League Play-offs Hit by Weather

Announcement was made at noon today that the Little League baseball championship, scheduled to start at Loomis field in Windsor tonight, has been postponed. The reason for this is that Manchester was to have played in the game.

Part of the tournament will now be transferred to Cheshire field here as completed this week. The game will be started at Cheshire Oak tomorrow, the first at 8 and the second at 8:30 p. m.

Court Cases

Five minor cases were disposed of and one was continued in Town Court this morning. Joseph G. Rottler, proscribed, was charged with possession of a sawed-off shotgun.

The case was postponed until Friday at the request of the police. Judge Rottler ordered orders of breach of the peace and introduction placed against Thomas Morrison, 84, of Rocky Hill, and William Morrison, 19, of Rocky Hill, who were arrested Monday after allegedly using profane language.

Catherine Rugan, 20, of 18 Coleman road was fined $20 on a charge of having an unlicensed dog. Allen Green, 42, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was fined $20 on a charge of being intoxicated.

Malvin Blotcher, 29, of 100 North Main street, was fined $100 on a charge of driving a motor vehicle without a license. The case was postponed until Friday at the request of the police.

Another Wood Menace Slain

A possible break in the town's long-continued effort to purchase additional land surrounding the Manchester Green School which would permit the school's expansion or renovation appeared in a fight following last night's meeting of the Board of Directors.

The Board authorized Martin to reopen negotiations for the land after he reported one of the property owners had contacted him regarding his willingness to sell. Martin said that John M. Derby of 12 Vernon street, who, Martin said, had made an offer in December, had asked him if the town still wanted his land. Derby's asking price is $12,000, as opposed to a town appraisal last year of $7,472.

The general manager said that with the Rockledge and Boyle Farm developments in the area nearing completion, steps should be taken to enlarge the school. The Board instructed him to reopen negotiations with Derby and other property owners owning land in the town, including Green Meadow Estate.

The Manchester Green School, whose expansion was once regarded as desirable of top priority in the school-building program, has not been touched by the present rank of school-building activity in town because of insufficient funds for its enlargement.

Possible Break In Land Deals

The Board of Education has informed the directors that the State Board of Education would not approve any additions to the school unless the school had more land. Even a compromise plan, adopted when the town's efforts to buy the school land were blocked, to add at least 20 acres to the town's 130-acre school site, would enlarge slightly the Green plan, was considered so far as the latter was concerned. The school board held out for the approval of plans for the Green school, stating that more land was necessary.

General Manager Told He Can Reopen Talks On School Properties

Although he would probably have preferred a Brook Street, Robert A. Cloutman, of 178 Holland lane, East Hartford, had to satisfy himself with this 41st street rattle. Cloutman killed the snake on Monday Hill road in Glastonbury shortly before 3 p. m. yesterday.

The snake-biller reported he saw the rattler coiled at the side of the road and tried several times to run over the reptile with the wheels of his car. When that failed, Cloutman managed to pin the snake with one stick while he beat him to death with another. Another rattler was killed recently in Glastonbury by a milk delivery man.

Drought Now Broken In New England Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The lack of New England's multi-million dollar drought was broken today as rain fell for the third straight day over most of the six-state area. The sun had been bright and cool was forecast by the weather bureau for all New England states for today and tonight.

Here in Connecticut, crop made-up for lost time in soil soaked by a two-day rain which has heavier spots than total precipitation during the whole month of July. Professional rain-makers are standing by in the Connecticut valley after snuffing off their silver inside generators Tuesday night at the end of the first day of rain which broke the drought.

Even if nature does not bring more rain in the next week, it is unlikely that the rain-makers will be called back in that time. The heavy rain has been a boon to farmers who had prayed for rain for a month or more. They are still as determined as ever to carry their plan for a permanent rain-making program, under state sponsorship, in the Connecticut Valley Cigar Tobacco Association.

The weather bureau forecast partly cloudy skies today, tonight and tomorrow with heavy showers scattered showers this afternoon.

Dr. Wallace E. Howell, head of the moisture producing organization refused to claim credit for the approximately 1 1/2 inches of rain that fell in the state today. He said that the rain was a boon to farmers who had prayed for rain for a month or more. They are still as determined as ever to carry their plan for a permanent rain-making program, under state sponsorship, in the Connecticut Valley Cigar Tobacco Association.

Schedule Last Budget Survey

Directors Must Act Tomorrow to Get Under Deadline in Charter

The Board of Directors will convene tomorrow night in what amounts to their last chance to adopt the proposed budget for the fiscal year 1962-63 before it goes into effect without their approval. The meeting will get under way at 7:30 in the hearing room at the Municipal Building.

The town charter requires the adoption of the budget not less than five days before the start of the fiscal year, Aug. 15, and provides that the general manager's tentative budget will become the final budget without board approval if no action is taken on it before the deadline.

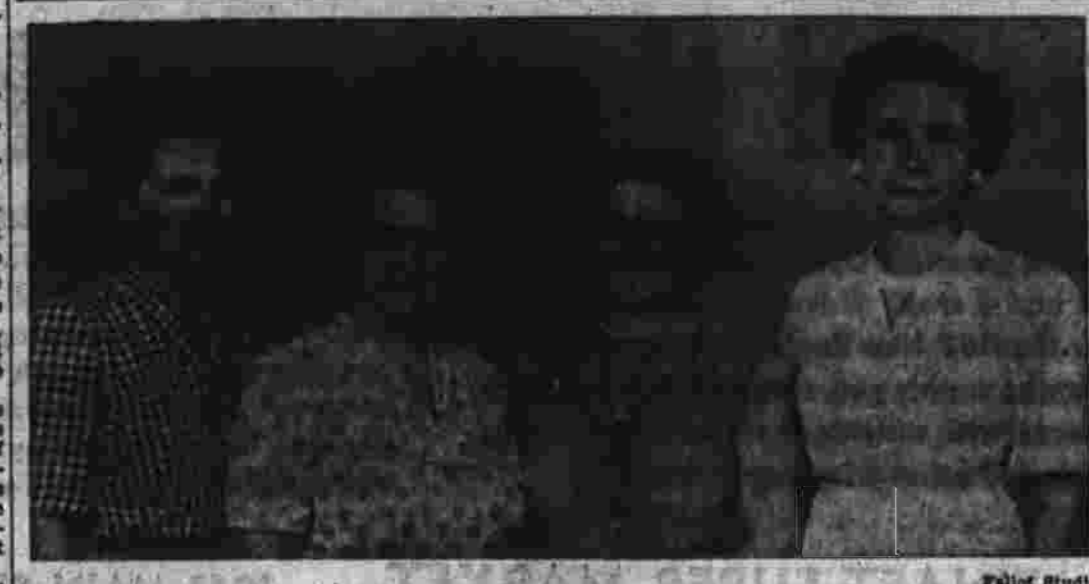

However, it is believed that the directors will succeed in reaching through the remaining items in General Manager Richard Martin's budget of $2,000,000.

Martin estimates that his budget would require a one-half cent increase in the town's present 30-cent tax rate.

The only item in Martin's budget that the directors felt they could press was the Veterans Service Center appropriation of $25,741. Monday night, the directors, feeling the Center was no longer necessary, slashed its budget to $12,000, which will permit the center to continue its operations until Nov. 1. According to Martin, Director Leo I. DeMunnich of the Center said only "time" or their centers remained in the state.

The minutes, or an account, is essentially a vegetarian animal.

Named as Delegates

Martin earlier this week by Victor Fred of Ebbets, Fred and Preston, the Hartford architectural firm which drew them.

The plans which the agencies will examine call for a seven-unit, campus-style school, built around a quadrangle on the top of a hill in the northern section of a 41-acre tract of land in Memorial Field. The land, known as the "Old Golf Links" was purchased by the town expressly for a high school site. It runs between Middle turnpike east and East Center street, and is bounded on the east by Brookfield street.

In addition to the school, which will house 2,000 pupils, the plans which are an attempt to follow the requirements of a state act set forth by the school board, include a layout of the athletic area. Shown on the plans are eight tennis courts, a football field, baseball field, hockey field, soccer field, and four outdoor courts.

Many regular customers express satisfaction with the plan. All out regularly, and out food much the same way as if they were eating at home, with no leaning toward expensive table items or fancy steaks.

Experience is the Best Teacher...

And we have had many opportunities to learn by it. Many times, during our 92 years in business, we've learned the hard way... as so many people do! Times have changed and so have we. We've found that no matter how hard we try there are always ways to improve our methods. But the years have taught us what American families look for in service... in foods... in values. Millions of shoppers at A&P prove we've learned to give you what you want... when you want it... at prices you can afford to pay! Come see at A&P!

If you have any suggestions as to how we can improve, please tell your friendly A&P Manager. Perhaps your experience can help us serve you better!

Johnson Would Fight Satterfield Again

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Chicago, Aug. 7.—A 24-man team for Philadelphia was being today after Chicago's 240 Satterfield, a 7-2 underdog, defeated Harold Johnson in a battle of power-punching light heavyweights.

Johnson, 24, a Philadelphia product and No. 2 light-heavy contender, said after last night's telecast from Chicago Stadium that he would welcome another chance at the unpredictable Satterfield.

"I hadn't fought since I licked Charles Henry last March," said Johnson, a heavy-muscled Negro with his 12-inch neck and a 150-pound build. "I was rusty and didn't have as much endurance as I thought. I would like to get another crack at Satterfield."

Satterfield, a man who has won 14 of his 17 professional fights, a knockout and a draw, is a man who has won 14 of his 17 professional fights, a knockout and a draw.

Plan Clinic For Coaches

Event In The Seventh; To Be Held Wednesday, Aug. 20 at UConn

Storrs, Conn., Aug. 7.—More than 100 football and basketball coaches in the eastern area have already registered for the seventh annual Coaches' Clinic which gets under way Aug. 20 at the University of Connecticut.

J. O. Christian, the university director of intercollegiate athletics at Storrs, reports that the coaches attending the three-day program are principally from New England with a "good turnout of coaches from the Middle West and colleges in Connecticut."

Dean Parrott of the University of Vermont, originator of the 1921-22 Coaches' Clinic, will be the headline speaker in the football portion of the program, while Lester (Shae) Shaeffer, Holy Cross' head basketball coach, will be chief speaker in the basketball division.

"Bob Jagals," newly-appointed head football coach at the University of Connecticut, will take over the program time to time during the three-day session.

"The program will be the best of its kind in the East," says Parrott. "It will give coaches a chance to hear from the best in the business and to discuss their own problems with other coaches."

Score by a Flying Saucer?

Umpire Frank Secory must have seen Reddy Hank Edwards sliding across plate because he called him safe, but the camera and fans in the stands all that visible Chicago catcher Toby Atwell and the ball was a great cloud of dust. Bill Neenan ground over falling from Atwell's glove, safe, 8-3, in game at Cincinnati. (AP Wirephoto.)

Bases-Loaded Single Gets Eighth Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Old Satchmo still has it. Even if he is 35 and going on 40, as some folks say, Satchmo Paige of the St. Louis Browns still has the stuff to bewilder big-league hitters. Let there be no doubt about it.

IF PAIGE had spent his career in the majors, instead of knocking around the exhibition circuit in the Negro leagues, he would have been a sure thing for the Cooperstown Hall of Fame.

Satchmo chose to desert the ball game to go to the Olympics, and he has not lost a step since. In the semi-final he posted the same time and the same score as he did in the final. He pitched nine shutout innings after Tigers gave way to the Athletics in the 10th, 11th and 12th.

Bob Neenan's base-loaded single with two out in the 11th, finally got him home with a 1-0 win, his eighth of the season. The loss came to the Tigers in the 10th, 11th and 12th.

Neenan's single was the result of a bases-loaded single by Hank Edwards in the 10th, which was followed by a walk to Satchmo Paige in the 11th, and a sacrifice fly to Satchmo Paige in the 12th.

Gore Leading In Tennessee

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Two-fisted campaigner Albert Gore, administering Kenneth D. McKellar his first political defeat in 41 years, pulled steadily away from the elderly Senator today in cleanup returns from the Democratic primary. With all but 100 votes, Gore led McKellar by a margin of the state's approximately 2,300 precincts from Young Hickman in the north to the 44-year-old Gore had a lead of better than 60,000 over the 82-year-old McKellar. The count from 2,101 precincts was: Gore 238,868; McKellar 173,272.

Rail Strike Scheduled On Monday

Cleveland, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Officials of three big railroad unions today canceled a strike set for Monday on New York Central Railroad lines east of Buffalo.

The dispute revolves about the 44-year-old Gore, who campaigned in and carried throughout the state after his fourth district was split into a 1951 redistricting act, piled up what seemed certain victory during the night-long tabulation of the union's primary election. Returns from 1,022 of the state's approximately 2,300 precincts gave Gore 238,868 votes, a 57 per cent majority over McKellar's 173,272.

But McKellar, remaining in his hotel room in Memphis, refused to concede defeat. He said he would not be defeated until he had been so by a majority of the state's voters. He said that he would be a "strongly Democratic" member of the House of Representatives.

Robert Atkins of Knoxville apparently was an easy victor in the 11th district.

Connecticut Yankee

By A. H. O.

It could be of course, that the election is all over as far as Connecticut is concerned. The voters wrapped up and counted, the state landslides for Stevenson, and for the two Democratic nominees for the United States Senate.

That would seem to be indicated by the nature of Democratic State Chairman John Bailey's first strategic move away from the arena presented to him by the fact that his two national candidates for the new American administration are not exactly faithful party regulars.

His move has toward his own close and faithful associate, Commonwealth Court Judge John P. Cotter, about whose regularity here has never been questioned. Bailey's beseeching and brotherly interest from an opponent spot to another in the public service, one of these spots even being especially left for him by the Bailey family. We guess the relationship isn't brotherly after all. In this connection, Bailey was gentlemanly in his treatment of Cotter, but he was not so generous when Cotter was in the position of a candidate for the office of Commonwealth Court Judge. Cotter would indicate that the magic wand had already been waved by Cotter on November election, and created one more comfortable spot for Cotter.

The surface indication would be that the fall election is in the bag and that nothing remains but to hand Mr. Bailey's ward a ticket to Washington.

This is not to disparage Judge Cotter, particularly. He is a nice fellow, a man, independent and quiet. He is not a student of the law, but his practical knowledge of the law is not to be despised. He is a good citizen, a good neighbor, and a good man. He is a man who has provided for himself a comfortable position in the public service. He is a man who has provided for himself a comfortable position in the public service.

Do We Ever Stop to Think?

One wonders, some times, whether those in charge of the conduct of our foreign policy ever really take a casual moment to measure their conduct against principle.

Our guess is that they do not. For how else can one explain the fact that they do blithely, today,

Remember "Jack and the Beanstalk?"

In the old fable, Jack dropped a bean seed in the ground. Overnight, while he slept, he had a crop. It isn't as simple as that for the 467 New England market gardeners who supply you, through First National Stores, with nutritious squash, cucumbers, corn and other crisp vegetables.

Know-how, constant watchfulness, science and hard work make it possible for you to enjoy the fruits of the soil. First National Stores for years have co-operated in every possible way with our neighbor-farmers to bring you miracles of modern market gardening. Today you enjoy 11% more fresh vegetables than before the war.

Crede For The Campaign

The shaping of generalizations is a perilous political art, and one of which the voters themselves are properly suspicious. Yet it is also a necessary political art, for how else are the voters to get the broad outlines of the candidate's philosophy and intent? And the voters, it may be said, have also developed a keen sense of the danger to political generalizations. They learn to judge the sincerity involved, and to rule their own minds, whether the general ideal announced are a natural development of the candidate's own ideas and character. They wait too, to see how the candidate, once he has painted his broad picture, attempts to fill in the details.

Candidate Eisenhower gave his own broad campaign credo before the V.P.W. in Los Angeles the other night. Of it, we would say that it sounds fine, as do most generalizations. Of it, we would say that it seems to us to stem from Eisenhower the man as well as from Eisenhower the candidate. We believe that the generalizations it contains are of the kind which represent the deep and sincere will of his own thinking.

Here are Eisenhower's generalizations, his outline of a 30-point quest for the American people:

1. To increase America's strength: spiritual, creative and material.
2. To win a just and lasting peace secured by the strength of the free world.
3. To build a prosperity not based on war.
4. To make America's promise of equality a living fact for every American.
5. To strengthen and extend measures for the security and welfare of the people.
6. To protect the earnings and savings of the people from the double toll of high prices and high taxes.
7. To serve the worthy interests of every group of our people, yet make the test of each policy: Is it good for America?
8. To restore honesty to Government.
9. To insure, by means which guard our basic rights, that those who serve in Government are Americans of loyalty and dedication.
10. To revive in every American the faith that he can achieve a better future for himself and his family.

We believe a campaign based on the elucidation and development of these ideas will be an intelligent and a powerful one.

Incidentally, we would say that in this speech, which Eisenhower kept "non-political" out of deference to the occasion and the presence of many Democrats in his audience, was just about as "political" as Eisenhower ever really needs to get. The addition of the normal political stuff—the claim that the Truman administration had kept America from advancing toward them—would in no wise have increased the effectiveness or the appeal of the speech. Ideas for use rather than abuse, are what Americans are looking for in 1952, and what they appreciate getting.

4. To make America's promise of equality a living fact for every American.
5. To strengthen and extend measures for the security and welfare of the people.
6. To protect the earnings and savings of the people from the double toll of high prices and high taxes.
7. To serve the worthy interests of every group of our people, yet make the test of each policy: Is it good for America?
8. To restore honesty to Government.
9. To insure, by means which guard our basic rights, that those who serve in Government are Americans of loyalty and dedication.
10. To revive in every American the faith that he can achieve a better future for himself and his family.

We believe a campaign based on the elucidation and development of these ideas will be an intelligent and a powerful one.

Incidentally, we would say that in this speech, which Eisenhower kept "non-political" out of deference to the occasion and the presence of many Democrats in his audience, was just about as "political" as Eisenhower ever really needs to get. The addition of the normal political stuff—the claim that the Truman administration had kept America from advancing toward them—would in no wise have increased the effectiveness or the appeal of the speech. Ideas for use rather than abuse, are what Americans are looking for in 1952, and what they appreciate getting.

Crede For The Campaign

The shaping of generalizations is a perilous political art, and one of which the voters themselves are properly suspicious. Yet it is also a necessary political art, for how else are the voters to get the broad outlines of the candidate's philosophy and intent? And the voters, it may be said, have also developed a keen sense of the danger to political generalizations. They learn to judge the sincerity involved, and to rule their own minds, whether the general ideal announced are a natural development of the candidate's own ideas and character. They wait too, to see how the candidate, once he has painted his broad picture, attempts to fill in the details.

Candidate Eisenhower gave his own broad campaign credo before the V.P.W. in Los Angeles the other night. Of it, we would say that it sounds fine, as do most generalizations. Of it, we would say that it seems to us to stem from Eisenhower the man as well as from Eisenhower the candidate. We believe that the generalizations it contains are of the kind which represent the deep and sincere will of his own thinking.

Here are Eisenhower's generalizations, his outline of a 30-point quest for the American people:

1. To increase America's strength: spiritual, creative and material.
2. To win a just and lasting peace secured by the strength of the free world.
3. To build a prosperity not based on war.
4. To make America's promise of equality a living fact for every American.
5. To strengthen and extend measures for the security and welfare of the people.
6. To protect the earnings and savings of the people from the double toll of high prices and high taxes.
7. To serve the worthy interests of every group of our people, yet make the test of each policy: Is it good for America?
8. To restore honesty to Government.

Schedule Last Budget Survey

Directors Must Act Tomorrow to Get Under Deadline in Charter

The Board of Directors will convene tomorrow night in what amounts to their last chance to adopt the proposed budget for the 1953-54 fiscal year before it goes into effect without their approval. The meeting will get under way at 7:30 in the hearing room of the Municipal Building.

The town charter requires the adoption of the budget not less than five days before the start of the fiscal year, Aug. 15, and provides that the general manager's tentative budget will become the final budget without board approval if the action is taken on it before the deadline.

However, it is believed that the directors will succeed in working through the remaining items in General Manager Richard Martin's proposed budget of $3,993,807.50, and adopt it.

Since the public hearing on Martin's proposed budget on July 25, the directors have held three special meetings to review and discuss the budget. They have definitely approved only one item—the Board of Education appropriation—which appears that the final version, which the directors will adopt, will be substantially the same as that submitted by the General Manager.

In the broadest terms, this calls for an appropriation of $2,013,000 for recurring, departmental expenses, $770,000 for capital investments including bonded indebtedness and interest for improvements previously undertaken, and $210,800 for the Water and Sewer Departments.

This last appropriation is not paid out of tax money since the department operates on its own receipts.

Martin estimates that his budget would require a one-mill addition to the town's present 30-mill tax rate.

The only item in Martin's budget that the directors have not approved is the Veterans Memorial Commission appropriation of $5,741. Monday night, the directors, deciding the Center was no longer necessary, slashed its budget at $1,300, which will permit the Center to continue its operations only until Nov. 1. According to Martin, Director Leo L. DeBorja, Chairman of the Veterans Memorial Commission, has indicated that he will not request the $5,741 appropriation for the Center.

The mandate, or act, is essentially a vegetarian animal.

Patent Study

Martin earlier this week by Victor Fryer of Bristol, Fred and Frederick the Hartford architectural firm.

The plans which the agency will examine call for a seven-unit, campus-style school, built around a quadrangle on the top of a hill in the northern section of a 41-acre tract of land in Manchester. The land, known as the "Old Golf Links," was purchased by the town expressly for a high school site. It runs between Middle Turnpike east and East Center street and is bounded on the east by Brookfield street.

In addition to the school itself, which will house 2,000 pupils, the plans which are an attempt to follow the requirements for the plan set forth by the school board include a layout of the athletic areas. Shown on the plans are eight tennis courts, a football field, baseball field, hockey field, soccer field, and four softball fields.

Many regular customers express satisfaction with the plan. All eat regularly, and eat food much the same way as if they were eating at home, with no leaning toward expensive table items or fancy snacks.

Three Planning Groups Will Discuss Reaction To Architect's Sketch

Members of the three town agencies primarily responsible for the construction of the proposed new Manchester High School will meet in the hearing room of the Municipal Building tomorrow night to review the recently submitted preliminary plans and layout for the school.

The Board of Directors, Board of Education and School Building Committee will meet at 8 o'clock, after the directors' scheduled 7:30 budget meeting.

The meeting tomorrow night will permit the members of the three town agencies to exchange their first reactions to the plans for the multi-million dollar project. The blueprints was delivered to General Manager Richard

Johnson Would Fight Satterfield Again

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Chicago, Aug. 7.—A rematch looked for Philadelphia was brewing today after Chicago's Bob Satterfield, a 7-2 underdog, defeated Harold Johnson in a battle of power-punching light heavyweights.

Johnson, 33, a Philadelphia product and No. 3 light-heavy contender, said after last night's televised scrap at Chicago Stadium that he would welcome another chance at the unpredictable Satterfield.

"I hadn't fought since I licked Clarence Henry last March," said Johnson, a heavy-muscled Negro who has 18 knockouts to his credit. "I would like to get another crack at Satterfield, and I would like to get another crack at Satterfield."

Satterfield, a Satchmo Negro from Chicago's south side who has a knockout blow and something of a pitiful standing in the 175-pound division after losing his last three fights.

"I was a 10-round fight last night with Referee Tommy Gilmore voting 31-48 for Satterfield," Johnson said. "I was knocked out by a right hand and I was standing when he took a mandatory eight-round rest."

The bout lacked the usual dramatic action when two knockout artists squared off. But from the fifth round on the tempo increased with each fighter landing a solid blow and Satterfield absorbing several on the button without going down. Satterfield put up a great scrap to the final round and landed Johnson repeatedly. It was

Event To Be Held Wednesday, Aug. 20 at UConn

By BRUCE BEARDON
Storrs, Conn., Aug. 7.—More than 100 football and basketball coaches in the eastern area have already registered for the seventh annual Coaches' Clinic which gets under way Aug. 20 at the University of Connecticut.

O. C. Christian, the athletic director of intercollegiate athletics, reports that the coaches attending the three-day program are principally from New England, with a good turnout of coaches from high schools and colleges in Connecticut.

Don Parout of the University of Vermont, originator of the clinic, will be the featured speaker in the football portion of the program, while Lester (Doc) Sherry, Holy Cross' head basketball coach, will be chief speaker in the basketball division.

Bob Ingalls' newly-appointed head football coach at the University of Connecticut will take over the program time which had been allotted to Art Valpey who previously resigned to enter private industry.

Score by a Flying Saucer?

Impire Frank Sacco must have seen Redd Hank Edwards sliding across plate because he called him safe, but to the camera and fans in the stands all that was visible besides Chicago catcher Toby Atwell and the ball, was a great cloud of dust. Bill's return ground after falling from Atwell's glove. Cubs won 8-5 in game 4. (AP Wirephoto.)

Bases-Loaded Single Gets Eighth Victory

Old Satchmo still has it. Even if he is 43 and going on as some folks say, Satchmo Paige of the St. Louis Browns still has the stuff to batter big league hitters. Let there be no doubt about it.

IF PAIGE had spent his career in the majors, instead of knocking around the exhibition circuit in the Negro leagues, he would have been a sure thing for the Cooperstown Hall of Fame.

Satchmo chose to start the ball game last night at a starting role in the second time he'd tried it in three years. Young youngsters with the late innings but not Paige. Locked in a 9-0 shut out by the White Sox, he pitched nine shut out innings. He pitched nine shut out innings.

PAIGE was not able to compete in the trials when he saw the kids' burned blue. He made it though.

Remington might not have become the pitcher he is today if he had not been for the fact that he enrolled at Manhattan and learned quick starts from Coach Eastman. And he only went to Manhattan because one of his Harvard, Conn. 100s, Joe Cianciabella, went there.

Chiefs Defeated By Miners Again

Rena Sullivan of the Williamsport Tigers is hunking port that the colts-chiefs are still in the Eastern League.

Sullivan swatted three home runs and a double during a twin bill game Tuesday night, got in two singles in St. Louis' double win over Pittsburgh, 7-2 in 10 innings, and hit a home run in the double victory.

At Schenectady, the Blue Jays took both ends of a doubleheader from the Elmira Pioneers, 2-1 and 10-0. First baseman Carl Lantz of the Blue Jays poked his ninth and tenth home runs of the season.

The Saratoga Braves rebounded hard to beat on their home ground Tuesday night, 7-6. The Chiefs, 3-1, and moved into a tie for first place with the Elmira Pioneers.

The Albany Senators and the Reading Indians were rained out at Reading. The game was rescheduled as part of a twilight doubleheader tonight.

Sullivan hit all three of his homers in the first game at Williamsport, but it took a pinch-hitter double by outfielder Carl Lantz, in his debut with the team, to put the game away. Sullivan's double in the eighth inning tied the score, and the Tigers won from there.

Rena's top homers and two singles in the second game at Schenectady were a doubleheader. The Pioneers allowed only three hits in the opener, but Yost's hitting in the second game.

Del's top flyer, the longest home run in the minor leagues, was hit by Fred Hutchinson of the Elmira Pioneers.

The newest player representative in the American League is Ted Gray, recently named by the Tigers to succeed Fred Hutchinson who became their manager.

Remington in the least knock-outer to win an Olympic title since 1928 when Percy Williams, an unknown Canadian schoolboy, scored in the 100 and 200 at Amsterdam.

LINDY—the dad who died two years ago named all his children after celebrities was given little chance to make the Olympic 100-meter dash in the Olympic trials at Long Beach, Calif., was third in a 10.8 fifth and final heat. He failed to place in the semi-finals.

HE NEARLY burned himself off the team. Three days before the AAV outdoor championships he received a terrible sunburn on the back of his neck. Although Remington was a good sprinter, he was unable to compete in the trials when he saw the kids' burned blue. He made it though.

Remington might not have become the pitcher he is today if he had not been for the fact that he enrolled at Manhattan and learned quick starts from Coach Eastman. And he only went to Manhattan because one of his Harvard, Conn. 100s, Joe Cianciabella, went there.

Remington in the least knock-outer to win an Olympic title since 1928 when Percy Williams, an unknown Canadian schoolboy, scored in the 100 and 200 at Amsterdam.

LINDY—the dad who died two years ago named all his children after celebrities was given little chance to make the Olympic 100-meter dash in the Olympic trials at Long Beach, Calif., was third in a 10.8 fifth and final heat. He failed to place in the semi-finals.

HE NEARLY burned himself off the team. Three days before the AAV outdoor championships he received a terrible sunburn on the back of his neck. Although Remington was a good sprinter, he was unable to compete in the trials when he saw the kids' burned blue. He made it though.

Remington might not have become the pitcher he is today if he had not been for the fact that he enrolled at Manhattan and learned quick starts from Coach Eastman. And he only went to Manhattan because one of his Harvard, Conn. 100s, Joe Cianciabella, went there.
