not regard myself as thereby recognizing them in the least. I would be extremely pleased to accept unconditional surrender from Hitler tomorrow."

Back Badoglio's Program
German broadcasts were backing what apparently was Premier Badoglio's program—that the war must go on—in the limit, despite indications that Mussolini's successor does not speak for the great masses of the Italian people. The fact that he is using his control of the government and the Army Bureau to side the overwhelming public clamor for peace, indicates, it was believed, his intention of playing the German game as long as possible.

Boris reports that "quiet reigns now in the towns of northern Italy" when last week mass peace demonstrations were reported, were accepted as evidence that Badoglio's military repression of public opinion has been successful.

The government-inspired Italian press and radio continued to ridicule Allied surrender terms, attempting to convince the people that they would be no better off, if they ceased fighting. The Rome radio said that even food would be taken from the Italians to maintain Allied military operations from her soil, despite Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's explicit pledges to the contrary.

Maria Seta Italian Ship
As time worked for German and Italian relayed reports, unconfirmed from other sources, that the Nazis had seized three Italian ships carrying Italian troops to Italy when they appeared in Suda Bay, weeding them. There were details as to where the vessels had come from, but Badoglio had been reported announcing Italian patriots back from the Balkans and British destroyers also blazed away at the east. The Allies' air activity four enemy planes were destroyed at a cost of two Allied aircraft. Catania, and at Cape Moli, 17 miles south of Taormina and just north of Catania.

Light naval forces laid down a tightening blockade of the Axis garrison, maintaining a steady patrol even in the narrow Messina strait where they fought two sharp engagements with enemy motor torpedo boats. One of Cape Armi in the Italian line and the other near Taormina. One of the enemy boats was damaged.

Flames Range Unopposed
Not only bombers but several types of fighters and fighter-bombers ranged unopposed over the German and Italian ground forces, dropping high explosive and point blank range and ripping Axis infantry with cannon shells and machine-gun bullets.

A frontline witness said: "The air in the sky is dominated by regular traffic jam up there. And, at the western base of Mt. Etna, and the run positions and roads in that area were the focal point of the aerial bombardment, and 80 enemy trucks were reported destroyed and 100 damaged."

R. A. F. Wellingtons attacked Catania, swamping the defenses with a concentrated bombing. The crews said the Nazis and other fighters held their fire until the last moment and then let loose simultaneously, but the first bombs were the most effective and a tornado of explosives fell on the "Christmas tree," said one airman.

Target New Gaps in Line
The Allied land advance tore new gaps in the Etna line and threatened the Adriano-Catania highway skirting the base of Mt. Etna. The Germans hastily poured in all but essential supplies and the British First division and the Canadian Seventh and the Part of the present calm in Italy under the blanket of military dictatorship is due to the failure of the Allies to clean up Sicily last week. Badoglio's press and German propaganda agents are making the most of this situation, saying that the Italian fighting spirit.

Made Display Showdown
The Germans have displayed considerable showdown in handling Italy since Mussolini's downfall. While German troops were moving into northern Italy, occupying Trieste and Fiume and posing as close as possible to Milan, they apparently were under strict instructions to avoid trouble with Italian forces. While the Axis advance was being reported in such case withdrawal and waited until the Italians had cooled off.

Spanish press dispatches from Berlin, meanwhile, reported the German situation still was a topic

Big Savings Stamp Order

Cloak Company Asks $2,950 Worth Be Delivered in Books.

Postmaster Olin Grant was an unusually busy man this morning. On Saturday afternoon he was called at 4 o'clock from the Independent Cloak Company asking why their concern hadn't been asked to buy stamps. The workers in the plant had taken the afternoon off, but he was informed that there were a few who wanted to buy stamps. Mr. Grant went to the plant at the corner of Pine and Pleasant streets, only to find but six persons working.

Much to his surprise he was handed a check for $2,300. It was requested that the stamps be delivered in books to the value of $18.75 each. Mrs. Sidney Ellis had purchased $1,000 worth to start the drive.

It meant a lot of work for the postmaster to get the stamps into the books, but he agreed to the situation and today was filling the books which he was to deliver to the company this afternoon. It meant that he was passing into the different books 11,800 stamps.

Knocked Unconscious By Shock
Darien, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Donald Donohue, 17, former Darien high school athlete, now a town employee, was knocked unconscious yesterday when he brushed against a high voltage wire while pruning a tree on Lockwood avenue. The youth fell, but landed in a crotch of the tree only a few feet under the limb on which he was standing. Stamford hospital reported him "resting comfortably" and in no danger last night.

Melchior testified that Ellison passed several cars en route from the Green to the point of arrest. Ellison testified that the company owning the truck which he has operated for three years had maintained a governor on the motor, limiting its operation and speed to 35 miles an hour. He testified that the truck on July 29 drove the truck on level ground and attained a speed of 50 miles an hour.

The inference was that either Berlin is in the dark as to Badoglio's real intentions or at least it is not so sure enough to tell the press and public about them.

Ninth Air Force Headquarters
Announced today that American bombers operating from the Middle East had nearly tripled their home load delivery on Axis targets during July over the previous month.

The new troops, marching from hill to hill alongside Moroccan Goums, were knocking out the heaviest German defenses with motorized Long Tom 155s and scaling the steepest ridges to outflank the Axis troops at bayonet point. The steady advance gave the fleeing Axis soldiers no time to organize their lines.

Oliver Push Extra Energy
The appearance of fresh American troops and the tested British Seventy-Eighth division gave the Allied push that extra energy which it needed to sustain the offensive now entering its fourth day.

The Americans strongly pushed their advance across the plains toward the southern edge of the mountainous terrain, but the doughboys were known to be pushing ahead steadily from that captured highway hub.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke."

... or how to break the ice in Iceland

"Come, be blessed and be happy", says the hospitable Iclander when he meets a stranger. That's a warm way of putting it, but no more friendly than the way American soldiers say it. Have a "Coke", says the Doughboy, and it works in Reykjavik as it does in Rochester. The pause that refreshes is the friendly way to say "Hi, pal" in any language. All over the globe Coca-Cola has become the gracious ice-breaker between kindly-minded strangers.

Breaking Street Lights A By-Gone Luxury

Lewis Stone Reminiscens on Halloween Sharpshooters and the Trouble They Cause

As told to Alley H. Beamish

Lewis Stone, the mellowed "Judge Hardy" whose tempered judgments have helped to bring a hundred moving pictures to very satisfactory conclusions, was about to tell of his boyhood. It was a new role, and this movie-goer was not going to miss a bit of it. "Street lamps had been much when I was a youngster," he began—and a puzzling beginning it was. "They were air lamps in my day, and they emitted a buzz that they brought in the night with them. They were not like the modern street lamps. But we had a lot of respect for them, not only because they had replaced the lamps in legions, but many of the schools in that locality to put on his Magic Safety Show. The trick and ends up with twenty-two minutes of safety magic, a large portion of which drives home to his young listeners, the traffic dangers present on unlighted thoroughfares. Result? St. Louis County had 236 broken street lights on Halloween of 1941, and only 12 for that same Roman holiday of 1942.

On Long Island, the finger-shaking method of curbing wrong-doing has been replaced by science. Ten Dollars Beware, pronounced a pointed high sign, who helps in the arrest and conviction of those found guilty of the crime.

The saga of the McGregors. The listener could wait. Mr. Stone was undoubtedly sketching the background for a Hollywood career at this very moment. His words became clipped. It was Larry McGregor, the of the merrily eye and the ready stone, who gave me my first clear conception of how valuable a street light is. Yes, the McGregors, with the first shot. And in those days, the power company had to stand up and while it stayed out, it stayed in.

Street lighting seemed a far cry from the hardy of Hollywood but the subject was evidently not exhausted. Nowadays, he said, the problem of broken street lamp or globe is a major one in some cities. In the case of the McGregors, the Council recently spent a lot of money to point out in newspaper advertisements that breaking a street light is a form of sabotage. It might have been one of the things that broke down in 1940 to break down the worth of globe, lamp and fixture was down to only 460 units, when that figure goes up to $2,000, as it did this January. It is a matter of simple arithmetic. There is a major problem in material in the McGregors. It requires labor and time and gasoline to replace each smashed globe. The McGregors, too, says comes when the hunting season is on. Those old enough to secure hunting licenses seem to be immature enough mentally to give Hardly Thrill Out of Dive American Flier Too Busy When Plane Hit Speed of 780 Miles. London, Aug. 4.—Lieut. Col. Cass Hough, American flier credited with traveling faster than any other living man, says he barely got a thrill out of the power dive in which his plane attained a speed of more than 780 miles an hour.

Plane Identity Is Described Local Expert Is Speaker at Last Night's Meeting of Exchange Club. The part that the Airplane Observers' Post play, many hundreds of them along the New England coast line and interior, was vividly described by a speaker at the meeting of the Exchange Club of Hartford last night.

Side Glances BY GALBRAITH. Chicago—A soldier left his coat in a downtown theater the other night and the manager, going through the pockets for identification, found these items: An empty money belt; six loose cigarettes, four sticks of gum, two handkerchiefs, a pair of socks, a bladeless safety razor, three pointless pencils, a well-used deck of cards, a heating fountain pen, ten marbles, a piece of chocolate, a small tin of tooth powder, a pair of thread and—31 cents.

Wash Tubbs. Why are you cleaning me? Walk in sunlight and you'll shoot it off your back! I let that water run for me!

Our Way. Go ahead fellows—let the team around and around the short circuit and—what? The short circuit is the only way to get the power back on the line!

HOLD EVERYTHING

Agent—Why, insurance is the greatest thing in the world. No man should be without it. I even carry a $50,000 policy, payable to my wife. Harnessed Prospect—It's too much. What excuse can you give for living? Customer—I'm sorry, couldn't bear this cost. It is too tight for me. Harnessed Prospect—It's too much. What excuse can you give for living? Explaining His Mistake. You're powerful reckless with your money. I'm not powerful reckless with my money. I'm not powerful reckless with my money.

Freckles and His Friends. Well, it's food, isn't it? Don't you bring any food with you? How do I know you've brought any? Okay—that might be a little!

Pinckney Wortle, The World's Laziest White Man. That rocker creeps sideways—he's on his way to town!

Wheeler Raps Father Draft After Oct. 1. The Senate reconvenes next month. It is not to be forgotten that the responsibility to decide major policies of this war rests with the Congress, outside of the actual conduct of military operations.

Fight Way Through Streets in Climax; Menace Nazi Lines

Signs of Danger to Other Exposed Sections of German Lines in Russia Appear Immediately; Nazi High Command Announces City Evacuated After All Stores Removed and All Military Factories Methodically Destroyed.

Moscow, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The battle for the stronghold of Ore reached its blazing climax today with the Red Army fighting its way through the streets of the city to complete the reconquest of its first major objective of 1943.

Where the Russians would strike next after the elimination of the Ore salient remained their own military secret, but every word that came out of the Red Army mouthpiece today was no doubt there that the Red Army soon would strike again.

Signs of Uncertainty Russian forces have edged forward on both sides of the enemy's Kharkov salient and their positions along the Don and south of Voroshilovgrad.

German Communiqué said the Russians launched a series of violent counter-attacks yesterday against newly won German positions north of Khrushchovo on the Mius river front.

One conspiracy count charges the defendants conspired to commit acts which "constituted interference and obstruct" the United States and Great Britain in their efforts to bring about the cessation of hostilities.
