World Communion Sunday At Protestant Churches

The eleventh annual World Communion Sunday will be observed in many of the Protestant churches of Manchester on Sunday, October 1. The local churches will unite this year in observing the anniversary of the first Communion service in the city of Manchester in 1636. The annual observance of World Communion Sunday does not mean that each congregation will observe the service on the same day, but rather that each congregation will observe the service on the same day as the other churches in the city. The annual observance of World Communion Sunday does not mean that each congregation will observe the service on the same day, but rather that each congregation will observe the service on the same day as the other churches in the city.

Eighty-two area residents will be attending the Youthful Sixty-Six Sunday at Fenway Park in South Coventry on Sunday, September 30. The group will leave at 9 a.m. from the Pine Lake Shore district clubhouse on chartered busses. The group will be led by Mrs. Leslie K. Richardson, chairman in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Richardson states there is plenty of parking space at the clubhouse should the weather be so kind as to bring their cars.

Hold Rehearsals For Coming Show

The cast of the "Carnegie Papers" went into rehearsal this week, and it was a pleasure to watch the youngsters perform. Among some of the more outstanding talent that went through their acts were: Barry Quinn, age 13, who sang a new and quite different song, "The Ballad of the Green Island," in an a cappella style. And if anyone wants to know how to sing, ask him to sing "The Ballad of the Green Island," in an a cappella style. Favor Modification Of Anti-Red Bill

Mr. Truman expressed his views on the anti-Red bill in a letter to the Senate last week. He said that the bill would be a "grave mistake" and that it would be a "disgrace to the nation" if it were passed.

The League's Stand
 To the Editor:
 In order to better acquaint the voters of Manchester with the history of the Broad Street School, the League of Women Voters has prepared a pamphlet which contains a chronological review of the facts in the case.

The proposed building is 75,000 square feet, 150,000 for actual construction, $25,000 for equipping and furnishing, $10,000 for grading and landscaping, $10,000 for architects' fees and $30,000 for contingencies.

Perhaps sufficient publicity has not been given to the substantial changes in the plan since the March referendum. After the March referendum the Building Committee proceeded with preliminary plans for a 12-room school. Five actual plans were drafted and considered. The Adams-Creeley report on June 23rd indicated the absolute necessity for an 18-room school and the committee thereupon started anew on plans for an 18-room school. The new plans actually differ substantially from the old ones. On a price basis at March prices the new school is approximately $100,000 cheaper. Some of the changes made include: elimination of one nurse's room, reduction in size by about 6,000 square feet (a 12% reduction), a reduction in the length and width of the building, a 3 foot reduction in basement ceiling heights, a 1 foot reduction in classroom ceiling heights, a 1 foot reduction in classroom ceiling heights, a 1 foot reduction in classroom ceiling heights, a 1 foot reduction in classroom ceiling heights.

Who are charged with the obligation of providing reasonably adequate school facilities for the children of Manchester and who have made every possible effort to economize can now only trust in the sincerity and sense of civic obligation of the people of Manchester to help us solve what is without doubt the most cruel and critical problem facing us today.

I cannot too strongly or too humbly urge a "Yes" vote at the referendum on Monday.

Very truly yours,
 Charles S. House,
 Chairman, Board of Education.

Republican Town Record
 The record of Republican government in Manchester is one of the finest examples of public administration ever known. It is in the same vein of policy over and above a mere pretense that the Republican party in Manchester is voluntarily, through action in the last Legislature, to sit on the line of town business on the Board of Directors, a gesture which testifies to the high character and integrity of the people of Manchester. It is this record which the Republican party and its candidates carry before the people of Manchester in the town election Monday. It deserves your approval.

"The Basic Question"
 To the Editor,
 I would very much appreciate the use of your Open Forum Column to explain to the people of Manchester the real situation facing our schools and to explain why it is of the utmost importance to the people of Manchester to vote "Yes" at the referendum on Monday.

Gets Facts and Figures On Broad Street School

Citizens Committee in Open Meeting Seeks Information from Officials on Its Costs

The Citizens Committee for Schools formed for the purpose of clarifying the controversial "facts and figures" surrounding the proposed Broad Street school and day's referendum held its initial meeting last night at the Hollister school. Chairman Edgar A. Coughlin, who was instrumental in the formation of the committee, presided. Approximately 70 citizens attended.

Called upon by Coughlin to answer questions concerning the school were Superintendent of Schools Arthur H. Bling, Paul M. Silverstein, chairman of the School Building Committee, and Charles B. House, chairman of the Board of Education.

The chairman first introduced officers of the committee to the participants in the meeting. They are Mrs. John M. Derrmer, vice chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Brink, secretary; and John E. Hayford, treasurer.

Seek Information Chairman Coughlin explained that the committee was formed to gather together full information derived from months of work with the intention of making that information available to the public and to join in a combined and concentrated effort to get a large vote on the referendum.

He pointed out the $400,000 increase in school enrollment this year, bringing the total to 10,000. The next several years by children who are already born but have not yet reached school age. He also pointed out the various building developments being constructed, especially in the Broad Street and Manchester Green areas, and their impact on the school situation.

The superintendent closed his review of the general educational program for Manchester with an explanation of the much-discussed auxiliary services. He explained the medical and physical health requirements in proper child development and pointed out that educational methods have a very changed and improved through the years as a result of factors in the modern life, such as highways, automobiles, and other methods, etc.

Harry J. Fazio, Republican candidate for the Board of Directors, stressed that it was pointed out to the voters that the $300,000 appropriation requested does not represent the actual cost of the school, that the figure includes a 10 per cent contingency fund, and that the actual construction cost will be much lower than the $300,000 figure.

The consensus was that voters should be correctly informed of that fact, and it was pointed out that at least $200,000 will remain from the Bowers and Verplanck school appropriations when they are completed.

It was also brought out that the safety of children attending the proposed Broad Street school will be insured just as adequately as has been with the Verplanck school, which is also located in a heavy traffic area.

At the close of the meeting, literature containing literature about the school, its cost and construction, were distributed.

German Police Expect Bloody Weekend Riots

Doubt Need for Troops

While West German police mobilized for a possibly bloody weekend, the fourth British Juarez Brigade hurried back to the Ruhr from autumn maneuvers in view of the threatened disorders.

British officials said however, that they do not expect to need the troops. A British spokesman in Düsseldorf said: "The police are quite competent to handle this situation. All necessary preparations are being made by the Germans. We do not believe at all that the situation will get out of hand."

Big Meeting in Cologne Officials of the All-German Affairs Ministry, which works closely with State Interior Ministers and police, reported the Communist will ignite their biggest demonstration in Cologne. These officials said the Reds hoped to have a major effect in the home by a major effect in the home.

$30,000,000 Springfield Bypass Will Be Started in Few Days

Boston, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Gov. Dwight A. Davis announced today work on the new $30,000,000 Springfield bypass will begin within a few days.

Plans call for a 13-mile limited access highway from North Wilbraham to Route 2 in West Springfield. Sixteen bridges are planned along the route, including a $4,000,000 span over the Connecticut river between Springfield and West Springfield.

Will Enhance Safety "Business and industry of this section should be enhanced by a new new highway," the governor said. "The safety of the motorists will be greatly improved, because this will be a non-business highway built solely for motor travel."

Other cities expected to be affected include Danbury, Torrington and Danbury. Other cities expected to be affected include Danbury, Torrington and Danbury.
