pressed pouring through their gates It took the generous assistance of the people of America who rose to the demands of an historic bour.

And though a tremendous job has been done, the good fight is not yet over.

Remember as you look at these happy young parents, these appealing little Israelis with their dishpan tub, that there are families just like them-just as appealing, just as eager, just as obviously "good stuff" for the making of a great nation-waiting in tents and barracks for a home and a chance.

How can we stop before they too shall have settled in their own backyard? How can we stop before we have finished the job?
