Seen His Native Town
In Over 20 Years

By E. Malcelm Stannard
England has changed a lot in the 20 years since he was last there, said Giles Vickerman today on his return from his native town, but the country is return from his native town, but the country is far from going to seed.

In fact, said Vickerman, the repeble are more alive to some of the seed and the seed and the seed and the sent the substance of fish and make just as much pay as they had been making with half the labor. They had been making with half the labor. They therefore made port with half-cargos of fish for which they demanded high prices.

In two days the women had organized, patrolled the market town, but the country is far from going to seed.

In fact, said Vickerman, the people are more alive to some of the seas and dumbed in the sent the substance of thonolulu. Officers said the murk prevented any navigational sun or star sightings and no planes travel that route.

Honolulu, June 15—(A)—A vast day the substance over the middle any navigational sun or star sightings the last four days at sea. The ship docked Monday on a trip from the Panama Canal zone. Pew this docked Monday on a trip from the parama Canal zone. Pew therefore made port with half-cargos of fish for which they demanded high prices.

In two days the women had organized, patrolled the market over. Mrs. Ash was ready to go to the hospital to have her sixth child.

So was two-year-old feegy. And that, the explained say navigational sun or star sightings and no planes travel that route.

The average person here has no idea of the terrific damage done to the English countryside by the war, he said. He cited that in his war, he said. He cited that in his own section,—a place comparing to the main part of the town as Highland Park might compare to central Manchester,—a mill had been blown up. a Sunday school bombed and houses damaged and knocked down. This type of war was duplicated all over the nation, more concentratedly so in the cit-les, and has not yet, nor will it be ies, and has not yet, nor will it be in many years, erased.

Curiously, he found that the price of prime beef, which is limited by ration per person, is very much lower than here, averaging not half the local price, but fresh vegetables were much higher. String beans cost $1.10 per pound, obligates are 20 cents a pound, abbage is 12 cents a pound, online are 20 cents and tomatoes were $1.25 a pound. Vickerman used the word "were" in describing these prices, because, before

"You should have thought of that before you took the drinks," carlier days.

Food is the big problem in England, the local man says. Nobody really gets all he wants to eat, although some restrictions recently were eased. When he arrived each person's meat, tea, margarine and other staples were rationed in ounces for a whole week.

Besides this, another check was levied in the form of "points."

Thus, a double toll was exacted in that one might get only so many Thus, a double toil was exacted in that one might get only so many ounces of a commodity and also might have to yield ration points.
