Forms Panel On Rail Pay

U. S. Board to Determine If Six Cent Increase April 1 Is Legal

Washington, April 10.—The government today set up a special three-man panel to determine whether the six-cent cost of living pay increase due 1,000,000 non-operating rail workers on April 1 can be permitted under stabilization policies.

Stabilization officials indicated, at the same time, that 2 1/2 cents of the six-cent hourly increase—rather than 1 1/2 cents as previously reported—could be allowed now under the existing wage control formula.

This formula limits wage boosts to 10 per cent above the level of January 15, 1950.

The Army, which is technically operating railroads under a seizure order, had said that 1 1/2 cents was all that could be paid to the workers under the 10 per cent increase limit.

It was learned from stabilization officials, however, that the Army used the wrong figure as the workers' average hourly wage in calculating the 10 per cent increase limit.

The panel set up to determine how much more of the remaining 3 1/2 cents can be paid to the workers was named by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston.

William M. Leberston, Washington former chairman of the Railroad Mediation board, will serve as panel chairman. Other members are Lloyd K. Garrison, former chairman of the war labor board

Connecticut Yankee
 By A. H. O.

Although our legal opinions have, over the years, been justly noted in the case of MacArthur, they have not been as thorough as they should have been. This decision should come from those who are his superiors. That decision should come from the President.

The Government's attorney, the Honorable Justice Warren, in his report on the case of MacArthur, has stated that the President should have consulted with his superiors. This is a good point. The President should have consulted with his superiors. This is a good point.

Under the same interpretation, the entire state civil service system is unconstitutional. It is unconstitutional. It is unconstitutional. It is unconstitutional.

It is quite typical of what some of our citizens seem to be doing. They are trying to do it. They are trying to do it. They are trying to do it.

Our solution is to bring MacArthur home. Just as some of our adherents in Congress are urging, but with this difference. We are urging that if he can hold his position, he should have without him would be less damaging than the disunity we now have with him.

Rail to Cut Worker Force

Several thousand in N. Y. Central to be Laid Off This Week
 New York, April 10—Several thousand employees of the New York Central railroad in 11 eastern states are to be laid off later this week.

The New York Central says the layoffs are caused by a combination of reasons, including a decrease in freight business, wage increases, and higher material costs, and losses from a switchmen strike.

That being the case, we are forced to volunteer our findings. We do so in the hope that the government's office may, meanwhile, have done itself from its own tortured pleadings, and signed the bill, in which case, we are sure, welcome legal relief, we are sure, welcome legal relief.

Under the same interpretation, the entire state civil service system is unconstitutional. It is unconstitutional. It is unconstitutional. It is unconstitutional.

WHERE THE DOLLAR WENT

DIVIDENDS—Without the investments of some 25,000 people, we could not have funds with which to operate. Our stockholders have invested over $126,000,000 so that we can build plants, buy the machinery and supply the inventory which makes it possible for us to produce the goods which our employees must have to work. In return for their investments we paid our stockholders about $6,600,000 or 5.1% a year, dollar for dollar. Like wages and salaries, much of this money went right into circulation.

TAXES—The annual federal, state, and city tax bill of United Aircraft Corporation comes to over $17,000,000 in 1950, and that accounts for some 6.4% of the sales dollar. You and your neighbors pay the taxes that are paid by the corporation. A big share of this money was spent right here in Connecticut for food, clothing, services and other expenses of ordinary life. In fact, however, it was spent, ultimately, where it was needed, in the form of governmental services of all kinds.

Catholic Lodge To Seat Officers

Mrs. Herbert A. MacArdie, chairman of the installation committee of the Catholic Ladies of Columbus, announces that the ceremony will take place at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening, April 17, and that

The committee is contacting the membership of the Assembly for the banquet. Mrs. MacArdie states that reservations will be accepted close on Saturday, April 14. If any have been overlooked and wish to make reservations, they may phone Mrs. MacArdie at her home, 8007.

United Aircraft's business is the business of every resident of the Hartford area. One way or another you share in our financial success or failure. Obviously, if you are an employee, stockholder or supplier, you benefit directly when we operate successfully. Even if you're not, you benefit from the general community progress to which any successful business contributes.

LAST YEAR—1950—United Aircraft's sales amounted to nearly $270,000,000. But in order to achieve this total, our costs were over $257,000,000. When you subtract our cost of doing business from our sales total, you will see that we had left a net income of about $13,000,000, slightly less than 5% of our sales volume.

State President Mrs. Edward Dwyer of Ballis will install the new state officers, which will be headed by Mrs. John E. Hayford of Phelps Rock as president.

Mrs. MacArdie and her committee has engaged Mrs. Sophie Kramer of Hartford Road to serve the dinner at 6:30. Entertainment manager and hostess of the new officers will follow.

CONSIDERING the complex problems involved in our fast-moving industry, this margin of profit indicates a highly successful year. No AIRCRAFT COMPANY can achieve success without risking millions of dollars and man-hours in research and engineering—a risk which could easily turn out to be disastrously unprofitable. BUT WE BELIEVE these investments of money, time and skill have been worth it in other ways than in financial return. Because of these investments last year and in the years gone by, and the effort of management and employees alike, United Aircraft is in good shape today to continue with the biggest job of all: helping to keep American air power ahead of the rest of the world.

Asks Education Aid From Sales Tax Fund

Senate Finance Head Opposed to Move If It Means Increase in Levy, Cut for Towns

State Capitol, Hartford, April 9.—The Legislature's Finance committee was asked today to consider a new method of financing state aid to education by allocating that purpose out of the State sales tax revenue.

The proposal, repealing all present aid-to-education statutes, was handed to Rep. Louis J. Sweeney, Finance committee chairman, by Rep. G. Franklin Griggs, Jr., of Eastford, its author.

Leahair, expressing neither approval nor disapproval of the proposal, said he would name a subcommittee to consider it.

The chairman of the Democratic-controlled Senate Finance committee, Senator Samuel Tolson (D., Bridgeport), said he would oppose the proposal if it meant any increase in the sales tax, now set at two per cent, which the State now gives the towns for education.

Griggs estimated that one per cent of the sales tax would amount to $10,000,000 in education each biennium. This is about $6,000,000 more than is now being spent for education, but far less than the state has to devote to other education interests as needed for the biennium starting July 1.

The education committee is scheduled to hold its hearing tomorrow on proposals that would increase the amount of state aid to education by $40 per pupil, which would approximately double the total amount of the aid.

Griggs said he had no plans to testify at that hearing.

Governor Lodge has said that he believes the state cannot afford an increase greater than one per cent in the amount it pays for aid to education.

Griggs said he believed his proposal should be adopted whether the sales tax remains at one per cent or is increased to three per cent, as Lodge has supported.

Democrats, controlling the Senate, have expressed outspoken opposition to any sales tax increase.

Griggs said his proposal would make no radical change in the formula the State uses to distribute educational aid funds to the 169 towns.

He said his estimates of $10,000,000 a year revenue from one per cent of the sales tax would average out to $13 for each school pupil in the state with the smaller towns receiving the same amount of aid as the larger towns.

The state now pays the towns sums ranging from $110 per pupil in towns with 100 pupils or less to $30 per pupil in towns with 100 pupils or more.

Asks Warren Be Impeached

Florida Governor's Reinstatement of Bribed Sheriff Draws Fire

Miami, Fla., April 10.—Demands for impeachment of Gov. Warren, and for a new state law providing for recall of public officials, were heard today in Florida.

They grew out of Warren's reinstatement of Sheriff Jimmy Sullivan as sheriff of Dade (Miami) county and area which FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover told the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee was the "winter capital of the underworld."

At least two newspapers and the greater Miami Council of Churches called for impeachment of the governor.

Warren suspended Sullivan six months ago after he was indicted on charges he failed to enforce gambling laws and permit a commission to accept bribes. The indictment was voided by the State Supreme Court.

The Greater Miami Crime Commission, which has been investigating Sullivan, urged Dade county residents to write or telegraph "their representatives in the legislature and press for immediate passage of a law providing means for recalling public officers."

The action of Gov. Warren reinstating Jimmy Sullivan is a challenge to the good citizens of this community," the commission said.

If the public wants good government, the facilities of the commission are available as a nucleus for creating an organization stronger and larger than all of the corrupt commissions.

An adequate investigation staff can be created to hold down the gangster and to check the action of law enforcement officers.

"This is a community project and a community job and must be given the time for citizens to assert themselves."

Reaction to Sullivan's reinstatement was heard at a press conference held at Washington under the governor's own cabinet said he was "shocked."

Prison Town's Support

To the Editor:

Allow me to take this opportunity to express my most sincere appreciation to the Exchange Club of Manchester, since gratitude and appreciation is due to everyone in Manchester, and in Connecticut, for the wonderful cooperation and assistance they so freely gave to me, as chairman of the "Freedom Shrine" committee, in making the dedication of Connecticut's first "Freedom Shrine" such a grand and outstanding event.

As much as we all love Manchester, it is most evident to outsiders, at such events as the "Freedom Shrine" dedication ceremony, when all ranks of Manchesterites get together to give their own best, just how proud we are of our town. This was brought to my attention innumerable times by some of the visiting guests at the ceremony. One prominent visitor from an admirably expressive words when he said "How is it that every time Manchester does anything the whole country gets to know about it? My answer is: Manchester is an understandable proof of our "City of the Future" which is a chance for anyone to get in a plug for our town. It's a safe bet that you will hear about it in Manchester. There are "Boosters" than "Knockers" in its population, and they are always alert to the chance that may offer itself to give their town another "Boost".

The success of this project was due to one factor more than any other. It would have been impossible if it were not for the wholehearted backing which the committee received from the press, and the attendance here. Miss Jean A. Donahue, her niece, Susan K. Mc Dermott of Bolton, was flower girl, Richard White of South Windsor was best man, and others were Charles Johnson of this town and Raymond VanSicklin of South Windsor.

For her marriage the bride chose a white striped satin gown, with ruffled bodice, lace inserts and a cathedral length train. She also wore a Juliet lace cap with veils, and a hand rolled finger tip length veil, and carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

A reception for members of the immediate families was held at the Rosemont restaurant in Bolton after the ceremony. Mrs. John McDermott of Bolton, sister of the bride, helped to receive the guests, and a delicious buffet lunch was served. The mother of the bride wore a navy blue dress with navy accents. Both wore orchid corsages.

When leaving on wedding trip to New York City the bride wore a dark brown suit with lizard accents and carried a bouquet of Mrs. and Mr. Druge plan to reside at 106 Main street in Hartford, and Mrs. Druge is employed at Pratt and Whitney Aircraft in East Hartford, and Mr. Druge is employed at Kalman Aircraft in Windsor Locks.

Rubber Stockpile

Seen Far too Low!

Chairman John D. Small has informed a Congressional Committee that the Munitions Board's rubber stockpile does not contain even "the minimum quantities to avoid outright peril."

In closed door testimony released today, he told a House Appropriations Subcommittee of a behind-the-scenes clash between the Munitions Board and the National Production Authority over civilian use of rubber.

Testifying Feb. 12, Small said, "civilian use was not being cut back enough so that the stockpile could be built up faster." (NPA finally did order a new civilian cut last week.)

"War which might come overnight" would cut off imports of natural rubber from Asia, Small said. "Even if the stockpile were built up to the planned objective," he added, "that plus synthetic production" cannot satisfy all essential needs for more than a few years."
