Signs Point to Showdown

All the notices went to all signs pointed to a coming showdown in central China.

An estimated 400,000 government troops, most of them new recruits, were massed in the general area of Szechow, said China military headquarters, 170 miles northwest of Nanking.

There they face the tough, seasoned east China Communist armies of Gen. Chen Yi, which are ready in a position to make an outflanking drive and isolate Szechow.

Such tactics were used by Chen's forces in capturing Fuzhou, Shantung province capital. That defeat and the more recent disaster in Manchuria wiped out some of the government's best Army units. Fu Tze-Tai, commander in chief of the government's army, said the best divisions left to Chiang Kai-Shek are stationed, was reported to have arrived in Nanking from Peiping for emergency conference.

Waldemar Feldmeier, 35, a county organization leader, said he was trying to persuade Gen. Fu to move his troops south for a final stand along the Yangtze, thus abandoning the northern cities of Peiping and Tientsin.

Arrivals in Peiping from Tientsin, Shantung province's besieged capital, reported that the city might be saved if Nanking sent two divisions of reinforcements.

Shannon Picks Appeal Board

Five Hartford County Residents Chosen to Act on Draft Cases

Hartford, Nov. 5.—Five Hartford county men compose the draft appeal board which was nominated today by Governor Shannon.

The nominations were submitted to Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, Washington, D. C. He is expected to follow the governor's recommendations. Nominated were: Attorney Wallace W. Brown, West Hartford; Dr. Arthur B. Landry, Hartford; John J. Miller, Hartford; president, Hartford Central Labor Union, Vincent E. Gill, Bristol, general production manager of the New Department company, Bristol; and Vincent E. Urickich, Hartford, state committee chairman for the Hartford area.

Meetings in Hartford

Hartford county men were selected for the board at meetings which were held in Hartford, the governor's office said.

In addition to the appeal board, which for the present would serve the entire state, the governor will name panel appeal boards for New Haven, Bridgeport and other counties.

The board is composed of one representative each from labor, industry, public, law and medicine.

seniority; that is, on how long man has been on the committee. He represents the House in Congress.

If tradition is followed in his case, Dewey will be the first modern day Negro congressman to head an important regular committee. He represents the 12th district, which has sent Negro members to Congress for many years. The only other present Negro House member is Rep. Adam C. Powell, Jr. of New York, who won re-election to his third term on the Democratic and American Labor party tickets. He ranks fifth on the Labor committee.

The expenditures committee has broad authority to look into all the executive departments of the government. Its jurisdiction covers the activities involving the spending of Federal money.

Under the chairmanship of Republican Charles E. Hoffman of Michigan, this committee during the past two years has probed the State, Commerce, Justice and Agriculture departments, as well as the Federal Communication and housing agencies.

Among the nine hold-over Democratic members of the committee, with six to be added in the '51 with the party's new majority status, four represent southern states.

lary power and a stabilizing force to offset Russian power in eastern Europe.

The urgent need to undertake this task as quickly as possible, particularly at the point where any Soviet thrust most likely would fall, namely, western Germany.

The desirability of having in the French zone of occupation a force strong enough to deal with any international effort by the Communists to disrupt the stability of western Germany.

France has been peculiarly dependent on military help from the United States since the war. This is due to the fact that when France's defeated army was being reconstructed after that country's liberation from Nazi occupation, they were equipped almost exclusively with American supplies.

Mr. Truman said that the need to rebuild its civilian economy, France has been less able than Britain to undertake any large scale rearmament program of its own.

6,000 Visitors At New Store

Local Shoppers Crowd Michael's Jewelry All Through Yesterday

Approximately 6,000 shoppers found time yesterday to visit the new Michael's Jewelry store in the new business block between St. James and Forest streets and to try their luck at winning one of the 50 awards being given by the management of the store. Each visitor was handed a ticket when he wrote his name and address. Drawing was made this morning and the winners will be announced in tomorrow's Herald.

Women shoppers who visited the store yesterday were given red roses as an opening day gift. The supply of red roses was exhausted by mid-afternoon and it was necessary to obtain more. Many congratulatory bouquets from customers and manufacturers were placed throughout the store.

The local Michael's store is one of a group of separately owned stores, the others being in Hartford, Bridgeport and New Haven.

Blaine Placed On Certainty

Dewey took the outcome for granted by millions of others. That was why he stuck to his high level campaign and his "United America" slogan. He thought, and the majority of his top aides believed, he did not need to slug it out with President Truman.

Although Dewey said at a news conference after he conceded to Mr. Truman that he did not believe failure of the vote to reach the 50,000 mark was a big factor in the outcome, he is known to be thinking differently about that now.

The governor is wondering whether many Republican voters decided the election was no contest and on that ground neglected to cast ballots, sides said.

But the thing that puzzles him most—as it does many everyone else—is how the polls could have been so wrong. Dewey sides blame those predictions of easy victory for him for the over-confidence they believe resulted.

Another big factor those around Dewey are citing in trying to find a reason for his astounding defeat is the kind of campaign the governor conducted.

But Dewey himself and most of his advisers decided at the outset that it would not be necessary for him to slug hard this time. Believed Nation Ready for Change

Several times, especially during the latter part of the campaign, Dewey was told that it would be a good idea to swing back at Mr. Truman.

But Dewey's theme became a "United America" and he chose to ignore the President's challenge to speak out on the issues.

The New Yorker did outline his position on a number of matters, but he did so in general terms and paid no attention to the specific, strategic opponent's charges—except to brand them "mud-slinging."

Several times, especially during the latter part of the campaign, Dewey was told that it would be a good idea to swing back at Mr. Truman.

Three Planes Now Missing

Total of 30 or More Persons Aboard Aircraft in North Pacific

By The Associated Press

Three planes—one of them an airliner—with a total of 30 or more persons aboard were missing today in the north Pacific area.

A Pacific Alaska Air Express non-scheduled flight from Anchorage to Seattle, figures on the number aboard ranged from 11 to 15.

A Navy long-range Neptune bomber with a crew of seven or eight reported missing off the West coast of Alaska, Wednesday night.

A Navy PBY patrol bomber coast yesterday during Army-Navy Air Force war maneuvers.

The non-scheduled Pacific Alaska DC-3 disappeared during a flight from Anchorage, Alaska, to Seattle. At the time, it was making one leg of the hop from Yakutat to Annette Island.

It was last heard from over Cape Spencer yesterday morning at 3:10 a.m. (e. s. t.). It failed to make its regular report from the plane.

Passenger lists of all three planes were withheld by the military and the airline firm. Officials of the latter could not be reached after confirming reports the plane was missing.

Brush Blazes Hit California

Two Fires Smoulder Over 16,000 Acres; Homes Are Destroyed

Los Angeles, Nov. 5.—Two fires—smoldering over 16,000 brush acres and forcing hundreds to flee—smoldered over 16,000 brush acres of drought-dry southern California today.

Some 2,000 more residents of Topanga canyon were prepared to evacuate if winds again whipped up the mountain area blaze near the Pacific ocean.

The other fire, inland in the Santa Ana district, still raged out of control on top 10-mile fronts, forcing the closing of State Highway 18.

No deaths were reported, although some 20 cases of minor injuries and burns were treated at the Topanga Canyon Area.

The Topanga blaze was brought to a temporary standstill last night by headwinds, but five fighters fanned wind might arise again at daybreak to fan the flames southward toward the 400-home community of Fernwood.

Approximately 600 men were on the lines in the canyon, with nearly 8,000 acres already blackened.

North of Santa Ana, about 1,000 men appeared to be making slight headway against five blazing out over a 10,000-acre area.

Los Angeles county fire warden estimated some 50 homes—mostly small frame dwellings—were destroyed, with perhaps that many more damaged. Evacuated were the tiny communities of Silver Park, Topanga woods, Topanga Flat and Tripplet tract.

Flames reached within a half mile of Fernwood before they were checked. But 2,000 residents were alerted to be ready to leave.

Fire officials said the wind usually whips up at sunrise in the

Brush Blazes Hit California

Two Fires Smoulder Over 16,000 Acres; Homes Are Destroyed

Los Angeles, Nov. 5.—Two fires—smoldering over 16,000 brush acres and forcing hundreds to flee—smoldered over 16,000 brush acres of drought-dry southern California today.

Some 2,000 more residents of Topanga canyon were prepared to evacuate if winds again whipped up the mountain area blaze near the Pacific ocean.

The other fire, inland in the Santa Ana district, still raged out of control on top 10-mile fronts, forcing the closing of State Highway 18.

No deaths were reported, although some 20 cases of minor injuries and burns were treated at the Topanga Canyon Area.

The Topanga blaze was brought to a temporary standstill last night by headwinds, but five fighters fanned wind might arise again at daybreak to fan the flames southward toward the 400-home community of Fernwood.

Approximately 600 men were on the lines in the canyon, with nearly 8,000 acres already blackened.

North of Santa Ana, about 1,000 men appeared to be making slight headway against five blazing out over a 10,000-acre area.

Los Angeles county fire warden estimated some 50 homes—mostly small frame dwellings—were destroyed, with perhaps that many more damaged. Evacuated were the tiny communities of Silver Park, Topanga woods, Topanga Flat and Tripplet tract.

Flames reached within a half mile of Fernwood before they were checked. But 2,000 residents were alerted to be ready to leave.

Fire officials said the wind usually whips up at sunrise in the

8 Get Awards Won by Hens

4-H Poultry Club Members Given Prizes at East Hartford Dinner

East Hartford, Nov. 5.—Eight 4-H poultry club members have awards to show today for the fact that the flocks of hens they raised to champion egg-layers so succeeded that none could accuse them, as contestants, of "laying an egg."

Last night the group of contestants, that is, not hens—was honored by the Connecticut Farmers Cooperative Auction association at a dinner in East Hartford. The State 4-H club provided rosette ribbons and the association cash for award to Victor Dury, Bethel, whose Rhode Island Reds produced an average of 295 eggs apiece over a year's span to bring him highest honors for the third consecutive year in Class A, and Richard Jaynes, Mt. Carmel, whose "Reds" average 295.9 eggs each to give him third place in the class. White Leghorns which averaged 284 eggs a bird, gave Dury second place also.

Winners in Class B were Robert Keimann, Glenbrook; Robert McCarty, Bethel; and Barbara Kowalski, Northford, while in Class C awards went to Alfred Goldstein, Ansonia; Norman Fryer, Norwalk; and William Benedict, Bethel.

Egg output for the entire contest averaged out at 202. The event had an enrollment of 85 Connecticut youths, of whom 16 entered flocks that could accept standard.

Library Institute Session Planned

New Haven, Nov. 5.—A Library Institute, described as "a new venture in the history of library conditions and needs in Connecticut," will be held here next Wednesday and Thursday.

The institute has six sponsors: The Connecticut Library Association, the Yale University Library, the Division of Libraries of the State Department of Education, the Department of Library Service of the New Haven State Teachers college, the New Haven State Teachers college, and the Connecticut State Library.

The opening date for the annual processing season is later than usual this year. Members of the institute would be a section of association, whose warehouses are in the majority, explained that the delay was due to the unusually dry post-curing season on the farms.

A great deal of the employees starting work in the warehouses on Monday will be women. Processing of the crop will continue through the winter and well into the spring.

Tobacco Sorting To Start Monday

Hartford, Nov. 5.—Nearly 20 tobacco warehouses in Hartford and vicinity will open Monday, offering employment to about 3,000 men and women in sorting, packing and packing the new shade-grown cigar crop.

Several people in Manchester while visiting in Washington, D.C., have made it a point to make a tour of the cathedral and church edifice and worship there.

A short report of devotion will be given by Miss Phyllis Rogers, of the Epworth League.

Dramatic Director To Appear Here

William Thornton Simpson of West Springfield, Mass., actor and dramatic director, will give characterizations from prominent actors and famous plays at an Open Drama Meeting and Workshop on Wednesday evening, November 17 at 8:30 p.m. in Woodruff hall at Center Congregational church.

Guests and friends of the Center Church Theatricals will be welcome to the workshop and a social hour after the discussion.

Manchester's Big "Yes"

In all Connecticut, the most handsome and conclusive expression of voter opinion on the world government referendum which was on the state ballot Tuesday came from the voters of Manchester. They voted 5,067 to 180 in favor of having this state's representatives in Congress urge both President and Congress "to take the lead in calling for amendments to the charter of the United Nations, strengthening the United Nations into a limited world federal government capable of enforcing laws to prevent war."

One of every three Manchester people who went to the polls last Tuesday took the thought and time to vote on this question. Their vote was 28 to 1 in favor. This was the best showing on the question in all Connecticut.

For this result voters were responsible. One, unquestionably, was the live, capable, and zealous campaigning of the Manchester chapter of United World Federalists. They had the courage of what they felt to be a good cause. They explained that, cause as persistently as they know how. But more than that, they knew their cause represented the inevitable destination of human history, they did not consider it rendered hopeless by any headlines of the moment.

And, by bringing the spark of an idea into Manchester, and campaigning to it boldly, they gave a magnificently heartening demonstration of what a relatively few people can accomplish in the realm of public and world affairs, once they have agreed among themselves on an idea they think is right.

It is commonly supposed that the general public is asleep on the issues of the day, that the general public considers the issues of survival to be too vast and far-off for its own reach and influence. The Federalists set out to put that assumption to the test. Because they had confidence enough in the intelligence of their Manchester fellow citizens, they proved that the fatalistic assumption to be completely false.

The second fact in their success was the fact that they were indeed operating in fertile, intelligent territory. We are always very proud and happy among the people of Manchester, and we have often thought that it would be quite a revelation if there were any way of measuring the intelligence and the intelligence and the discernment of this community on world issues against other similar communities. Manchester has done a lot of thinking for themselves.

In this instance, we are very proud that they were not doing what some critics of Connecticut referendum alleged might be the result of the referendum—casting merely pious but meaningless votes for a pleasant ideal of "peace."

They were voting for peace through a very specific and tangible route—the creation of a limited world government to which the people of this country would be willing to surrender, in company with all other nations, that portion of sovereignty which is employed when this country makes war.

That is the only way in which war can ever be abolished. The essential first step toward that goal is for the people of this country to tell their own government that that is what they are willing to do. The people of Manchester have taken their part of that first step in a decisive expression of their opinion.

No one of these Manchester voters should think that what he or she has done is of purely limited

Can't Wait To Lose Again?

The most discouraging aftermath of the election is not the mournful loss of what might have been. Those who are engaged in crying, over "spilt milk" are at least demonstrating some sense, and some awareness that something did happen, something that needs to be corrected.

No, the really sad thing is the almost instantaneous disclosure of what the Republican policy will be, if certain elements and individuals continue to control it.

Yesterday's and today's headlines tell of the Republicans in Congress getting ready to "close their ranks" to "fight" and "oppose" President Truman's legislative program.

These same headlines tell us that there may be a revival of the erstwhile alliance between the Republicans in Congress and the Southern Democrats so that Congress can be controlled in defiance of the result of the election.

These same headlines show us Senator Robert A. Taft, the perfect symbol of the philosophy which has brought the Republican party one defeat after another, openly bragging of the election as merely a result of present prosperity, and nothing else.

And, on the New York Times editorial page this morning, you can find a very palatable piece of mental labor in which it is determined that, because President Truman won by the voting election of one man in nineteen, there is no reason to take the election result as "a smashing endorsement of Mr. Truman's whole legislative program." If Governor Dewey had won by a similar margin, would the New York Times today be arguing that the platform of United World Federalists could be safely ignored?

To Republicans who take Tuesday's result seriously, who hope that their party has at last, harnessed its own strength, and merely an unpleasant indication that there are some Republicans who are not content with having any headlines of the moment.

Unfortunately, these Republicans, by virtue of seniority, are still in a position of party leadership in Congress. It is about time Republicans who know better move forward and take over. In terms of personal ambition, Senator Taft need to retire, and one like Senator Raymond E. Baldwin need to be given their chance to hold responsibility for party leadership at Washington.

Library Institute Session Planned

New Haven, Nov. 5.—A Library Institute, described as "a new venture in the history of library conditions and needs in Connecticut," will be held here next Wednesday and Thursday.

The institute has six sponsors: The Connecticut Library Association, the Yale University Library, the Division of Libraries of the State Department of Education, the Department of Library Service of the New Haven State Teachers college, the New Haven State Teachers college, and the Connecticut State Library.

The opening date for the annual processing season is later than usual this year. Members of the institute would be a section of association, whose warehouses are in the majority, explained that the delay was due to the unusually dry post-curing season on the farms.

A great deal of the employees starting work in the warehouses on Monday will be women. Processing of the crop will continue through the winter and well into the spring.

Tobacco Sorting To Start Monday

Hartford, Nov. 5.—Nearly 20 tobacco warehouses in Hartford and vicinity will open Monday, offering employment to about 3,000 men and women in sorting, packing and packing the new shade-grown cigar crop.

The Choice On Bingo

Police Chief Herman Schendel is, of course, completely correct when he advises those who have petitioned him to announce that he will tolerate local violations of the state bingo law that the thing for them to do is to see their state representatives and try to have the law changed.

But we don't believe the law should be changed. It is a law which was originally drafted and put on the books by those very interests which are interested in conducting bingo games. They themselves devised and recommended the law because, they could see very well that if some restraints were not imposed, the institution of bingo would soon become an unlimited craze in Connecticut. The law was designed to preserve bingo, not to destroy it.

Where authorities choose to ignore the law, as they have no right to do under their own oath of office, bingo is running completely wild. And if that continues it can have only one eventual result—the complete banning of bingo under a new and more severe state law. The basic choice is between reasonable, restrained bingo, and no bingo at all. For the restraints were not imposed, the institution of bingo would soon become an unlimited craze in Connecticut. The law was designed to preserve bingo, not to destroy it.

Can File Pet Bills Early

Hartford, Nov. 5.—Newly-elected legislators with an urge to legislate can get an early start this year. Under a new state law they can file their pet bills and resolutions without waiting for the General Assembly to go into session next Jan. 5. The proposed legislation has to be filed in the secretary of the state's office. The law was adopted by the 1947 General Assembly in an attempt to speed up the legislative process.

Cornell Quit Legal Group

Bar Association Secretary Confirms Resignation of Judge

New Haven, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Herbert S. MacDonald secretary of the Connecticut state bar association, today confirmed reports that Supreme Court Judge John A. Cornell had resigned as a member of the organization.

MacDonald declined to comment on the reasons Judge Cornell gave for quitting the association, but the New Haven Register said there were reports that the jurist was excited about the association's action in taking a survey among its members about their opinions of judges whose terms expire next year.

In a secret poll, the association asked its members to comment anonymously on the qualifications of 11 Superior and Common Pleas court judges, including Judge Cornell, and to say whether they thought they ought to be reappointed.

Dated Day After Meeting

MacDonald said Judge Cornell's letter of resignation was dated the day following an association meeting at Bridgeport at which a resolution was made on the results of the survey.

Charles Pettengill of Greenwich, new president of the association, when asked for comment about the situation: "The letter is not addressed to me although I have been told that a copy is being forwarded to me."

"I understand that it will be presented to the meeting of the Association Council on Nov. 22 in Greenwich. While I regret Judge Cornell's action I am unable to make any statement at this time. It is a matter that must first receive the attention of the council."

$400,000 to Be Distributed Here to Christmas Clubbers

check is estimated at $91.25 in large metropolitan areas and at $12.50 in the entire country, according to figures released by the organization.

A new high in "Christmas Club" payments will be reached in Manchester this year when an estimated $400,000 in savings will be paid on 4,237 accounts, a savings bank official reported today.

The amount accumulated so far this year is $380,000 but many tardy accounts are expected to be paid in the last week before the club closes.

Although the Christmas club is scheduled to end on Tuesday, Nov. 12, it was said today that the closing date has been extended and payments will be accepted up to and including Friday, Nov. 12. In fact, the last week of the club has been a busy one for bank employees since many tardy accounts are caught up at that time.

This year's Christmas club checks have been dated for Monday, Nov. 29, and cannot be cashed before that time. The checks will be placed in the mail before Nov. 29. The Christmas club for the year 1948 will start on Wednesday, Dec. 1.

This year has found a greater amount invested by Manchester people in Christmas club savings than ever before in the history of the local program. The $380,000 total to date exceeds over the amounts recorded during the years of booming defense plants and booming pay envelopes of the war.

The local increase reflects a national trend that shows a dollar increase of about 10 per cent over 1947 Christmas club savings. In the U. S. this year, about 10,170,000 checks will be received, some $831,000,000 that they have accumulated in 3,700 banking and saving institutions. The average

Rival Factions Get Into Fight

CIO Transport Workers Union Meeting Scene Of Slugging Match

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Factional rivalry in the CIO Transport Workers Union flared into a free-for-all slugging match at a union meeting here last night.

Leftist and rightwing forces tangled with each other for half an hour in a rough-and-tumble melee before police could restore order.

Fifty policemen worked to clear the meeting hall of some 1,000 union members, and prevent new outbreaks of fighting on the streets outside. No arrests were reported.

The fist-fighting broke out a short time after Austin Hogan, left-wing president of the TWU Local 100, had called a meeting of the local to order. He was greeted with an outbreak of jeers.

The clamor grew louder when Hogan, left-wing leader tried to speak. Arguments started among members.

7 Found Guilty Of Conspiracy

Baltimore Trial Outgrowth of Interracial Tennis Match

Baltimore, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The Maryland state director of the Progressive party and six persons helped him arrange an interracial tennis match, have been convicted of conspiracy.

The case grew out of an encounter between police and a city tennis court last summer. Police who attempted to enforce city segregation rules met with a storm of jeers, and several tennis players who sat down on the courts had to be carried to paddy wagons.

Arranged To Test Suit

The Maryland Young Progressive party and six persons helped him arrange a test of the segregation rule. However the trial, purposely postponed until after the presidential election, closed yesterday without a ruling on this issue. The state dropped its original segregation charge and substituted charges of conspiracy to riot and disturb the peace.

Convicted were Harold Buchman, state director of the Progressive party, Stanley Ashin, state director of the Young Progressive party, and four other white men and a white woman. Sentences have not been pronounced, pending appeals.

Judge Herman M. Moser assigned five white perjury and 10 Negroes.

Idaho, West Virginia and Missouri came up with accurate forecasts to maintain their high ratings. The Potato State hasn't been wrong since it missed out with William Jennings Bryan in 1900.

West Virginia has supported only two losers in the last 16 presidential elections, starting with Cleveland in 1888 and spitting its electoral vote to 1 for Hughes in 1916.

Two tip-off states fell from the winning ranks in the Democratic nomination was credited as a major factor in the latest display of market weakness. Inflationary factors in particular received close attention in the financial district.

Waterbury, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The Benrus Watch company of this city has filed suit in the Federal court at Providence, R. I., asking damages of $150,000 from Benjamin Ozaroff, former vice president and general manager of the company.

The complaint, attorneys for the company said today, charges that Ozaroff, while in the employ of the company, conspired to breach of his fiduciary duties and contractual obligations as a responsible officer and employee of the plaintiff.

Also named in the suit are the Mercury Watch Case company of Providence, and two former employees of the Benrus company, Herman Burke, of Waterbury; and Herman Albrech, a resident of Massachusetts.

Fire Chief Aids Injured Doctor

New Haven, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Fire Chief Paul P. Heinz was "Johnny-on-the-spot" when a New Haven physician was injured in an automobile accident at Columbus avenue and South Orange street here this morning.

Heinz, en route to fire headquarters, drove by the intersection only a few minutes after Dr. Massimo Calabrese, 45, had been injured. The chief ordered his driver, Lt. Joseph Welch, to stop, then rushed headquarters for the emergency company.

The physician was taken to New Haven hospital for treatment of cuts of the scalp and face. A spokesman reported that injuries were not serious.

Asserts Leaders 'Ought to Resign' Norwalk, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Susanne Silvercruz Stevenson, artist who is prominent in Fairfield county Republican circles, today issued a statement that she and other party leaders in Connecticut "ought to resign."
