Heard Along Main Street

It's All Done, Dear. Along with the birds and the flowers, the green grass and the blue skies, spring (yes, finally) has brought with it the do-it-yourself, car-washing season.

It is the time when on a warm Sunday afternoon, or during the lengthening twilight, after supper has been eaten, the head of the household goes out to the car, parks in back of the house, and tries to remove some of the winter grime from what last fall was a gleaming finish.

One hot summer day a youngish executive was sitting at the desk when a secretary moved a large air fan. The moving fan swept across until it passed a column of air straight toward the man's forehead. The breeze caught under the edge of the wig, blew it into the air, and it fell to the floor.

He yanked the wig off again, brushed off the same, pulled on the wig, stomped out of the office. He hid in his room.

My Kingdom for a . . . Everybody gets excited when the car is washed, even reporters. The head of the household yesterday got some information about what, at the time, was perhaps the most important news item in the city.

Deadlines being what they are, the scribe thought it would be better to interview the father at the hospital while the mother is rather unwell to develop the pictures.

He was at the hospital, and his colleague returned to the paper. The scribe thought it would be better to interview the father at the hospital while the mother is rather unwell to develop the pictures.

For Ed, Al, Joe. We didn't mean to do the hands that fed us, but occasionally we receive news releases which are so good that we cannot resist the temptation to write about them.

Ike Rejects Soviet Bid For Joint Chiefs Visit

substance within the Soviet Union be so arranged as to permit maximum time outside of Moscow for those activities of special interest to their own service.

Hagerty said Eisenhower was told of the Russian bid about 4:30 p.m. EDT Friday. That was about three hours after he entered the hospital.

Confers with Adams
The final decision was not made until today's 10-minute meeting between the President and Hagerty.

The press secretary denied with considerable heat a reporter's suggestion that the decision might have been made by others and merely passed along to the President for ratification.

Hagerty also said he personally regarded the last part of the statement outlining the conditions under which an invitation to some of the Joint Chiefs might be accepted as the most significant part.

He declined to elaborate on the assertion it would be "impracticable" for all the chiefs to go at this time.

Asks Another Week
Eisenhower today took another little walk and suffered less pain. The doctors also have prescribed "walking exercises" as a part of his own medicine.

A 12:15 a.m. EDT medical bulletin said the President's condition remains excellent, with blood pressure, temperature and respiration "essentially normal."

The Town Planning Commission will be faced with what is described as an unprecedented situation in one of six zone-change applications it will hear in public hearing tonight.

The situation involves the request of a group of property owners in the Plaza Dr. East area that a 5-acre parcel be changed from Business Zone I to Residential Zone I.

The uniqueness stems from the fact that, since the zone-change request was filed, a building permit has been issued for the construction of a store block on the land.

Orlando Chappell issued the permit Friday to Alexander Jarvis after obtaining legal advice from Town Counsel Charles Crockett. Chappell said issuance of the permit was based on the grounds that the land is now in a Business zone and Jarvis' application was in order.

Nevertheless, petitioners for the zone change are...

Gaming Fine Appeal Taken

Mrs. Anna J. Miner, 50, of 37 Hayes St., was fined $25 for pool playing by Judge Wesley C. Gryk in Town Court this morning. She immediately posted $500 bond for appeal to the Court of Common Pleas.

She was acquitted on a charge of pool playing when Gryk ruled the State failed to prove she violated the law relating to lottery tickets.

Prosecutor John R. Fitzgerald recommended the small fine because Mrs. Miner has no prior record for an offense of this type and because the offense was allegedly committed as an accommodation for a member of her family.

Mrs. Miner stated in her trial May 31 that she carried along with the name of horses on them to Lincoln Downs Racetrack for her horse, a dog named "Bobby" and money from her mother to bet at the track.

Because the lottery tickets which were found in her possession were obtained at the time of her arrest, Gryk ruled he could find no clear violation of the lottery law.

Convict Repetti on One Count
In another case heard May 31, Gryk found Joseph Repetti, 60, of 140 Spruce St., guilty of pool playing and fined him $100.

In addition, Gryk levied a 60-day suspended jail sentence on Repetti because he had a previous record for pool playing.

Repetti was acquitted of a charge of pool playing because the State did not prove there was a clear violation of the statutes.

Fitzgerald recommended a jail sentence for Repetti "in view of his long record" and because he felt his record shows intention of continuing in the past conduct.

Defense Attorney Jay Robinson argued that because Repetti had no record he should not be punished for it.

Repetti's last offense was in 1948 and he had not been in the State since that time.

Fitzgerald, the prosecutor, recommended that the State be satisfied that "this is not a case of a professional type, but rather an act of passing the time."

Pickets Start At Gray Firm

Strike unrest spread to Manchester today when peaceful picketing began at Gray Manufacturing Co. on Hilliard St.

The first pickets showed up about 8:30 this morning thinking work in the local Gray branch began at 7:30 a.m. at 8 a.m. Gray's main plant in Hartford has been struck since Thursday by Local 297, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (A.F.L.C.I.O.).

Mr. J. H. Hogan, international representative of the I.U.E., said Saturday he expected the strike to spread to Manchester. About 20 employees of Gray are affected locally and about 20 in Hartford.

The main issue in a wage hike, with the union asking a 10 cent an hour boost. Gray claims part of the boost has been granted in the company's new profit-sharing plan, which would cost the company three cents more an hour per employee.

The union dismisses this as a "fringe benefit" and maintains the company has not made an offer to raise wages.

Pickets at the local Gray Manufacturing Co. plant here in the same building not involved in the strike are continuing their activities to make wages.

Indications are that the union will continue to picket those employed locally by Gray affected by the strike until the union is satisfied with the company's offer.

But as of this morning, all who normally work at Gray Manufacturing here came to work, according to Norman Conroy, in charge of production for the company in Manchester.

He said the firm's operations here have not been affected by the strike.

George Bennett, 60 Foxcroft Dr., said this morning that as far as he knew, no meeting between the company and union officials are scheduled to be held.

Bennett is a Federal mediator. He and James J. Donnelly, State labor mediator, have been working to effect an agreement between the union and the firm.

Hogan reported Saturday financial and moral aid is being supplied to the strike. Bennett added, "We are keeping in close touch with the union."
