

States Win House Nod On Oil Bill

Washington, April 1—(AP)—The House today passed and sent to the Senate legislation establishing title for the states to oil-rich submerged coastal lands.

The measure was passed after a motion to shove the bill was defeated, 283 to 106. The rollcall vote on final passage was 285 to 108.

The motion to send the bill back to committee, was offered by Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.) and supported by proponents of federal control of the oil-rich offshore lands.

The House was expected promptly to vote on final passage. Votes on amendments yesterday clearly indicated that the bill, involving control over billions of dollars worth of oil and gas deposits, would be passed by a large majority.

Rep. J. Frank Wilson (D-Tex.), a member of the House Judiciary committee which handled the legislation, said he thought it would be approved by even a larger margin than the 285 to 108 margin by which similar legislation was passed during the last Congress.

The bill to which he referred later was vetoed by the then President Truman.

Court For U. S. Rule In three cases, the Supreme Court has held that the federal government has dominion over the submerged lands, often mistakenly called tidelands.

President Eisenhower has said he favors state ownership. While most amendments considered during yesterday's session were rejected by overwhelming voice votes, the House did adopt one important change proposed by Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.).

The Keating amendment eliminated from the bill the right to grant the right to the police and impose severance taxes on petroleum production in the continental shelf beyond the states' historic boundaries.

Foreign Aid May Spark New Clash

Washington, April 1—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen's verbal battle with Sen. McCarthy (R., Wis.) may be only the forerunner of future clashes with Republican Senators unless he recommends large cuts in foreign aid spending.

About May 1 Stassen will lay before Congress requests for funds to operate the Mutual Security administration, which he heads, for the year beginning July 1. Congressional leaders who talked with him and President Eisenhower at the White House Monday said plans for a reduction were discussed, but no figure was mentioned.

The impression is somewhat general among Republican Senators that unless he has a change in heart, Stassen is going to recommend foreign expenditures considerably higher than they are presently inclined to approve.

Stassen, who sharply criticized McCarthy for his Senate investigation of the Greek ship owners with some Greek ship owners to halt shipments to Red China and Korea, will face McCarthy across the table when the Senate Appropriations committee passes an XSA fund.

But McCarthy will not be only one of a lineup of Republicans who have been demanding that foreign aid take some heavy cuts this year. They include Chairman

Nuns Save 95 Boys in School Fire

Englewood Cliffs, N. J., April 1—(AP)—Nuns shepherded 95 orphan boys to safety today as fire swept St. Joseph's School for Boys, atop the Hudson River Palisades.

As flames shot through the roof of the three-story wooden building, the 17 sisters of the Order of St. Joseph of Newark, led the grammar school-age children from their classrooms.

Blaze Quickly Controlled Firemen had the blaze under control in about an hour. One of the sisters said that about 10 a. m. a loud crash was heard. All of the lights in the building went out.

The sisters, who act as faculty of the school, lined up the children in semi-darkness. They marched in orderly fashion out of the building.

Fire departments from six surrounding municipalities fought the fire, which a nun said started in the gymnasium.

Most combat veterans were hopeful but wary. The Fifth Air Force reported Allied Sabre jets blasted 33 Red MIG jets out of Korean skies for only two Sabres lost in aerial combat in March.

The monthly air summary showed, however, that 18 Allied planes were lost to all causes—two to MIGs, seven to Red ground fire and nine to other causes.

Russia Praises Chou Plan on Korea Truce

POW Swap First, Clark Tells Reds

Munsan, Korea, April 1—(AP)—Gen. Mark Clark, the United Nations Commander, made it clear today that the first concrete step toward a truce in Korea must be the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war.

But he told newsmen "We're making all preparations and will be ready to go. We don't want to do anything to hold up negotiations."

Clark's demand that exchange of disabled prisoners be the first order of business came as Red China's Premier, Chou En-lai, cabled to United Nations headquarters the latest Communist proposal for ending the Korean fighting.

The UN commander voiced the same demand Tuesday in a letter answering an earlier Red proposal to trade disabled prisoners' and to resume the suspended truce talks.

The plan Chou cabled to UN headquarters was first broadcast by Peking Monday. It called for immediate exchange of all prisoners who "insist" on repatriation. The rest would be turned over to a neutral state until their future is determined.

Many UN delegates said the Red proposal appears to represent a reversal of long standing Communist demands for forced repatriation of all prisoners. The repatriation dispute was the only major issue blocking a truce when negotiations broke down last Oct. 8.

Both Russia and India moved to speed debate on the Korean question and there was speculation that Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky brought new instructions from his recent conference in Moscow.

Some observers predicted a move to shift the truce negotiations from Panmunjon to United Nations headquarters.

U. S. government officials emphasized that they can be no compromise on the principle that prisoners shall not forcibly be returned home.

New Soviet Peace Drive Is Indicated

Stockholm, April 1—(AP)—Swedish Deputy Foreign Minister Dag Hammarskjold today accepted a Security Council offer to succeed Trygve Lie as UN Secretary General.

United Nations, N. Y., April 1—(AP)—UN delegates today viewed the East-West agreement on a new UN Secretary General and Communist-Chinese proposals to settle the Korean prisoner-of-war question as major steps in the Soviet Union's new post-Stalin peace offensive.

With Andrei Y. Vishinsky making his first UN appearance since his return from Moscow, the Security Council yesterday broke its long deadlock over a successor to Trygve Lie and nominated Dag Hammarskjold, Swedish deputy foreign minister, to fill the post.

The surprise East-West agreement came on the heels of Red China's broadcast offer two days ago to settle the major issue standing in the way of a Korean armistice. The proposal had immediately captured top attention at the UN.

Agreement on a successor for Lie was the first concord between the Soviets and the West on any major issue before the UN in many months. Delegates hailed it with the speculation that if the Cold War adversaries could get together on a new UN chief executive, the way may be paved for settlement of other bitter problems harassing the 60-nation world organization.

Hammarskjold was approved first yesterday in a secret huddle of the Security Council's five permanent members—the U. S., Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Nationalist China. Each agreed not to use his veto if the Swede won the seven council votes necessary for his selection.

In a hastily-called meeting just after the council then nominated Hammarskjold overwhelmingly, 10-0. Nationalist China abstained, because Sweden recognizes the Chinese Communist government, but this did not count as a veto.

Hammarskjold now must be confirmed by the General Assembly. Approval was considered certain.

Pledges Aid In Move to Stop Strife

Moscow, April 1—(AP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov pledged Soviet assistance today in trying to bring about an armistice in Korea on the basis of proposals by Chou En-lai, the Chinese premier.

Molotov's statement was the first official Soviet comment on the latest Korean developments. It appeared in the form of a foreign ministry announcement issued through the official Soviet news agency Tass and broadcast by Moscow radio.

"Recognizing Justice" Molotov said the Soviet government "recognizes the complete justice" of the new proposals "and expresses its readiness to fully assist" in realizing them.

There have been two proposals—one from North Korea for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners, and another from Chou En-lai in Peking for the repatriation of other prisoners of war. Under the latter proposal prisoners unwilling to return home would be held in a neutral zone.

The Chinese reply on exchange of sick and wounded prisoners was in answer to a proposal made earlier by Gen. Mark Clark, the UN commander in Korea. Clark has said an exchange of such prisoners must be the first concrete step toward reaching a truce.

The second proposal on repatriation is in essence India's plan for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners. It has been rejected previously by the UN.

At the same time, Molotov suggested the Chinese Communists and the North Koreans should be represented in the United Nations. He declared this would greatly assist in settling all issues of the Korean war.

From this it is obvious the USSR intends to continue its fight for the Chinese Communist and North Korean representation in the UN.

In regard to the specific proposal for exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war, Molotov said: "Both the government of the Chinese People's Republic and the government of the Korean People's Democratic Republic have stated that they agree to the proposal for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war, and as before express readiness to reach agreement on the immediate settlement of the entire question and thereby of ending the war in Korea."

Marine Bares Five Slayings In Four Days

Dubuque, Ia., April 1—(AP)—A young Marine on a cross-country crime spree with a teen-age girl was seized here yesterday and admitted, Dubuque county authorities said, slaying five persons in holdups in four days.

Three women, a man and a college student were shot down by the nervous young trigger man, said authorities, in holdups which netted the youth only a small sum of money. Four of the slayings occurred in the Midwest, the fifth in New York state.

The Marine, Fred E. McManus, 18, of Valley Stream, N. Y., who was on a 10-day leave which ended Monday night, was held in jail here awaiting arrival of authorities from three states.

McManus, who told police the young girl seized with him was his wife, said in a signed statement admitting the slayings that he staged the holdups to get money "to take my wife to California."

Signed statement Dubuque County Sheriff Leo J. Martin said McManus in a signed statement had admitted double

Front Erupts In Small but Bitter Battles

Seoul, April 1—(AP)—Small-scale but bitter fighting erupted along the Korean battle front today, UN troops anxiously awaited the outcome of Communist truce overtures.

Most combat veterans were hopeful but wary. The Fifth Air Force reported Allied Sabre jets blasted 33 Red MIG jets out of Korean skies for only two Sabres lost in aerial combat in March.

The monthly air summary showed, however, that 18 Allied planes were lost to all causes—two to MIGs, seven to Red ground fire and nine to other causes.

Tour Battle Zone Army Secretary Robert T. B. Stevens, Gen. Mark Clark, Far East Commander, and Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army commander, toured the battle zone and visited an observation post overlooking Communist-held Old Baldy hill north of Seoul.

Stevens, in Korea to inspect the combat zone and for a first hand survey of ammunition supplies, visited several U. S. divisions at the 630th Ordnance Ammunition Company. The Army Secretary was told the ammunition supply at the moment was above normal.

When he returns to Washington, Stevens is expected to testify before a Senate subcommittee in

Widow Arrested In $50,000 Fraud

New Haven, April 1—(AP)—A 61-year-old widow, released from prison yesterday, was back in jail today awaiting a Superior Court hearing on charges of "swindling the son of a former U. S. Senator of more than $50,000."

Arrested by State Police Detective John Doyle as she left the State Prison for Women at Niantic, Mrs. Margaret F. Robinson was confined to the county jail here in lieu of $10,000 bail.

She is accused in a Superior Court bench warrant issued by Judge William J. Shea of obtaining

Hundreds Lose Civil Service Job Protection

Washington, April 1—(AP)—President Eisenhower today stripped Civil Service job protection from "more than several hundred" policy-making government officials appointed by Democratic administrations.

The President signed an executive order opening the way for naming men of his own choosing to such key positions in various federal agencies.

When the Republicans went into office after two decades of Democratic rule under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, new department heads protested they had power to choose only a handful of their top assistants. Other positions had been placed under Civil Service.

Eisenhower announced March 5 that he was going to issue an order "to provide the heads of agencies with greater freedom in determining" who should occupy the jobs in question.

The White House statement at the time said Civil Service, with its protections against a job holder being ousted, was never intended to cover "those positions where the duties are such that there must be a close personal and confidential relationship between the incumbent of the position and the head of the agency."

Submarine on the Plains?

Idaho Falls, Idaho, April 1—(AP)—Look, partner, that's a submarine out on the sagebrush plain! Well, anyway, part of one.

You never expected to see a submarine out here where it's so dry even the rivers get lost in the ground?

No? Well, neither did you ever see one that runs by splitting atoms.

Built into a section duplicating identically that of a real submarine hull is what the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) calls a "thermal reactor" and the steam turbine system which makes up a complete experimental power plant.

Makes Steam The power plant now is in operation, its atom fissioning chain reaction producing heat in the "furnace" to make steam for the turbine.

Formal announcement of its successful operation was made by the commission in Washington yesterday.

The plant is now operating at reduced power which is being built up gradually to eventual full heat output. This first, land-locked nuclear engine will be the pattern for an actual sea-going model to go into the Navy's submarine Nautilus, the hull of which is being built at Groton, Conn.

A-Engine for Nautilus Now Running in Idaho

Idaho Falls, Idaho, April 1—(AP)—The submarine thermal reactor is only one of the wonders scientists have brought to the cluster of gray concrete buildings scattered over some of the 440,000 acres of the National Reactor Testing Station (NRTS) 40 miles from the eastern Idaho city.

The AEC operates the station to study and develop methods for producing power from nuclear fission. Not the sudden unleashing of the awful power of the bomb, but controlled reaction to produce heat which will turn wheels for peaceful industry—or propel deadly submarines.

Here they put to test the theories and blueprints and scale models which nuclear physicists and engineers dream up in laboratories. They get tough assignments.

Van Fleet Says Orders Prevented Win in Korea

Washington, April 1—(AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet testified today he was stopped by orders from making an amphibious landing behind the Communist lines in June, 1951, which he was convinced could destroy the Red armies in Korea.

The former Eighth Army commander told Senators he was ready to go with the operation when he received stop orders from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway, then the Far Eastern Commander with headquarters in Tokyo.

Van Fleet said the Eighth Army had smashed two Red spring offensives and he recommended "that we follow up with an amphibious landing on the east coast."

An Flet's testimony was given to a Senate Armed Services subcommittee as it opened a televised inquiry into ammunition shortages in Korea.

Disputes Pentagon At the start, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) declared "there is no doubt that there were shortages" despite the Pentagon's denial that there were any of consequence.

She said the inquiry would attempt to pinpoint responsibility. Mrs. Smith is chairman of the subcommittee.

She said she was gratified by recent reports that the ammunition shortage in Korea had been cured. But she insisted that would not slow down the inquiry into why it ever existed.

She said that shortages during the 22 months that Van Fleet led the Eighth Army had caused restrictions or limitation upon the fighting "men in the front line."

Bars Funds Plea Another member, Sen. Byrd (D., Va.) asserted that he was not going to let the Pentagon leaders make the inquiry an occasion for denigrating huge additional appropriations. He commented "They always do when we start a congressional investigation."

Youths Given Heavy Fines

Both Involved in Accidents; Count Against Third Boy Is Nulled

Two Manchester youths involved in recent accidents paid heavy fines in Town Court this morning and a third received a nolle after the prosecutor informed Deputy Judge John J. O'Connor that the boy would not be permitted to act as a witness for "a good while."

Jan R. McKeelvey, 19, of East Hartford, charged with evading responsibility and speeding as the result of an accident on Middle turnpike west late Saturday night, was fined $75 on the first count and $25 on the second. Judge John S. G. Rotzner, who sat during the second half of the session this morning, warned the youth that he would go to jail the next time he was presented. McKeelvey also confessed to having drunk beer, purchased with a forged check, before the accident.

Asked for a more precise estimate, Hagerty said he was unable to provide one.

Pointing to the administration's arguments for issuance of the order, Federal Security Administrator Ovesa Culp Hobbs recently said virtually all policy-making officials under her had been focused into office by the Democratic administration. She said it was necessary that she be able to choose her own top aides.

Surprise Mobilization Call Pulls 275 Scouts to Armory

Krasnies and Schendel Watch Proceedings; Alert Termined

"This is a wonderful turnout; I'm really impressed," Civil Defense Director Edward Krasnies said as he viewed the gathering of over 275 Boy Scouts and leaders at the State Armory last night. The meeting was the result of a surprise practice mobilization call at 8:30 p. m. with the first boys arriving within 10 minutes. Nearly all were present within one hour, even the troops from Bolton and Andover. As the Scouts arrived, their time was checked by Norman Osborne, Manchester Scout District health and safety chairman, who was in charge of the event. George Stiles, district scout commissioner, made the initial address and soon committee members, scoutmasters, assistants, patrol leaders and finally all Scouts received the message to hurry to the Armory. Karl Koenig, Frank Maricco and John Dorner acted as inspectors and checked the boys for proper clothing and equipment. Police Chief Herman O. Schendel was an interested observer. The speakers said that "Boys are more suited for requests for Army ammunition than adults," and he expressed his approval of the evening's project. Other observers were Scoutmaster Richard Martin, and Doctor Drim Winter, health officer, chairman of Charter Oak Council. Osborne explained that the purpose of such practice mobilizations and stressed the need for proper preparation for a possible actual emergency call. He expressed his pleasure over the terms of a highly successful practice event, with a large number of adult leaders present and the boys well behaved. Troop 124 of Andover came with the best equipped for emergency work. Scoutmaster Lathan True of 24 reported that he had presented 14 Scouts, three leaders, one junior leader, and five commitments.

It was announced that judges will offer a reward to the Scout unit that made the best score for arrival time, clothing, equipment and deportment.

Van Fleet Cites Delaying Orders

China. It was then that the Chinese Communists moved in to create what MacArthur called an entirely new war.

In addition to Van Fleet, the committee called Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond as a witness for its initial hearing.

Mrs. Smith said that Van Fleet and Almond would be able to present "from a combat soldier's point of view, the ammunition picture during the entire Korean conflict."

She noted that Almond was Third Army Corps commander from the time the Korean conflict began until 1951, and was in Korea ahead of Van Fleet.

Mrs. Smith said the Senators will seek to determine whether the shortages "existed in the stocks in Japan, or behind the lines in Korea, or at front lines," and that their purpose is "to try to determine the recurrence of past shortages."

Those whose sons and husbands are serving in Korea, she declared, are entitled to know "the true state of affairs."

Van Fleet testified that hand grenades were "always" in critical "short" supply until the end of 1952.

He said also that the Communist forces in Korea now have about twice as many guns as the Eighth Army, but that the Republic of Korea has less ammunition.

Elaborating his general charges of shortages, Van Fleet said that the Eighth Army had only one-third or one-fourth of the number of guns (artillery pieces) that comparable U. S. forces had during the Battle for Europe in World War II.

He said the Eighth Army should therefore have had twice as much ammunition to shoot with its fewer guns, but that this condition was not met until early this year.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) asked whether the "British" Commonwealth Division in Korea had as much ammunition as the American divisions. The British supply their own ammunition.

Van Fleet "I never heard of a British shortage of ammunition." He added the British senior commanders always said they had sufficient supply.

Kefauver asked whether the quantity shot by the British was greater than the quantity of American supply.

Van Fleet: "They do more shooting than our troops. That's a doctrine with the British. They shoot plenty."

Van Fleet officially retired with full Army honors here yesterday. Several Senators had appealed to Secretary of the Army to request to retire Van Fleet but the secretary decided against making an exception in the age and service regulations applying to his case.

Van Fleet already has a unanimous vote of the full Army Service group supporting his shortage testimony despite differing testimony by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, and Gen. Mark Clark, present Japan-Korea theater commander.

Dennis Big shortage Collins insisted that except for minor instances there never had been a real shortage of ammunition in hands of the front-line troops to carry on the limited warfare that has existed for more than 2 1/2 years.

The Army Chief of Staff finally declared that former civilian post (agut officials had not done enough for ammunition he had recommended they do.

This argued the law of Byrd. He

Rockville, April 1 (Special)—A resolution that would have a town of Vernon employ a full-time first selectman, free of expense, was preliminary approval at a meeting of tax-paying citizens last night in the cafeteria of the Vernon Elementary School.

Referendum Held by 4-H Fair Units

Suffield, April 1 (Special)—Hartford County 4-H Fair association members, by a referendum, voted to include a 4-H Sunday in their 1953 4-H program. The fair will be held Aug. 29 and 30 on the former WAC grounds directly opposite the main gate to Bradley Field at Windsor Locks.

The Hartford County 4-H Fair Sunday program will consist of a Roman Catholic service by Rev. Harold F. Daly, of Bloomfield, at one location on the grounds, and a Protestant service by Rev. Roscoe F. Metzger, also of Bloomfield, at another location.

Services are being planned with a timing that would permit both groups to come together with a patriotic program for "God and Country." A flag-raising will be followed by opening of exhibits to the public.

The objective of the plan is to impress upon 4-H members the necessity of spiritual guidance in daily life, and to build character and faith which is firm and strong; "no badly needed to keep America, America."

Open Forum Favors Change to the Editor

Through The Manchester Herald, I would like to take advantage of the privilege of writing a few words in sympathy with the cause of William Wigonski, of Imperial Package Store.

Having been properly aware in the immediate neighborhood for many years, I was very glad to hear that he had been given the opportunity to conduct this business in the town of Manchester, where he had been working before he moved in from Oak street had been vacant many times and we in the vicinity were glad that it was to be occupied by him.

I hope that some changes in the zoning laws in the town of Manchester may be made so as to distinguish between package stores and other outlets, so that they may buy bottles of both water from the daily bath of their spiritual head, Agn Khan, believing it to have healing powers.

Very truly yours,
Stanley Daidus.

The "Threat" Of Peace

Peace, as has often been realized in these times is much more difficult than war.

We should not be, but we are sometimes more afraid of peace than we are of war.

We can accept war as a tragic certainty, and would be so accepting if it had burst forth this morning in a worldwide conflagration.

Peace is a nervous uncertainty, and although we prize its blessings, we are timid about claiming them for our own.

That is perhaps natural in a period which has been a long war of nerves. In which our instinctive yearning has been for some kind of certainty—even if it had to be tragic.

Now, however, it begins to look as if we had to adapt ourselves to the prospect of peace. Once we accustom ourselves to the idea, once we begin to build some confidence based on actual developments which seem beyond any whimsical regard, we will begin to realize, again, how dear and precious its blessings may be.

But, for the moment, we are nervous and waiting to see, in this temporary mood, at least, we have a feeling of helplessness.

This curious feeling of helplessness derives from the obvious fact that, if the Communists want to make peace in the world, we can do nothing to stop them.

They are calling the tune, and since they are calling it in a direction which no one can oppose, we can do nothing but tag along along, accepting the concessions and proposals they make.

It would almost be a kind of relief if they should move inland, and full of tricks.

Even the Eisenhower administration, which has much less fear of peace than his predecessor, and much more capacity to make peace, is understandably nervous, and trying to shape a strategy which would slow down this cascade of Russian moves until we can examine them one at a time.

However, in all this uncertainty, there is one rather firm consolation. It is that it will do the Communists absolutely no good of any kind to be trying to trick the world. There is no dividend of any kind in a peace offensive which turns out to be phony.

There is only one sound policy justification for the current Communist moves in the world, and that is for the Communists really to intend peace. If they do not, these moves are losing moves on their part.

Either way, our own strategy must be one of cautious good faith. We must run no risk of giving the Communists any claim that we have refused or discouraged peace. And, against our own nervousness, we should realize that what seems to be happening now is, after all, nothing more or less than the hoped-for fruition from the policy this country has been following, and a response, from the new masters in the Kremlin, to the reasonable attitude President Eisenhower has consistently held since his assumption of office.

If the Communists really intend peace, it is our own policy which has been dedicated to the object of bringing them to the calling of such terms.

Forward And Back

Every step forward in this age of ours is accompanied by a symbolic hanging back. Thus we have France, the author of the far-visioned Schuman Plan for the Europeanization of coal and steel, nevertheless attaching tremendous importance to the question of whether or not the coal and steel output of the little territory known as the Saar shall be classified as a French or a German production in the European Community.

HOPE FOR THE BALD

Reading, Pa., April 1.—Mayor James B. Hanford, who says he has been bald for 20 years, has hope today for a crop of fuzz—-or hair.

Banford said he had received from Dr. Adolphus G. Gales, a professor, "a sure cure" formula for baldness uncovered by Gales in stumbling through a book published in 1742.

The formula's ingredients: Two ounces of bear's grease, one dram (about 60 grains) by weight of apothecary weight of ashes of burnt bees, one dram of ashes of southern wood, one dram of white dilly root, the dilly is a plant which grows in Florida, and one dram of pure almonds, and six drams of pure musk.

"I think I can get hold of these things," said Banford, "but what's worrying me are those burnt bees."

Coventry $11,000 Fire Routs Smiths From Hickory Drive Home

Coventry, April 1.—(Special) Mr. and Mrs. Royden F. Smith, Jr., of Hickory drive, Lakewood Terrace, were driven from their home at an early hour this morning as flames from an electrically-caused fire raged in the interior of the five-room dwelling. Damage was estimated at about $11,000.

Started Over Sink

Assistant Fire Chief A. Samuel LeDoyt of Volunteer Firemen's Association 1 said the fire started from electrical fixtures in the kitchen over the sink. It spread rapidly through the walls and was starting to mushroom when firefighters arrived.

Employing the Mutual Aid System, firemen from Eagleville also responded to the alarm and with the local company bearing the brunt of action had the blaze under control within 15 to 20 minutes.

Chief LeDoyt emphasized that although the fire could have been successfully quenched without outside aid, the Mutual Aid system responded promptly to what might have been a more dangerous fire. As the chief pointed out, with a system now available, it is no longer necessary to take chances in fire-fighting and emergencies now find companies from area communities acting as a team rather than individual units.

Estimates Total Damages

In estimating damage, LeDoyt said about $5,000 was of a structural nature and included scorched walls and burned interior. The other $6,000 was levied on the furnishings and other household contents which suffered scorch, smoke and water damage. Good wall instruction is believed responsible for holding the blaze within the interior.

The call for local firemen came about 4:30 a. m. During the period of repair and adjustment, Smith and his wife will live at the home of their son, Royden, Jr., nearby.

Are Thanked

About 28 persons have received letters of thanks for articles of clothing sent to Kempton, Bavaria through the fifth clothing collection sponsored by the Tolland County 4-H committee and area 4-H clubs. About 100 similar letters were addressed to "the giver" or "the sender" but have not been adequately fastened to the articles of clothing—Gilbert H. Stearns of Coventry was chairman of the project.

List of recipients

Among those receiving personal letters were Principal and Mrs. Royal O. Fisher, Mrs. Patricia Burgess, Mrs. Ethel Carey, Mrs. Dorothy Murray, Fred Eberle, Mrs. W. Bryna Hosenow, Mrs. Kenneth S. Lyon, Mrs. Lila Miller Orcutt, Janet Gaylord of Storrs, Janet Eldredge, James Davis of Ellington.

Written By Children

The majority of letters were written by children from 9 to 12 years old. The thank-you notes contained miniature sketches made by the writer for the giver. John Motyka received a special sketch and water colored scene about 7 1/2 inches in appreciation of a pair of shoes "newly beamed" according to the receiver. The children's presentation is neat and on a different copy of the notes were written on graph paper, apparently for penmanship purposes.

The Doctor Says

Pesticides Used On Foodstuffs

Are Possible Danger To Health
By Edwin F. Jordan, M.D.
Written for NEA Service.

No one needs to be told that the food we eat is important to the maintenance of health.

Briefly, these may be considered to be the effects of artificial fertilizers on the food raised in soil.

There is, however, little definite evidence that the effect is either harmful or healthful, and until the scientists are able to obtain more information, there is not much we can do about it.

With regard to the substances used to attack insects and other pests on food-bearing plants or animals, it has been recognized that hazards are created.

It is recognized that when pesticides are poisonous to insects they are usually poisonous to man.

In closing an editorial discussion of this subject in the journal of the American Medical Association it was said:

"The use of toxic chemicals to free food from toxic residues of pesticides is a double-edged sword."

Another anonymous quotation relates to the addition of chemicals to various foodstuffs.

"Intentional chemical additives, especially those likely to find their way into basic foodstuffs, are to be feared."

Popular Spot Has Been Kept Open to Public by Dennisons, but Is Getting to Be a Handicap

By LEO ZEIDENBERG
Highland Park, with its beautiful four-mile drive leading to the top of a mountain that affords a view of miles of the surrounding countryside, has for a long time been famed as one of the beauty spots of Manchester.

According to Mrs. Robert S. Dennison and her son, Wells, there have for a number of years now been evidences of vandalism cases of signs and notices being not only ignored but defaced and destroyed.

The vandalism has been increasing in the past few months. In the past few months, the Dennisons have had to close off the park to the public.

The park, which is owned by the Dennison family, is a beautiful spot. It is a popular spot for picnicking and for enjoying the view.

Christie Charged In Wife's Death, Possibly Others

London, April 1.—(AP)—An owl-eyed, charged with murdering his wife and under questioning about the sex-thrill strangling of at least five other women appeared brashly in a crowded court today. He was ordered jailed for another week.

Guilty, 55-year-old John R. H. Christie seemed nonchalant—even bored—with the eight-minute proceedings in the London Magistrate's court. His only outward sign of emotion was a single frown in his pale brow. He made no statement.

The body of Mrs. Christie, 54, was one of six female corpses so far found buried or washed up at the macabre house of murder in Notting Hill district where Christie had lived since 1935. Police believe additional bones found in the garden may belong to a seventh victim.

Two of the dead women apparently met their fate as long as three years ago. Aside from Mrs. Christie, only three—all known as good-time girls to cheap houses of the neighborhood—have been identified.

Police believe all were enticed to the killer's lair by offers of work as photographic models or of rooms for rent.

Doctors who examined the bodies said the girls were brutally murdered by the killer in "an uncontrollable outburst of passion."

The hunt for Christie began when the first bodies were discovered March 24 and ended yesterday in suburban Putney, only five miles from the murder house in Notting Hill place. A constable walking his beat along the Thames river, found Christie, baggy-dirty unshaven, slinking moodily into the water. He offered no resistance to arrest.

Scotland Yard homicide men continued dismantling the entire murder house and spading through

London, April 1.—(AP)—An owl-eyed, charged with murdering his wife and under questioning about the sex-thrill strangling of at least five other women appeared brashly in a crowded court today. He was ordered jailed for another week.

Guilty, 55-year-old John R. H. Christie seemed nonchalant—even bored—with the eight-minute proceedings in the London Magistrate's court. His only outward sign of emotion was a single frown in his pale brow. He made no statement.

The body of Mrs. Christie, 54, was one of six female corpses so far found buried or washed up at the macabre house of murder in Notting Hill district where Christie had lived since 1935. Police believe additional bones found in the garden may belong to a seventh victim.

Two of the dead women apparently met their fate as long as three years ago. Aside from Mrs. Christie, only three—all known as good-time girls to cheap houses of the neighborhood—have been identified.

Police believe all were enticed to the killer's lair by offers of work as photographic models or of rooms for rent.

Doctors who examined the bodies said the girls were brutally murdered by the killer in "an uncontrollable outburst of passion."

The hunt for Christie began when the first bodies were discovered March 24 and ended yesterday in suburban Putney, only five miles from the murder house in Notting Hill place. A constable walking his beat along the Thames river, found Christie, baggy-dirty unshaven, slinking moodily into the water. He offered no resistance to arrest.

McNamara Gets Purchasing Job In P & W Change

East Hartford, April 1—Bert J. McNamara, assistant to the general manager at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, has been promoted to purchasing manager of the engineering division, William P. Givins, the general manager, announced today. Mr. McNamara, who came to the company Oct. 1, 1950, as license liaison engineer, also has been coordinator of assistance to the general manager, liaison program for the Air Force and the Atomic Energy Commission. Mr. McNamara is an experienced purchasing agent. He joined the company as purchasing agent Feb. 15, 1947, and became purchasing manager April 22, 1949. Mr. McNamara, as assistant to the general manager, will serve as a consultant, bringing his experience and knowledge of the industry to bear on purchasing problems and on special assignments given him by the purchasing manager, Mr. Givins said.

Donald J. Brown will be license liaison engineer and will be in charge of liaison with licensed manufacturers of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft products. The licensees include Ford, Nash, Canadian Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Limited, Fiat of Italy, Hispano Suiza of France, and Commonwealth Aircraft Corporation Limited of Australia. Mr. Brown has been employed at P & W since October, 1940, and has been assistant to the license liaison engineer.

Mr. McNamara entered military service as a combat observer with the California Air National Guard and served four years in the Army Air Force during World War II. He was chief of the procurement branch of the procurement division of the Air Materiel Command at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, and also headed a mission to the Marianas Islands to supervise engine maintenance on the special B-29 Superfortress group assigned to drop the first atomic bombs on Japan.

Mr. McNamara was born in Los Angeles, Calif. He is a graduate of Loyola University of Los Angeles. Mr. McNamara's home is at 120 Sunny Reach drive, West Hartford.

Cancer Drive Opens Today

The American Cancer Society's 1953 fund-raising and educational drive opened today in Manchester with a plea by Dr. Robert M. Day, superintendent of the hospital. Dr. Day, chairman for a concerted effort to carry the campaign over the 1953 total of about $7,000. Last year, the chairman said, over $7,000 was collected in the cancer campaign. In Manchester, more than $3,500 of that figure was received in a two hour period from local residents during the "Light's On" evening drive. The remaining sum was collected from individuals, industries, and organizations. Manchester answered the call last year. The aim now, however, is a higher goal to assure a bigger program against cancer in the coming year. The job of continued research, education and service to patients is a vast one. "A considerable effort will be made to increase the number of contributors, and to urge every former contributor to give a little more than he ever did before. We hope to exceed our 1952 total," the statement concluded.

Residents wishing to give to the campaign are asked to turn on their porch lights Sunday, April 12, as a signal for volunteers to stop and accept the contributions. More smiling is done by hard workers, says a doctor. "World World World" is the slogan for the drive. The slogan is to be on your feet!

Collie Shows She's Champ

Svenska Flicka II Has Litter of 12 Puppies, Rarity in Dogdom, Too

The old adage, "It's a dog's world" holds true in the case of Svenska Flicka II, 2-year-old pure-bred collie owned by Robert V. Bolduc of 54 Drive F, Silver Lane Homes, who recently gave birth to 12 puppies, a rarity in that a collie's first litter usually numbers between four and six young ones. Flicka's mother, Sunderland Bonnie Belle, owned by Mrs. Clarence Laking of Concord road, comes from a long line of champions. Bonnie Belle's father, Karlman of Tokalon, was a champion. Her mother, Sunderland Golden Legacy, won many prizes and ribbons in various dog shows. Other champions in her past included Tokalon the Crown Prince, Tokalon the King's Choice, Tokalon Lady of the Day and Bellhaven Black Lassoon. Jo-Be Junner, Flicka's mate, owned by William Wutch of 18 Englewood drive, won second prize in the six months old class at Foot Guard Hall in Hartford, and third prize in the six months over or under class in the West Hartford Dog Show. Jo-Be's mother was the Princess of Junner, and his father was Jessemiah Sebastian. Six of Jo-Be's great-grandparents were champions in various classes.

BARGES IN TOW

Norfolk, Va., April 1.—(AP)—The Coast Guard said today two large barges which rocked helplessly for 50 hours in rough waters 150 miles at sea had been taken into tow. Presumably, the six men aboard are safe. The barges had been drifting since Monday off the North Carolina coast after their lines to the tug Marion Moran parted in heavy seas. No mention of the six men aboard was made in a radio message from the Coast Guard Agassiz which had been standing by with other ships. However, the rough seas quieted enough yesterday to permit the men to appear on deck and they are believed safe. The tug Kevin Moran will tow the barges to Bermuda while the Matson Moran goes to New York for replacement of her towing equipment damaged by the storm.

However, his aides say he had

Second Class Mail Rates Raised 10%

Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Second-class mailing rates go up another 10 per cent today in another of the series of staggered rate increases authorized by Congress in 1951. The second class postal service handles newspapers, magazines and similar periodicals. The basic charge for such matter went up 10 per cent on April 1, 1952, adding—according to Post Office officials—between four and 1 1/2 million dollars a year to department revenues. The second class increase becomes effective today, and, also calculated on the basic charges as of March 31, 1952, will add a like amount. A third 10 per cent increase is due April 1, 1953. The entire advance will raise second class billings by between 12 and 13 1/2 million dollars annually when fully effective a year from today. Former Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson two years ago got these and other postal increases, and said afterward they fell far short of taking his service out of the red. The present administration has, as yet, stated no rate policy. Postmaster General Summerfield has adopted as his own Donaldson's separate proceeding before the Interstate Commerce commission for an average 25 per cent jump in parcel post rates. However, his aides say he had

Withhold That Urge When Child Rebels

New York—If I had a child, the quality I would most want it to have is rebellion.

Parents I tell this to say: "Well, then, I wish you had one of mine. You don't know what you're talking about. There is nothing that says your strength like a rebellious child. They keep you worn down all the time."

Probably so. But, on the other hand, they keep a family stirred up, too. And what is sadder than a child that is overly tame?

Of course, a child can express rebellion in other ways than by trying to kick his harried mother in the shins. He has to be a little rebel almost from birth. If he didn't revolt against his own vast ignorance, he would never have the incentive to grow up.

Rebellion is the mark of youth and health. Only by questioning authority can a child find out what he can do and really cannot do, what is actually so and what is just adult say-so.

It is annoying to have to answer a curious child's eternal "Why? Why?" But wouldn't it be even more terrifying to have a child that did everything you told it to, believed everything you said, and never once asked—"But why?"

"Personally, I like a kid who, when you tell him that two and two make four, looks up at you sunnily and says, 'Prove it.' You have a wild urge to hammer him with a slipper, but you have to admire him, too.

A civilization may be torn apart by too many rebels, but it will never die of too few. And no civilization can grow and flourish without a full quota of sturdy rebels. A rebel is an explorer. He is the

Can you step into these shoes?

These are the shoes of an expert—worn every day by an unusually good tool maker. But figuratively speaking they are empty for their owner has been advanced to an important supervisory job. His old job is still unfilled. So we need a good man to replace him—a tool maker who, in turn, may be called on to be a supervisor some day.

There are many situations like this in our plants—unfilled jobs created by the rapid advancement of good men. Thus we need many tool makers—many precision machinists—many men for the widest variety of machining operations. There are thousands of these openings—all well paying—all offering unusual advancement opportunities.

If you can fill a tool maker's shoes, come in and talk to our Employment Counselors. Come in if you have any machine skills. Come in even if you have no machine experience for you may be pleasantly surprised at how we can use your abilities.
