Brimmer, 30, Bound Over

Sobs in Mother's Arms In Town Court After Admitting to Thefts

A 30-year-old Manchester man broke down and sobbed in his mother's arms in Town Court this morning after being bound over to Superior Court on three counts each of larceny and unlawfully entering a building at night.
He is Richard J. Brimmer, who pleaded guilty to charges of breaking into three local establishments recently and stealing about $300. Bond was set at $2,500.
Judge John S. G. Rottner found probable cause in the case despite an attempt by Brimmer's aged father to explain his son's actions. The elder Brimmer told the court that his son only committed the crimes after drinking and that he had been driven to drink by the breakup of his family.
The elder Brimmer said that "nothing like this ever happened in my family before, and my people have been in this area since 1883."
He also offered to "do anything I can to help him" and to take responsibility for his son's future behavior.
But Judge Rottner said, "This is a serious charge, and while I understand the pride you have in your family record, this matter must be bound over to the next session of Superior Court."
After disposition of his case, Brimmer, who appeared to be under great nervous tension, finally broke down when he got back to his seat and sobbed audibly. His mother, sitting next to him, put her arms about him and tried to comfort him.
Brimmer admitted breaking in to the New State Laundry, the Polish-American Club and the Pathfinders Club.
He hit the first one in the night of May 2, taking about $70. The next two were entered the night of May 6 and 8 of the morning of May 7.
He took about $180 from the Polish-American club and about $20 from the Pathfinders club. None of the money was recovered.
Brimmer was arrested May 21 by Patrolman George McCaughey.
"He was also charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license, and was fined $10 for this offense."

Barnard Pupil Faces Court

16-Year-Old Is Involved In Beatings Given to Two Others at School

A 16-year-old boy who was involved in one of the beatings given to two Barnard School pupils recently was presented in Town Court this morning on a charge of assault and breach of the peace.
He is William K. Carson, of 82 Wall street, the only one of the five Barnard boys questioned by police in connection with the beatings who is 16.
Carson, whose case was continued for one week this morning, is said to have joined with another boy late Monday afternoon in beating one of the two junior high school pupils who severely assaulted 15-year-old Carl March.
March, who lives at 848 Hilltown road, was attacked Thursday morning in the yard of the Barnard School. He suffered a badly injured eye and was hospitalized for two days. He still requires treatment.
Carson and his companion, both friends of March, are reported by police to have taken their prey to

Soroptimists Seat Slate of Officers

The Manchester Soroptimist Club elected its officers for the 1953-54 season Monday night at Cooke's Tavern in Plainville. Miss Venita Haynes of the Hartford Soroptimist Club, who was instrumental in organizing the local club 11 years ago was in charge of the ceremony.

Mrs. Charlotte Gray, chairman of arrangements for the banquet and program, presented corsages to Mrs. Ruth Spencer, who was re-elected for another term, and to Miss Haynes.

Bouquets of yellow roses and small blue flowers centered the tables where 25 members and guests were seated. Programs, favors and place cards in the colors of the club, blue and yellow, were at hand.

After the meal, Soroptimist songs, classifications and pledges were given.

Mrs. Gray, well known soprano, presented three of her pupils in voice, played their accompaniments and a piano "Nature in Joyous Mood." Miss Mary Fogt, who has a pleasing soprano voice, sang "Summer" and "Into the Night," by Edwards. Nell Chase, baritone, sang "The Blind Ploughman," by Clarke and the "Hills of Home," Fox.

Mrs. Eunice Bilim's contributions were "Visions, My City of Dreams," Slezynski; and "I'll See You Again," by Coward.

Mrs. Spencer's associate officers are Mrs. Lillian Latham, city director; Mrs. Julia McCarthy, secretary; Mrs. Mary C. Coyne, corresponding secretary; directors, Mrs. Kay Thompson one year; Mrs. Taylor, two years; and Kathryn Hendrickson, three years.

PREVIOUS TORNADOES Here's a list of previous major tornadoes in New England:

BLOOD DONATED More than 200 pints of blood were donated in a seven-hour period at the Red Cross bloodmobile parked on a Worcester street.

Cloud Display Builds Anxiety

Spectacular sun-painted thunderheads that sailed majestically across the southern skies opened and highlighted an unusual show by nature last night while Manchester residents anxiously scanned the heavens after hearing of the tornado that twisted a path of death and destruction through central Massachusetts.

The huge, billowing cloud formations literally stopped traffic about 8 p. m. as an unrelenting rain of hail and sleet fell to the side of the road to watch.

Color in the thunderhead ranged from a snow white through various shades of pink and crimson to an ominous blue-black on its lower fringes.

Remember 640 and 1240: Radio Dial Numbers Listed For Instruction in 'Attack'

If Manchester residents, or persons in any other part of the country, find that matter, want up-to-the-minute instructions during a possible enemy attack, they'll have to tune their radio dials to 640 or 1240, CD Director Edward Kraessig explained recently.

The nation's broadcast industry and the government, working together, have devised a special system of radio broadcasting to bring listeners official information in times of emergency.

At such time, all TV and FM radio stations will go off the air under present plans Kraessig said, and instructions will be broadcast over AM radios at 640 and 1240 on the dial.

Both numbers can be used here. The system is called "Plan for Control of Electromagnetic Radiation" shortened to Constat. Al-

Liquor Laws Hearing May Draw Crowd

A complete revision of the liquor laws as they now appear in the zoning regulations is expected to bring out a large crowd to the public hearing of the Town Planning Commission Friday night in the Hollister street school.

Chairman Joseph Lutz will call the meeting to order at 8 o'clock.

The revised regulation petition repeals most of the present law and defines the various types of outlets and between the outlets and other buildings, such as churches, schools, hospitals, libraries and charitable buildings, or lots reserved for these uses.

"On-premises-consumption" outlets would include taverns, clubs, hotels or restaurants.

"Off-premises" is a consumption of beer in a package and drug stores. There would be no change in the grocery store paragraph where beer is sold under a liquor permit.

The distance between outlets would be raised from 1,000 to 1,250 feet while the distance between outlets and schools, churches, hospitals, libraries, colleges and charitable institutions, whether they be supported by public or private funds, would be increased from 200 to 300 feet.

Also on the agenda is a request of Hale Construction Company seeking a change from Rural-Residence and Residence A-A zone a 30 acre plot of land on Tolled turpentine to industrial zone.

The Zoning Board of Appeals is asking the Planning Commission to study adoption of a regulation on roof signs which also is scheduled for the hearing.

Vincent A. Lawler, 50, of Hilltown road, a hog farmer who is fighting a state order to dispose of his pig for health reasons, was granted a one-week continuance of his case in Town Court this morning.

He is charged with retaining to obey an order of the State Farm and Market agency, which has already been complied with by over 40 Connecticut farmers in a state-wide drive to stamp out vesicular exanthema, the disease, which is peculiar to swine, is similar to hoof and mouth disease in cattle and was first discovered in this state in November.

Lawler asked for the continuance because his attorney was unable to appear with him today.

In granting the continuance, Judge John S. G. Rottner warned Lawler, who was arrested June 4, that it would be the last postponement because of the inconvenience caused representatives of the complaining state agency who have been called as prosecution witnesses.

The statute Lawler is accused of violating by his refusal to dispose of his pig governs the sanitary control of animals. The maximum penalty is $100 or 30 days or both.

Under the statute, the state is empowered to buy pigs either infected with the disease or exposed to it and destroy them. Since the cleanup drive started, 12,000 pigs have been condemned in Connecticut.

Lawler whose refusal to comply with the state order is holding up the lifting of a quarantine in Hartford County, insists his hogs are healthy and says he will not do business with the state.

He has said that if the court orders him to sell his herd, he would "shoot the pigs" first and not take any indemnity.

At the same time, he charged that the state was trying to put the small hog farmer out of business.

The Cullinan diamond, found in 1905, was cut into nine large stones.

Court Continues Exposure Case

Allen M. Ward, 37, of 18 Keeney street, charged with indecent exposure, was granted a two-week continuance of his case in Town Court this morning.

Judge John S. G. Rottner granted the postponement after Attorney Harold Garrity, representing Ward, said the additional time was necessary to obtain the results of examinations of Ward now being made by a physician.

Also continued this morning was the case of Thomas J. Lalley, 46, of Hartford, who faces charges of obtaining narcotics by fraud.

Lalley, who was arrested here several months ago, has been charged with similar offenses in Superior Court in Hartford. Prosecutor W. David Keith asked for the continuance to determine what action will be taken in the matter by Superior Court officials.

A third case postponed this morning involved Frank Naume, 35, of 8 Drive G, Silver Lane Home, who was arrested yesterday.

Views of Proposed High School at Memorial Field and Keeney Street School

Architect A. Lawrence.

Viewers will decide a week from Monday whether they want to build these two schools. The photograph at the top shows a model of the proposed high school at Memorial Field. The building at the upper left is the auditorium with a parking lot just below it.

In the top center of the photo and to the right of that parking lot is the classroom building in the form of a hollow square. The chimney stacks from the boiler room with cafeteria nearby.

Below that in the picture, is the large gymnasium, two smaller gyms jutting out to either side. The remedial gym room in the center, and below the gym buildings, the swimming pool.

At the lower right corner ends of the football field, the track and the baseball diamond are visible.

The edge of the model which picture is the Middle turpentine east end of the site. The edge in the upper right half is the Brookfield street side of the site.

Total estimated cost of the project is $3,000,000 of which $200,000 is for the auditorium, planned to seat 1,500, and $150,000 for the swimming pool. Viewers will have the option of including either, neither, or both in the plan, if they decide to build it.

115 at School of Instruction Of Manchester PTA Council

An enthusiastic audience of 115 representatives from Manchester Parent-Teacher Associations participated in the School of Instruction sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council at Bowers school last night. This was the first time the school had been planned and organized by local people without assistance from state officers in the association.

Nathan Hale PTA had the record attendance, with 14 members and Washington was second with 13.

The school was planned to give information to officers and committee chairmen an opportunity through small group discussions to get an insight for their jobs for next year from experienced people from Manchester PTAs.

Mrs. Ronald Langard, former vice-president for the PTA council, was chairman of the planning committee for the school. She gave the introductory talk for the evening.

Mrs. Langard said that the main function of the PTA is to try to reach all parents, teachers and children. With this in mind, a four-point program for action has been suggested by the state organization which includes better homes, better schools, better communities and adequate laws.

Two-fold Purpose: Parent-Teacher Associations have a two-fold purpose. Mrs. Langard said, to enable the teacher to know and understand the problems of the home and the parents in turn to comprehend the problems of the school and the teachers.

Vincent Ramist, principal of Washington school, was introduced to present a play, "Scattered Showers," given by members of the PTA at his school. The play showed three kinds of mothers: impatient, modest and ideal. The treatment of children in identical circumstances.

Parents could see their behavior toward their own children portrayed in actions of all the mothers, but decided, in the discussion following the play, that the moderate attitude was best.

An illustration of this attitude was given in a line from the play that recommended that sometimes the parent give in as well as the child once in a while.

An hour was devoted to round-table discussions when the group divided into five parts to get help from experienced people and exchange ideas for PTA organizations for next year.

The parents and teachers then met in the cafeteria for refreshment and interested to summarize from records for each group.

The officer and council delegates group decided that the stronger the executive board, the more successful the PTA. In an effort to divide the work, it was suggested that members be worked in gradually on small jobs and work up to positions of more responsibility.

Mrs. Allan Taylor, president of the council, was moderator for this group.

Miss Esther Granton, principal of Bowers school, talked with the program chairman. Ways of interpreting the theme of the PTA to the membership were discussed. The close relationship of this committee to hospitality and publicity was explained by Mrs. David Hartwell, president of Lincoln PTA.

Mrs. Raymond Schaller, former legislation chairman of the council explained the duties of the legislation chairman with the need of information in town and state pertaining to schools or children to be brought to the attention of PTAs. Mrs. Raymond P. Lambek, publicity chairman for the council, gave pointers on writing news copy.

The Ways and Means chairman, led by Mrs. Charles Tomie, vice president of the council, decided that there was to be close coordination between the budget and ways and means committees and made a list of money making projects which might be used.

Mrs. Harold Erickson, former president of Hollister PTA, explained the problems of membership and room members.

Parents were keenly aware of the proximity of the referendum on June 22 in which the Keeney School and High school are to be voted upon along with state issues.

Open House at Keeney: There was a discussion on the need for the Keeney School. To make townpeople more cognizant of the necessity for a new Keeney school, to replace the old one built in 1858, the school is holding an open house. The building will be open on the afternoons of Saturday and Sunday, June 20 and 21.

The School of Instruction is one of the major projects sponsored by the PTA Council. The other is the Children's Museum which is well under way with a collection of varied items already assembled to be made ready for use in next year's school curriculum.

Mrs. W. M. Ezer, chairman of the committee, requests that people remember the museum during the summer and contribute whatever they might have that would interest children or assist them in their variety of school subjects.

Ada Pagani Describes Her Tour in Argentina

When she returned recently, Miss Ada Pagani of 187 North Main street, described her visit to the Argentine Republic, which she made last week on a large board. The official indicates a negative or positive vote by flicking on the proper light from his place.

She Children's Village Equally impressive to the Manchester visitor was the children's village outside the city where they live in miniature sized homes, learn to bake in miniature bakeries, to sell in miniature stores. Recreational facilities of all sorts are available to the small fry, Miss Pagani noted.

She viewed the large modern Seizusa Airport near the capital city but wondered at the fact that there were fewer persons and planes around than at Bradley field.

At Mardeplata, a beach resort where she spent two weeks, Miss Pagani was surprised to find roads built on three levels across the long incline from the water's edge each of them flanked with stores and shops. Around large rocks imbedded in the hillside flowers had been planted to augment the natural beauty of the spot.

Miss Pagani said she has no specific plans for further travel now, but she did not rule out the possibility of another trip in the future.

She also stopped over at Washington, D. C., to renew acquaintances made during World War II.

A decision to visit the National Art Gallery with its famous collection of Andrew Mellon and the Kress collection was a much appreciated part of the whirlwind tour.

Quebec Wedding Mr. and Mrs. David Binning of Shady Mill road were in Sutton, Quebec, last week for the wedding of their daughter, Ruth E. Binning, to Donald Padden on Saturday at 4 p. m.

Mrs. David M. Caldwell and her daughter, Elspeth, also drove to Quebec for her niece's wedding.

David Morrison, 5-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Binning returned to Bolton with them for a visit. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morrison of Toronto.

Bolton Ladies Benevolent Society To Hold Chicken Barbecue

Bolton, June 10.—(Special)—Roy E. Jones, executive secretary of Chicken Barbecue Service, Inc., will engineer the chicken barbecue arranged by Group 1 of the Ladies Benevolent Society. The barbecue will be held on the lawn of Bolton Congregational Church on Saturday, June 20.

Chicken Barbecue Service was organized by the Connecticut Poetry Association, the Connecticut Hatchery Association and a Connecticut Broiler Day committee to make Connecticut broilers available to Connecticut people in the most attractive form.

Jones, a retired poultryman at the University of Connecticut, states that "poultry is the largest agricultural industry in the state and that broiler production constitutes about one-third of this dollar value. We believe Connecticut broilers are the best produced in the United States, but our people have not had sufficient opportunity to test their quality."

The service includes consulting with the local sponsor in planning and organizing, provision of grill and equipment and know-how supplied in the person of Jones, originator of the large-scale chicken barbecue.

Mrs. Charles C. Church, chairman of the local sponsor, has announced that strawberry shortcake will be served with the meal. There will be two servings, at 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. Reservations should be made not later than June 17 and may be made with Mrs. Church. Tickets are available from all members of Group 1.

Express Thanks Co-chairmen Mrs. Ellsworth E. Perkins and Thomas C. Johnson have expressed their appreciation for the cooperation of the huge staff of workers who made the Yankee Street Fair and Hobby Show the success it was last Saturday. Final reports are still being compiled but it is anticipated that financial returns will go slightly higher than previous years.

Another Fox Fredrick Howard, whose trapping of a manny red fox for a few weeks ago was reported in The Herald is still catching them. Shortly after his first success, he found evidence that another red fox had been caught and freed himself, and last Thursday, he trapped a gray fox.

In each case, Howard has put the victim on a state highway force pool and each time it has been removed by persons unknown. Since the state highway crew hasn't been removing them, Howard is beginning to wonder if

Oh Flood

A faulty control on the oil burners at the Wapping Elementary School flooded the furnace room with oil some time during the week end. Arthur Brown, school janitor, discovered the flood Monday when he opened the building. He shut off all oil lines and electrical power to the furnace room. The Volunteer Fire Department was notified and fireman Charles Enes and Richard Jones stood by with fire extinguishing equipment until it was determined that there was no immediate fire hazard. Oil seeped into the septic tank sys-

Don't Scoop Out of Sand Trap

By JULIUS BOROS
T. S. Open Champion

Let the left and open blade of the sand iron take care of getting the ball up and out of a trap. Don't scoop. If you do, the ball won't take a true flight. It probably will pop straight up instead of heading for the green. If it should reach the green, it may scoop right off, for there will be little or no backspin.

Don't force the shot. Swing normally with the face open. Make contact behind the ball and up and out of a trap. Don't scoop. If you do, the ball won't take a true flight. It probably will pop straight up instead of heading for the green. If it should reach the green, it may scoop right off, for there will be little or no backspin.

Stretch Clothing Dollars Like This:

The club is taken back, the blade remains closed.

As the club is more body turn to give more power through the sand.

The follow through is similar to that of any other sand-trap shot and should be the same.

Swing all the way through.

NEXT: Shooting from a fairway trap.

Indians Hope to Make Hay Against Yankees

Sox Top Cards to Remain Unbeaten Sweep of Week End Would Tighten Race

Swede Solomonson's fine pitching made it three straight for the American Little League Red Sox as they downed the Cardinals 7-1, last night at Charter Oak Field.

Solomonson, pitching his first Little League contest, scattered five hits and allowed but one run. His teammates gave him fine support, both afield and at the plate.

CHARLIE H. SCORLETT, Sox pitcher, pitched the Sox to a 6-0 victory over the Cardinals in the opening frame, the Sox came up with three runs in the second frame. The Sox added another run in the third frame on a walk and a hit. A pair of singles, a walk and a hit, made the Sox three in the fifth on an infield hit. "Two more markers came across in the following frame on three hits, a fielders choice and a walk and a hit. The Sox came in on the fifth on an infield hit. A walk and a hit, made the Sox three in the fifth on an infield hit.

Ronnie "Vest" Pickett's high home run, which just cleared the fence in left field, was the Cardinals one and only run.

I'm going to see George Middleton, Turpin's manager, again tomorrow," said Markson, "and I feel sure we can have an arrangement for Ready to fight in the Yankee Stadium in September or possibly even late in August."

Middleton sounded like New York was going to be his.

Front Offices Make Deals, But Managers Take the Fall

New York (NEA)—The front offices of the American Little League Red Sox and the Philadelphia Phillies have made deals, but the managers have taken the fall.

The Sox front office, headed by Harry Marston, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said he came to London to sign the winner to fight either Young or Olson.

"I'm going to see George Middleton, Turpin's manager, again tomorrow," said Markson, "and I feel sure we can have an arrangement for Ready to fight in the Yankee Stadium in September or possibly even late in August."

Trouble Looms Ahead for Hogan in Open Qualifying Round

Mathews Ready to Step Up and Challenge Mantle as Best Young Player in Baseball

Rockville Elks Score 6-5 Win

The P. A. C. outlined the Kocuzko Club in the first overtime game in Rockville's Little League by winning a 6-5 decision at the Recreation Field last night.

The Kocuzko Club scored a pair of runs in the fourth and added one more in the fifth to make it a tie game.

In the sixth, both teams pushed across two runs to tie the game at 6-6 which called for an extra inning.

In the top half of the seventh inning, the Kocuzko Club scored two runs in the bottom half of the inning. Jimmy Cohen of the PAC club was given a base on balls. Frankie Burkhardt then bunted and all hands were sent home when Casey threw wildly to first.

Castell walked to fill the bases. Parsons went in to run for Cohen and Casey was walked on four wild pitches to force in Parsons with the winning run.

Each of them led his league in striking out last season. Mathews was going to be outstanding in striking out last season. Mathews was going to be outstanding in striking out last season.

HE HAD JUST SHOT a 77, five over par for the trying 69-yard course. It was his best score in 18 holes behind Chick Harbert's brilliant round at the Pittsburgh Field Club which saved the first day of qualifying play from mediocrity. MacPhail Officials Bow to Objections

Billmore, June 10.—(AP)—After more than a month of silence, Larry MacPhail complained yesterday the Maryland Racing Commission is arbitrary and un-American in barring him from horse racing track.

The commission on April 30 found MacPhail had been guilty of conduct detrimental to horse racing by using profane language in a clubhouse argument. It continued his suspension of privilege at the track for 30 days during the spring meeting.

MacPhail had twice failed to show up at commission hearings and never uttered a word about what happened on April 21 when his actions cost him the job as president of the Maryland Jockey Club.

Quartet to Sing Here June 14

The LBI Male Quartet, representing the Lutheran Bible Institute of Teaneck, N. J., will present a concert at Emmanuel Lutheran Church on Sunday, June 14, at 7:00 p. m. The quartet is composed of three LBI students, John Kieffer, James Peterson, and Burton Strand, all of Jamestown, N. Y., and Pastor Edward A. Hansen, member of the LBI faculty. The program is designed to present a spiritual message in word and song. Music selections range from the stirring hymns of the church to more high-hearted expressions of Christian faith in familiar spirituals. This group has been invited to be one of the musical groups singing for the thousands of young people who will gather at Boston, Mass., June 24-28, for the International Youth Conference of the Augsburgan Luther League. The men of the quartet represent a Bible study movement that extends from coast to coast. In addition to its main headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn., the Lutheran Bible Institute also has branch schools in Los Angeles, Seattle and Teaneck, N. J. Its aim and purpose is to train young people, after high school age, for more effective service in the various fields of activity in the Lutheran church in this country and in foreign fields. Thus, students come from all walks of life. More than 200 former students are actively engaged in foreign mission work at the present time. In addition to some 300 resident students in the four schools, approximately 2,000 persons are enrolled in the home-study course department. Bible camp weeks and summer sessions are conducted by all the schools.
