Shaky Red Regime Asks Cooperation

Berlin, June 23.—(AP)—Hun-ger stalked Germany's Communist Eastern zone today, fixing the powder keg which exploded last week into workers' rebellion against Russian repression.

Refugees to West Berlin reported that unaided by Soviet tanks and firing squads, the East Germans have defied martial law with protest marches demanding bread ration through the streets of Leipzig, Dresden, Demnitz and Elsnitz.

The tottering puppet government of Premier Otto Grotewohl admitted it faced "grave problems" in feeding the 18 million residents East Germany. His news agency and broadcasts announced state food handling agencies had pledged to make up the losses "caused by the Fascist Western agents" in the strike and riot launched June 17.

Farmers were urged to cooperate. East Berlin was better off than most areas, but with two policing Russian armored divisions lying off what was available the city was short of bread and potatoes. Refugees described conditions in many Soviet zone cities as catastrophic.

Communist police patrols, they said, were tearing the streets with sound trucks blaring that they would get better.

Farmers brookbeat for years by arbitrary Communist quotas were reported withholding the produce from central state collection points, bringing extension of the Red army's martial law to the agricultural belt.

Farmers also were said to be making behind-the-fence deliveries of food to workers and their families in distressed areas.

The wave of arrests and executions continued. The anti-Red underground estimated 16,000 alleged strike leaders were behind bars.

The latest death penalty reports were meted out to Communist Mayor H. W. Hartmann of Duerbenitz, in Saxony-Anhalt. He was the first party official reported executed in the wave of terror and the 22nd German definitely known to have been executed.

Refugees said Hartmann knocked down a German Communist policeman who fired into a crowd of demonstrators. One Soviet military court dealt out 100 years in prison.

Living Cost Registering New Highs

Washington, June 23.—(AP)—The cost of living edged upward another three-tenths of one per cent between mid-April and mid-May, the Bureau of Labor—Statistics (BLS) reported today. This was the third straight month the BLS consumer price index registered a rise.

The bureau said all major living cost items showed slight increases except for transportation which showed no change.

The new index showed retail prices for city families with moderate incomes were 3.4 per cent of the 1947-1949 average as of May 15.

Contracts Unaffected

This was a decrease of one per cent higher than in May a year ago and 12 per cent above June, 1950, when the Korean war broke out.

Several major labor wage contracts are geared to fluctuations of the cost-of-living index but none are affected by this month's report. The largest increases between April 15 and May 15 were registered in food, which rose one-half of one per cent and medical care which went up four-tenths of one per cent.

Cost of food, clothing, fuel, rent and other basic needs of city families with moderate income are considered by BLS in arriving at a composite price in terms of the 1947-49 average.

The latest index jump to 114 per cent of this base period average marks the highest point it has reached this year. The index stood at 112.8 in mid-January.

After a four-tenths of one per cent dip in February, the BLS index rose two-tenths of one per cent in March and another one-tenth in April. In mid-April the index was 112.7, the 1947-49 average.

In its report today, BLS noted consumer resistance to higher prices in a number of fields.

Car's Motor, Front Wheel Pushed into Front Seat

The result of the terrific impact that killed one Port Devens G. I. and critically injured another this morning is visible in these pictures of the car as it was being towed away from the scene of the crash on the Wilbur Cross Highway near the Bushland out-fall. The top photo shows the front end following the tremendous crash into the highway to run into a tree. Most of the motor and a front wheel were pushed against the front seat. Rebuffs Critics In New Threats

Soul, Wednesday, June 24.—(AP)—South Korea's defiant president has raised his price for a truce in Korea and hotly rebuffed his critics even as special emissaries were flying here from Washington to get him back in line.

After Gen. Mark Clark had spent two days trying to get him in line, Gen. Douglas MacArthur emerged and demanded terms which a U. S. embassy source here promptly labeled "totally unacceptable to the UN Command."

MacArthur's price, in a CBS interview after the Clark conference, said his price had to be paid or he would pull out the South Korean army from Clark's UN Command and go it alone.

His terms: A mutual security pact with the United States; simultaneous withdrawal of both UN and Chinese forces from Korea.

Clark Quiz Abandoned By Probers

Washington, June 23.—(AP)—The House Judiciary committee today decided in a secret session not to subpoena Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark for questioning by a subcommittee.

Chairman Chalmers Goodrich (R-Ill.) said the action was taken after the matter had been "discussed thoroughly." He declined to report the vote. It was learned, however, that the vote to subpoena Clark was turned down 22 to 8.

The request had been made by Representative Keating (ICNY), chairman of the subcommittee which has been investigating actions of the Justice department while Clark headed it as Attorney General.

Keating and Representative Hillings (D-Calif.), a subcommittee member, indicated they voted with the majority.

Read told newsmen the sentiment of the committee was that Congress "does have the right" to subpoena Supreme Court Justice Clark questioning about matters not involving official acts.

He said the members rejected any suggestion that Clark "has any immunity by reason of being a member of the court." He added that some members voted against the request because of the impending adjournment of Congress.

Harry, the Tourist

Washington, June 23.—(AP)—Harry S. Truman talked with top Democratic congressional leaders at breakfast today after a two-mile stroll around downtown Washington.

The former President walked for 25 minutes, exchanging greetings with pedestrians, cab drivers and passing motorists, and enjoyed every minute of it.

He Police Report

It was his first such before-breakfast stroll in Washington since more than eight years without Secret Service men in attendance.

Sam E. Shriver, Democratic Leader of the House; Representative McCormack (Mass.), the House Democratic whip, and Senator Johnson (D-Tex.), the Senate Minority leader, came to breakfast at 8:30. Truman wanted to invite former Vice President Barkley but he was out of town. "I wanted to have another meeting of the 'big four' like we used to have every week at the White House," the ex-President told reporters.

On his early walk the 60-year-old Truman struck out from the Mayflower Hotel at his usual 120 steps a minute. He did not head in the direction of the White House at all but turned into K street northwest and made a two mile circuit.

People on the street greeted him with a friendly "Hello, Mr. President," and at least a half dozen "Hello, Harry, glad you're back."

Waving a friendly greeting, he responded that he was "glad to be back."

One motorist bellowed from the window of his car: "Hello, Harry, we're glad to have you back home."

The ex-President chuckled heartily but told reporters he went along with him: "My home is in Independence, Mo."

The ex-President's whole program was that of a happy tourist. Truman confessed he enjoyed the change.

"I can go where I want to see people, and I can stop and talk to anyone I see," he told a reporter.

Rayburn told reporters after the breakfast with Truman that he discovered him as a newsman one morning and scrambled eggs and just talking.

Later, Dean Acheson, former Secretary of State and Averell Harriman, former Mutual Security director, visited with the ex-President.

Other callers were Elmer Walker and Roy Brown of the International Association of Machinists.

The 60-year-old Democrat seemed to be in good luck.

Public Hearings Slated On Book-Burning Issue

Washington, June 23.—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), wading back into the controversy over book burning, said today he plans public hearings designed to probe the issue. The hearings would be held in the Senate chamber and would be held in the presence of the authors involved were Communist.

McCarthy said his Senate investigations subcommittee will call 15 or 20 more authors and books have been used in U. S. information libraries overseas for public questioning about possible Communist affiliations. He announced no date.

McCarthy had demanded that the State department take from the shelves of the libraries, maintained overseas to give native readers access to U. S. literature, what he termed 30,000 "Communist books."

The New York Times, on the basis of a survey in 20 foreign capitals, reported yesterday that several hundred books by more than 40 authors had been removed. It said there had been six confidential directives on the subject from the State department since Feb. 19, and that in interpretation of the orders varied from capital to capital.

The Times listed these as among the better known authors whose works were removed in at least some libraries: Lillian Hellman, Clare Boothe Luce, Langston Hughes, Walter Duranty, Dashiell Hammett, Howard Fast and Edgar Snow.

The Times said it found only one library in Tokyo, where a Hudson's Bay store was closed in the early stages "many books and periodicals had been 'burned or scrapped for pulp."

Only 16 authors, the Times said, have been listed specifically by the State department in its book-culling operation.

President Eisenhower spoke out on June 14 against the book-burning. He said there was some speculation he had McCarthy in mind. The Senator said he had burned no books, and didn't think the President could have been referring to him.

At a news conference last Wednesday, Eisenhower declined to say whether the remark was aimed at McCarthy. But he added that the State department has his permission to burn books which openly advocate Communism.

McCarthy said he felt he had not yet "developed a real program" of Communist authors' books. He said he had a list of Communist authors and there are orders the State department has issued to remove books from libraries.

McCarthy said Roy Cohn, chief counsel of the subcommittee, is planning to call the following authors: Dashiell Hammett, Howard Fast and Edgar Snow.

Child Kidnaper Eludes Police; Search Started

Peabody, Mass., June 23.—(AP)—A New England-wide search was started today for the young man who kidnaped seven-year-old Gail Monahan yesterday and released her unharmed about an hour later in North Reading, 10 miles away.

The dog's barking and whining got a fleeting glimpse of the man and described him as about 20 years old, slim, wearing a white shirt with the sleeves rolled up and dark trousers.

Little Gail could describe the kidnaping only as "a bad man with a funny face."

She was snatched up while playing in her yard with Sherry Lynne Merron, 4, and dog. The kidnaping was reported by Sherry Lynne said her playmate was thrown face down on the front seat and held down by the man as he drove away.

The dog's barking and whining attracted Mrs. Merron, who ran out with only enough time to catch a quick look at the man and the car.

Mrs. Merron immediately telephoned police and called the police station to report the kidnaping.

The information was immediately passed to all surrounding police forces.

Less than an hour later, North Reading police reported that Rogers spotted the car going about 45 to 50 miles an hour in the direction of North Reading.

Rogers said he saw the speeding car while making the turn and picking up speed.

Apparently frightened that he had been spotted, the man released the car.

Executed Spies Called Patriots By Red Press

New York, June 23.—(AP)—The Communist party had its official say about the Rosenberg spy case today, and called the couple "two immortal American patriots."

The statement was published in the Daily Worker, party journal, over the signatures of William Z. Foster, party chairman, Pella Perry and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn.

The statement said the "claim the Rosenbergs had their day in court" is a mockery of truth and justice. The Supreme Court was "renewed—literally to meet with the stay of execution and cancel with a pistol to its head in the form of approach threats in an atmosphere of a southern lynch town."

Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were electrocuted at Sing Sing Friday.

A similar protest was held in New York City.

House Favors Tax Relief Bill For Congress

Washington, June 23.—(AP)—The House of Representatives today passed a bill for individual tax relief, which would give its members a substantial tax relief.

But the Senate may knock the plan in the head, as it did last year.

Without debate and with no audible opposition, the House voted yesterday to allow members of Congress to deduct all their Washington expenses when they return home. They could deduct lodging, food, taxi, telephone charges and other expenses themselves but not for their families. For tax purposes, their families would be in their home districts, and all Washington expenses would be considered business expenses and deductible for tax purposes. Congress members may now deduct up to $3,000 a year as Washington expenses.

The tax relief proposal was written into the annual appropriation bill to finance Congress. It was proposed by Representative McCormack (D-Mass.), who long had advocated a pay raise for Congressmen on the ground that they have difficulty making ends meet on their present $18,000 official income.

A similar proposal was added by the House last year to the same bill but the Senate knocked it out and the result was the compromise allowing members of Congress to deduct up to $3,000 as business expenses. The McCormack proposal would allow a deduction of $5,000.

Our young men and young women need God's standard of righteousness as they are called upon to make decisions in dealing with such problems as cheating at school, getting, and unfair play at sports. The Christian boy or girl possesses a higher standard of righteousness of speech and thought, for that standard is in

NLRB Opens Hearings on Modes Vote

Two days of hearings that will determine whether a second union election will be held at the two factory-owned garment shops were begun in Hartford at 10 a.m. today by the National Labor Relations Board.
The national board in Washington called the hearings to decide the facts in the charges of improper practices leveled at the management of Manchester Modes on Pine street, and Brittain-Hall, in New Britain, by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, AFL-CIO.

The national board accepted the management of the two plants which were scheduled to be held in Boston which respondents to the election be held.
The Boston office "found merit" in the union's charges.
Accusations of improper activities were filed at Manchester, where the union throughout the campaign urged the workers to vote for the union organizers charged management with conducting a "bribe" campaign.
The union lost the two shops by a vote of 264 to 261 in the last month organizing campaign.
In the hearings, union lawyer Robert J. Morris of Boston, general counsel for the National Labor Relations Board, will represent the management.
The hearing will be held at the Hartford law firm, Bernard Baruch & Co., 100 State street.

The volunteer fire department answered the first alarm at 3:30 p.m., when flames in a vent pipe were on fire at the Pyroflex Gas Filling Station on Route 5.
While the firemen were extinguishing that blaze, a second fire was reported. A tobacco shed belonging to Leon Sietensky of Sullivan, avenue was struck by lightning but the fire was confined to a pile of lath.
The third alarm came at almost the same time when lightning struck wires outside the house occupied by Adolph Gratz, at the corner of Windwoodville and Griffin roads. The eaves of the house were slightly burned.
Fire Chief George Eges was momentarily stunned when lightning struck the power lines just as he was setting the alarm mechanism which works the fire alarm. Neither the buildings nor the chief suffered any great damage.

If you're a truck user, this fact is mighty important to you. Why? Well, as you know, trucks are built and bought for just one purpose—to do a job. So isn't it logical then that since Chevrolet trucks outlast all others, they must do a better job at lower cost?

high school, and has included swimming instruction in its curriculum. So, if a swimming pool for the new high school represents an extravagance, it is not a new luxury or extravagance, but one which long ago was accepted as a valuable part of our high school program.

The question is not whether we should embark upon a new policy, but whether we should give up an old policy, because it will cost us $150,000 to keep it.

Of all the arguments we have heard on this question, the best, it seems to us, was that of the citizen who said, at the public hearing on the high school plan, that if this $150,000 swimming pool saved the life of just one Manchester youth, because Manchester high school made sure he knew how to swim, the whole expenditure would be worth while.

There seems little question to us that the program has, in the past, saved many more than one life, and that, if continued, it will save many more lives in the future.

Which are we more interested in, saving lives or dollars? We don't know how many lives are involved. We do know it is $150,000.

By our decision Thursday what, in our opinion, remains that is the swimming pool, we have the one thing in the whole high school plans which is closest to being identified as a "luxury" or "frill." This is the only item in the whole plan which is really open to debate of any kind.

That is, it is a luxury, in the sense that it is a non-essential part of the spare, down-to-earth qualities of the main project.

To vote for the high school it is to vote for a community which does not plan to go on to college, many new courses have been added to the curriculum.

The proposed Manchester high school "educational program" lists the courses and activities to be included in the curriculum is, by present-day standards, a conservative one. It is planned to meet the needs of the student and is planned as to provide a spare and actively for each child during each part of the school year. It is planned so that no part of it will be eliminated without providing a substitute of equal value.

The proposed high school is a community that has grown into a large town of 35,000 people. It has classrooms, auditorium, gymnasium, cafeteria, swimming pool, and athletic fields which are available for an adult educational and recreational program. It would be a great boon to the Manchester community life.

The proposed high school, completely graded, finished and furnished is estimated at $5,000,000. Although this seems like a staggering figure, one must realize that it is a great boon to the Manchester school, and one which is long overdue and will last for many years to come. Its cost is a mere piper cost to the expected enrollment in 1956, but will serve thousands of pupils at a much less per pupil cost in the many years to come. Its cost is actually less per pupil than any high school plant with comparable facilities built in this vicinity since before the war.

The road to the taxpayer has been estimated to be 30 mills which is $3.00 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation per year. Certainly, most people spend that much on incidental recreation, candy, cigarettes, per year. Why not on the education of our children in a building suitable to the needs of the children and of good teachers?

The League of Women Voters of Manchester urges the people of Manchester to vote "yes" on the High School at the referendum on June 23.

Mrs. Irving Gunderson, Local Affairs Chairman, Mrs. Louis P. Heald, Public Relations League of Women Voters of Manchester.

There has been only one criticism of the plans for this school. That came from one of our own advocates who, in this instance, reversed himself and argued for a bigger school.

The project, then, faces only one enemy.

That enemy could be sectionalism.

On the way through our new school program, there has been possible to observe each section voting heavily when its own school was at issue, and then voting less heavily, and more unenthusiastically, when its own need had been met and the need of some other section was up for decision. Despite this discernible, and not unnatural, trend in voting, the entire program has gone through. That leaves one last section to be accommodated, and it is, so far as numbers of voters go, the smallest of all. It cannot carry the project by itself. It cannot, of itself, overcome negative votes from other sections of town. So the Keeney street residents are more or less at the mercy of the rest of us, and they know it.

But what they lack in numbers they certainly make up in the department of spirit. They have missed no opportunity to emphasize their case, and to battle for it. They are asking us more from the rest of Manchester than good neighbors, and the fact that they are the last and the smallest district to be accommodated should merely add to their certainty of getting it.

It's a great life in this country of ours if the weather doesn't get you down—or even if it does.

Open Forum

The League of Women Voters of Manchester stated publicly at the public hearing on June 16, that it approves the high school as proposed by the School Building Commission. The League cannot take a public stand on any issue without agreement of its members. It has followed its natural convictions, and would have no truck at all with the theory that it ought to pass a liberal measure just because it was a political campaign ploy, or might prove politically popular. It was, therefore, something like days of yore, when the lobbyists of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association never needed to wear anything but smiles around the General Assembly, since it was there.

The measure which brought the ideological test was the now famous off-the-job insurance bill, which provided, as one of its clauses said sarcastically, that if a worker got hurt on a week end, and his wife beat him up for it, he could get insurance payments while he stayed out of work to recover.

The same measure was, of course, described differently by those few Republicans who did speak for it. To them it represented social progress, and to them the areas in which America takes a minimum care of its own.

Back on the plus side, the measure was described as the last link in a chain of social security which would now be complete, with no future innovations to come.

So the argument, sometimes a moving body of water, is that Democrats, and apparently, a few Republicans who think that socially spoke from their deep convictions, while the Democrats, steering a thin line between their reluctance to vote against it and their awareness of the CIO's disdain of the measure, as a no good answer to a problem, damned the bill with the faintest of praise.

But the vote itself was more striking than the arguments. This measure was first advocated by Bowler in 1949. Then, in 1950, in a bold move, the Republican state platform picked it up and pledged to it. In the 1951 session, a special commission to study the problem and report with a bill was named. It reported with a bill which the Lodge office considered excellent, and the bill went into the hopper as an administration measure.

Then, as we chronicled at the time, the legislative hearing on the bill produced an extraordinary partnership of opposition between the Manufacturers Association and the CIO.

The vote in the House, when it came, gave perhaps 18 Republicans a week end, and his wife beat him up for it, he could get insurance payments while he stayed out of work to recover.

The same measure was, of course, described differently by those few Republicans who did speak for it. To them it represented social progress, and to them the areas in which America takes a minimum care of its own.

When the 1953 General Assembly came to its great ideological cross-roads, it made its choice erringly in the direction of conservatism. A Republican House followed its natural convictions, and would have no truck at all with the theory that it ought to pass a liberal measure just because it was a political campaign ploy, or might prove politically popular.  Off Highway into Tree

One Fort Devens G. I. was instantly killed and another critically injured when the car carrying them from Portsmouth to the 14-day furlough ran off the Willbur Cross Highway one mile south of the intersection of the highway into a tree early this morning.

Dead was Pvt. Andrew Paasala, 22, of 924 Berkeley street, Easton, Pa., driver of the car, which plunged down an embankment and traveled 236 feet before crashing into the tree.

Thrown from car
 His companion, Pvt. David Kearny, 22, of 115 School street, Oil phant, Pa., was thrown from the car and suffered fractures of both legs, lacerations and shock. He is in critical condition at Hartford Hospital.

Dr. Robert R. Keeney, medical examiner, said Paasala suffered a broken neck, fractured skull, broken chest and ribs, internal injuries and a compound fracture of the right lower leg.

Keeney says he may have been lying at the bottom of the ravine for four hours before he was found and spotted.

State Policemen Charles Pritchard and Russell Olson of the Hartford barracks reported that the car was in the woods at 1:20, and the demolished car was not seen until 5:20. A passing truck driver, James Wilbur, of Back Bay, Boston, saw the wreck on the highway at about 1:30, and notified the Charter Oak toll bridge who called police.

At the initial impact, the car apparently climbed part way down the embankment, and then was caved in, and the bark of the tree was sheared off to a point four feet off the ground.

Spedometer at 64
 The odometer dial in the wrecked car was jammed at 68 miles per hour.

Fort Devens officials said the men were headed home on 14-day furloughs at the time of the accident.

The cause of the crash has not been determined.

Paasala's body has been removed to the Lejeune Funeral Home, at 23 Main street. Funeral arrangements are awaiting word from the dead soldier's family.

BLUE CROSS stretched 3,000 miles on this one!

"Kids pick the darndest times to get sick! Last year, our youngest needed hospital care while we were on vacation in California. It sure was a comfort to have our Connecticut Blue Cross come through with benefits three thousand miles away."

Yes, foreign countries too. British pound-notes and Swedish kronen and Greek drachmas—Blue Cross has turned them all into benefit dollars for far-traveling members.

Across town or across the ocean, your Connecticut Blue Cross will be there when you need it.

Memo to Members

Your benefits in approved general hospitals out-of-state are exactly the same as in Member Hospitals with one exception: on Special Services, Blue Cross will cover 80% of hospital charges (instead of full amount) up to $500 for the Standard Plan and $1000 for the Comprehensive Plan. This is in addition to your room allowance and other credits in your Membership Agreement.

If you'd like an extra benefit folder and Blue Cross card to take on your travels, call your local Blue Cross office. Give subscriber's name and membership number. No charge, of course.

If you need hospital care while on the move, just show your card at the admitting office of any approved general hospital anywhere. Ask the hospital to wire us collect. We'll send an Okay by return wire for out-of-state Blue Cross benefits.

Wherever you roam this summer, be sure to take your Blue Cross card with you. It might be the most valuable item on your packing list.

If you prefer, you can pay the bill in person and airmail us your receipted copy. We'll then send the Blue Cross check directly to you.

There was some relaxation of the barriers of Soviet steel between East and West Berlin. spite a generally high level of income and economic activity.

It said several new price indexes, such as those in the steel and petroleum industries, took place to recently to gauge their effect on prices of consumer goods.

BLS said retail food prices rose in a drop of milk prices in several large cities.

A seven per cent increase in pork prices dominated food price rises during the month. Lamb prices also went up, but beef, veal and poultry prices went down. Fish prices showed no change.

The bureau said the dairy price average was down and it traced this to a drop of milk prices in several large cities.

Household costs were up, with the largest rise in that field—seventeen tenths of one per cent—registered in rent. Gas and electricity bills were up slightly while food and fishings were down, reflecting lower prices in certain sections.

The costs of men's and boys' clothing and of footwear were higher, while those for women's and girls' apparel showed little change.

BLS traced the increase in medical care costs to boosts in group hospitalization, medical and dental fees and hospital rates.

Transportation costs remained steady, with increases for auto repairs, gasoline and railroad fares on the west coast by generally lower prices for used cars.

Senator Williams (R-Del.), who led the Senate fight against the proposal last year, said he would fight it again this year.

Some members of Congress, Williams said, have large outside incomes which put them in the bracket taxed at 90 per cent of income. He estimated that these members spent at least $20,000 a year while in Washington, and he said he would deduct it all. Their tax bill would be decreased by 90 per cent of that amount, or $18,000.

The House-voted plan, he said, "gives the most relief to those who need it least."

McCormack said the courts have held that the business headquarters of a member of Congress is in Washington, so his expenses there can't be charged off. But, he said, it is a fact that a Congressman must maintain residence in his home district or state, while in Washington, he's away on business.

The $3,000 now allowed, he said, isn't adequate.

McCormack estimated that the average Congressman spends at least $4,500 on business expenses while attending sessions of Congress. Other members said that was a conservative estimate.

The House accepted his amendment without a record vote.

A movie comedian was operated on and we sincerely hope they don't cut out any of his foolishness.

ed in getting a look out of everything on this first free lance visit since he left the White House Jan. 20. He got a particular kick out of a cartoon in the Washington Evening Star yesterday which showed the president standing outside the gates of the White House, attired in a sports shirt and slacks.

Saying he was amused by the cartoon, Truman said, "I'd much rather be on the outside looking in, than on the inside looking out."

Truman goes and comes as he pleases from the Hotel Mayflower, where he is staying with Mrs. Truman and Margaret, Political and personal friends pop in and out every few minutes.

The ex-President called former members of his White House staff together for a luncheon today. He will dine tonight with these same staffers and members of his former cabinet.

Tomorrow he will meet at a luncheon with members of the Washington committee which is working with others to raise 1 1/2 million dollars to build a hospital on the Truman farm at Grandview, Me., to house his official papers.

"So many people tell me they are glad to see me," he said. "Believe me, I'm happy to see them. I never had a more pleasant trip."

Rockville-Vernon Only 148 of Town's Voters Turn Out for Referendums

Rockville, June 23 (Special)—Only 148 out of the 6,684 qualified voters, or 2 per cent, went to the polls in the town of Vernon on Monday to vote on the two proposed Constitutional Amendments.

On the first amendment question there were 124 who voted in favor, 10 who voted against, and 14 who abstained.

Both the voting places in the Rockville Town Hall and the Vernon Elementary School were used for the day.

Election officials stated that the cost of the voting in the town would be approximately $200, or $1.21 for each voter who took part in the special referendum.

Members of the Women's Republican Club of Vernon and the Tolland County Women's Republican Club are guests at the Governor's mansion in Hartford this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Democratic Club
There will be a meeting of the young Democratic Club of Rockville on Wednesday, July 1, at 8 p. m. This meeting will be one of the most important of the year because:

1. The question of adopting a revised constitution will be studied.

2. A discussion of local campaign issues will be held.

3. The picnic committee will report; and the speaker will be George Ritter of Hartford.

Mr. Ritter did an outstanding job as Co-chairman of the Greater Hartford Volunteers for Stevenson. He is expected to speak on the accomplishments of the present Congress. This topic is particularly timely in view of the fact that Congress is approaching adjournment.

Mr. Ritter can look at Congress from the standpoint of a person who took an active interest in preparing the issues to the voters in the past campaign. He will have an opportunity to review the present Congress and its leadership as contrasted with the type of Congress that might have existed if Stevenson had won.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Thursday, July 2, but was changed to avoid a conflict with the fireworks display and the start of the holiday weekend.

This meeting is open to the public and everyone, Democrats, Republicans or Independents, either young or old, are invited to attend.

Bank Officials
Frederick W. Bradley of Rockville was elected a vice president of the Tolland Savings Bank, at the annual meeting held June Presures overeating is the most common dietary indiscretion. The natural result of overeating is obesity. It has been said that we in America eat ourselves into a premature grave. The pendulum then frequently swings back to the other extreme. We go on a diet. Many self-imposed reducing diets wouldn't keep a bird alive, and often serious vitamin, mineral, and protein deficiencies result.

In recent years great strides have been made in our knowledge of nutrition. For the maintenance of optimal health, one must be assured that proper balance of various foods is maintained. For dietary advice of any kind see your physician. You can then be certain that all bodily needs are being adequately met. Bring your prescriptions to us.

Danes Torpedo U. S. Base Plan By Policy Shift

Copenhagen, Denmark, June 23.—Denmark's most powerful political party, the Social Democrats, in a surprise policy change today torpedoed plans for U. S. airman and fighter planes to operate from Danish bases.

Former Premier Hans Hedtoft, the faction's chairman, told a party congress here that "as conditions are, we cannot accept this offer."

"We feel that it would not improve the broad rallying around the Atlantic pact to which it must be our task to contribute," Hedtoft added.

The Social Democratic bloc is the largest in Parliament, holding 41 of the 131 seats. The party's opposition means the proposal could not secure parliamentary backing.

Until today the Social Democrats had given at least moderate backing to the base proposals.

The U. S. offered last year to send two wings of fighter planes an estimated 150 aircraft, and 4,000 men to help man Danish bases. The "base question" since how many years does the bill then has been the subject of constant and heated political debate. Communist election gains two months ago were seen by some observers as an indication of opposition to the proposals.

Hedtoft said the value of foreign planes to Denmark's defense was doubtful since the defense of German Schleswig-Holstein, south of the Danish border, was not adequate.

"But we are ready to take the question up again at any time should similar moves be made by other NATO countries."

Elections will be held in Denmark next fall for the single chamber parliament provided for in the new constitution approved in the May 26 referendum. The change of signals by the Social Democrats may be the first step of the Party's election campaign.

Meanwhile, a high military source said the building up of the airbases at Vandel and Tirstrup would continue.

The two bases are old Luftwaffe fields, built in Jutland during the German occupation of Denmark. The work of rebuilding the concrete runways and preparing the bases for operations was begun some time ago.

A doctor can add 10 years to a person's life, says a writer. And how many years does the bill then knock off?

The above quotations are not to be construed as actual markets.

Sense and Nonsense

A fellow called the other day to tell us he had a life insurance policy that would be a great comfort to us after we are dead. (Humph! I may be funny to you but not to us.)

A gambler died. The funeral was given by hundreds of his playmates—dice, poker, stud and pinocchio. During the eulogy the speaker declared: "Spice Morrison is not dead—he's only sleepin'."

Mac—In your boy friend a recte-geer, provided he owned real property assessed at $1,000 or more on Oct. 1, 1952, the latest assessment date.

Teacher—Are you chewing gum? Little Girl—No, my name is Sue.

Mr. Horn in Harpersville, N. Y. Mr. Horn came to East Hartford and asked a hardware store in 1908, selling that business several years later and moving to Manchester where he started the laundry now operated by Walter Ross. In 1944 he sold the firm to Ross and retired.

Thursday Voters Told To Go To November Polling Places

When Manchester voters go to the polls Thursday to decide whether the town will appropriate money for an elementary school, they should vote at the same place they voted last November, election officials announced today.

Even if voters have moved into new homes since the last election, they should vote at the polling place they used in November, according to the officials, because the voting lists have not changed.

Assistant Town Clerk Samuel J. Turkington today sought to clear up some confusion he says has arisen about over property qualification voters. Any person older than 21 may vote even if he is not a registered voter, provided he owned real property assessed at $1,000 or more on Oct. 1, 1952, the latest assessment date.

Clark Quiz Abandoned By Probers

Earlier congressional investigation and his action had been found to have been in the "public interest." Some of the other cases, Clark said, were settled after he left the department and decisions have been made in the rest were in order. Keating's subcommittee was authorized by the full committee last February to carry on its investigation through June 30.

Four questions will appear on the machines Thursday. Voters may vote "yes" or "no" on all four. The questions are: 1. Shall the town construct, originally equip and furnish a new elementary school to be located on Kenney street, the estimated cost of which is $450,000? 2. Shall the town construct, originally equip and furnish a new high school to be located on Memorial street, the estimated cost of which is $1,500,000? 3.
