Polio Drive Started Here

Chairman Spencer Reiterates Need as Campaign is Opened

Manchester was in step with the nation today as the local 174th March of Dimes committee began its annual fund raising drive which sparkled the never-ending battle against infantile paralysis. W. Robert Spencer, local manufacturer and chairman of the Manchester committee, expressed confidence that the goal of $7,500 for this humanitarian cause would be topped.

"When you know that it costs $2,500 per year to care for the institutional treatment of each polio victim, it often takes much more than a year's time to accomplish this. It should behoove us to give generously again this year to meet our small quota," said Mr. Spencer.

"We in Manchester have been most fortunate and it may be said that we have not had the worst epidemic of polio since the great epidemic of 1916, the worst in recorded history. This means that not only was the National Foundation called upon as never before to furnish maximum equipment, personnel and every other aid to its victims, but we still must assist those who have not yet achieved maximum recovery. There are more receiving post-polio treatments today than ever before.

"We in Manchester cannot afford to let back on our heels and say it can't happen here. It can happen here, as it has in other parts of the state. We must continue their efforts in this yearly drive to raise funds to combat this dread disease that it is possible to have money enough to be able to meet an outbreak of infantile paralysis wherever it may occur.

Chairman Spencer emphasized that there will be no solicitation of funds by workers or school children in any home to house canvass. He directed that all checks or money be sent to the Manchester Trust Company or put in a Polio Drive container in any store or other place of business.

General Committee

The general committee for this year's drive assisting Mr. Spencer consists of Walter Buckley, William B. Hyde, Walter N. Leclere, Joseph McQuibby, Thomas McQuibby, John LaBell, Elmer Wedan, Harold Alford, Dante Pagan, Mrs.

Hits Subsidies For Farmers

State Grange Master Asserts Farming Must Be Self-Supporting

Hartford, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Henry Page of Guilford, local Grange master, was speaking at the evening session of the all-day conference of the New England section of the National Grange here today. He is a graduate of Harvard, university and during the war he was an underground leader in Hungary and instrumental in saving many Allied fliers shot down behind the front lines.

Underground Leader Speaker Hartford, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Alexander Stuart-Ivany, member of the Hungarian Parliament and United States representative to the National Grange here yesterday that "agriculture in America must be made self-supporting without the aid of subsidies and with the assurance of better standards of living."

Page, state master of the organization, urged 200 delegates and others to "work unrelentingly to make agriculture self-supporting and to protect your interests" by this representation in the state Legislature.

"One often hears that the farmer has more ready cash today, it is more than ever before."

"Other things suffer."

"It is you that, if the farmer has more ready cash today, it is because of the subsidies of the federal government."

"The farmer has more ready cash today, it is because of the subsidies of the federal government."

"The farmer has more ready cash today, it is because of the subsidies of the federal government."

Warren Douglas Wood, 58 Woodbridge street, student at the Boston University College of Music.

Rotary Club Hears Batson

Commanding Officer of Air Force Group, Talks On "Honor System"

Colonel Burnham L. Batson was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Rotary club last evening at the Hotel Sheraton. Colonel Batson was commanding officer of the 452nd Bomb Group with the 8th Air Force in England during the war. His subject, "Honor System at West Point."

"The United States Military Academy at West Point was organized and developed through the years to graduate young men into the Army possessing the personal integrity and background that would enable them to take over positions of responsibility during peace and in war," said the speaker.

"The cadets are drawn from a cross section of the country. They live and work together under a rigid military educational system that places each entirely on his own merits. At the end of four years those who are successful are ranked in the order of their own accomplishments and take their place in the Army according to that standing under such a competitive system and in line with the whole spirit of the academy, the honor code was a natural development. This honor code is controlled not by the academy authorities but by the cadets themselves through their honor committee. Each cadet company elects one man from each class to act as its representative on this committee."

"I think that this word 'Honor' has a particular significance today in our lives," Col. Batson stated, "as a natural aftermath of the World War, our own economic development has been disrupted by labor management disputes, and throughout this whole process, mutual distrust is the biggest obstacle. The distrust of one nation for another, the distrust between labor management and capital, hating it down it is pretty much a matter of the absence of honorability between individuals or groups of individuals."

"The honor code at West Point, as well as honor as the foundation for individual success," Col. Batson concluded.

President Mark Holmes introduced the speaker.

General News of Programs Coming to the Networks

(Eastern Standard Time)

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)— Certain developments in the network program business, falling in the order of a paragraph by paragraph report, can be detailed something like this:

First and Present First Ladies, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Mrs. Harry Truman, are to join in the same broadcast on ABC at 8:15 p.m. January 22. It will be on behalf of the March of Dimes, with the pickup from the White House. Because he had been denied to doing without one when he was broadcasting a daily 15-minute series along, Henry Morgan, now with a Wednesday night ABC production half-hour, has decided to use what difference of opinion of a studio audience will mean for that program. So next week he will give the idea a one-time trial. The Morton Downey, Jr. show, now shown on NBC, five times a week, is being closed January 31. Originally this was a comparison series to the Spotlight bands, which the same sponsor took off last September because of the star situation.

Sunday Evening Party, current ABC series at 9 p.m. Sundays, will be moving to CBS January 24, the time 12:30.

Like other broadcasts, the Bing Crosby show transmitted on ABC from recordings, will take a summer vacation at the end of its six week run July 9, the replacement to be a live musical feature to be broadcast in the same format as the ABC, which at present does not have a television station but puts on picture programs in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago through a time lease arrangement, has decided to broadcast the New York show. Later the network expects to be operating its own station, first in Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco, for which licenses have been granted. It also has an application on file for a New York transmitter.

Idle Benefits Claims Jump

Total of 20,098 Filed; 7,954 from Veterans of Other State

Hartford, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Claims for unemployment compensation for the period between Jan. 6 and 11 increased 13.6 per cent over claims of the previous period and 27.4 per cent over the corresponding period of 1946, State Labor Commissioner John J. Egan reported today through the office of Executive Director Howard F. Hissaman.

A total of 20,098 claims were filed, the report stated, including 7,954 from veterans and 4,692 from women. Initial claims increased to 4,550. The report said that 17,980 claims had been made on Oct. 31 was officially terminated and the men were now eligible to receive unemployment benefits. Approximately 50 men from a boat company applied for benefits.

Waterbury and Meriden contrary to the statewide trend, showed declines of 12.7 and 14.3 per cent respectively.

last argument of his own against it. What the threat is to be in- cluded in the bill, Mr. Vandenberg remarks on the same platform. "I believe," said Senator Vandenberg, "we shall continue the device of negotiated trade agree- ments, in one form or another, to release and expand mutual trade—an even greater need for us than for any other country be- cause our vastly expanded national economy and employment re- quire it."

"Whether this can continue on its present multi-lateral basis will depend somewhat upon the type of competition we confront from foreign state monopolies and from a growing habit abroad of making bilateral agreements for political as well as economic purposes. These habits could force us into defense tactics which we would not voluntarily embrace. We shall fit our procedure to the circum- stances which are forced upon us."

"Certainly we intend to keep our own American industry and agriculture and domestic produc- tion, and to protect our system of free enterprise. Anything less would be a scandal not only for our own people but for the rest of the world."

He has Senator Vandenberg's approval of the idea of open world trade and admitting the truth, which is that we need such a con- dition even more than any other country. Both we and Senator Vandenberg voting qualifications as to the methods by which the reciprocal trade agreements must be continued. And here the possibility and the danger is that some elements of the Republi- can party are out to revise the reciprocal trade agreement, not to improve it, or to add it to con- ditions, not to kill it, so that they can return to those high tariff policies which are the extreme in economic isolationism.

Thus while Senator Vandenberg is a Clevelandist, the policy of Senator Vandenberg is an American policy. It is not a Cleveland policy. It is an American policy. It is a policy which is based on the success and integrity of that policy in the past, and it is to be hoped, for the good of this country and the good of the world, that the future will still find American baselined united on the proposition that a return to isolationism is impossible.

But for all the great harmony between the two men, and there- fore between the two parties they represent, at the Cleveland meet- ing, it needs to be kept in mind that there are various ways of making an indirect return to isolationism which could be quite as final and important in their influ- ence as let us say, an outright resignation from the United States. And both men at Cleve- land, touched on one of the issues which is going to be just as much a touchstone of American policy, and just as important to the cause of world peace, as our membership in the United Nations. Both men handled the issue as it was being raised, but partisan controversy over it was in the offing. The issue involved is that of this country's relations with the rest of the world.

"We cannot," said Secretary Byrnes, "wholeheartedly abandon the policy of political isolation unless we abandon the policy of economic isolation. We are not likely to be successful in our effort to cooperate to prevent war, unless we are willing to cooperate to maintain freedom and well-being in a world at peace."

"We must learn to cooperate to that the people of each country may exchange the products of their country easily and fairly with the people of other coun- tries."

"We must learn that prosperity and freedom must be shared, not on the basis of handouts, but on the basis of fair and honest exchange of the products of the labor-free men and free women."

"We believe that there should be no unnecessary barriers to the free exchange of ideas and infor- mation among nations. But it is unrealistic to expect to have trade in ideas if we are unwilling to have trade in goods."

"We must do our part to break down the artificial barriers to trade and commerce among na- tions. We must pursue vigor- ously our reciprocal trade policies which are designed to expand American trade and world trade because the world cannot buy from us if we are not willing to buy from the world."

Speaking after Secretary Byrnes, in his only one of the key efforts of American diplomacy during the war itself. One of the big things we bought with our lend-lease money was the defeat of our allies, and a pledge from our allies that they would cooperate with us in a reduction and elimination of trade barriers in the period following the war. This same pledge we obtained from Britain, a second time, in the terms of the Bretton Woods. We realized, in all this, that it is to be one world, not only to our world, economically and diplomatically and polit- ically.

Now there is a threat of change to this policy, and Secretary Byrnes seemed to be speaking Saturday night, as if he were aware of it and putting in one has given sound and serious consideration to the question, and the result is a decision that the taxes will be established again, in a new bill, to last for a year be- ginning June. These taxes are, as this column has noted in the past few days, the new last taxes that should be lowered with the nation is still not operating on a balanced budget, still not begin- ning to pay off its war debt.

This sound Republican decision, taken by itself, is completely preposterous, and the kind of responsibility government this nation should be privileged to get from a party coming into power.

Whether one of the things the Republicans hope to gain by the continuation of taxes on liquor, tires and jewelry is completely sound is another question. They calculate that, if they keep these taxes, they will have a better chance of keeping their promise to make a straight twenty-cent cut in personal income taxes. De- spite as that cut would be to in- crease individual tax payers. It will not be a healthy and normal growth. The average total of funds in- vested in loans and U. S. Gov- ernment securities during 1946 amounted to $4,800,000,000. The gross income from these securities amount- ing to $200,000,000. After providing for income tax- es, setting aside a reserve for con- tingencies, and paying dividends totalling $2,000,000, a sum in ex- cess of $2,800,000 was added to undivided profits.

This increase of $200,000,000 in undivided profits and the dividends of $200,000,000 represent together an earning of $400,000,000 on the basis of the original subscrip- tion price of $200 per share. Di- vidends paid represent a return of 46¢ to the stockholders, on the basis of the original subscription price of $200 per share. "It may be mentioned, at this time, that nine members of the staff have returned from the armistice service to their employment at the bank."

At the council met at 11:15 a. m. in the boardroom of the City Hall, the meeting was presided over by the directors. Mr. C. Alford, Ernest T. Bunty, W. George Glenny, Walter F. Gormley, John H. Hasbanc, Russell B. Hathaway, John L. Jenney, Everett Keith and LeRoy T. Wood. The directors will meet later to name the officers.

warehouse to a Washington, D. C. truck terminal. Hoover said the goods then were bailed to New York city and then, consigned to another owner. His announcement continued: "The new owner had come to Washington on Dec. 10, 1946, and through negotiations with Gormley had agreed on a purchase price of $53,000 for the lot. Two checks in this amount of $25,000 and $28,000 were tendered Gormley in payment. Through investigation the FBI located the fraudulent ob- tained goods shipment in the storage company and it was seized Jan. 12."

Hoover said the 38-year-old Diome was employed by W. A. Traffic division. His function, Hoover said, was to determine from surplus property sale purchases the manner in which the desired merchandise was to be shipped and to what destination.

The FBI chief said Gormley, who is 50, was sentenced in Wash- ington on Nov. 27, 1933, to serve a four to eight year sentence on a grand larceny charge. On Feb. 28, 1934, this sentence was revoked and a straight eight year sen- tence imposed. Hoover added:

"The year 1946, from the stand- point of business volume and earn- ings, was the best to date since the bank was opened in 1933; this, in spite of the reduction of $300,000 in total resources. However, when $1,000,000.00 of U. S. Government securities have been withdrawn dur- ing the year, an increase of 6400,000.00 in general deposit business is indicated. This may be construed as a healthy and normal growth. "The average total of funds in- vested in loans and U. S. Gov- ernment securities during 1946 amounted to $4,800,000,000. The gross income from these securities amount- ing to $200,000,000. After providing for income tax- es, setting aside a reserve for con- tingencies, and paying dividends totalling $2,000,000, a sum in ex- cess of $2,800,000 was added to undivided profits."

This increase of $200,000,000 in undivided profits and the dividends of $200,000,000 represent together an earning of $400,000,000 on the basis of the original subscrip- tion price of $200 per share. Di- vidends paid represent a return of 46¢ to the stockholders, on the basis of the original subscription price of $200 per share. "It may be mentioned, at this time, that nine members of the staff have returned from the armistice service to their employment at the bank."

WATKINS of Manchester

3.50 at

Good many of the few-of-a-kind items are entirely cleared out, but there were still a goodly number of other popular pieces at this writing. Foot stools you'll want to re-cover to fit your schemes, magazine racks, pic- tures, rugs, and a kitchen shelf. Children's red rockers from Mexico, a youth's chair, hand decorated; doll cribs with drop sides, mattress and pillow, and cradles also with mattresses and pillows. Formerly $3.95 to $7.50.

A few full size hand decorated Mexican side chairs, plenty of foot stools, including two or three large models, a maple dressing table bench with an upholstered top, a kitchen whar- net shelf with a mirror back. Three-piece table-and-chair sets for the tiny tots, made in Mex- ico and hand decorated over black finish, and with rush seats. Large and small pictures, and a collection of scatter rugs. Former values $6.50 to $13.50.

Arrange Plans For Anniversary

The commissioners of the South Manchester Fire District last night took the first steps for ob- servance of the 50th anniversary of the organization of the South Manchester Fire Department which will occur on April 21, 1947.

The commissioners have named a need for each of the four com- panies of the Department, who in turn will name one member from their own company, the chief and his first and second assistants, the three commissioners, and the col- lector of the District, to be known as a general committee.

This means that a committee of 15 will comprise the general com- mittee and it will be authorized to make such additions to the com- mittee as is found necessary. A meeting of this committee will be held at No. 54 home on Spruce street, next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock for organization.

for the Republicans to slash in- dividual income taxes by a fifth this year, at a total estimate of saving to income earners of $3,000,000,000.

If Chairman Taber (R-N.Y.) of the House Appropriations com- mittee is correct in declaring, "that the budget can be held down."

"A 20 per cent tax reduction will be comparatively easy, and we should be able to pay four or five billions on the public debt."

"If Mr. Taber's figures are cor- rect, anybody who says we can't cut individual income taxes 20 per cent is talking through his hat."

Taber's latest estimate is that of goods which might be eliminat- ed from the president's $37,328,000,000 spending figure.

Unless Congress intervenes, the high excise, provided by the 1943 revision of the Tariff Act, would take July 1 under the president's proclamation declaring hostilities at an end.

Knutson announced the joint House-Senate, 102-member budget committee will meet Monday for its first look at President Tru- man's 1947 fiscal estimate, pre- paratory to writing its own con- crete Federal expenditures as re- quired by the congressional re- organization act.

The sale was held last Dec. 6, 7 and 8. Hoover continued, "called for Diome to raise or in- crease the value of the goods in the shipping order when it crossed his desk in northern California. Diome admitted participation in the scheme netting him $7,000 paid by Gormley through an intermediary on Dec. 11, 1946.

In 1946, Gormley purchased $24,000 worth of the goods, described as 10,000 yards of 36-ounce wool cloth suitable for clothing material, from a W. A. site salesman. He tendered in full payment therefor his personal automobile to the trustees of the bank. The material was originally purchased by the government for $1.60 per yard.

Sales Document Altered

The sales document was altered during routine processing to reflect Gormley's purchase of $24,000 and the amount paid to the government as $96,000. The altered document was reviewed by warehousemen on Dec. 10, 1946, and 60,000 yards of textiles consigned to Gormley were trucked from the

Senate Appropriations Hearings Will Be Open

Decision Will Result in Lot More Stories Coming from Washington Daily on Spending

By James Marlow

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—If you're hit with a lot of extra words this year, it will be because something new is being tried.

Always the Appropriations com- mittee of the House and Senate have worked behind closed doors, with press and public out.

Now the Senate committee ex- pects to be in the open. Not the House committee. It will go on as before, with the public out.

Two Committees Important

All this would be pretty hum- drum except for the fact that the two committees are important here's the story:

Last week President Truman sent his annual message to Con- gress. Every president has to do the same thing now in January.

The message was Mr. Truman's annual report to the nation. It cost to run the government in the year. He said $37,500,000,000.

(That fiscal year starts July 1, 1947 and ends June 30, 1948.)

Mr. Truman's estimate wasn't a guess. Top government officials and his assistants had worked for months on it.

Needs Figured in Detail

They figured out in great detail how much each department, bureau, branch and agency would need.

Now the budget estimates are in the hands of the House and Senate Appropriations committees.

It's their job to find out whether the government needs that much money or can do with less.

It will take them several weeks and months of quizzing government officials to find out.

To do this job—hold hearings—the two big committees divide themselves into a number of smaller committees, called sub com- mittees.

For example: A subcommittee on the Agriculture department, another on the Interior department, and so on.

Thousands of Pages

The hearings usually start in January and because of all the cutting—fill many thousands of pages of specially printed books containing the bills to be passed.

For example: Last year the hearings on the Interior department, in the House took 277 pages. The Senate subcommittee hearings required 1,377 pages.

There are 12 separate hearings they cover the whole govern- ment—and the committee then turn out 12 separate bills.

Those bills—usually less than the president's estimate—set forth what he must do to get the con- gress to pass the budget.

It is upon those bills—appropriation bills—that the House and Senate vote. They vote the money to keep the government going.

The money, of course, comes from taxes.

Once in a while during the hearings they cover the whole govern- ment on those bills a few specially interested people—like labor lead- ers on a labor department bill—

Governor Hits At Racial Bias

Believes Color of Skin Should Not Bar Opportunities for Man

Meriden, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Gov. James L. McConaughy says he be- lieves that "no man should be de- prived of opportunities because of the color of his skin."

In urging that "America's rich- es be used to attain the higher in- tellectual, moral, religious and higher ideals toward fellow man," the former president of Wesleyan university last night told members of the Meriden-Walling- ford Foreman's club that "a man may be just as great a patriot as I, even if his skin is black."

The governor, who for some of the war years headed United China Relief and later was top man in the Office of Strategic Services, also described his wartime world travel, saying:

"Everywhere I went, people looked upon us as the stand old world, conservative and rich."

"We have the wealth and the A-Bomb and they view us not with- out envy." He stated, adding that while European countries are "old historians" they are "trying new experiments" in government.

Cautions Americans against becoming "flabby and weak men- tally," he asked that "no one look down on other nations, with- out dignity, arrogance and superiority because of differences in color, and state as an example for the im- portant diplomats of the world to emulate."

Meriden? Meteorology is the study of the atmosphere and its phenomena, and meteors were named at a time when they were thought to be atmospheric phenomena, such as lightning.
