Another Possible Polio Case Here

Second possible infantile paralysis case in Manchester this season is that of two year old Brian Lee, son of 3 Drive F, Silver Lane homes. The youngster was admitted to the Manchester Memorial hospital earlier this week and yesterday was removed to isolation hospital in Hartford.

Brian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Newman.

The first possible polio case in Manchester was that of Merle Lorden Anderson of 586 Gardner street. The seven year old girl is now at isolation hospital.

Heard Along Main Street

And on Some of Manchester's Side Streets, Too

There are many arguments and wagers at bars and taverns during the course of a year. One such argument which later turned into a bet was relayed to this department by one of Manchester's finest.

Seems that the beer was flowing pretty freely and spirits were high when one chap looked at some gold fish in a nearby bowl and remarked, "I could eat one of them fish."

Several barflys nearly popped out, but only one man decided to challenge the boaster. "I'll bet you that you won't eat a gold fish." The bets were made and the fish ester calmly picked the biggest gold fish out of the bowl and consumed the fish in three gulps.

The fish-eater pocketed the bet and was on his way. Evidently there were no ill effects for the fish-man was around and about the next day, feeling none the worse for his experience.

Me, I'll take my fish cleaned and fried. How about you?

Those Red Sox fans up around Lee's Lane Station are beginning to wonder if Joe Farr really knows what he's doing in the coaching for. Joe claims to be a Yankee supporter and has been ribbing the Bosox rooters because of the supposedly unexpected loss of Ferris Fain, Chucky Fenway Park the past week. Now Joe has been getting some of his own medicine back lately.

There is a certain brand of bubble gum that Joe sells in his store. Each packet has the picture of a baseball player in it. Joe wanted to line the soda counter with pictures of Yankee players and has told the kids in the neighborhood that he will give them one gum free for every Yankee player that he hasn't got.

Last Sunday night a little girl came in with a player and Joe took the card rewarding the little customer with a bubble gum. As she left, Joe said, "I'll bet that's Byrne's picture home and will bring it in tomorrow."

"Oh," said Joe. Moments later he turned around to see some of the customers laughing at him and soon realized that Tommy Byrne was no longer with the Yankees but had been sold to the St. Louis Browns. Then, taking a look at the card in his hand, there was a picture of Billy Johnson in a Yankee uniform. Johnson likewise is no longer with the Bronx Bombers, but is now wearing the spangles of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Joe, you should have asked Butch Turcotte, the Gashouse Kid. He could have told you of your error without all that razzing you're getting now.

"Why don't dog owners in Manchester get their dog licenses before Warden Lee is forced to retrace his steps?

Fifteen dollars lay in a parking stall on Main street one day this week for over two hours. A local resident explained how it happened. He had been shopping and after completing his last purchase, took the change, fifteen dollars, and stuffed it in his shirt pocket. About two hours later he reached for the money and it wasn't there. Retracing his route, he wound up back on Main street. Underneath a car parked in the same stall he had used was, the fifteen dollars. We'll bet he is more careful now about putting his money back in his wallet.

We hope no bus passengers at the Center have been relying forthe right time this week on the "Clock In the Steeple" at Center Church. The timing has been about twenty-five minutes slow since last Sunday's advertised power interruption.

Strange, isn't it? Some of these proponents for Sunday sale of liquors in Manchester on the grounds that they are losing money by being closed are the first to bloom with the new super de luxe automobiles.

Tierney.

The bridal attendants were Miss Helen M. Lawler, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; and John Pasek, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon marquisette. The fabric had a Peter Pan lace collar, long sleeves pointed at the wrists, the skirt with a front panel of lace and a full, double flare. She carried a prayer book with white orchid marker and streamers of stephanotis.

The maid of honor wore yellow taffeta and white marquisette, with jacket and skirt of the marquisette. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses.

The mother of the bride was attired in a pink lace dress and the bridegroom's mother wore navy crepe. Both mothers were corsages of roses and assisted the bridal party at a reception for 100 guests at Sunset Ridge, East Hartford.

For a motor trip to Maine the bride wore a yellow linen suit and white accessories. They will receive their friends at 25 Brownell avenue, Hartford, after August 15.

Miss Elizabeth Mary Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Walsh of 56 Maple street and Robert Francis Donovan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Donovan of 110 Babcock street, Hartford, were married this morning in St. Joseph's church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. John F. Noonan, at nine o'clock. Mrs. Ralph Maccarone played the traditional bridal music and accompanied Mr. Maccarone who was the soloist. White gladiolus decorated the altar.

The bride who was presented in marriage by her father, was attended by Mrs. David V. Sieg as matron of honor. Edward P. Donovan was best man for his brother, and ushers were John La Walsh, brother of the bride and John J. Donovan, Jr., brother of the bridegroom.

Navy Builds Fleet In Mediterranean

Washington, Aug. 6—(AP)—The Navy is building up its fleet strength in the Mediterranean. This may be one of the reasons why the U. S. is moving now for an arrangement with Spain to use naval and air bases in that country.

Plans to begin operating in the Mediterranean soon after World War II fit the Navy's long-range method of service and supply that made it the world's strongest afloat. All of its fuel, food and other supplies are from the United States. Its ships are operating with "fleet"—tankers, cargo vessels, ammunition ships, repair craft, etc.—to provide the necessary logistic support.

Fear Kirkwood Women Trying to Spirit Son Behind Iron Curtain

Paris, Aug. 6—(AP)—A U. S. Embassy attache said today the United States will begin extradition proceedings against a young New York mother if she does not agree voluntarily to face kidnaping charges.

The charges were instituted against Mrs. Philomine Kreisler Kirkwood, 27, by her former husband, George Kreisler, a Manhattan night club entertainer.

She denied Kreisler's accusations that she intended to slip her son, Tom, 3, behind the curtain in Berlin with their son, Tom, 3. Mrs. Kirkwood was taken into custody yesterday when she arrived in Cherbourg aboard the liner Homeland from New York with the boy. She was released on bail and went at the Chergourg police station.

Commissioner Raoul Michel at Cherbourg said Mrs. Kirkwood would be released tomorrow if the New York warrant charging her

East Zone Sailor Swims to Safety

Stockholm, Aug. 6—(AP)—An East German sailor was safe in Sweden today after jumping off a Soviet zone trawler to escape from Communism.

The 27-year-old sailor was picked up yesterday by Swedish police while swimming midway between Sweden and Denmark. He told authorities two other men had jumped with him. But apparently the others were recaptured.

The refugee joins nearly 10,000 others who have fled to Sweden from Soviet-ruled countries since the end of the war.

Kaesong Meetings To Resume; Wednesday Seems Earliest Date

Boyle Will Remain In Party Post

Washington, Aug. 6—(AP)—William M. Boyle, Jr., conferred with President Truman today and said afterward he has no intention of resigning as chairman of the Democratic National committee.

Boyle told reporters, "I have always conducted myself honorably."

Boyle's name has been brought into published accounts of a $656,000 government loan to a St. Louis printing firm.

The St. Louis Post-dispatch said the loan was turned down three times but was granted after the firm retained Boyle.

Senate Investigation

Boyle has denied he had any connection with the loan, but there have been demands in Congress for an investigation of it.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) has declared that if Boyle used his influence to get the loan for the firm, then Boyle should be fired or should resign from his party post.

Boyle spent 30 minutes with President Truman, his first call at the White House since the Post-Dispatch published its stories that he received fees from the American Lithofold Corporation, the RFC borrower.

Boyle told reporters he had discussed the matter with Mr. Truman.

As to what he intends to do, Boyle said:

"I was elected by the Democratic party to serve until after the Democratic convention.

Will Serve Party

"My intention is to serve out my full term, which lasts until the convention in July, 1952."

Both Byrd and Boyle got out week end statements on the matter.

Boost Vinson For President

Capitol Hill Democrats Believe Chief Justice Would Leave Bench

Washington, Aug. 6—(AP)—New talk of Chief Justice Fred Vinson as a possible presidential candidate has cropped up among Capitol Hill Democrats.

Vinson, as a Supreme Court Justice, isn't in a position to say anything one way or the other, but some have pointed to be his friends say the chief justice could be persuaded to leave the court if it makes the race even if Democratic chances don't look too good next year.

The Chief Justice is regarded as one of those who might be picked by President Truman to take his place as the nominee if Mr. Truman decides he won't run again.

Acceptable to South

A Kentuckian and a former member of Congress, Vinson would be acceptable to the southern revolt that threatens to be more serious next year than it was in 1948 when President Truman lost four states to the States Rights ticket.

Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said

Army Captain Four Truce Envoys Fly To Ridgway

Tokyo, Tuesday, Aug. 7—(AP)—Word from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway that the stalled Korean armistice talks will be resumed was expected at any time today, but Wednesday appeared the earliest likely date the Allied negotiators could meet the Reds again at Kaesong.

Two Generals Turner Joy and three other members of the five-man United Nations delegation flew to Tokyo late today and conferred privately with General Ridgway.

An aide said later that General Ridgway was preparing a message of reply to the Communist apology for presence of armed troops in Kaesong Saturday.

Joy At Home

However, Admiral Joy was at him home in Tokyo early today, so the resumption of the Kaesong meetings before Wednesday seemed only dimly possible.

The Joy-Turner combine called off the talks Sunday morning. He charged the Reds after "flagrant violation" of Kaesong's neutrality.

Late Monday afternoon Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior U. N. delegate, and three alleged negotiators flew to Tokyo from Kaesong.

They immediately went into conference with Ridgway at his headquarters.

Nehru Holds Troops Back

Declares He Has Proof Of Pakistan Plan for Moving Into Kashmir

New Delhi, India, Aug. 6—(AP)—Prime Minister Nehru has declared Indian troops are held 20 miles back of the Pakistan border to avoid local incidents that might lead to an all-out war. He said his government has proof that Pakistan planned to launch aggressive action into the disputed princely state of Kashmir.

Nehru's statement was contained in a 3,000-word note sent to Pakistani Premier Liaquat Ali Khan, who charged that Indian troops at his country's borders had massed for attack.

The Nehru note, which was dispatched Saturday, said Indian forces were not ordered toward the Indian-Pakistan border until after "we had evidence Pakistan was preparing for aggressive action."

Moving Brigade

He charged that Pakistan had started moving a brigade toward the Kashmir border, threatening the city of Poonch on June 26. On learning this, the Indian leader said his country's troops were ordered to move to the border as a defensive countermeasure.

Nehru warned that an attack on Kashmir—the little Himalayan state over which the two countries have been wrangling since 1947—"is an attack on Indian territory, which will have to be met fully if it takes place." Troops of both countries occupy the state under U. N.-sponsored truce.

Indian government sources said they have information that Pakistan plans to invade Kashmir either during the Indian-sponsored elections in that state for a constituent assembly or if the efforts of U. N. Mediator Frank Graham and Gridron arrived in Karachi today to present U. N.-sponsored

Job No Good Says Chandler

Ex-Baseball Chief States His Successor Should Demand Rule Changes

Washington, Aug. 6—(AP)—A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who left the Senate to become baseball's high commissioner, came back to capitol hill today and opined: "A man would have to be stupid" to take the job under present rules.

Testifying at the House inquiry into baseball, Chandler said that first of all he didn't like the rule requiring the commissioner to get votes of 12 of the 16 major league clubs to hold his $65,000 a year job. It should be just a majority vote, he said.

It was this rule which proved to be too big a hurdle for Chandler when he demanded a new contract and rallied last March to get the needed backing from 12 clubs. As a result, Chandler is out and baseball owners will meet tomorrow to elect a new commissioner.

House Group OKs Big Arms Budget

Washington, Aug. 6—(AP)—A record $56,062,405,890 peacetime military budget was approved today by the House Appropriations committee.

It is $1,542,608,500 less than the President requested and does not include $4,500,000,000 for public works construction to be considered later this year. Neither does it include financing of the fighting in Korea since June 30, the bill for that to be voted in a later measure.

With that one exception, the present measure is to finance the Defense department for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Accompanying the big money bill to the House for action Monday Wednesday was a statement from Chairman Carl D. Tevis (D-Tex). It sharply rebuked the military for wasteful management and procurement practices. Mahon is chairman of a subcommittee that wrote both measures after months of hearings.

For Military Hardware

More than half the bill's total is for buying military "hardware"—tanks, planes, guns, rockets, weapons and other supplies for a military manpower force of 3,500,000.

About $15,000,000,000 is for aircraft and components. Purchase of this country what the committee called "the most powerful striking force ever placed in the hands of any nation."

The overall objective of the huge outlay of funds, the committee said, is:

"To build sufficient forces as soon as practicable to act as a deterrent to further aggression; to create sufficient power to prevent disaster in the event war is forced upon us; to provide an im-

Church Council States Opposition to Warfare

Rolle, Switzerland, Aug. 6—(AP)—The World Council of Churches today published a seven-point program for Christians throughout the world, condemning both aggression and "preventive war."

The program was intended as a reply to what the council described as "misleading peace proposals." It was drawn up by the council's International Affairs commission under the chairmanship of Dr. Kenneth Grubb of London and entitled "A Christian Stand for Peace." The council is the largest international body of Protestant and Orthodox faiths.

The program formally condemned "unilateral military action" in defiance of the United Nations and asserted that world peace could not be achieved in the absence of "mutual trust and good faith between nations."

It also called for "the most generous assistance" by the wealthier nations to the development of the poorer nations.

Seven Points

1. "As Christians it is our duty to seek both peace and justice. We, no less than others, detest war and we shall do everything in our power to prevent tensions and limited conflicts from leading to a third world war. Yet we must never purchase peace at the price of tyranny nor in the name of justice look on war as a way to justice or as a ground of hope."

Johnson Says Dismissal Will Cost Huge Sum But Is Worth It

Bulletin!

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 6—(AP)—Mothers and fathers of cadets facing dismissal from the U. S. Military Academy for violating the school's honor code said today they would appeal to Congress for support of the youths' position.

Some of the parents held an informal meeting here last night to plan ways to arouse nationwide sentiment for the youths. They said they hoped people would write and wire congressmen to see that the cadets are given a fair deal.

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) said today more than $2,000,000 would be wasted through the mass dismissal of 90 West Point cadets.

Young Reds Jam Berlin

Hatred of United States And Loyalty to Stalin Themes of Meeting

Berlin, Aug. 6.—(AP)— East Berlin was jammed with Communist youth today for a "world peace festival" whose main theme was hatred of the United States and loyalty to Premier Marshal Josef Stalin.

The host for the $10,000,000 celebration was set yesterday in fiery speeches at the opening Hitler-style rally by East Germany's Communist President Wilhelm Pieck.

About 80,00 blue-shirted young Communists paraded in sports arena in the Russian sector to hear the denounce the "American-English warmongers." In response, the youngsters roared lustily:

"Long live the Soviet Union, Stalin!"

Korean Vets Drop Wreath Over A-Blasted Hiroshima

Hiroshima, Japan, Aug. 6—(AP)—Three veterans of the Korean war manned a U. S. bomber which dropped flowers on Hiroshima today—the sixth anniversary of the first atomic bombing.

The B-26 approached the city from the south. It traveled the same route as the B-29 superfort which dropped the atom bomb over Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945 in the closing days of the Pacific war.

Pilot of the smaller, flower-bearing bomber was Capt. Ernest James, 4919 California street, Omaha, Neb. He is a veteran of 50 missions in Korea. Also in the crew were Sgt. Gabriel D. Verdi, Bronx 67, New York, and John W. Harris, 595 Park avenue, Rochester, N. Y. Verdi has flown 65 missions and Harris 67. They are gunners.

Bought By Issues

The B-26 dropped two laurel wreaths—both bought by personnel of the Third Bomb Wing based in Southern Japan. The unit also provided the plane.

The wreaths fluttered to earth near the ruins of the round-domed Japanese Industrial Promotion hall —in the center of the atomic blast.

Mossadegh Bans Patriotic Shows

called Mossadegh's action "treason to the Iranian people" and the pro-Communist Tesouye Eyande declared the Premier "has started on the road which is the complete surrender to the oil looters."

A single deputy yelled "traitor" in Parliament yesterday when the ranking premier reported the arrival of the British delegation. Opposition Deputy Abdul Khadir Azad's was the only dissenting voice however.

Credit Harriman

While giving President Truman's trouble-shooter W. Averell Harriman full credit for getting talks started, observers were wary of predicting success.

The issue of nationalizing the properties of the $1,400,000,000 British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil company is political dynamite in both countries. Mossadegh has already indicated he is agreeable to talk on the basis of last March's nationalization law which was not to be drastic as a law also passed in May.

Any further concessions may cause him trouble.

The British also may prove stiff-necked. Some believe Mossadegh will have to compromise because his government will otherwise collapse for lack of the oil revenues it needs to run the country.

Britain also is thinking of her influence and prestige throughout the Middle East, which may hinge on the outcome of the talks.

Another Russian Plan Proves Flop

Berlin—(AP)—M-31 was a plan for distributing raw materials to the "peoples-owned" industries for the five-year industrial plan.

It came into being in the Planning Offices of the "German Democratic Republic" and got the approval of the ruling Socialists Unity (Communist) Party. With great fanfare, the then Walter Ulbricht ordered M-31 into action.

The bureaucratic gears ground and the red tape machines ticked. And nothing happened. Orders were placed and the stuff didn't show up. It got to be a scandal and finally Fritz Lange, chairman of the central commission for state control, was hauled on the carpet.

Lange looked into it and came out with an indictment against M-31. He said it was a good plan for big projects but the centralminded government employes had destroyed its effectiveness by surrounding it with red tape. Therefore, M-31 had to be banished and a new, more simplified method is being worked out now.

sons milled about outside the hospital.

Before lapsing into unconsciousness, Chibas reportedly told Pardo Llada:

"I'm dying for my party, for the people of Cuba. Now the Orthodox party should write their own history to defeat this terrible government."

Chibas, unsuccessful presidential candidate in 1948, founded the Orthodox party to combat President Prio in the 1952 elections. His self-set aim was to fight the shameful thievery going on in the government.

One of the most sensational figures in Cuban politics, Chibas had often fought duels with rival politicians but no one was ever seriously hurt.

Doctors said the bullet penetrated Chibas' small intestine causing considerable bleeding, and grazed the spine. They administered blood transfusions.

"It all happened so quickly nobody could stop him," Pardo Llada said.

Chibas broadcast regularly every Sunday night over a national network for seven years.

Red Gang Riot Rages In Java

15 bystanders were believed to have been injured.

The bloody fighting started late last night and police said they were still mopping up in the heavily populated area. Military authorities imposed a dawn-to-dusk curfew and blocked roads to and from the area.

Not Our Red Insignia

Police refused to identify the band as Communist, but admitted they were wearing Red arm bands bearing the hammer and sickle insignia and were carrying posters of the famed "peace dove" painted by Leftist Spanish artist Pablo Picasso and adopted as the insignia of the Moscow inspired world peace campaign. The harbor district is known as a hotbed of Red activities.

The group attacked the harbor police station and engaged in a fierce fire-fight with 200 police and storm troopers. The band was said to be carrying sten guns and other automatic weapons.

An official spokesman said most of the attackers were driven off by early morning. They fled to the swampy flatlands along Java's north coast. The spokesman said the job o. tracking down the others was difficult because they were no uniform and "just mingled with the population."

New Fire Alarms Seem Satisfactory

The new fire alarm system of the Manchester Fire Department seems to be reaching all points in the district, Chief John Merz reported today. Final approval will not be made for at least a month, Merz continued. The system will be used for calling out the firemen and will also be sounded at 12 o'clock noon each day. Merz reported it has been considered to sound the alarm at 5 o'clock each evening, also. The old system was a single type horn, similar to those used on the diesel engines and was mistaken many times for a train passing through the depot.

Three horns, each with a different tone, make up the new audible alarm. The volume is stronger and has been reported heard in the south end of town very well.

They heard a chunky blonde, thrilled by festival officials as American Frances Damon, apologize for U. S. warmongers, who, she said, had prevented her visit to America from streaming to the fete. Only 11 persons identified as Americans were present.

Pieck boasted that visitors had flocked to the Communist-run sector of Berlin from 38 countries for the third-annual 14-day pro-Soviet festival.

Officials claimed that 2,000,000 youths would take part in the show, but admitted that only 240,000 were on hand in the city Wednesday. All but 10,000 of these were from Russian-occupied East Germany.

Easter West Sector

Five thousand youths wandered into the western sectors attracted by free meals, free theater tickets and free sightseeing. To do so they had to elude Communist police and sneak around road blocks set up to keep them in the Soviet sector.

West Berlin authorities persuaded most of them to go back after a look at the democratic section of the city, but accepted about 100 of the youths as political refugees.

The peace festival had to do without Frauke Ekenhold, a beautiful 19-year-old blonde, who had been slated to queen the proceedings.

After a big-buildup as the "ideal progressive woman," Frauke fled to the West and told reporters:

"I'd rather pound a typewriter, even over there, in the West than be a Communist glamour girl in the East. . . . I'm sick of Marx-Leninist lectures. I'm sick of their speeches. I just want to live in freedom without fear of spies and informers."

dia's ambassador to the United States, was to address a session tomorrow.

About 500 delegates and observers, ranging in age from 16 to 30, arrived on the Cornell University campus over the weekend. Their meetings will continue through Aug. 16.

The World Assembly of Youth was founded in 1948 as a forum for exchanging ideas and information in the cause of peace and implementing the United Nation's declaration of human rights. It is accredited to the U. N. as a non - governmental consultative organization.

In his message, Mr. Truman told the young people that "the experience you are now gaining in working together, despite barriers of language, customs, background, will prepare you for reasonable participation and creative leadership in the world of the future."

The President's statement was read by Edward J. Barrett, assistant U. S. Secretary of State for Public Affairs, in a recorded message.

Secretary Acheson, whose statement also was recorded by Barrett, said that "every opportunity in which people of different lands can come together and consult about their problems is important. Every such thread is woven into the fabric of community and common understanding."

The present provisional government of predominantly Moslem Kashmir is loyal to Hindu India and is pushing for the constituent assembly election against Pakistani protests.

Nehru said that most conspicuous in communications from Kashmir all this year is that "you reserve the right for you self to use armed force against Kashmir."

He also quoted the former president of the Pakistan Moslem League, Chaudhry Khaliquzzaman, as saying the very presence of Indian troops in Kashmir is an act of aggression and that Pakistan therefore has the right to attack.

Karachi, Pakistan, Aug. 6—Authoritative sources said today Indian troops now ring western Kashmir from the Srinagar area in the north to the Gulf of Kutch in the western India state. They said this was accomplished by dispatch of additional troops to the border with Pakistan's Sind state, hitherto left free.

Oil Leak Forces Airliner's Return

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 6—(AP)—A Europe-bound Pan American Airways plane with 37 passengers and a crew of nine turned back for an emergency landing here last night after developing an oil leak over the North Atlantic.

The plane had taken off earlier from Gander Field, Nfld., and was 150 miles out to sea when the engine trouble was first noticed.

The plane, a DC-4, came back into Gander but found it closed in by fog. It then brought it in at Sydney, which was the nearest place large enough to land.

Aircraft engineers worked on the plane, hoping to get it ready for takeoff sometime this morning.

LIQUOR DEALER SHOT

Washington, Aug. 6—(AP)—Nine days ago, Samuel Copperman reported to police he had been robbed of $2,800 in his Washington liquor store.

Police checked the report, found it false and fined him $100. Saturday night, exactly one week later, 6 real robber shot and killed Copperman as he tried to flee his store with $45 in a paper bag.

Police said today the liquor store owner literally "signed his own death warrant by advertising the fact that he had so much money around."

a bill to bar any officer or employee of a national political committee from appearing before or attempting to influence the decisions of any federal agency.

Boyle's statement was a denial that he helped American Lithographing Co. get an RFC loan. He said: "I had nothing to do with the preparation of the application. I had nothing to do with the presentation of the case. I never discussed the loan with anyone in the RFC. In short I had nothing to do with the granting of the loan."

Met by reporters as he left the president's office, Boyle said he discussed several things with the President including the charges against him.

Covers Situation

He added that his week-end statement covered the situation "completely."

Reminded that Mr. Truman has twice told news conferences he was looking into the Post-Dispatch charges, Boyle was asked if the President's reaction to his statement.

"I never speak for the President," he said. But he added, "I've always conducted myself in such a never to embarrass my family or the President. I've always conducted myself honorably."

He was asked if he had any intention of resigning and he said emphatically he did not.

Navy Builds Fleet In Mediterranean

ing ample naval air support, based on carriers, to the ground troops under the command of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Whatever fighter and attack planes carriers could send inland would be valuable additions to the gir strength of land-based aviation of the NATO countries, they reason.

Moreover, the fleets of the NATO nations and their carriers can be ready to move to Eastern Mediterranean areas long before the ground defense lines of the Western European forces. Should Greece o rTurkey or Yugoslavia be attacked carrier forces could bring help swiftly.

The late Admiral Forrest Sherman, chief of naval operations, told a House Appropriations subcommittee, in one of his last appearances on Capitol Hill, that "we have increased the strength of our fleet" in the Mediterranean.

The public record of his testimony did not show whether he indicated the size of the expanded fleet.

However, information available now shows that more than 30 ships, the majority of them combatant vessels, now constitute the 6th fleet.

It includes a 45,000 ton carrier, a 27,000 ton Essex class flattop, three heavy cruisers, at least 20 destroyers, a submarine and the support and supply ships. Flag ship of the fleet is the amphibious command ship Mt. Olympus.

Marine Battalion

Aboard the ships are a total of about 20,000 men, including a reinforced battalion of Marines.

In his testimony, made a few weeks before he left on the mission to Spain and other Western European countries and on which he died of a heart attack, Sherman also told the committee:

"We must be prepared to play a larger part in the defense of trans-Atlantic communications, control of the Mediterranean, control of areas around Northern Europe, than we ever did before."

Some official observers now inclined to the thought that if Yugoslavia is attacked, the strike might not be by mere satellite nations but by Russian forces. If that should happen, one expert commented, World War III could be close.

This same official, discussing a possible Russian strike directly against the major western powers, suggested that such an attack could be a complete surprise. He explained that the Soviet armies in Eastern Europe and Germany are on almost constant maneuvers and that these maneuvers could be converted quickly into the opening phase of an actual attack on the Nato defenses. The Soviet troop units, he explained, base their maneuvers on theoretical attack against units of the Western European defense forces which the Red Army knows are in certain positions.

Although he pointed to the opportunity for a sudden offensive by Russian forces, the observer at the same time thought there were factors which worked against the Soviets launching war now. He doubted Russia's economy is ready for supporting a world war or that she is prepared to combat heavy and prolonged atomic bomb attacks by western nation planes.

Name Kimball Successor

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Senate today confirmed the appointment of Francis E. Whitaker of Florida as Under Secretary of the Navy, succeeding Dan A. Kimball.

Kimball recently was elevated to executive vice president of Douglas Aircraft Co.

Whitaker is expected to replace Frank P. Matthews, the new ambassador to Ireland.

Stranded Scientists Saved

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 6.—(AP)—An Air Force C-47 rescued four persons from the icy slopes of Mt. Hubbard Saturday after they had been marooned by the disappearance of their own plane with three aboard.

All were members of an Arctic Institute Studies expedition.

ANTI-PERON MAN NAMED

Buenos Aires, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Radical party, principal opposition to President Juan D. Peron, today nominated Ricardo Balbin as its candidate for president in the Nov. 11 election.

Peron has not yet formally become a candidate but various Peronista organizations have asked that he become a candidate for re-election with his wife, Eva, as his running mate.

Vitamin E Halts Mink Disease

Washington.—(AP)— Researchers at the U. S. Department of Agriculture have found a remedy for the "Yellow Fat Disease," which kills thousands of mink kittens annually. The remedy is to provide some form of vitamin E in the ration.

Yellow fat disease is most prevalent along the Pacific coast where mink are fed largely on fish scrap, which is plentiful in the region. To supplement the fish scrap and provide a source of vitamin E, scientists have used fresh horse meat or liver. Wheat germ meal, however, proved a valuable substitute when it was fed in ample quantities. Cause of the mink developed the disease.

Night men of the department and volunteers are now getting instruction in First Aid and will also be given instruction in modern fire fighting.

Regular and full time firemen have been assisting in the instruction of the Civilian Defense Auxiliary Fire Department.

Chinese Hospitals Ask Red Bosses

Hong Kong—(AP)—This is what happened to 35 American-financed hospitals in Communist China since the Reds on Jan. 1 ordered them "liberated from imperialist influence":

Three were taken over by the Reds. Ten more "requested" the government to operate them. Three have been approved for independent operation. Two are sitting tight and have made no requests.

In most, but not all cases the American subsidies have been cut off. The Communists have sought to gain control of the institutions without losing the money, if possible, but insist on control even though it means loss of revenue.

List Some Things to Keep in Mind

Let's face it—

A woman's talent for turning on the tears is one talent that becomes less and less effective the more it is practiced on the same man.

No woman can say "I have been a good wife" or "I have been a good mother." Only her husband and children should make those statements.

Maturity has its compensations. But being elected president of a woman's club isn't as sweet a sensation as being the most cut-in-on girl at a spring dance.

When a husband who used to say "You're cute" starts telling you that you're a wonderful cook, it's hard to act as pleased as he means you to be.

It never is a good idea to go shopping with another woman unless you are prepared to buy something you aren't counting on.

For two women on a shopping spree egg each other on in order to ease their own consciences.

The time to consider whether Junior teacher is a cranky as he claims is after he has been out of school two weeks with mumps or measles. Nothing makes Mama more tolerant of teacher than that kind of experience.

The Weather Sex

We say children mind their fathers better than their mothers because mothers are with them all day long. But there's still the fact that when Dad says "No" he means "No" and when Mama says "No" she means "No, if you don't tease until I weaken."

If we housewives took more pride in the job of homemaking, husbands would have a higher regard for it, too. After all we're the ones who tell our husbands how dull and uninteresting housework is.

Demands High Oil Royalties

dependent government under British protection, was said to be eyeing the actions of Iran and Iraq with a view to greatly increasing his income from oil.

The Basrah dispatch, quoting an authoritative source, reported the arrival from London of the Kuwait Oil Company general manager to market he new royalties offer to the prince, Shiek Abdullah.

A Popular Demand

"A popular movement to revise the oil concessions has been sweeping Kuwait," the dispatch said. "With the emergence of popular demands to revise the oil agreement, backed by the Prince of Kuwait, the general manager of the Kuwait Oil Company flew from London to Kuwait and made an offer to increase the oil royalties from four and a half shillings to 25 shillings per ton."

The dispatch then quoted authoritative sources as saying the Prince rejected the new offer, demanding that the oil agreements be revised along lines being discussed between the Iraqi government and the British-operated Iraq Petroleum company.

Kuwait also is said to be demanding that the Kuwait Oil Company shoufld begin training of young men of Kuwait in oil production techniques.

Song Sought Increase

The ruler of Kuwait for some time has been seeking increases in oil royalties to make him for comparable to those of other Middle East oil producing countries. He has been said to have favored a deal similar to that made between the King of Saudi Arabia, Ibn Saud, and the Arabian-American Oil Company in which the Saudi Arabian government has an interest in the company's profits. In this case, however, representatives of the Kuwaiti ruler have insisted that his attitude will be governed in connection with the current oil dispute between Britain and Iran.

Kuwait is just across the Persian Gulf from Iran. Half the Kuwait Oil Company is owned by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, whose holdings in Iran have been nationalized. The other half belongs to the Gulf Exploration Company of the United States. The production at present is about 500,000 barrels daily, from which Abdulla receives a royalty of about $45,000 a day. A 50-50 split of production profits probably would bring him five times as much.

Iraq Progress Made

In Baghdad, meanwhile, progress is reported in current British-Iraqi negotiations. Premier Nuri Al said and the cabinet yesterday attended a palace conference to present to the regency the latest proposals made by S. H. Gibson, who is acting on behalf of the Iraq Petroleum Company. The draft would provide for an increase of royalties to Iraq bringing the income to 39 shillings ($5.46) a ton and an increase of production annually to a minimum of 30,000,000 tons, from the fields at Kurkuk, Mosul and Basrah.

happy-looking as ever, was in the witness chair of a House Judiciary subcommittee that is looking into baseball's relation to anti-trust laws.

Selection Rule Bad

He said the selection rule as to the commissioner is one of the changes that should be made in baseball's rules.

The others:

1. The commissioner should be given complete authority to throw out any rule adopted by the owners.

2. The commissioner should have the right to fire, as well as hire, baseball's secretary treasurer.

"I wouldn't take it (the commissionership) again unless those changes were made," he said, adding:

"That's advice for some other fellow."

Representative Keating (R-NY) observed that even under present rules there seemed to be a plentiful supply of candidates for the commissionership.

Shaking his head, Chandler said with a broad smile:

"Forgive them, Father, for they know not what they do."

Scandal Caused Post

Chandler recalled that baseball chose the late Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis to become the first high commissioner as a result of the Chicago "Black Sox" scandal—the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series by the Chicago White Sox at the instigation of gamblers.

Chandler said he has derived "great satisfaction" from the fact that no scandal touched organized baseball during he regime.

He said he was "vigilant" at all times and hired two former FBI agents to police this sport.

"The most important thing is to preserve the integrity of baseball as a sport," he said. "If they lose it again, they won't have anything."

Asked by Keating if he thought the committee's investigation would have "a salutary effect," he replied, "Yes."

"I want to disavow that I was responsible for it," he added, "as has been intimated by some fellows."

Chandler begged off from answering a question about whether there is need for legislation exempting baseball from anti-trust laws.

"I wouldn't like to say," he replied.

Mrs. Shearer will be remembered by older residents of the north section of the town as the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Templeton. She was the widow of John Shearer, better known as "Jack," eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Shearer who for many years lived in Oakland.

Matthew Robb

Matthew Robb, 86, died Saturday at St. Francis hospital in Hartford. Aug. 6.—(AP)—Two Connecticut fathers of West Point cadets have drawn some with Senator William Benton's criticism of the academy's attendance.

commenting on the suspension of 90 cadets for "cribbing" on exams, Connecticut said that "standards at West Point are notably low."

The cadets whose fathers came to the attention of the academy are not involved in the mass cheating. Vincent Kotowski, a former New Britain alderman, last night challenged Benton to spend three months at the academy as a cadet to learn first hand about the school's academic standing.

He said Benton "apparently doesn't know first hand about the standards at West Point."

Called Family

Kotowski said his son had called to reassure the family that he was not involved in the cheating that led to the suspension of the 90.

Joseph Grifenhagen of West Hartford whose son has just finished his first year at West Point also criticized the Senator's statement about the low academic standards at the Academy. Grifenhagen also criticized the method used in making the appointments.

"The fault is not with the teaching or the academy itself," he said, "but with the method used in making the appointments. Maybe some of the football players have trouble keeping up with their studies but there is still a test they have to pass to get admitted and they can't be morons if they pass it."

Grifenhagen said his son Richard, now on maneuvers at Camp Buckner called home Sunday and said he was not involved in the mass suspension.

for cheating on examinations. But," he added, "it is worth it."

"I think the Army is to be congratulated for ripping it wide open, cleaning up their own house, and there is no need for a congressional investigation," Johnson, a former chairman of the Senate Military Affairs committee, told a reporter.

Johnson said it costs an average of more than $20,000 for each young man appointed to the West Point military academy and so, he said, the mass dismissal could waste as much as $2,700,000.

Duty Is Done

"It's been a shocking and unpleasant affair but the cadets and officials have done their duty," Johnson said. "The dismissals may save future billions of dollars in defense contracts that are a worse precious—many lives of the young men who fight under these future officers."

Although Johnson insisted no congressional probe of the dismissals is needed, other lawmakers thought some sort of an inquiry is required.

Nine Republicans—members of the House Armed Services Committee—suggested Saturday—any investigation should be aimed at the "seat of the malady" in Washington.

The cadet basketball 'fix' case, the trafficking of high school challenges to win appointments to the West Point case, are some comparable to that of the mass scandal in which officials. The former home will be open tomorrow afternoon from three to five o'clock and from seven to nine in the evening, and again Wednesday during the same hours.

House Group OKs Big Arms Budget

Navy: $15,552,143,225, a cut of $194,272,000.

Air Force: $19,854,128,000, a cut of $647,015,000.

National Security Council: $160,000, no cut.

National Security Resources Board: $1,500,000, no cut.

Secretary of Defense: $528,800,000, a cut of $16,000,000; out of this allotment comes retirement pay of $345,000,000.

Deep cuts were made in funds requested for civilian personnel and military procurement. The aggregate $145,130,500 chopped off civilian personnel funds is designed to cut planned white-collar and blue-collar working forces by close to 80,000. This still would leave the military forces ten of thousands more civilian employes than they had during the last fiscal year.

The committee said procurement fund cuts would not interfere with the military build-up but were made because of changes in production schedules and material deliveries.

The committee's criticism was not reserved for the defense department alone. It noted that the President didn't submit the budget until late in April, more than three months later than the legally-prescribed time, and said it wants the budget sent to Congress "on time" hereafter. That is during the first 15 days of the session.

Four Truce Envoys Fly To Ridgway

The conference ended several hours later when Ridgway returned to his home.

In breaking off the talks Sunday morning, Ridgway remanded assurances that armed Red troops would not again violate Kaesong's neutrality.

About 150 Chinese soldiers marched within a few hundred yards of the U. N. staff house during the luncheon recess Saturday. They carried rifles, machine guns and hand grenades.

The Reds apologized over Peiping radio Monday, and asked that talks be resumed immediately. They said it was an "accident," and that steps were being taken to see the incident couldn't be repeated.

Peiping also replied directly to Ridgway, but the text of that message was not disclosed.

Liaison officers resume Tuesday; the Reds and Allies will again come to grips on the problem of a - ceasefire buffer zone.

The Reds want it along the 38th parallel, which roughly divides Korea between North and South Korea.

The U. N. command has drawn the line now generally held by the U. S. Eighth Army, much of which is in North Korea.

Ridgway's headquarters outlined the Allied proposal Sunday in a statement issued "to set at rest speculation."

The statement nullified a press release issued by the civil information and Education division of the supreme Allied Headquarters Saturday. The release said the Communists were demanding a buffer zone between the present battle line and the Yalu river on the Manchurian border.

Joy was accompanied to Tokyo by Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie, Maj. Gen. H. I. Hodes, Brig. Gen. Arleigh Burke, Maj. Gen. Sun Yup, the Korean representative on the five-man allied team, previously stayed behind in Korea.

The group left at the UN line advance headquarters shortly after noon in helicopters. From Seoul they flew to Tokyo in ... converted Sky ...

AP Correspondent Robert B. Tuckman at the advance base said the opinion there was that the Tokyo conference would consider whether the Red reply was acceptable, or whether Ridgway should demand ironclad guarantees that Kaesong's neutrality would not be violated.

There was some speculation Ridgway may have seized upon the incident to bring to a head the deadlock over where the buffer zone should be established.

Peter—By the way, do you know where I can get an apartment? I'm desperate.

Paul—Apartment? Boy, you're getting soft. Why don't you live out in the open air, let old Mother Nature cover you with a blanket of stars and have the blue firmament above as a roof?

Peter—Frankly, I had in mind something a bit smaller.

India Manganese Demand Increases

New Delhi—(AP)—The production of manganese ore in India during the first quarter of 1951 kept pace with its increasing demand, estimated by the Indian Bureau of Mines as the Indian minister of natural resources said here.

Manganese ore is found in other natural states in India and it is mined by the state governments. The Indian Government alds production by supplying explosives, equipment, gasoline and railroad equipment. The Government plans to set up plants for the manufacture of ferro-manganese in electric furnaces.

West Germans Get More Automobiles

Bon, Germany—(AP)—More motor vehicles are running in West Germany today than ever before. At last traffic figures showed a record show 2,156,585 motor vehicles licensed in West Germany, compared with only 1,748,745 in the same area in 1938, the most active prewar year.

But there is one serious drawback today: a horrible traffic jam. Germany has many narrow winding roads and crooked city streets which were designed before the motor era. The chief exceptions are the autobahns which Hitler built with military utility in mind.

Local Thespians In Comedy Roles

The "Voice of the Turtle," the popular comedy by John Van Druten, will open for its third four-day run Wednesday at the Oval in the Grove summer theater in Farmington, with Mary Burns and Amy Ingersoll both of this town, cast in the respective roles of Olive and Sally.

This third presentation of the play has been made possible due to its continued box office success. It was the theater's first production, and was brought back for a second run last month, with the cast and production staff for all three runs remaining the same.

The Oval in the Grove, located on Farmington avenue, just three miles from West Hartford, is the closest summer theater to Hartford.

Message In Snow Saves Explorers

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The query—"Norseman?" traced out in the snow on an Alaskan mountain led to the rescue yesterday of three explorers marooned by the disappearance of their own plane.

The message referred to a Norseman plane with three aboard which vanished July 21.

Rescued from Mt. Hubbard in the Alaska-Canada border area by wheel equipped C-47 of the Air Force were Fred Stone, 24, of Fair Hills, N. J., his son, Peter, 20, and Robert Bates, believed from Boston. They were in charge of arctic studies for the Arctic Institute.

Lost aboard the Norsman were expedition leaders Maurice King, 40, wife and their daughter, Valerie.

The C-47, which rescued the three from the side of the mountain, is equipped with Jato (jet-assisted take-off) units. It has been flying off the Juneau ice cap where scientists are studying investigations of glaciers.

The plane is one of many planes which have been searching for the Norseman and for a Korean airlift plane which vanished nearby July 21 with 28 persons aboard.

Opposes Stopping Overtime Wages

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson is opposed to any relaxation of the 40-hour work week.

He said Saturday that the present time-and-a-half pay premium for overtime boosts worker morale and defense production.

There have been suggestions that defense production might be upped if the basic 40-hour week was lengthened, without premium pay.

Wilson warned in a statement that any such change would "disrupt the wage stabilization program and industrial relations generally." He expressed the opinion that labor unions would agree to keep the present rate if overtime premiums were eliminated.

Wilson, a government production official during World War II, said experience during the war demonstrated that excessively long work hours lowered efficiency.

Airplanes Collide, No One Is Killed

Harrison, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A Marine Corps airplane and a private craft collided above an airport yesterday, causing one plane to lose its engine, the other a wheel.

The pilots made skilful crash landings with injury to only one of five persons involved.

Both ships had signalled for landing at Westchester County airport near here. The Marine plane, ordered to land first, came in, and was brought back for a second run last month, with the cast and production staff for all three runs remaining the same.

The Oval in the Grove, located on Farmington avenue, just three miles from West Hartford, is the closest summer theater to Hartford.

The Disease Is National

The "defense" offered by the West Point cadet who is captain-elect of the football team and president of the senior class is not unexpected, but it is nevertheless even more disillusioning, perhaps, than the fact that the famed West Point home code has been violated.

This cadet—quite obviously the most popular man in his class, and, if the present unpleasantness had not arisen, West Point's leading symbol of young American manhood—offers two defenses.

One is that violation of the West Point honor code has been going on for some time, and that the present list of some 90 cadets who are faced with discharge does not represent by any means all the cadets who have violated the code.

His second defense is that cribbing is routine in other colleges which maintain good football teams, and is not considered any blight upon the national honor in such instances.

So the argument of the West Point offenders is that they should not be punished because everyone else has been doing the same thing. A general absence of morality, they argue, excuses their own. They admit they were violating the old West Point standard. But they claim they were behaving in accordance with a new standard.

Unfortunately, we have to hand them something on that. Unfortunately, these young men were indeed following what seems to be an acceptable standard of behavior for these times. Unfortunately, they are true products of much that is in our national climate. Unfortunately, honor has been debased in quarters which have no less an obligation than West Point to maintain it. Unfortunately, the loss of good standards, now in evidence at West Point, is a general disease.

One of those "shocked" by the West Point disclosures is President Truman. We suppose General Vaughan is shocked with him, as well as all the Democratic gang which has been making its own codes for getting ahead in the world in recent years.

The titular leader of the Republican party in this nation is Governor Dewey, and we suppose he, too, would have been "shocked" if he had been in this country to be questioned on the West Point scandal. But the morality involved in the pressure and bribe in the Hanley affair of last fall was every bit as reprehensible as that in evidence at West Point. In fact, we would rate it worse.

We have no instinct to justify the West Point cribbers, nor to create any comparative sympathy for them. We do wish to point out that the disease from which they suffered is something which is far too prevalent in too many sections of American life, and that men with even more responsibility to the public and nation than these cadets shrug off and laugh off their own violations of what should be the code binding on them.

We do have an instinct to point out that the cure lies not in one disciplinary reformation in any one instance, but in a general reformation of what have come to be our shoddy standards and values. America needs most to look not with horror and shock at West Point, or even at Truman's gang or at Dewey, but with some genuine and searching and prayerful humility into its own soul.

How To Destroy A Dictator

After World War II, much of the victorious world looked upon the existence of the Franco dictatorship in Spain as a bit of unfinished business. It regarded Franco as the surviving protege of Mussolini and Hitler; it was conscious of an obligation to destroy him, as it had destroyed his two sponsors.

The methods the world used in following out this instinct comprised the individual and collective application of the cold shoulder to the Franco regime, a technique which reached its climax when the United Nations voted to request its members to withdraw their ambassadors from Spain. That was the nearest the world could come to applying a crusher to Franco.

From a combination of motives—partly because it could see that the technique it was using was not destroying Franco—partly because some members of the western world began to value Franco as a potential ally against Russia—the world has now revised its attitude toward Franco. The ambassadors have gone back to Madrid. The United States is flirting with Franco in a policy which it cynically admits is based on practical military considerations alone. In short, the policy of pressure on Franco to destroy him has been abandoned, and the world is beginning to treat him and his Spain in normal fashion.

This has had a result most curious and most surprising—surprising, at least, to all who do not guide their thinking by principles far beneath the transitory tides and prejudices of world life.

What has happened is, to make a summary judgment based on the signs and trends inside Spain itself, that Franco has been destroyed. He has been destroyed not by ostracism, blockade and denunciation, but by their opposites—tolerance, communication, acceptance. The United Nations ambassadors, going back to Spain, have finally done Franco the harm they sought to do him when they left. The end of economic and diplomatic blockade has accomplished what the blockade itself was supposed to accomplish.

How could this be so?

The international blockade of Spain, while it lasted, gave the Franco regime a reason for existence, and an alibi for conditions inside Spain. At the same time, the isolation of Spain made it possible for him to operate with dictatorial methods to keep his own people down. He was an outcast, and therefore free to take the liberties of conduct natural to an outcast.

The first review in Madrid at which the returned foreign ambassadors appeared produced a sensational development. For the first time, the crowds of Madrid failed to cheer and acclaim Franco.

The return of the ambassadors is also credited with responsibility for the bold series of strikes which has been sweeping Spain in the past few months. The people of Spain have sensed the fact that, with these foreign and official witnesses on hand, with Franco nervous about winning his way into world society, he would no longer dare use the rifle to punish them for their protests against economic conditions. So, with Spain back in the world, the people of Spain have grown strong and the dictatorship itself has grown weak.

All the obvious tactics for destroying Franco failed, and even helped maintain him in power. But the exact opposite of these obvious tactics, the acceptance of Franco in contrast to the attempted persecution of him, may now have broken his power. It has not lessened the enormity of his crimes in the past. But it has, seemingly, destroyed his power to continue them. It has not rendered the nature of his dictatorship any less evil. But it has clipped its wings. World persecution of him shielded and protected him from the natural consequences of his own kind of power and conduct. World normalcy toward him leaves him exposed to the kind of reckoning no dictator can face.

That, it would seem, is the way to destroy a dictator.

"O'Dwyer's Million"

Whatever else Ambassador William O'Dwyer may be guilty of, he's not guilty of getting a million dollar bribe for something or other from the Mexican government. The check, in that amount, which was made out to him was to him in his official capacity, and was deposited to the credit of the United States government, in regular procedure, and it represented Mexico's first payment on its lend-lease debt to this country.

Those who became engaged in tracking the million dollar rumor down wondered, after they had found out the truth, why the State Department had not made some ordinary news announcement, at the time, to the effect that Mexico was making its first payment on its World War II lend-lease account. Had that been done the rumor, of course, would never have got started.

To this question—that of why the payment was not publicised as legitimate news, it certainly being legitimate news when this country gets lend-lease money back—there has been no satisfactory answer. But one can guess the reason for the lack of publicity.

The State Department, for some years now, has been hounding another country—Russia—for lend-lease repayment. For it to get out that Mexico had just come around to making its first payment might encourage the Russians to stall some more. Furthermore, our pressure upon the Russians was not supposed to be anything special, but merely routine business, not a matter of malice, but a just calling to account of a laggard debtor.

To call public attention to the fact that others had been lagging, too, would not strengthen our hand with Russia, but would, to the contrary, merely deepen Russia's impression that we are trying to deal with Russia more severely than with our other creditors. In the background, of course, is the fact that, after terminating lend-lease, we made substitute loans to other war-time allies. We needed them, but pretended to have lost Russia's request for similar treatment. That was before the cold war had begun, and was probably one of the subsidiary reasons it did begin.

But the present situation was plain enough, even before the Mexican incident. We would be a mere lenient creditor with Russia if we liked Russia's foreign policy better.

U. S. Orders Mother Home

with kidnapping did not arrive. The warrant was obtained after Kreisler told authorities his former wife was a Communist and was taking the child to Russian-occupied Germany to be brought up as a Red.

Denies Report

Mrs. Kirkwood told newsmen it wasn't true she was just going to visit her mother in West Berlin for two months. Police said they were surprised she would take six trunks, one big packing case and ten suitcases for a two-month visit.

She was accompanied by her present husband, Charles Kirkwood, and the boy. Mother and child were given a room—not a cell—in the jail.

Mrs. Kirkwood said the charge was "complete nonsense."

"I have complete custody of the child. I can travel any place in the world we want to," she said.

Kreisler's action pressing the kidnap charges said it was based on a judge's order granting their divorce proceedings that the boy should not be taken more than 25 miles from New York without court permission.

Boost Vinson For President

yesterday at Portland, Ore., that he thought Mr. Truman could get the Democratic nomination and be elected in 1952 if he wanted the job. But, Kefauver said, he was not campaigning for Mr. Truman.

While Vinson is looked upon as something of a conservative, he probably would be acceptable to most of the "fair deal" wing of the party because of his record of support for the Truman domestic and foreign policies.

Mr. Truman continues to keep his best friends guessing about what he intends to do.

As an example, his cryptic statements about Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower last week have been subject to about as many interpretations as there are politicians to talk about them.

Mr. Truman told a White House news conference he doesn't believe Eisenhower's duties will interfere with any interest Eisenhower may have in political matters in 1952. The General has been mentioned as a possible candidate for both the Republican and Democratic nominations.

The thing this presidential statement seemed to clear the road for Eisenhower backers to boost their man's chances.

On the other hand, Mr. Truman said he is sure Eisenhower will place duty to his country ahead of everything else and that he hopes the General will continue the magnificent job he is doing in Europe as long as necessary.

This seemed to indicate to some there is doubt in the presidential mind that the European defense task can be completed in time for a 1952 political campaign.

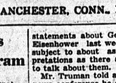
select your physician with care and confidence



THE STUDY OF MEDICINE is a selective process in itself. Seven years of intensive study in college, plus one year of practice in a hospital, are the minimum requirements. It is wise to trust your precious health only to a conscientious physician of recognized standing. Avoid the quack, the charlatan, the "cure-all" type of doctor. Almost invariably they do more harm than good. Select your physician as you should your pharmacist—with care and confidence.

When your physician writes a prescription, bring it to us to be filled. We are specialists at this work.

A Tribute-- To Our Firemen!

When fire breaks out at four o'clock in the morning, your alert hook-and-ladder guardians are instantly on the job. Heroically, and ofttimes tragically, these brave men in helmets think only of YOU, your family, and the protection of your property. The Fireman is an integral part of our City Government. He must be always physically fit. He must respond without hesitation at the clang of the bell. Night and day, summer and winter, he must be on call to fight the flames and scale the towering ladder. He is a man of ACTION, upon whom all of us depend. We salute his bravery and commend his faithfulness!

Vets Drop Wreath Over Hiroshima

the clouds, the rebuilt city began a solemn, daylong observance of a fateful day in world history. Shintoist churches were crowded with Japanese paying homage to the estimated 100,000 who died in the explosion.

Some American vets took part in the ceremonies. The commemoration program included donation of toys and candy to orphans and victims of historic sites.

Hiroshima is once again a bustling metropolis of some 300,000 population—about the same as before the atomic blast. There has been much rebuilding, but stark reminders of the destruction remain.

Industrial Promotion hall—a gaunt skeleton against the sky—is being left in that condition as a memorial.

General's Body Stirs Up Fight

The unidentified undertaker presented credentials from a descendant of General Morgan in Redwood City, Calif. They authorized removal of the body to South Carolina. There also was a letter from the Mayor of Cowpens authorizing the transfer.

But Harry wasn't impressed. No court order, no body.

Equally unimpressed were members of the local historical society. They sent two men to the cemetery to see that nothing happened.

True, admitted the society, General Morgan was a native of New Jersey—a far cry from either Winchester or Cowpens. But he'd spent most of his life here and in nearby Berryville. And hadn't he died and been buried here in 1902?

If the good citizens of Cowpens want General Morgan's body badly enough, let them take the matter to court, said the society. Whether Cowpens wants the body that badly remains to be seen.

Red Blaik May Resign as Army's Head Football Coach

Cary Middlecoff Carts Off Top Swag in TAM Event

Chicago, Aug. 6—(AP)—Cary Middlecoff, hitting on of the hottest stretches of golf in his career, carted off top swag in the first phase of Tam O'Shanter's gold rush and now aims for $12,500 in the "world" meet—the game's richest payoff.

The 30-year-old Memphis star, who forsook the practice of dentistry to carve a place on the tournament circuit, won TAM's All-American top prize of $2,250 yesterday in a man-to-man battle with Fred Hawkins, 27-year-old pro from El Paso, Tex.

He and the nation's 64 other prime pros enter the "World Championship" Thursday.

The high-strung Middlecoff, whose strongest opponent usually is himself as he carries on a personal fight with his game, finished with a pair of 34's for 68. This gave him a total 274—14 strokes under TAM's par—and the All-American first award.

His $2,500 winnings shot him to a total $12,810 for the season and moved the 1949 National Open champion from fifth to third place among the leaders on the financial list.

Hawkins, who grew up on his father's golf layout at Antioch, Ill., and once attended the University of Illinois, played in the same threesome on the final round with Middlecoff.

Trailing by four strokes entering the last trip, Hawkins proceeded to jangle the nerves of the good doctor. Twice he came within one stroke of closing the gap with brilliant trap recoveries that left him less than four feet for birdie putts.

Then, after progressing to a 33 on the front nine and moving up on the last side with the help of an eagle and a series of long-putt birdies, the boyish-looking Hawkins faltered.

Only one stroke behind, he blasted from a trap four feet from the pin on 16—but missed the putt. That was it. Although he finished with a 66, it was not enough.

Hawkins' second place was worth $1,400.

Third was Ted Kroll, Purple Heart veteran from New Hartford, N. Y., who finished with 70 for 279 and $1,200. Skee Riegel's 280 was worth $1,100 and four shared 282 to get $850 apiece—Jerry Barber, Norman Von Nida, Sydney, Australia, the leading foreign entry, Jimmy Demaret and Ralph Blomquist.

Among the disappointments were defending champion Bobby Locke, who cashed in for $95 with 290; and Sam Snead, who hit 294 and finished out of the money for the first time this year.

A virtual unknown, John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., grabbed for fame with a 64-74—138 and the halfway lead, but slipped with two succeeding rounds of 76 and 72. He wound up in a tie for 13th.

All the big name pros, plus Ben Hogan, who did not compete in the All-American section, will be in the field of 65 for the $50,000 "world" championship running Thursday through Sunday.

The "world" section also goes for men amateurs and the women.

Frank Stranahan is favored to repeat in the Simon Pure bracket. He took the All-American amateur with 286, six strokes ahead of second-place Gardner Dickinson of Dothan, Ala.

Mrs. Zaharias won the All-American Women's tourney for the fourth time, winning $1,000 with a 295—nine under par—and a 10-stroke edge over Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex.

The late Leo Digel won the Michigan State Open championship when he was 17 years old.

The Percentage Book

Next time you go to a baseball game with your friend, bet him (a friendly wager, of course) that when the count is three-and-two on the batter, he'll hit a foul ball on the next pitch . . . You'll be surprised how many times you'll win.

Latest New York Giant Sensation

Proportionately to his times at bat, Willie Mays has the best home run record in the major leagues. Mays stepped right into centerfield for the New York Giants, May 25, upon being called up from Minneapolis, with which club the 20-year-old Fairfield, Alabama, lad tore the American Association apart. He owns one of the strongest and most accurate throwing arms, is above average in speed, runs bases well and doesn't hesitate to hit the dirt, with or without his cap, which he frequently loses. LOCAL SPORT CHATTER

By EARL W. YOST
Sports Editor

Norm Vittner boasts a perfect pitching record for the league leading First National Bank entry in the Alumni Little League. The North End youngster has won all three mound starts. Vittner downed Brown and Beaupre yesterday by a 5 to 3 score at the Charter Oak Lots. He gave up six hits, struck out eight batters and walked only one. In addition, he hit safely twice, scored two runs and drove home two other tallies.

Cavaliers and American Legion Juniors will clash tonight in a Rec Intermediate Baseball League game at Mt. Nebo. Game time is 6 o'clock.

Silk City A. C. will hold an important meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the VFW Home. One of the items on the agenda will be the discussion of a football team this fall.

Twilight League President Nick Angelo has levied five dollar fines each on player-coach Tony Berube, Dick Foley and Bill Foley of the British Americans for their actions last Friday night at the West Side Oval. Berube's protest that the game against Silk City should have continued was disallowed. The BA's held a 5 to 3 lead in the seventh inning when Umpire Mike Rolick halted proceedings because of darkness and the score reverted back to the last completed inning as the Aces were the home team. The score at the end of six frames was 3 to 2, Silk City.

Second round pairings in the Town tennis tournament are as follows: Singles — Warren vs. Leary; Slover vs. Szemplinski; Al Whitney vs. Sapienza. Doubles—DellaFera and Curtain vs. Slover and Szemplinski; Sharpe and Sapienza vs. Al and Bob Whitney. All matches must be completed by Monday, August 13.

Little League activity tonight at Memorial Field at 6 o'clock will find the Red Sox playing the Cardinals. Little League games for the balance of the season are scheduled every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. New starting time is 6 o'clock—15 minutes earlier than usual.

Garden Grove Caterers will face Green Manor tonight in a Rec Softball League game at 6:15 at the Charter Oak Lots. Frank Johnson will hurl for the Manor with Pete Aceto on the hill for the Groves. Aceto will be after his seventh win against two setbacks.

Coach Nino Pagani earlier in the season predicted that the Garden Groves, then in last place, would wind up in first place in the final standings. At this writing the Groves are but one-half game behind the pace setting Paris Curtains.

"I wouldn't sign, so I was fired." Strader added.

He said no reason was given for his release. His team won seven games and lost five last season.

40 of Dismissed Group Were Gridiron Players

Coach Not Available; Names of Students Involved Not Disclosed by Authorities

West Point, N. Y. Aug. 6—(AP)—The question of whether Col. Earl (Red) Blaik will resign as Army's head football coach was tossed about in sports circles today as the result of the order dismissing 90 cadets — many of them his top gridiron stars—for cheating in examinations.

The Army steadfastly has refused to name names. But well founded reports said 40 or more football players were among the 90 involved in the scandal that rocked the United States Military Academy.

However, two of the players who figured prominently in Blaik's plans for another great Army team have said they are among the Cadets ordered dismissed.

Three others have disclosed through their parents that they were not connected with the violation of the academy's sacrosanct honor code.

But, if reports are true, Blaik's varsity squad has been ripped asunder. Graduation last spring took 10 of the team that rolled through 28 straight victories before losing to Navy 14-2 last fall. And now the dismissal order, taking players that figured to again make the Black Knights the feared power of the gridiron.

Built Team Around Son

Blaik had built his offense around his son, Bob, No. 1 quarterback last season. Young Blaik himself has refused to say if he was involved. But speaking in a group of cadets he used the pronoun "we" in declaring:

"We are not allowed to notify our parents all over the country."

The famed Army coach thought so much of his squad that he planned to bring up only four or five of last year's plebe eleven. But now it looks as if the Army's black and gold will be worn by the plebes of last year and the "B" squad of 1950.

James B. Leer, West Point public relations officer, has said that Army definitely will keep its nine-game schedule, featuring Southern California in New York Nov. 3 and the annual Navy game in Philadelphia Dec. 1.

Blaik himself has either been in seclusion or refused to comment since the storm broke over the plains last Friday. His assistants, including Felix (Doc) Blanchard, "Mr. Outside" of the Army's great war-time elevens, also have declined to talk on the situation.

There are those in sports circles who say that Blaik will not resign but will accept the challenge to give Army a presentable football team with what is left.

The colonel has shown before that he knows the answers when it comes to moulding teams. He did it at Dartmouth before coming to Army, where he lifted the Cadets from the football door mat to where they annually ranked with Nother Dame as the most powerful outfits in the collegiate sports.

Definitely out of Blaik's plans are captain-elect Harold J. Loehlein, a guard from Kimball, Minn., and Gilbert M. Reich, defensive back from Steelton, Pa.

Loehlin, also president of the first year (senior) class, told newspaper men yesterday he was one of the 90. Reich was quoted by the Harrisburg, Pa., Sunday Patriot-News as saying: "I am involved. My conscience is clear."

"We are not culprits, not incompetents and have not corrupted the nation's morals," Loehlein said in an angry statement penciled on a sheet of paper.

"That hings we've done take place everywhere but because other schools do not have the honor system it fails to become national scandal," he added. "We are not criminals and the adverse publicicity is not justified. We did not instigate the cribbing and it is also unfair to believe that the academy now has been returned to pristine purity.

Many cadets innvolved have not yet admitted their guilt.

"We are 90 individuals, apparently unfit for the academy, although fit for the Army itself."

Eligible for Draft

This last was in reference to the fact the dismissed Cadets will immediately become eligible for the draft.

Loeblein said he had been in the upper 10 per cent of his class all of the way—"and I could have done better if I hadn't had to spend so much time helping others." He admitted, however he had done some cribbing himself.

Parents of John (Eddie) Weaver, an end from Kingston, N. Y., Richard G. Inman, guard from Vincennes, Ind., and Donald Fuqua, back from Little Rock, Ark., said yesterday they had received word from their sons they are not involved in the scandal.

Roberto de Vicenzo, 28-year-old golf pro from Argentina, began playing the game when he was 1...

Bank Turns Back Bees As Vittner Stars, 5-3

Three Run Fifth Frame Ices Verdict for LLA Leaders; Mohart Big Gun for Losing Team

Standings

Board of Trade	6	5	.545
Brown & Beaupre	5	6	.455
P.A.L.	3	7	.300

The First National Bank posted its seventh win of the season yesterday at Alumni Field by downing Brown & Beaupre, 5-3. The win enabled the Bankers to hold on to their one-and-a-half game lead in the Alumni Little League. The loss dropped the Bees to third place as the East Hartford Board of Trade defeated the P.A.L., 6-4 and moved into second place, a full game ahead of the Bees.

Goes The Distance

Norm Vittner went the distance for the Bank posting his third win against no losses. He gave up six hits, fanned eight and walked only one. Norm aided his own cause with a tremendous triple in the fifth driving in two runs. He also scored two runs.

Gary Bogli pitched a fine game for the Bees, yielding seven hits, while fanning eight and walking five. He weakened in the fifth, however, when the Bank reached him for three runs on three hits.

The Bees jumped off to a quick two run lead in the first when Al Biardi reached on an error, Al Cole walked and Mohart slashed a tremendous double to right-center scoring both men. The Bank struck back in their half of the inning when with one out, Vittner singled and scored when Jim Taylor blooped a hit to right. Tiny Biardi, diminutive second sacker for the Bees, and Irv August, the Bees' right fielder, collided attempting to catch the ball. The ball got by both men and went for a triple. Biardi was injured on the play and had to leave the game.

Pitchers Settle Down

After a shaky first inning both pitchers settled down, setting down the opposition with ease. In the fifth, however, the Bank jumped on Bogli for three runs on three hits and one error. Jack Hedlund led off with a walk. Starin singled to right moving Hedlund to third, Carl Silver on an attempted squeeze popped to Holland who doubled Hedlund at third. With two down Irish singled sending Starin to third. Vittner drove a screaming line drive to right center which was good for three bases, two runs scoring. Vittner scored the third marker when Holland booted Taylor's grounder. The Bankers added an insurance run in the sixth. The Bees trailed once in the seventh but it was not enough.

Vittner and Starin paced the winners with two hits apiece. Bogli and Mohart each collected a pair of hits for the losers.

Mathew Kilroy, pitching for Baltimore in the American Association in 1886 (then a major league), struck out 505 batters.

Happy Returns To Capitol Hill

Washington, Aug. 6—(AP)—A. B. (Happy) Chandler returns to his old stamping grounds—Capitol Hill—today to talk about one of his favorite subjects—baseball.

He is tabbed to open the second week of hearings into organized baseball by a House judiciary subcommittee on monopoly power.

His qualifications:

He used to play semi-pro baseball in Northern Kentucky;

He had a hand in making laws as a member of the U. S. Senate; and he was baseball's $75,000-a-year high commissioner until forced to abdicate only a few weeks ago.

The committee is studying organized baseball and all of its ramifications with a view to passing on bills to exempt organized sport from the anti-trust laws.

Rep. Price (D-Ill), author of such a measure, told a reporter he is convinced baseball's reserve clause, governing the disposition of players' contracts, violates the anti-monopoly laws.

"Baseball would be badly hurt if the Supreme Court reached that decision on any of the cases now pending," he said.

"I believe we should take steps to legalize the reserve clause. After all baseball is a sport. And baseball must convince the public of that."

He said he believed Ford Frick, National League president, and George Trautman, minor league boss, advanced the games' cause with their testimony before the committee last week.

"The reserve clause is the players' greatest protection," he added, "and I firmly believe there must be protection for them."

"I doubt if more than a dozen players in all of baseball's history has been hurt by the reserve clause," Price said.

Not In The Family

Brooklyn, N. Y.— (AP) —"This telegrapher must think I'm crazy, but as one Brooklyn boy to another and as one Tommy Holmes to another Tommy Holmes, here's wishing you the best." That was the telegram Tommy Holmes, Brooklyn Eagle sports columnist, sent to Tommy Holmes after the latter became manager of the Boston Braves. They are not related but have been friends for almost 20 years.

Only nine mares have won the four and a half mile Aintree Grand National out of 115 runnings.

Providence Beats Moodus In Bi-State Tilt, 7 to 4

Circle A. C. of Providence, Rhode Island, state winners of the NBC semi-pro baseball tourney, took the first game from Moodus in the bi-state series yesterday afternoon at the Oval by a score of 7 to 4 Joe Trimble, owned by the Cincinnati Reds, was the winning pitcher when he came on in the seventh and struck out eight Moodus batters over the final three frames. He was positively the best hurler seen at the Oval this season.

George King went the round for the Noises and was victimized by errors in the early stages of the game which accounted for two runs. He held a slender 4-3 margin going into the ninth, but the Circle nine, touching him for only four hits up to this point, rapped out four more bingles to score four times and clinch the game.

Two errors by Benny Novinski and a suicide squeeze bunt scored the first run for the visitors in the second inning. They took a 2-0 lead in the fourth on a hit batsman, infield out and Teets Topazio's line single to right.

DP Ends Threat

Moodus loaded the sacks with one away in the third as they bunted the Providence third baseman and starting pitcher, Ray Edmunds, silly. A pop-up and double play ended the threat. The same situation prevailed in the fifth and this time Jay Breslow knotted the count with a hit to left.

Providence moved right out front again in the sixth on Joe Iemma's double and a third error by Novinski.

A single and two passes loaded the bases in the Moodus half of the inning with only one out. Joe Platek was out at the plate when the squeeze back-fired. The other runners moved up and King got his third hit of the game, sending both men home to give Moodus a 4-3 lead which stood up until the ninth.

Trimble passed four batters and the only hit was a double by Novinski in the ninth. His curve ball was thrown with the same motion and speed as his fast one and the Noises couldn't touch him.

About 700 fans witnessed this first game in the best two of three series. The second game will be staged Wednesday night at 8:15 in McCoy Stadium, Pawtucket.

Glasses Help Sam

Boston— (AP)— Sam Jethroe is more than a switch hitter. He wears glasses while playing center field for the Boston Braves but takes them off while at bat. Slightly near-sighted, Sam tried glasses in the outfield in mid-June and it helped his fielding. Previously he had lost three balls in the sun and each cost the Braves a ball game.

Pitch In Switch

Pueblo, Colo.—(AP)—Here's a switcheroo:

Ernie Trujillo, pitcher for the Wichita Indians of the Western League, hurled a 3-2 victory over the Pueblo Dodgers. Ernie's home town is Pueblo. The losing Pueblo pitcher was Vern Frantz, who hails from Wichita.

Horse Never Paid Off

Indianapolis, Ind.—(AP) — Miss Jeanne Crain, a harness racing mare named after the movie star, was sold at public auction as a weanling in 1944 for more than $5,000,000. The mare was donated to a war bond drive at the time and was purchased by Tony Hulman, president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. He later sold her. Despite all the ballyhoo Miss Jeanne Crain never got to the races and is now used for foaling purposes.

Minnie The Mauler

When Minnie Minoso, the White Sox' Cuban slugger, was playing minor league ball in Iowa, he came to bat one day and found the bases loaded and the score tied . . . He worked the count to three balls and no strikes, then the manager gave him the "take" sign on the next pitch . . . But Minnie swung at the next pitch—and hit a grand-slam home run! . . . The manager was fuming when Minoso came back to the bench, and stormed: "I thought I told you to take that pitch!" . . . "I do right," Minnie innocently replied. "I take pitch and hit it far as I can."

Tigers Beat Red Sox Two at Fenway Park

Homeward Bound Indians Only Half Game Behind New York in Tight American Race

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two weeks ago you wouldn't have given a nickel for Cleveland's pennant chances. That was when the Indians, opening a vital Eastern swing, dropped two straight games to the Yankees and fell 2½ games behind the league-leading New Yorkers.

But today the triumphant Tribesmen rate even money to dethrone the defending champion Yankees.

True, the homeward bound Indians still trail the New Yorkers. Put the margin is now a mere half game.

Cleveland bounced back after the two lickings at Yankee Stadium and won the final game of the series, snapping a victory famine in the Bronx that had run through 13 contests. The Indians took inspiration from that and went on to take the series in Boston, Washington and Philadelphia.

The Tribe swept the four game series with the athletics, closing with a pair of 6-3 triumphs yesterday to make it 11 consecutive wins against the A's. They go home with a 10-4 record in the East.

In sharp contrast, the Boston Red Sox suffered a wretched home stand, for them. They divided 14 games to fall into third place, 3½ behind the Yankees. New York, Cleveland, and Boston began the latest swing in a virtual first-place tie.

Detroit's Tigers put the finishing touches to the Red Sox' sorry home stay by winning a double header in Fenway Park, 3-1 and 8-5. That cost Boston two full games, as the Yankees whipped the St. Louis Browns, 6-2 and 4-3. The double triumph gave New York an 11-4 record against the West in its latest stand.

Chicago's fourth-place White Sox ended a poor Eastern jaunt with a 6-5 victory in Washington. They return West with a 5-7 showing that cost them 4½ games to the league leaders. Trailing by only 2½ games two weeks ago, they now are seven games behind the Yanks.

Bums Continue To Roll

The Brooklyn Dodgers continue to roll in the National League. They socked the Cincinnati Reds twice, 9-8 and 2-0, to increase their margin over the runnerup New York Giants to 9½ games. The Giants captured the rubber of their three-game set in St. Louis, 8-4.

Philadelphia's third - place Phils pummelled nine Pittsburgh pitchers for a 5-1 and 12-7 sweep of their twin bill. Boston's Braves whipped the Cubs twice in Chicago, 7-4 and 4-3.

Ralph Kiner of the Pirates hammered three home runs to raise his total to 31. It tied him with Brooklyn's Gil Hodges for the major league lead. Kiner's first homer came in the seventh inning of the opener and ruined Bubba Church's bid for a no-hitter. It was the only hit off the Philly righthander who notched his 12th victory. A seven-run eighth inning won the second for the Phils.

Roy Campanella swatted two four-baggers for Brooklyn in the opener, his second coming in the sixth with the bases loaded. The Reds tallied five times in the ninth and had the bases loaded with nobody out, but couldn't bring over the tying run. Ralph Branca shut them out on eight hits in the nightcap.

The Giants defeated Gerry Staley—an old jinx. Staley had beaten them three times this season and owned a lifetime record of nine victories and one defeat against them.

Bob Lemon won his 12th for Cleveland, Early Wynn his 11th. Al Rosen hit his 17th homer for the Indians.

Marlin Stuart turned in his fourth straight win for Detroit since he was promoted to a starter. Catcher Joe Ginsberg broke up both games with the Red Sox. He snapped a 1-1 tie with a run-scoring triple in the opener and doubled home two runs to snap a 5-5 tie in the second.

Ed Lopat outpitched Ned Garver to register his 14th victory for the Yankees. Allie Reynolds fanned 13 Brownies in the nightcap but needed help from Joe Ostrowski in the ninth. The Browns had the tying and winning runs on bases with nobody out but Ostrowski retired the side without a score. He induced ex-Yankee Cliff Mapes to hit into a game-ending double play.

Lou Kretlow went the distance for the White Sox against the Senators. He has won three games, all against Washington.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting: Roy Campanella, Dodges —Hit two homers, one with the bases loaded, to lead the Dodgers to a 9-8 first-game victory over Cincinnati. Brooklyn also won the second game, 2-0.

Pitching: Joe Ostrowski, Yankees — Relieved starter Allie Reynolds with the tying and winning runs on base and nobody out in the ninth and retired the Browns without a score as the Yankees won 4-3 to complete a sweep of doubleheader with St. Louis. New York won the opener, 6-3.

Boyce Silent On Charges

Has "No Comment" on Rumor He Is to Quit The Housing Authority

Robert J. Boyce, a veteran member of the Manchester Housing Authority, gave a terse "no comment" when queried recently about a rumor that he is planning to resign from the authority because of laxity charges made by Director Melvin S. Hathaway.

At a recent meeting, Hathaway stated that Boyce has not attended an authority meeting for several months and questioned whether the town is "getting the benefit of his capable abilities." He had the matter placed on the agenda for discussion at tomorrow night's session of the Board of Directors.

The housing board meets on the first Monday of each month and has charge of three housing projects, Silver Lane Homes, Orford Village and Greenhaven.

Boyce is also secretary of the Manchester Savings and Loan Association, Inc.

Among other matters scheduled for discussion by the directors are an addition to the Bowers school, the 11 capital improvements recommended by the Town Planning Commission, an ordinance banning the private discharge of fireworks, and the placing of town insurance on a bid basis.

To Scan Town Wages Scale

Directors Committee to Meet Today on Possible Increases in Pay

The Salary committee of the Board of Directors will meet at 4 p. m. today at the Municipal Building to discuss the feasibility of providing wage increases for town employes. The committee is expected to report at tomorrow night's meeting of the directors.

Members of the committee are Chairman Walter Mahoney, John Lappen and Ray Warren.

At a recent budget session, Director T. J. Crockett suggested that several employes of the engineering department be given raises, and the matter was referred to the Salary committee. The question of how such selected increases will affect other municipal employes was brought up, and the committee is expected to consider the overall wage situation.

Some directors feel that wage boosts for only a few town employes would be considered unfair by the other employes and would cause resentment harmful to morale. One director estimated that a general salary increase among all municipal employes would result in a two mill tax increase.

The directors have already approved a 1951-52 budget totaling $5,118,337. An amendment was adopted with the budget stipulates that General Manager George H. Waddell take no action on proposed wage increases until recommendations have been received from the Salary committee.

Church Helps Flood Relief

Collection at St. James Yesterday Totals the Sum of $397.68

The Manchester Flood Relief Drive was boosted considerably by collections taken at St. James's church yesterday which totalled $397.68. Rev. John Hannon, a member of the Flood Drive committee, presented the check to the Red Cross office this morning. Collections were taken up after all the masses yesterday by girls from the Children of Mary Sodality.

Edgar Clarke, chairman of the Flood Relief Drive, expressed his gratitude for the cooperation being given the committee. "It is certainly reassuring to the committee to find that the people of Manchester are willing to help put this drive over both with their contributions and their personal services as solicitors and workers."

"Although the middle of the summer is far from the ideal time to run an appeal for funds we feel that the Flood Relief Drive can be successful since the residents of Manchester seem to realize that this is a great emergency. Disasters do not wait for a convenient time to strike and we all want to help our mid-western neighbors to get back on their feet as soon as possible.

"If a small contribution from each of us can cut short the suffering of thousands of people I know that we in Manchester will respond speedily to this urgent appeal for help. If you can spare a dollar to send to these flood victims won't you send it to Red Cross office, 993 Main street, today?"

Boy Given Party On 5th Birthday

Elliot, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot B. Dodge of 157 Vernon street, was five years old Friday. The event was celebrated the same afternoon by a birthday party which was attended by ten little boys in the neighborhood. The children had a merry time playing games outdoors until rain drove them into the house, when they had the opportunity of admiring Elliot's toys and gifts.

Mrs. Dodge made a large birthday cake and decorated it for the occasion, and served other good things. She was assisted by Elliot's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Marshall Young of Garden street. He expects to attend the kindergarten at the Manchester Green school in September.

Man Faces Death Chair; Court Denies Clemency

Hartford, Aug. 7—(AP)—Francis C. Smith, 26, convicted of first degree murder in the slaying of a night watchman at a yacht club in Greenwich, lost today an attempt to escape the electric chair.

In an unanimous opinion, the state Supreme Court upheld his conviction, rejecting an appeal in the behalf by his counsel, former Governor James C. Shannon, of Bridgeport, and Melvin M. Dichter, of Stamford.

Smith and George Lowden, 23, of Stamford, were indicted after night watchman Grover S. Hart, 53, was found shot to death on July 28, 1949 in the clubhouse of the Indian Harbor Yacht club at Greenwich. The shooting occurred during a burglary.

Lowden pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Smith, a former resident of Noroton Heights, Darien, elected to stand trial, and was convicted of first degree murder by a Fairfield County Superior Court jury on June 7, 1950.

Gets Automatic Stay

Protesting his innocence to the last, Smith was sentenced by Judge J. Howard Roberts to be electrocuted in November, 1950. An automatic stay of execution was granted when his appeal was filed.

A new date for the electrocution must now be set as a result of the Supreme Court's decision. The only hope left to Smith is an appeal for clemency to the state board of Pardons.

The Supreme Court noted that the State's case against Smith "rested exclusively on circumstantial evidence," but added:

"It does not follow from that, however, that it was not a strong case. The jury recognized no distinction between circumstantial and direct evidence so far as probative force is concerned. If evidence, whether direct or circumstantial, should convince a jury beyond a reasonable doubt that an accused is guilty, that is all that is required for a conviction."

Rejects Mistrial Bid

The Supreme Court also rejected contentions that Smith should have been granted a mistrial because additional talesmen had to be summoned before a jury could be completed, and that there were errors in the judge's charge to the jury.

The court held further that the judge had ruled correctly on certain testimony by Lowden. Lowden testified at the Smith trial, but refused to answer when asked whether he and Smith had been together on the night before the slaying. The court noted that the jury had been instructed to disregard Lowden's remark that he refused to answer because "it might incriminate Frank Smith."

State's Attorney Loren C. Willis was properly permitted to cross-examine Lowden when the "State was taken by surprise by the witness' refusal to testify on important matters," the court ruled.

Individual Tax Hike Now Is Due October 1

Washington, Aug. 7—(AP)—Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the Senate Finance committee said today that individual income taxes probably will be boosted Oct. 1.

This would be a month later than the date in the House-passed $7,200,000,000 general tax increase bill.

George told newsmen he saw no chance for Congress to complete its work on the bill in time to make the higher withholding rates effective Sept. 1. The lawmakers never would approve a retroactive boost in personal income taxes, he added.

Wells Senate Bill

George said his committee will begin closed sessions next Monday to write its tax bill. The group finished six weeks of open hearings last Friday.

It probably will take two weeks for the 24 Senators to complete their version, the chairman said. And that estimate, he explained, is based on belief the committee "energy will work over the House bill rather than draft a completely new one.

He implied that the Senators would not go into a new field such as a federal retail sales tax or general manufacturers' excise levy. Many business groups advocated one or either of these.

George said he himself opposed a federal sales tax because it would open up a controversial issue which might delay adjournment indefinitely; the House already has declined to approve such a levy this year; and it would put Washington into direct conflict with a major revenue-producing tax in 20 states.

George would not make any estimate of how much the new bill would bring in.

Police Hold 130 In Jamaica Riot

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 7—(AP)—Steel-helmeted police, bayonets fixed, stormed through a mill of bricks and broken bottles at night and arrested on riot charges 130 persons in Bustamante Industrial Trade union headquarters.

Police made the raid after citizens complained they had been molested walking past the headquarters of the union, run by W. Bustamante, Communications Minister and virtual prime minister of this British colony.

Everyone in the building except Bustamante was arrested. The skirmish followed a long period of unemployment on the island. No serious injuries were reported.

U. S. Ready to Reject Red 'Peace' Pact Bid

Washington, Aug. 7—(AP)—The United States is reported ready to turn down quickly Russia's newest bid for a Moscow-styled Big Five peace pact to end the cold war.

Russian President Nikolai Novikov received the two-year-old Soviet offer last night in a surprise letter to President Truman.

"It's the same old chestnut tied with a new ribbon," said a high American official who studied the letter's contents.

Shvernik's message, bristling with denunciations of Western war-mongering," was accompanied by a 2,500 word resolution proclaiming Russia's alleged dedication to world peace."

Seen as Red Reply

This appeared to be Moscow's answer to a resolution Congress passed last June. The American document expressed friendship and goodwill toward the Russian people.

President Truman sent it along to Shvernik's leaders to make it public so the Russian people can learn the "peace aims of the American people and government."

Russia's replying resolution came from the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament), a

Tells Senate Probers Greenberg Took IPR Job Held by Lattimore

Washington, Aug. 7—(AP)—A university professor, who identified himself as a former German Communist, told Senators today he met Michael Greenberg, a former government official, among "Communist friends" and had assumed Greenberg was one.

With this testimony from Dr. Karl August Wittfogel, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee put into its record an August 31, 1943, letter on White House stationery, with the typed signature of Michael Greenberg.

Also put into the record were documents listing Greenberg as a former employe of the Board of Economic Warfare, the Foreign Economic administration and the State department.

One of these documents was a letter from Robert Ramspeck, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, saying that on March 7, 1947, Greenberg was barred from employment in Civil Service examinations "because of questionable loyalty."

Now On China Project

Wittfogel, whose residence is in Oceanside, N. Y., said he met the committee as director of a Chinese history project co-sponsored by the University of Washington and Columbia university.

He testified at the committee's inquiry into whether subversive influences have affected U. S. Far Eastern policies.

Wittfogel said he was a Communist in Germany but broke with the party in 1929.

He told the Senators he met Greenberg in England in 1934 "among my English Communist friends."

He said he had not seen Greenberg's party card but that he met him under circum-

Egypt May Cancel Treaty Of Defense With Britain

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 7—(AP)—Egypt has warned Britain that she intends to cancel the Anglo-Egyptian mutual defense treaty by the end of this month. The treaty, which permits Britain to keep troops at the Suez Canal, has been a sore spot between the two countries since the end of World War II.

Egypt's Foreign Minister Mohammed Salah Eddin told a cheering parliament Britain had closed the door to further negotiations on the disputed treaty and it would be cancelled "before the end of this session of parliament."

The session is expected to end late in August.

Eddin's statement was a formal reply to British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison's charges in the House of Commons July 30 that Egypt is taking an "uncompromising" and "irresponsible" attitude toward the major problems in the Middle East.

Since negotiations started in 1946 to renew and revise the treaty, Egypt has demanded that British withdraw her troops from the vital Suez—main supply route during World War II. Egypt also

McCarthy Replies to Benton

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wis.) plays with some papers at his Capitol desk after he issued a statement replying to Sen. William Benton (D., Conn.) who called in a Senate speech for the expulsion or expulsion of McCarthy from the Senate. McCarthy, in his statement said, "Tonight Benton has established himself as the hero of every Communist and crook in and out of government." (AP Wirephoto).

Benton to Demand Probe of McCarthy

Washington, Aug. 7—(AP)—Senator Benton (D-Conn) said today he will press for a showdown on his demands for a Senate investigation to determine whether Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) should be expelled.

Benton suggested in a Senate speech yesterday that McCarthy should resign. As an alternative, he introduced a resolution providing an investigation of the Wisconsin lawmaker's activities to determine whether the Senate should oust him.

Mental Midget

McCarthy fired back by calling Benton a "mental midget" who, he said, "worked hand in glove with the 'Crimen Clique'" as an assistant Secretary of State. He did not elaborate on this point.

Benton said he had no reply to McCarthy's statement "because I'm not going to engage in that kind of argument."

But he told a reporter "I absolutely am going to press" for action on the proposed resolution to investigate McCarthy.

He will have a chance to do this tomorrow, when the Senate rules committee, of which he is a member, is scheduled to meet behind closed doors. The resolution was referred to this committee at Benton's request.

The resolution quoted excerpts from an elections subcommittee report which described as "despicable" some aspects of the 1950 Maryland election campaign which unseated the then Democratic senator, Millard Tydings. The report, made public last week, named McCarthy as an active figure in the Maryland campaign.

Improper Tactics

The elections group — a rules subcommittee—said that any Senator, regardless of whether he was an actual candidate, "should be subject to expulsion" if he engaged in improper tactics. It said, however, that since this theory has not been applied before, it should not be applied retroactively.

McCarthy has denounced the subcommittee report.

In one of Maryland's most bitter election campaigns, Republican John Marshall Butler defeated Tydings by a margin of some 43,000 votes. McCarthy went into Maryland to make campaign speeches in Butler's behalf.

The subcommittee denounced portions of the tabloid publication circulated by Butler's supporters and containing a composite photo-

Await Red Neutrality Assurance

Tokyo, Wednesday, Aug. 8—(AP)—The Peiping radio asserted last night that American troops violated the neutrality of Kaesong July 16.

Tokyo, Aug. 7—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told the Reds today Korean cease-fire talks will not be resumed until they assure him they will keep their Kaesong neutrality agreement.

The Allied Supreme Commander bluntly acknowledged the Red apology for last Saturday's violation of the neutral zone. Then he told them that wasn't enough.

In a strongly-worded message to the two Red commanders in Korea, Ridgway said he needed new assurances that Communists will keep their word.

Only then, he said, will he send his five negotiators back to Kaesong to resume armistice negotiations.

Hartford, Aug. 7—(AP)— State alcoholic beverage taxes dropped about seven per cent during the last month as compared to the July Korean "scare buying" period a year ago.
