PTA Lutz Museum Sees Successful

The Parent Teachers Assn. Council's unique project, the Lutz Junior Museum, has been closed for the summer after a most successful first year. This museum sponsored by PTA and functioning under the public school Art Dept., has been assembled, organized and set to operation by volunteer helpers. These volunteers have collected and prepared for classroom use exhibits of minerals, fossils, plants, animals, minerals, shells and marine specimens, historic relics, coins, weather instruments, models of homes, products of Manchester, and many others.

During the year these have been loaned to classrooms for a two week period. Over 25 displays have been arranged in the corridors, display cases in our schools from parents and friends of the museum's collection. Sixteen classes have taken advantage of a guided tour of the museum during the month of June.

Donations are still coming in from parents and friends of the children in Manchester's schools. PTA funds are being used to purchase display boxes and needed articles which have not been donated.

The museum committee is looking forward to an even more successful year. It is hoped that the museum will be able to expand its activities over Station Street. The general feeling was that the museum was a success.

Beware of 3-D Motorists Over July 4th Weekend

Chicago, June 19—If 3-D motorists scare you, wait until you see 3-D drivers on the highways over the Fourth of July.

What are 3-D drivers? Well, the National Safety Council says they are dumb, daring and deadly. And if they don't kill you, they scare you almost to death.

Fortunately, the Council says, the 3-D drivers are in the minority. But there are enough of them on the road to make driving in holiday traffic a risky business. The Council estimates that more than 40 million vehicles will be on the move during the three-day weekend and that they will roll up mileage in the neighborhood of five billion miles—the greatest Fourth of July traffic jam in history.

In such heavy traffic, the Council points out, a driver is never more than a second away from an accident. It is estimated that a driver makes from 20 to 30 decisions an hour, and a wrong one can be fatal.

"Excessive speed contributes to one out of three fatal traffic accidents," says the Council. "Last Fourth of July, which was only a two-day holiday, 283 persons were killed in traffic accidents. This Memorial Day, a three-day holiday, 362 died in traffic accidents."

Speed control is the responsibility of every driver. A heavy foot on the throttle can mean a heavy heart for someone. In an effort to reduce the holiday toll, the National Safety Council is coordinating a nationwide Fourth of July safety campaign in which 160 national organizations are participating. The campaign seeks to increase public awareness of the extra caution needed to overcome them. The campaign is also designed to reduce traffic accidents over the Fourth.

As a part of the campaign, the Council offers five tips for a safe holiday trip:

- 1. Start early before traffic is heavy, and take it easy. Cut your usual speed 10 miles an hour.
- 2. Keep a safe, clear stopping distance between you and the car ahead. Watch cars behind in your rear view mirror.
- 3. Signal for turns well before turning and avoid abrupt stops.

Situation Desperate In Flood Area Town

The situation at Piedras Negras, Mexico, a mostly adobe village of 35,000 people, was described today as desperate in the wake of the greatest flood in Rio Grande history roared down on Laredo, Tex., 85 miles downstream.

How many were drowned — if any — at Piedras Negras, nobody knew. The river broke its banks there last night.

At Laredo the river rose to a feet today about 8 a. m. and stayed there for a while. In the streets close to the river, but farther up town the Mexican boys were everting the sidewalks, water, city buses and taxis were running, and the sun was shining.

Sanitary Problem A tremendous sanitary problem was building up, but Laredo hoped to have some water turned on at 10 a. m.

Ten or 12 helicopters patrolled constantly up and down the river. Nearly 100 miles north of Del Rio, at Brownsville, the water level showed 16 persons dead and one still missing in a cloudburst.

The boys who were admitted to the Rio Grande out of its banks. The possible flood will amount to a patrol man indicated it might reach into the hundreds.

"But we don't have any definite number," the patrolman said, adding: "I'm sure there was a lot of lives lost. They are in awful bad shape over there. Water went over the roofs of two-story houses."

He said he believed reports of 800 dead in the little Mexican city.

Others flooded in from dockages on the floor. Among those adopted were resolutions urging:

The States Hope for Peace Rests on Living with Reds

Washington, June 20 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the hope of the world lies in peace co-existence with the Communists, but declared a treaty that makes anybody a slave.

"I will not be a party to any treaty that makes anybody a slave," the President endorsed today the concept of a peaceful co-existence strategy by British Prime Minister Churchill in his talks which closed here yesterday.

But Eisenhower said this approach must not mean appeasement, and it must mean that no nation in the world should be appeased to an outside power.

Within these bounds, the President said, the hope of the world lies in peace co-existence. The nations of the world must find ways of living together, he said.

Eisenhower's remarks were touched off by questions about his talks with Churchill. One raised the possibility of whether the United States, as a result of the talks, might go along with a partition of Vietnam which would leave the northern part in Communist hands.

The President told reporters with emphasis—permitting direct quotation—that "I will not be a party to any treaty that makes anybody a slave and that's all there is to it."

On the controversial Oppenheimer issue Eisenhower said today the government will entertain an appeal of the atomic scientist's conviction to try for reversal of the 4-1 vote refusing his security clearance.

The Atomic Energy Commission will be effective as of tomorrow, July 1.

Another part of the substitute plan would cut in half the effect of the relief provision for divorcees who receive the double standard.

The increase in the exemption would be effective as of tomorrow, July 1.

Senators today decided to offer a general income tax cut plan of their own in an effort to head off a broader reduction amendment sponsored by Senate Democrats.

World Health Exemptions Sen. Mitchell (R-Colo.) told lawmakers the new proposal is to increase personal exemptions for each taxpayer in the lower and middle brackets by $100 a year.

The proposal would apply to annual tax cut of $20 for an individual of $40 for a couple. This exemption boost would not apply to other dependents such as children.

The increase in the exemption would be effective as of tomorrow, July 1.

FHA Probe Bares New Loan Fraud

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Senate probes of housing scandals were told today that three apartment builders were on the payroll of a building corporation at $20,000 a year each although the newly-formed corporation had assets which totalled only $6,000.

That was on June 2, 1949, The $6,000 was a loan from investors diversified services of Minnesota. Two weeks later the project opened a contract with investors diversified for loans totaling $1,846,000 issued by the Federal Housing Administration.

"Used... Or Abused"

A man walked into our place this week and wants to know whether or not we sell "Used or abused" cars. He had a point that should be defined when anyone buys a used car. To be perfectly frank, we never buy a used car, or a so-called new car, from an auction outfit. Perhaps a used car of merit is put under the auction hammer once in a while. We, however, are not going to gamble our reputation by selling one. We don't know whether or not the car has been used or abused. Why should we try to do business that way? We have been selling new cars and used cars to our neighbors here in Manchester for more than twenty years. When you sell as many cars as we have over a long period like that you get to know a lot of people. It is no secret that most of our new car customers were once our used car customers. It had to be that way or we wouldn't be noted today as one of the oldest DeSoto-Plymouth dealers in the State. Now even though we know who owned the used cars we have on sale, and since we serviced most of them since they were brand new, we are still mighty careful to see that our Manchester neighbors get a car that will serve them exactly as they hoped when they trusted us. We just can't afford to sell a used car that's not up to par... we are not an auction outfit... we are not going to pull up stakes and blow town when the pickings get slim. We're here to stay, to back up our deals, to live with our neighbors and keep growing with the community. No matter how much we think we know about a car, it is never sold until our master mechanics check it from bumper to bumper. They tune it and add brand new factory parts to bring it back to mechanical perfection. No, our cars are not abused, they are slightly used, used cars ready for a long life ahead. Drop by soon, you'll see why it makes good common sense to place your car needs in the hands of this old reliable factory franchised dealership. MOST SUFFERERS OF SCIATICA CAN EVENTUALLY BE CURED

By EDWIN F. JOHNSON, M.D. Written for NEA Service

All too often I receive inquiries from people suffering from sciatica who want to know about this distressing condition...

Sciatica is a term used to describe pain along the course of the sciatic nerve rather than a single disease...

Many times the direct cause can not be found. Sometimes the injection of a local anesthetic or salt solution relieves the pain...

Hebron Correspondent Writes for Fun

Likes to Keep People Posted On Town Life

By JOSEPH A. OWENS

A woman whose backbones is matched by her funnybone, Miss Susan Pendleton, dean of the Hebron county correspondents, likes to recall with vivacious days of yore in Hebron.

"It's a bedroom town now. The men folk are up early and off to work in the city. When they return after work, it's bedtime," she says, looking at the blue twinkling eyes.

Repeating out from behind her typewriter and becoming the personality in the story, rather than the writer, was a new experience for the retired school teacher.

"Really, I don't deserve any publicity. I write as a hobby and keeping people posted on all the doings in town has made my life much fun."

The writer of the popular folio Hebron column was quite pleased when informed that residents beyond the town border find her work refreshing and pleasant after reading the depressing world affairs.

Could Do Without A Bomb

Broadening her scope momentarily, the elderly member of the fourth estate quipped, "We could do without this up-to-date bomb that we have. It would have been a blessing if they never invented the thing."

Susan, as she prefers to be called by young and old alike, is much happier when recalling the "yesteryears" of her picturesque town.

"One item I want set straight concerns the tales of up-right burials in Burrows. Elizabeth Ever since someone claimed bones had been placed in the ground, standing up rather than lying down, many people have asked me about it."

"The truth is that no man or woman was ever deliberately buried in that position. Peggy Dow, first wife of Lorenzo Dow, died during the cold season of the year and the grave diggers could hardly dig the hole. They managed to break through the frozen ground in a very small area. Rather than leave the body above ground they decided to slide Peggy's body down into the hole. This is the real origin of the fable we hear every so often."

Recalling the name of Dow, Susan could hardly pass up an opportunity to talk of the almost legendary Lorenzo Dow.

"A true story about Lorenzo is of the horseback wedding that took place on a rainy night in Hebron. The couple rode up to the Dow homestead long after Lorenzo had retired and called his name. He went to the window and in a raspy voice exclaimed, 'What the devil do you want?' Join us in wedlock was the timid reply."

Heating a second so that she might recall exactly, Miss Pendleton's face took on a new sparkle when she quoted Dow's response.

"Under this window in rainy weather, I join this man and woman together. Only God who made the thunder. Can part this man and woman asunder."

What About The Feet?

With a typical Pendleton witicism she pondered aloud, "I wonder if the old boy got his feet for that wedding?"

Returning to her own career, Miss Pendleton very modestly admits that her work has been recognized nationally. Several years ago she penned a fiction article, and entered it in a contest conducted by the old McClures. Her story, "His Last Word," was published in the town second issue.

For her effort she received $75

Writer of the Hebron column since "goodness knows when," Miss Susan Pendleton is shown at her typewriter. She recalls the colorful "old days" of the town with pride and vividness and compares it with the "bedroom" atmosphere of today.

and has this to say, "That amount of money meant more then than it would today."

Snapping her fingers with the vigor and enthusiasm of a teenager, Susan remarked, "Come come to the like a bolt." She is quite proud of the fact the new defunct Literary Digest has quoted her. Miss Pendleton's work has also been printed in "Vintages" and "Contemporary Verse."

Father a Doctor

The daughter of C. H. Pendleton, Susan has spent the greater portion of her life in and around Hebron. She taught all eight grades at the Green School in Hebron for many years and even before that accompanied her father on his house calls to patients.

With this background it is only natural that a 65,000 word novel she is now working on concerns a New England mystery. According to the author, a publishing house has advised her to revise some sections and put more "tension" in the story.

At this point the lovely lady of Hebron flashed a broad smile in the direction of the Herald photographer and said, "Get a real picture of me if you put my picture in the paper."

Writing not the only chore with which Miss Pendleton is preoccupied. Despite her arthritis Susan bakes bread three times each week and the past Tuesday celebrated the installation of a new electric range in the Pendleton's 128-year-old home by having a cake.

Susan lives with her sisters, Clara Louise Pendleton and Mrs. Alice C. Gilbert. In closing, the First Lady of Hebron voiced the sentiments of the world, "I've seen the boys march off to four wars, let us hope and pray that the fourth was the final one."

The Girl Who Tamed Leo of the Giants

New York (AP)—The marital romance of movie star Lorraine Day and Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants baseball club, is a victory of later love over dislike at first sight.

The first time Lorraine, who looks like the girl every man hopes to wed, met Leo was in one of those velvet ski-rope Manhattan night clubs.

"Everybody crowded around to talk to him as if he were important," she recalled. "I didn't know who he was, but I certainly did dislike him."

The feeling was so strong that two years later, when Lorraine saw Leo boarding a plane on which she was a passenger, she hoped he wouldn't sit by her because she dreaded having to talk to him. But Leo sat down and did most of the talking.

"I looked over at him after a while," she said, "and suddenly I thought to myself, 'This is the man I'm going to marry. He didn't know it—but I did.'"

Soon after that they were married.

As a girl Lorraine hated baseball so much that she would umpire a game at school to keep from having to play it over and over while some TI baseball games a year.

"It's making a nervous wreck out of me," she said. "I don't feel like an average fan. Winning and losing affects our lives. It's our future."

"When we lost a game, I'm much more upset than Leo. He doesn't bring the game home with him."

"If the Giants win, we take in a movie. We never go out after he loses a game. But it's not because he feels miserable."

"He says, 'People always ask you how you won. But if you've lost a game, there is no point in losing it over and over again.'"

Lorraine, who recently completed a leading role in "The High and the Mighty," has adjusted her film career so as not to let it con-

Foundation Melts Leaving City Sunk

Ottawa (AP)—A 10-man survey party is seeking a new site for the remote arctic community of Aklavik on the Mackenzie River delta, 10 miles south of the Arctic Ocean.

The 45-year-old settlement, largely in the Canadian arctic, is in danger of sinking through melting permafrost. Summer heat, ground water created by building and excavations and roads turn the present permafrost terrain into a quagmire.

Lack of an adequate year-round water supply and sewage disposal system has created a serious health problem for the 400 whites, 200 Eskimos and 125 Indians who live in the community.

Arms Smuggler Reveals Philosophy of Profession

By LEON DENNEK
Paris (EPA)—At 28, Serge von Daron is rapidly becoming one of Europe's most successful smugglers of arms.

He is certainly the busiest. Though not yet a Nazi Zehoroff, he is one of the most devoted followers of the mysterious Balkan "merchant of death."

When I first met Serge during the last war in Istanbul, Turkey, he was still known as Adriano. Tall, lanky, blond with a deep scar on his right cheek, he looked as he still does like a junior Erich von Stroheim. Years later I learned he was the son of a landless Romanian peasant.

Once a spy, once a sergeant of Daron (or Adriano) was doing a bit of spying, selling his services to the highest bidder. He was one of countless shadowy characters who unrolled needles, Turkey during the war. But just before the break between Turkey and Nazi Germany he disappeared from Istanbul as mysteriously as he appeared. I did not see him again until recently, 20 years later, when I ran into him in the plush bar of one of Paris' most expensive hotels.

"What made you change your name, Adriano?" I asked when he informed me of his new identity. "Serge is the name."

"Serge, then," I exclaimed, striking a Napoleonic pose, "when my fortunes changed I also decided to change my name."

"What are you now, a French industrialist or still a German aristocrat?"

"Just an European Gentleman," "Neither, my friend, neither I'm just Serge von Daron, a European gentleman."

"And how is business, Serge?" I asked.

"Excellent, my friend, excellent," he replied, summoning one of the over-dressed bar hunkies. "As long as what you call civilized people insist on killing each other the Serge von Daron of this world are bound to turn a profit."

The waiter approached Serge.

Wapping Red Cross Plans Swimming Classes

Wapping June 30.—(Special.) Frank Matzuda, chairman of the local Red Cross branch, has announced that parents desirous of having their children take part in the water safety program this summer must register the children with him before July 2.

The free instruction will be held at Spring Pond on Pleasant Valley Road. Classes for beginners will be conducted on Wednesday and Friday. Intermediate swimmers will receive instructions on Monday.

Free spraying started in town on Monday and anyone wishing to have their Elm trees sprayed should contact First Selectman Thomas Burgess or Paul Wysocki, who is doing the work.

A Happy Ending
Barbara Roberts returned home from St. Francis Hospital on Sunday and much to the little girl's surprise two of her friends, Gail Leighton and Sandra Butka, were on hand to welcome her.

The two handed Barbara an envelope which contained $50 and a card signed by 35 residents of the Pleasant Valley neighborhood. A happy ending was written to a story that was tinged with tragedy in the beginning.

One week ago Barbara, a frolicking 10 year old planned to go swimming with her sister Kathleen. Before starting the junket to

Cinema Reports Attendance Gain

London (EPA)—The British drift away from the movies, largely attributed to television, has been stemmed, figures released by the Board of Trade indicate. In the last three months of 1953 movie goers totaled 308,774,000. That's 594,000 more than in the corresponding quarter of 1952.

Apart from figures for the last quarter in 1953, when admissions just exceeded those for the same quarter of 1950, this is the first time since the statistics began in 1950 that admissions have shown a rise.

TANK TIPS
Detroit (EPA)—A full tank will log some gasoline on curves and bumps and, on a hot day, will lose some by expansion says L. M. van Noy, an official of an auto finance firm.

Even worse, he says, is an almost empty fuel tank. This brings higher evaporation losses. The tank also will contain moist air which will condense and leave water in the tank. Running out of gas can damage the fuel system. The last drop of gas will take accumulated tank sediments into the system and can lead to an expensive cleaning job.

Court Closes Dump

An injunction closing the town dump on Sand Hill Road was invoked last week by the Hartford County Court of Common Pleas.

First Selectman Thomas Burgess said yesterday the town will not contest the court order, but will continue the search for a new dump site.

Judge Walter J. Sidor issued the injunction on the complaint of home owners near the dump in the northeast corner of town.

They charged the dump had become a nuisance because of the stench and smoke and also because it had become a breeding place for rats.

The action was brought by Joseph Karawaki, Fred Doocy, Paul Kuchon, Anthony and John Karawaki, Edward Pastula, Barbara and Alfred Karvelis, Annie Kuchon, Mary Doocy and Irvina Higgins.

Washing correspondence, Mrs. Anne Collins, telephone MI 3-4976.

On that day 29 Sabre jet fighters from the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing based at Prestwick were threatened by disaster in an Atlantic storm.

Prestwick telephoned to Skipton for the emergency radio beacon to be turned on, and Postmistress Mary Cook, who lives in a garage to relay the message to Macgougan, only to find that the carrier had left the village to visit his mother.

Turned signal on.

Mrs. Macgougan, however, had been instructed by her husband to operate the beacon, so to speak, and she did so. She thinks and doesn't care what impression she is making in such a way that she stands out like a sore thumb.

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—A woman used to recover $5,000 she said her husband lost playing cards. But Judge Ralph McGee ruled against her, deciding that to agree with her would enable all husbands to regain their gambling losses.

Twenty-eight years ago the Rev. Frederick C. Johnson, then minister of the Second Congregational Church, this town, organized the First Vacation Bible School in Manchester for children of the two North Main Street churches. The movement was comparatively new at the time; a few had been successfully managed in Hartford.

Other Protestant congregations throughout the town followed, until practically every church either conducted its own vacation school or joined with some other church. Usually trained religious directors in various forms of handicraft, considerable expense for materials was met by contributions of the church organizations, civic-minded persons interested, or by nominal admissions charged, or free will offerings by the pupils.

The closing programs and exhibitions of the children's work were always well attended and served to create interest in the yearly vacation schools which in some churches continued from one to three weeks.

Three of the early established schools are not opening this season: the South Methodist, the Congregational and Second Congregational, because of the death of their directors, or by nominal admissions charged, or free will offerings by the pupils.

McCarthy's regular subcommittee chairman, has called for a full American Communist and has demanded to know who in the Army was responsible for his honorable discharge last February.

Other officers elected yesterday were Robert Case, Dennis, vice president; William F. Shuckers, secretary; and James W. McKay, treasurer.

Mrs. Carol Case, retiring president of Case Brothers, was elected chairman of the board of directors.

McCarthy's office aides said he might return to the capital today, but Muntz said he had not invited the Wisconsin Senator to the subcommittee meeting.

Florida Fugate, Sr. of Gloucester, was named to the subcommittee to probe the case of a member.

The subcommittee, as constituted under Muntz, has no power to hire or fire staff members but it could make recommendations to the regular subcommittee under McCarthy's chairmanship.

ing offered as an amendment to the administration's general tax revision bill—a measure described by President Eisenhower as the cornerstone of his 1954 legislative program.

The overall bill provides for $1,477,000,000 in assumed tax benefits for both individuals and corporations in the first year.

The administration argues that the bill embodies a balanced tax program of fair and sound tax cuts which the Treasury cannot stand without further revenue cuts at this time.

Benefits Seen for Wealthy

But some Democrats contend that most of the benefits would go to the wealthy and to those who have money to invest.

They say a general tax cut should be written in both as a matter of fairness and to boost mass purchasing power.

The committee has argued yesterday that the average tax-paying family would get only $12 a year in relief under the bill as written.

In contrast to this, Douglas claimed, 440,000 families who own 100,000 shares of stock in the nation would save an average of more than $1,500 apiece under one provision aimed at giving relief to shareholders on dividend income.

The Democratic amendment also calls for elimination of the dividend income relief section. One aim of a Republican substitute would be to save that provision.

Both sides planned to have their full membership on hand for the vote. There are 48 Republicans, 42 Democrats and one Independent in the Senate.

Democrats to lose the support of three or four of their members.

Young predicted half a dozen Republicans would do likewise.

He said the flexible farm price support program advocated by the Senate of Agriculture, Bennett and "this tax bill are too great a burden for any Republican to carry this November."

Mr. Millikin pronounced in a separate interview: "We will beat the amendment."

The balance of power appeared to be held by a bloc of GOP Senators known to be unopposed about the dividend income relief provision in the bill without some offsetting general tax cut.

This group included Sen. Ives (R-NY) and Purcell (R-Conn.), both said they would like to vote for a 20% tax credit amendment, or something like it, as a companion to the dividend section.

New President

It may be that, in a long career, he had come to be sentimental about cops and courts of justice.

A gentleman who walked into the police department on the evening of June 17 identified himself as Michael J. McCormick and asked police for a night's lodging, was given a rather cold reception and advised to leave town.

However, McCormick wasn't going to take "no" for an answer, and later made his way into a court room located in the same building and settled down for a good night's snooze.

When he began to snore, police found him and locked him up for "snoring." And from a Social Security card in his pocket they found that his name wasn't McCormick at all, but Jesse E. Gibson, age 34, of no particular address.

Gibson was held in $200 bond from the time of his arrest until last Saturday, when he was given a suspended judgment and released.

Distinguished Record

Today local police received a report on the man from the FBI. As it turns out, their recent visit was a gentleman who had traveled rather widely during his life. He was born in Pennsylvania.

Since 1918 he was convicted of 63 offenses ranging from head robbery and larceny to vagrancy in a dozen states on about 100 occasions.

His distinguished record also shows a decade in San Quentin prison in 1921. It is probably the first time in his life that police have asked him to get out instead of giving him a home.

The overall bill provides for $1,477,000,000 in assumed tax benefits for both individuals and corporations in the first year.

The administration argues that the bill embodies a balanced tax program of fair and sound tax cuts which the Treasury cannot stand without further revenue cuts at this time.

Benefits Seen for Wealthy

But some Democrats contend that most of the benefits would go to the wealthy and to those who have money to invest.

They say a general tax cut should be written in both as a matter of fairness and to boost mass purchasing power.

The committee has argued yesterday that the average tax-paying family would get only $12 a year in relief under the bill as written.

In contrast to this, Douglas claimed, 440,000 families who own 100,000 shares of stock in the nation would save an average of more than $1,500 apiece under one provision aimed at giving relief to shareholders on dividend income.

The Democratic amendment also calls for elimination of the dividend income relief section. One aim of a Republican substitute would be to save that provision.

Both sides planned to have their full membership on hand for the vote. There are 48 Republicans, 42 Democrats and one Independent in the Senate.

Democrats to lose the support of three or four of their members.

Young predicted half a dozen Republicans would do likewise.

He said the flexible farm price support program advocated by the Senate of Agriculture, Bennett and "this tax bill are too great a burden for any Republican to carry this November."

Mr. Millikin pronounced in a separate interview: "We will beat the amendment."

The balance of power appeared to be held by a bloc of GOP Senators known to be unopposed about the dividend income relief provision in the bill without some offsetting general tax cut.

This group included Sen. Ives (R-NY) and Purcell (R-Conn.), both said they would like to vote for a 20% tax credit amendment, or something like it, as a companion to the dividend section.

McCarthy's regular subcommittee chairman, has called for a full American Communist and has demanded to know who in the Army was responsible for his honorable discharge last February.

Other officers elected yesterday were Robert Case, Dennis, vice president; William F. Shuckers, secretary; and James W. McKay, treasurer.

Mrs. Carol Case, retiring president of Case Brothers, was elected chairman of the board of directors.

McCarthy's office aides said he might return to the capital today, but Muntz said he had not invited the Wisconsin Senator to the subcommittee meeting.

Florida Fugate, Sr. of Gloucester, was named to the subcommittee to probe the case of a member.

The subcommittee, as constituted under Muntz, has no power to hire or fire staff members but it could make recommendations to the regular subcommittee under McCarthy's chairmanship.

Soroptimist Club Has Final Picnic

Members of the Manchester Soroptimist Club enjoyed their closing picnic of the season last evening in the spacious dining room of Miss Bernice Juhl's cottage at Columbia Lake. The weather was unfavorable for little more than an occasional glance from the porch or window at the lake or the beautiful flower beds and grounds. Today Manchester hairdressers, with several from Hartford, are spending the day at the Juhl cottage.

While a number of the Soroptimists played Bolita and other card games, the meal was the big interest of the evening. Miss Alice Salisbury, well known cook, expert, prepared the fried chicken, baked lima and several varieties of delicious cookies for dessert. Others provided salads, deviled eggs, which with rolls, coffee and confections, the latter donated by Mrs. Josephine Munson, rounded out a memorable meal. Two former members of the club were present to enjoy it and the sociability of the affair. Mrs. Robert F. Hawley of Glaston, again extended an invitation for the tentative date of Sept. 20, and Mrs. Julia McCarthy invited the group to meet with her at her home in Rockville on August 18.

Mrs. Alice Clampt was appointed to make arrangements for both affairs locally.

At a brief business meeting conducted by Vice President Mrs. Lillian Gustafson, the following committee, appointed by the program, Mrs. Justine Scher, was unable to be present, Mrs. Mary Giblin, Mrs. Julia McCarthy, Classification, Mrs. Elizabeth Ober, chairman, Miss Jeanne Smith, Mrs. Lillian Gustafson, immediate past president, chairman, Miss Bernice Juhl, Mrs. Alice Clampt, Miss Alice Salisbury, Josephine Munson, chairman, Mrs. Kay Thompson, Mrs. Mary T.

Learning Math by Using It

This is the second in a series of picture stories being published by The Herald in cooperation with the Manchester school system in an effort to acquaint readers with what is being taught in Manchester schools and what methods are being used to teach it. This page of pictures shows how pupils are learning mathematics by putting it to use and finding out about the uses to which it is put in life outside school. The first article in the series dealt with the most basic subject, reading. From time to time when school reopens in the fall, The Herald will publish picture stories on other educational activities. Materials have been prepared and by the audio-visual department in the school system and by classroom teachers.

The ancient abacus, balls, newspapers, and cupcake all lend themselves to use in today's teaching. The abacus comes in handy for children who are trying to learn multiplication tables. And the balls convince youngsters that no matter how many ways you twist them around, 6 and 7, or 7 and 6, make 13. The Manchester Herald makes its way into the classroom now and then as third and fourth graders learn to read and understand the numbers used in news stories and in advertisements. Selling cupcakes is a painless way to drill in multiplying and dividing by 5 and in making change.

Graphs, like pictures, speak for themselves, and pupils make up their own graphs based on school situations as well as learning how to read the various types of graphs in use outside school. Eighth graders learn how correctly to read an electric meter. They also discuss how electric rates are determined.

"Let's see—which is larger, 1-3 or 1-4?" In the third grade children learn the value of fractional parts of a whole by using concrete materials which they can handle themselves, divide them, and re-assembling them. The terms used in relation to the use of fractions are part of the difficult vocabulary of arithmetic which children must learn and understand. Concrete materials help in the process.

Tying in geography with geometry helps impress mathematical processes on the minds of pupils. Children measure the circumference of a globe to determine the relationship of circumference to diameter. Actually measuring the diameter checks the computation. And tying in the geographic information that the earth's circumference is 25,000 miles and its diameter is 8,000 tests the process.

The real test in fractions comes when you try to make 6-8 of a recipe. Eighth grade girls don't go to that extreme in their home economics classes but they do learn how to cut a recipe in half and to measure ingredients accurately. They also learn the mathematics of saving time and materials, essentials for the home-maker.

AEC Backs Oppie Ban From Nuclear Secrets

atomic bomb, strenuously dis- sisted with his four colleagues. "It is completely loyal," wrote Smyth, "and I do not believe he is a security risk."

In Congress, Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), chairman of the Senate-Atomic Energy sub-Committee, said he sees no reason to challenge the commission's decision. He said there had been no request for any move by the committee, which keeps tabs on confidence activities.

Oppenheimer, now director of a private research group called the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., winds up his career as an AEC consultant to- day, with expiration of his con- tract.

The Security Board which weighed his case last spring heard a half-million words of testimony and ruled Oppenheimer was loyal but a security risk.

The commission's majority re- port said the 992-page transcript of this board's hearings together with its other documents, plus military intelligence and FBI re- ports, indicated Oppenheimer no longer merited the government's confidence.

Loyalty Not Issue

The question of his loyalty, it said, was not at issue. As the commission majority viewed the issue was whether it was in the interest of national security to let Oppenheimer see "some of the most vital secrets in the possession of the United States."

Loyalty is only one of the secrets with which he is entrusted.

The majority said no importance was attached to allegations that Oppenheimer hurt the nuclear program by opposing all-out H-bomb development efforts and, after former President Truman ordered it in 1950, failing to give it his enthusiastic support.

"Dr. Oppenheimer was, of course, entitled to his opinion," the majority said. "But his past contributions to the A-bomb program were taken into account, but not, it said, were his demands of the jobs he was entrusted upon to do."

"A government official having access to the most sensitive areas of restricted data and to the in- nermost details of national war plans and weapons must measure up to exemplary standards of reli- ability, self-discipline and trust- worthiness," it said.

"Dr. Oppenheimer has fallen far short of acceptable standards."

What he did intend, the report said, was "constantly place him- self outside the rules which govern security matters and repeatedly showed a disdain for 'the normal and proper obligations of security'."

To this, Smyth responded that the security system "is not to be worshipped—it is a necessary means to an end."

And Oppenheimer achieved that, he contended, by keeping to himself the many secrets with which he was entrusted.

"In these times, failure to em- ploy a man of great talents may impair the strength and power of this country," Smyth added.

"Yet, I would accept this loss if I doubted the loyalty of Dr. Op- penheimer or his ability to hold his tongue. I have no such doubts."

On the question of Oppenhei- mer's character and associations, the majority report singled out his re- lations with Haakon Chevalier.

There was testimony that Che- valier, a longtime friend, approach- ed Oppenheimer in 1951 or 1952 with a suggestion that one George Kinterton had means of getting in- formation to the Russians.

There was further testimony that Oppenheimer rejected any idea of slipping secrets to the Rus- sians, but did not report the in- cident for months and then gave a version he later called a "whole fabrication and tissue of lies."

But Oppenheimer was trying in 1951 or he committed perjury before the Security Board this year when he said he was lying then, the report commented.

Smyth, in his dissent, called the Chevalier incident "reprehensi- ble and 'inexcusable'." But, he said, there was "no subsequent act ev- idently similar" and he doubts Op- penheimer would make the same mistake twice.

Smyth said the evidence sup- ports Oppenheimer's frequent de- nials that, while at one time a secret traveler, he was never a Communist.

Commissioner Murray, in saying he believes Oppenheimer is dis- loyal as well as a security risk, said he first wanted to strip the emotional connotation from the word "loyal."

In a costly legal viewpoint, he said, public servants such as Op- penheimer have been must have their loyalty judged "by the stand- ard of their obedience to security regulations."

"No violations can be counte- nanced," he said, and he argued that "where responsibility is high- est, loyalty should be most pre- cise."

Oppenheimer, he said, had not given "exact identity" and therefore "failed the test . . . a stern test of loyalty."

Commissioner Campbell dis- missed in his opinion concurring with the majority finding that K. D. Nichols, AEC general manager, had supported the special manage- ment's decision against Oppen- heimer.

France Losing Grip On Key River Site

described as the main bulwark against the sweep of Communism into all of southeast Asia and once embracing 400 miles now being swiftly snatched down to about a 200-mile stretch. The new line runs from just west and north- west of Hanoi eastward to the support of Saigone, where the bulk of heavy American war equipment for French forces is based.

It is along the railway and highway between Hanoi and Hai- phong that the French are pre- paring to make their last ditch

Repairing Gutters On Garden Street

There will be no more scraped fenders on the curbs of Garden Street when the highway depart- ment completes its project there to stand by Hai Phong if needed to cover a French evacuation. But Gen. Rene Guen, the French com- mander in northern Indochina, has said that both Hanoi and Hai- phong will be defended by the French. How long the French could hold out against Vietnamese assaults like those which smashed the fortress of Dien Bien Phu is difficult to estimate. The French themselves often have said they probably could not hold out more than two or three weeks.

Upwards of 60 relatives and friends attended and remembered her with many lovely gifts. Decorations were wedding bells and the bride sat beside a wishing well to open the packages.

A delicious buffet was served by the hostess, who also provided a large shower cake, decorated in pastels, and bearing the inscription, "Best Wishes, Millie and Gene."

Pressing Device Patent Applied For

Herald Photo

A new invention to assist housewives, non-professional seamstresses, and tailors has been constructed by two women, one of this town and the other of Andover. The original invention, which is a small wooden structure, is a pressing aid for achieving a smooth finish on intricately shaped garments.

Mrs. Michael Misovich, Jr., of 32 Wells St., and Mrs. Joseph Remesch, Jr., of Andover, started on their detail press project in October after discovering the need for a method of pressing seams in collars, belts, pockets, lapels, and buttonholes. Last week the two women applied for a patent at the U. S. Patent Office in Washington, D.C. They sent their patent application after they had extensive research work done through Washington to assure them that their product was original. The ironing aid's top surface is 1/2 of an inch wide and therefore will prevent any pressing marks that might be left on the garment. A strip of felt is placed on both sides of the ironing area for the purpose of pinning the material down so as to prevent any gathering or tucking in the seams. The special feature of the invention is that both pointed and curved seams may be pressed without basting. One end of the detail press is designed for ironing pointed or square collars while the other end is a curved shape for rounded and scalloped collars.

Mrs. Misovich and Mrs. Remesch, who both sew as a hobby, first thought of the new pressing aid while taking a seamstress course at the Farm Bureau tailoring class. At their sewing classes they were instructed to use a very unsatisfactory instrument with only one shaped edge and no method of pinning the garment for smooth pressing. They find that their new pressing apparatus eliminates uneven seams and unsightly bulges and ridges in the final garment.
