Not Allowed on Platform
Persons aboard the train with relatives in France had made arrangements with the Berlin Foreign Office to meet their relatives during a halt at a suburban station. They were not allowed on the platform as the result of a number of occasions when the German soldiers in the Latin-American department of the station had harassed the internees.

Apparently the Germans feared the internees would receive information as to the state of affairs in France.

The Germans also appeared to be afraid of the internees.

destroyed in the first sea attack on the coast of France, picked up 73 coastal defense troops and 3,000 tons of cargo. The destroyers sank a transport which they destroyed after a few minutes of shelling.

The enemy destroyer, an old one, was blown in its mad race to avoid the American guns. It sank on a reef. Another cargo ship and a transport were sunk after they were hit in a later attack. Duke of York Island was pounded after dark.

Part of Burke's force, commanded by Comdr. R. W. Cavallaro (homebound unavailable), bombarded Kavieng, laying down a smoke screen and firing at the enemy's six-inch batteries ashore. In the attack at dusk, the destroyers sank a transport and a destroyer.

Burke's ship victims made it at least 30 enemy merchant vessels and escort craft sunk off New Ireland and north of Rabaul since Feb. 14.

No Enemy Interception
The attack on Rabaul was by bombers of all types from Solomon Island bases, and like recent previous assaults met no enemy interception. Only five Japanese fighters came up, but they stayed out of the raiders' range.

The raiders blasted Lakunan and Keravat airbases in Rabaul's system of airfields, and scored direct hits on eight ships and numerous barges in Keravat bay, leaving two vessels ablaze.

United States troops have pushed beyond the Tora river on the northeastern New Guinea coast and are about 12 miles north of Salido, where the Americans landed Jan. 2. Their progress is toward Madang, Japanese coastal base about 45 miles farther north-west.

Farrell Takes Over Control in Argentina

After several days could be transmitted abroad. There seemed no question, however, that the situation was the direct result of smoldering opposition within the military, which was fanned into flame when he decided to break relations with the Axis powers on Jan. 26.

It remained to be seen what effect Farrel's assumption of the presidency would have upon Argentine foreign relations. But it was noted here that he is an intimate friend of Col. Juan Domingo Peron, soldier and air leader, who frequently has been mentioned as the man behind the reactionary "Gou" or "coligacion" group.

This organization was credited only last week with forcing the resignation of Peron's Minister of Defense, Alberto Gilbert, one of the original members of the "Gou" group.

Reported in favor of a declaration of war against Germany.

There was a new black-out imposed by the Argentine government, although there were reports that military forces had been very active in the past few days.

The action of Ramirez in stepping back to reduce the black-out was attributed officially to ill health.

The first Associated Press dispatch to come out of Buenos Aires reported that the Argentine government was limited to a war department release of a statement after conference with all members of the cabinet.

"Exhausted by the intense tasks of government which make it impossible for me to take a rest, on this date I delegate the office which I occupy to Vice President Gen. Edelmiro Farrell."

Complete Silence Follows
The Argentine cabinet, after reports of a government turnover had been circulated here and followed by a period of complete silence, on developments in the Argentine capital.

It was presumed, however, that Farrell himself was reported to have resigned his post as war minister as a means of obtaining a complete black-out.

A former amateur boxing champion, Farrell has had little opportunity heretofore to demonstrate his physical ability in his capacity in that respect in a ring.

It was believed here, however, that the fact that he has been named as war minister is a sign that he has influenced the Army group in the cabinet.

The President's chair. It was recalled that had been rumors that Ramirez might resign there had been a second cabinet reshuffle that other Argentine cabinet members had resigned.

The Army group thus might have been in backing Farrell by the belief that he would be regarded as a logical successor to Ramirez and that the question of withdrawing recognition of the government would be future in other American capitals.

Appointed in Decree
Dispart of the cabinet was not so sure of this, however, for they pointed out that Farrell was not elected vice president but was appointed last October in a decree issued by Ramirez.

There was some question here as to how the cabinet group could reconcile its present position with the fact that two days after the Ramirez government broke with the Axis it issued a statement supporting him as the "Barron" of the revolution.

Work Appeal Wins Response

One Firm Offers to Release 25 Employees to Jobs in War Plants.
Hartford, Feb. 25.—First direct response to the voluntary manpower program organized under sponsorship of the Connecticut War Council was reported today by State Manpower Director William J. Fitzgerald. A manufacturing firm has offered to release 25 employees for transfer to other plants with high labor priority ratings.

Interviewers from the United States Employment Service, Mr. Fitzgerald said, will be sent to the plant, will talk individually with the workers and will refer them to other jobs. When their company needs them again, he wants them to come back a second transfer will be arranged.

Mr. Fitzgerald said he means the order "Proceed."

The manpower director used this example to illustrate what is meant by "voluntary procedure" in the transfer of workers, promised in the program of the War Council's Victory Manpower Campaign.

Hebron

Local people were invited to attend a combined "World Day of Prayer" meeting at Andover Congregational church, Sunday, February 27, at 3 p. m. and lunch served at the Andover Town hall at noon as a starting point.

Last minute reports on Hebron's 4th war bond drive have brought the total up to $27,125, the quota being only $25,000. It seems that a great deal of money has been raised in the town, with perhaps a population of 1,200. It means that on the average about $22.25 was invested by every man, woman and child in the town. But when it is considered that this is one of the best and most profitable investments for one's cash it need not cause surprise.

One $25 bond was bought at the White school during the war bond drive, and another $25 was bought at the home of 428-10 was bought by Nellie Ann, 50 Danvers street, made his home with his uncle and purchased of the bond. One other book of stamps has been completed but not turned in. This would mean an additional bond.

The regular meeting of the Hebron War Council was held Monday evening. Owing to the illness of Chairman Harold I. Gray, First Selectman Winthrop S. Foster occupied the chair. One bit of business done should cause a week of special mention, the plan for raising funds for a consolidated school which has long been a project under consideration here. The selling bricks was decided upon, at $25 each. Mrs. Vorus P. Nicholson of Amston Lake started the ball rolling when she pledged her effort to dispose of four bricks.

A committee, the members of which are Albert W. Hilding, Mrs. Vorus P. Nicholson and Chairman Frankel, were put in charge of the project.

Another committee composed of Ira C. Turslow, Albert W. Hilding and Leroy H. Getchell, are in charge of plans for an athletic field and an appropriate program. A special meeting of the council is scheduled for March 6.

Mrs. Mary E. Cummings, still a patient at the Manchester Memorial hospital, is reported as in a comfortable condition following her attack of pneumonia. Her son and daughter-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. Harold J. Cummings, also her sister, Mrs. Leslie E. Cummings, and family of Providence, R. I., were recent visitors.

Mrs. Alfred Schatz and infant son, Alfred, Jr., have returned from the Washington Community Memorial hospital.

Porter, has just written his parents that he and several others of his squad have been awarded the air medal. The medals were pinned on by a general. He is in the Italian area. So far as known he is the first Hebron young man to receive this honor. He is one of four brothers fighting in the U. S. service.
