South School's Flower Exhibit

Beautiful Display Is Arranged by Students; Some of the Features

South school was the scene of floral festivity recently when the pupils of Mrs. Gwendolen Hurst entered enthusiastically into the project and each student prepared an exhibit which was displayed in the kindergarten. The children were so pleased with the spectacle that many hurried home at night to invite their parents and friends to see the beautiful display.

There were five different classifications: the most original; arrangements with figures; decorated toys; garden flowers in containers; and wild flower arrangements. Some of the outstanding exhibits were: scenes showing a man cleaning up his yard, a ranch, a playground, an Indian home, wild animals in the forest, bride and groom, a wagon decorated with bouquets, a wagon decorated with snags, a carriage, nosegays, and bouquets artistically arranged.

The marriage of Miss Ann Bush of 170 Oakland street and Theodor Werkhoven of Rockville will take place tomorrow morning at 11:59 at St. Bridget's church.

to both boys and girls in each class and the winners were: Brewster Harding, Richard Leadbetter, Johanna Richmond, Nancy Thiam, James Larson, Barry Chambers, Susan Niese, Noreen Cowley, Robert Carlson, Jennette Pazer, Reynold Calson, Norman Gagnon, Sandra McKenney, Ajna Scott, Peter Zaglio, and all exhibitors received a lollypop.

Later the flowers were moved out of doors and flower arrangements were taken home by Ray Dwyer.

Judges of the flower show were Mrs. Anna McCann and Miss Hazel Lutz.

Olcott's ROASTING CHICKENS

"I don't know how you get your chickens so clean," people tell us. "I put them right in the oven without even washing them." Yes, they are easy to prepare, and they are also economical and delicious.
