

To Continue Local Drive

Fund Still Short $8,000—Appeal Is Made by Campaign Head.

Reports today from local Red Cross headquarters are not encouraging. The drive is still $8,000 short of its goal in the drive for funds. However, it is announced that the drive is not over and an effort will be made to go over the top within the coming week.

Herbert Howe, chairman of the campaign, makes an earnest appeal today to all residents to cooperate in this worthy endeavor. He asks all contributors to turn in their final contributions and to those who have not been solicited to do so.

The appeal and reminder were first made in English publication in the 16th century.

Police here have been unable to contact Marvin Plack, father of the child reported working on a construction project in the Yukon territory. The mother and father are estranged.

When arrested in Iowa, Mrs. Plack told Police Chief Harry Gardner of Iowa that DeLore died about Feb. 1 while she was away on a week-end trip. She said she stayed in the apartment with the body for about three weeks while no one of the child's death, then left for her parents' home in Iowa.

Lodge Honors Old Members

Veteran Odd Fellows Receive Emblems; Grand Officers Are Present.

Veteran members of King David Lodge of Odd Fellows were guests of honor at the meeting and roll call last night in Odd Fellows hall, and a number of them were fielded to receive emblems.

Members present included: Grand Master Arthur E. Zolin was present, also Grand Secretary, William S. Hutchison, of New Haven, formerly of this society. Deputies: Grand Master Charles E. Roberts; Grand Treasurer Frank W. Whitton; Grand Representative Fred J. Phelps; Grand Warden Jesse B. Stinson; Grand Marshal Paul W. Howe; and Grand Conductor Francis J. Merkle.

Also in attendance was District Deputy of District No. 24, and District Deputy of Grand Master E. C. Pomroy of District No. 3, and officers of many of the neighboring lodges.

Forty and 35-year emblems were presented to E. J. Herd, Herbert Hunt, David H. Wilson, Thomas H. Trotter, Thomas Ferguson, Gosh, Herbert B. House, Edward W. Hadden, George W. Hadden, George F. Barr, Thomas J. Rogers, William C. Sledge, William T. Smyth, and James B. Crawford and others. These had 40 years and 35-year emblems were presented to E. J. Herd, Herbert Hunt, David H. Wilson, Thomas H. Trotter, Thomas Ferguson, Gosh, Herbert B. House, Edward W. Hadden, George W. Hadden, George F. Barr, Thomas J. Rogers, William C. Sledge, William T. Smyth, and James B. Crawford and others.

respondent program definitely has been voted against more in the field, and he added:

"The full effectiveness of a correspondent story is not known until those who read it do so. Often it carries through in the Marine, or Marine, or the field about whom it is written."

He pointed out that the combat correspondent program was developed by the Marine Corps and in no way supplant, civilian correspondents.

No Protest Yet Made

"To go further, let me say—and I tell you this not as a boast, but as a matter of record—we have never yet had a single protest, or complaint, voiced against our news by any newsmen, either editorially or otherwise."

"Rather, civilian correspondents in the field have voluntarily praised the cooperation given them by our men on numerous occasions."

British Take More Steps On Secrecy

States and Britain to guard against espionage in high seas. The western front invasion, it was emphasized that the measures will be taken at the attack it imminent.

British and American and Ireland was suspended some time ago and rumors persist that the British would be making land trips between Northern Ireland and Great Britain.

Convoy Arrivals Censored

United States authorities have imposed a 100 per cent censorship on the news of convoy arrivals in England. Any mention of the years Secretary Thomas Maxwell and the Department of War, James B. Wilson and London Clarke were appointed by Noble Grand Secretary Hutchinson commingled King David Lodge on its long list of loyal members.

Thomas Ferguson spoke in behalf of the British, and the British practice now has been discontinued. Travelers thus face the prospect of being stranded when communications lines are cleared for troops and war material.

Leakage of information the British have banned arrival to all central countries.

The steadily-tightening regulations in Britain are reflected plainly in feverish activity channels on the other side of the channel. The Germans there are said to have flooded coastal areas in The Netherlands and to be increasing the shifting of civilians inland.

Denver, 67—The Lowry Field Rev-Meter, weekly publication at the airbase, carried a story, under a banner headline, which said: "Both House of the national Legislature announced unanimous passage of the McClellan-Edwards bill which calls for the expenditure of more than $100,000,000.000 as a bonus for the boys and girls in uniform and guarantees every member of the armed forces not one cent but two votes for every man in the United States and three votes for every day in foreign service." It was the Army budget's All Fool day edition.

Bomber Crash Brings Death To Wingate

As the time of his death Wingate was in command of the British and Indian jungle commandos which landed for behind the Japanese lines and which have made the important Mandalay-Myeiktha railroad at Endau and Mawla. This daring airborne operation was planned at the Quebec conference to which Wingate was flown at Prime Minister Churchill's orders.

Wingate, a relative of the late W. Lawrence, the famed "Lawrence of Arabia," was a holder of the triple distinguished service cross. He first won recognition for leading the "special light squad" which cleared the path for the 14th Air Force in 1941. He was again decorated for leading 3,000 Sudanese and Ethiopian warriors against the Italians, killing or capturing 60,000 of them.

At 30 Wingate met a 15-year-old girl aboard a ship bringing him back from Leylan, operations. She said last year she "married" him and said "You're the man I'm going to marry. They were married two years later."

"Night-Buster" Bombs Aid Aerial Cameramen

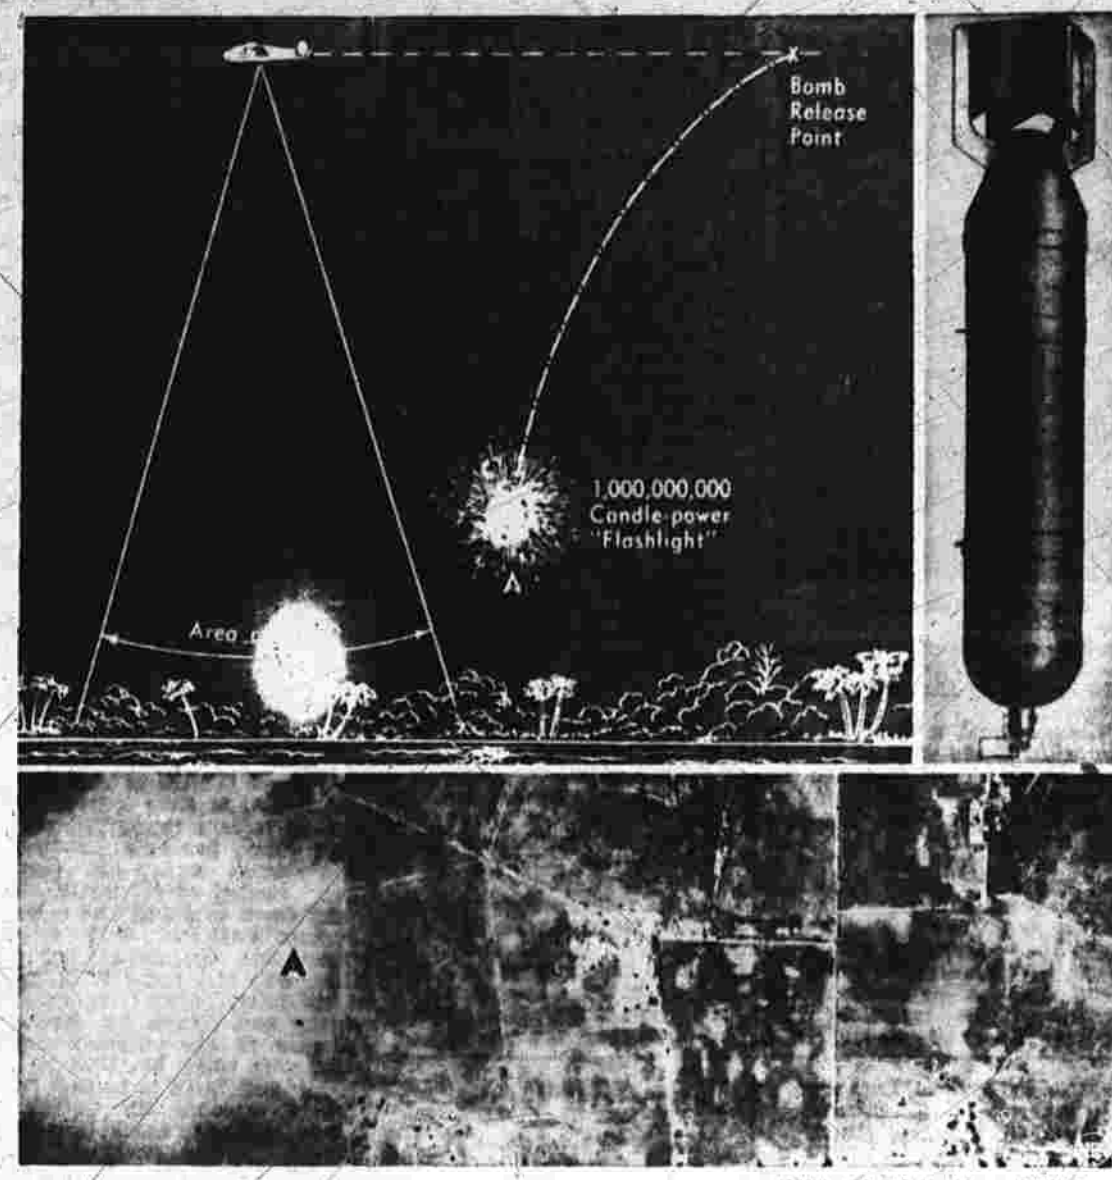

Diagram and photos above show how Army aerial reconnaissance photographers of night missions now "bomb" their photobombs with a super-duper "night-buster" flashlight beam, pictured at top, right. Weighing 92 pounds, it contains 25 pounds of flashlight powder, provides about a billion candlepower flash. It is used to explode at a point behind the plane, as shown in diagram. Explosion lights up target area and also activates photo-target area and also activates photo-target area and also activates photo-target area.

Stressing that it had nothing to do with the hunt, or with the subsequent prisoners' strike, Colonel Cain revealed that Second Lieutenant John Aboud, public relations officer at the camp, had been believed of his duties, and said charges had been filed against him, the nature of which he declined to discuss.

"The case is under investigation by headquarters of the Seventh Service command at Omaha," he said.

Making the investigation, though, the commander reported that prisoners' radios had been examined at a Trinidad warehouse for possible about what were found.

He explained that prisoners were "allowed to have long-wavelength" and added that they had been purchased locally.

Colonel Cain did not appear over-concerned because of the prisoners' attempt to make liquor, explaining that "it's something they'll always try to do if they can get away with it." He added: "It's probable that American soldiers interested in the matter would try to do the same thing."

Discovery of an escape tunnel at the camp last October led to an investigation and to the recapture of six German fugitives. The tunnel was dug with crude implements. An anonymous association between some prisoners and Japanese-American women employed on farms in the Trinidad area was discovered when pictures taken from one of the recaptured German warm embraces.

The War Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the still investigating the episode, have not announced a decision.

About Town

The April meeting of the Manchester Coon and Fox club will be held at the clubhouse in Coventry tomorrow. It is requested that all members attend this meeting as there is considerable work to do around the grounds and also repairs to the clubhouse proper. It is requested that all come in their own clothes so that they can help out. Refreshments will be served by James Ralston and Paul Hussey, the committee in charge.

struments in influencing market prices and production, were reported from the functions of production, marketing, and the support of prices.

This separation brought protests from the commodity specialists. Although none would comment, reports circulated that several, including G. C. Stitt, chief of the Dairy and Poultry branch, and O. C. Jones, chief of the Livestock and Meats branch, had threatened to resign.

Marshall then rebranded his organization again. This time he placed in the commodity branches the responsibility for developing and administering over-advance programs for the management of their respective commodities, and the policy committee to open up with Olmstead on procurement programs.

This change apparently has smoothed out the administrative difficulties in egg markets.

Difficulties in Egg Markets

While this internal rift was at its height, difficulties in the egg markets in many sections of the country. Prices dropped, in some areas below prior support levels promised by the WFA officials during the past year.

The production of eggs has become unusually heavy, they said, and in many areas the supply is in excess of civilian and military requirements and storage facilities.

Only one sign of the times appears to be to broaden its purchase operations, which is from the only mechanism for supporting prices.

Ickes Insists On Public Defense

Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes today announced that he would support a public defense bill, which would provide for the payment of legal fees for indigent defendants in criminal cases.

The Petroleum Reserve Corporation, headed by Ickes as its general administrator, has been the target of congressional criticism for its participation in plans for the line to tap Persian gulf oil.

Ickes, it was disclosed today, is in the process of reviewing the record when he is quoted as saying that he is "not sure" whether the bill is "worth the cost of the program."

It is necessary, Ickes said, to have a "clear" picture of the situation in the oil fields. He said that he is "not sure" whether the bill is "worth the cost of the program."

London Theater Booms Despite Mediocre Plays And Over-Age Performers

By Tom Wolf
NEA Staff Correspondent
London—London is leaving City this week's Paris of 1914-18. And its theater is entertainment-mad. Its restaurants, its movies, its theaters are all along unbridled.

"Book" they are called. "Ah, and 'Standing Room Only' are the signs of the times all over this war capital.

London's recent rapid brought to a temporary end the greatest season in the British theater's history. Excitement, however, is not business to jump right back to its pre-raid level just as soon as the target of congressional criticism for its participation in plans for the line to tap Persian gulf oil.

Jury to Get Chaplin Case Next Week

that Chaplin, three or four days after his speech, took Miss Berry to his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, invited her into his bedroom, shared and engaged in sexual relations with her.

In the second count the government alleges Chaplin gave her train fare back to California, with the same immoral intent.

Charges Vehemently Denied
Miss Berry has testified to all this, and all of it Chaplin has categorically and vehemently denied.

He arranged for her trip to New York with her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Berry. Chaplin testified, after she repeatedly told him she wanted to leave Hollywood for good.

He professed no immoral intent and he claims, committed no immoral act with her in New York.

And, Chaplin holds, he engaged in no act of intimacy with Miss Berry after her return, during the period specified in the indictment.

On cross-examination yesterday U. S. Attorney Charles H. Carr asked the actor the flat question: "What was the last date you had sexual intercourse with Miss Berry?"

"Sexual intercourse isn't that important in my life," the actor snapped.

Recalled to the stand, Miss Berry testified Chaplin told her in June, 1934, that he would spend a fortune keeping her character if she publicly accused him of fathering her then unborn baby.

She said that he suggested she go to New York to have the baby, that she asked him if he could be married and that he responded: "I'm not marrying anybody."

Still Faces Civil Litigation
Regardless of the outcome of the main act case, Chaplin still faces civil litigation involving the paternity of Miss Berry's 16-month-old daughter, Carol Ann.

He is accused in another Federal indictment of conspiring with six others to deprive her of her civil rights by forcing her to leave California.

All trials do more damage to theater box offices than to almost any other property. Despite the fact that production of musicals involves all the problems that war has brought to the theater, the manpower pool is primarily the over-age or the physically unfit. The girls come mainly from outside call-up ages—under 18 and over 28.

The result is smaller choruses and nightmarish for choreographers, who must figure out routines in which every boy has at least three girls to dance with.

The clothes rationing problem has been met in many ingenious ways, one of them being the liberal use of Hosiery—a rough, sack-type material which can be treated to look like silk or satin and which takes light well. This is particularly important, because with fewer costumes available, producers rely increasingly on lighting for "changes" of costume.

Using a bit of ingenuity is worth a producer's time these days. If he can get a show on the stage at all, he's almost assured a 50 per cent above a boom season in ticket sales.

Cash Guard blinks now flash word to west coast falling feet when they spot schools of fish off-shore.

As yet, this war has produced no super-hit here like "Big Boy" of the last war. On the other hand, it has made it almost impossible to produce a flop. There have been almost new plays, players or music of outstanding importance.

In fact, "Congress's 250-year-old comedy 'Love for Love' is probably the outstanding success. It is the fifth and third years respectively—hold marathon records.

There are fewer American plays now being produced than in almost any other period in the history of the theater.

In a similar case last October Judge Metzger found General Richardson in contempt of court for not releasing two men. He fined the general $5,000, later reduced to $100. On Jan. 24 President Roosevelt unconditionally pardoned the general.

WESTERN DEFENSES

The kind and disposition of German defenses against Allied invasion are mapped above, from description by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Chief of Staff of the Supreme Allied Command, in his report to the War Department, as described by the Germans, "main defense against the Allies" in 13 months' interim in Germany. The Rhine, the "Atlantic Wall," stretching from Hendaye, on the Spanish frontier to the Hague, Netherlands, across the coast, and containing more than a million men, is the main defense. It is a concrete and steel structure, extending all along the coast of Norway to Denmark, and contains a complex system of anti-aircraft and anti-submarine defenses. The C. R. Burr & Company Nurseries, is extending its operations into many sections of the country as well as into South America. A recent visitor of the company's home plant was Antonio Garcia, horticulturist from Chili. Mr. Garcia was impressed with the production of the C. R. Burr Nurseries, particularly in the propagation and growing of the propagating and growing of food-bearing trees and plants. The Burr Nurseries were also examined recently by H. A. Higgins, Extension Fruit Specialist of the State Agricultural Extension Service who expressed himself favorably as to the important work the Manchester nursery is doing in maintaining apple production in this country. He pointed out that the Burr sales of apple trees in 1943 could be expected to produce some 6,000,000 bushels of apples during the lifetime of these trees.

YOUR VICTORY GARDEN

By Robert Geiser

Part 16

Seeds, tools, fertilizers and labor are so scarce that Victory Gardens will have to conserve each of them. One of the most efficient and easiest ways to conserve is to use a city-wide or neighborhood plan. Large lots may be plowed at small expense if a number of gardeners participate. Likewise they may be irrigated and fertilized on a large scale with economy. The amount of heavy work and expense is reduced.

MONDAY, APRIL 3 IN THE NORTHWEST SECTION

All Streets West of Main Street from the Center North and North of Center and West Center Streets, including Buckland.

George Paschauer, owner of the Pashauer Restaurant, 200 Main street, is passing out coupons for notebook recently to his customers. Naturally, the coupons are being passed out as an advertisement of his business. "You tried to find the spot mentioned on the cover of the notebook you are using," says the coupon. "Because the cover has a picture of the Pashauer Restaurant, you are entitled to a notebook. The notebook is located at the 'Corner of Main and Peach Streets.' We know Paul at the Pashauer, and so we never heard it called 'Pashauer'."

"That was a sincere tribute that was paid to me by my friends and family Wednesday evening. Upwards of four hundred people were present at the church where we were very glad to have two decades to bid him goodbye and Godspeed. Manchester is a better place in which to live because of his long and faithful service to our neighbors. I am proud to have known him and to have served. Dr. Woodruff not only worked for the interest of the Church, but he also served the community in numerous capacities for which the only remuneration was the reward of work well done. He will be missed by a large circle of friends in Manchester."

DAFFODILS

We now have ready for sale, for now and through Easter, 400 choice pots of Daffodils, Narcissus and Hyacinths, grown in our own greenhouses. Both double and single trumpet daffodils are low and sturdy, excellent for the home, hospital and cemetery decoration.

3,000 King Alfred trumpet daffodils for cutting. Excellent quality. We will have a large supply of all other cut flowers and plants for Easter, including your orders or visit our greenhouses. Delivery to all sections of the town.

Is Promoted

John Scarbuck, of 21 North School street, has been promoted to the grade of Corporal as a laboratory technician of an Air Force technical squadron operating in the Mediterranean theater.

Corporal Scarbuck, a graduate of Manchester High school and the University of Connecticut, wears battle stars for participation in the North African and Italian campaigns before the war. Corporal Scarbuck was fully well qualified to be promoted to the grade of sergeant, but he was promoted to the grade of corporal because of his excellent work.

As a result of every meeting new members were added. Many were added to the committee. This system worked very well.

In recent years, however, after the chairman had named his committee there were some members who believed that there were other good workers in the party who should be on the committee.

To Take Census

Of Town's Voters

The registers of voters will start on Monday with a number of assistants to take a census of the voters in Manchester. This will be completed by July 1. There will be many new names added this year because of the new developments since the last list was compiled.

It is likely that the census will show about 15,000 names on the list this year.
