Other losers included New Jersey Zinc and Barium Sulfate. The corporate bond market was lower with Industrials and utilities leading the way.

U.S. government bond prices held steady in a quiet over-the-counter market.

The market ended this week at the top of an eight-week rise, despite a week of heavy trading. Settlement of the steel strike has given a boost to the market and has emphasized the role of industrial common stocks to higher levels.

Key Democrats Of State Leave For Convention

Hartford, Aug. 6 (AP)—Several key Connecticut figures left today for Chicago to attend preliminary committee meetings and hearings in support of the Democratic National Convention.

Former U.S. Senator Benton of Southington and Mrs. Dorothy Bell of New London headed for the Windy City where they will serve on the platform committee.

Senator Benton will be a head-of-witness before the platform committee, which opens hearings tomorrow morning in Chicago to make a powerful appeal for liberalization of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

Congressman Thomas J. Dodd of West Hartford also will be in Chicago today. He also is scheduled to appear before the platform group Tuesday in support of three foreign affairs planks.

Meanwhile Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey will fly to the convention site tomorrow to confer with national party leaders and make final arrangements for the Connecticut delegation.

Governor Ribicoff, who may make a speaking speech to the Boston Superior Court case in the trial will be in the city in the final week of his term in office.

Smith said his first move in the trial will be to file motions for dismissal of 105 of 169 indictments outstanding against his clients.

He said also he will take additional steps, as yet undisclosed, to halt the trial.

Fully 2,000 men and women have been called as prospective jurors. They have been ordered to report to the courtroom in groups of 100 a day until a panel of 14—a 12-member jury and two alternates—is selected.

On trial are: Anthony Pino, 48; Michael V. Geagan, 47; Vincent J. Costa, 42; Joseph F. McGinnis, 32; Adolph Maffei, 45; Henry Baker, 50; James I. Faherty, 45; and Thomas F. Richardson, 40.

Three others also were named in the robbery indictments, including Joseph F. "Specs" O'Keefe, who pleaded guilty after reporting the robbery gang cheating him out of his full share of the loot.

The other two are now dead—Edward O'Connor, 38, and Joseph Banfield, 45.

All 11 were residents of greater Boston.

Smith fired his opening gun even before the trial got underway. He asserted the defendants cannot get a fair trial in Suffolk County because of a statement issued by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover when six of the men were apprehended last January.

The statement distributed to news agencies under Hoover's name said in part:

"The Department of Justice announced that an intensive investigation by the FBI for the past six years has resulted in the solution of the million dollar robbery in Boston, Mass., perpetrated on Jan. 17, 1950. Of the 11 members of the gang responsible for the robbery, the FBI this morning arrested six."

Smith charged that mentioning the names of the men in the same "solution" presents a "mountainous obstacle to a fair and impartial trial."

The prosecution claims that about $50,000 was recovered last spring from a secret panhandler at Town of Manchester, property located in the basement of South Rock rooming house.

A few days earlier, authorities recovered $4,825 of reported Boston's money in Baltimore, Md., which they said John Perry, 31, was trying to pass off to merchants. Perry said he found it repairing a Boston house.

ell was singled by police cruiser cars. Traffic was halted as the car progressed to the Superior Court Police about every street corner.

The court building itself, a 10-story structure, was ringed with armed police, and at least a dozen more were posted around the courtroom assigned for the trial.

It may be recalled that three weeks before, before a judge word of testimony is uttered in the Boston Superior Court case.

Smith said his first move in the trial will be to file motions for dismissal of 105 of 169 indictments outstanding against his clients.

British Ask To Force In Suez Area

with Foreign Minister Gaetano Martino.

Nasser continued diplomatic discussions in search of backing. He conferred for an hour yesterday with Soviet Ambassador K. D. Klaviersky, whose government also has been invited to the London conference. It was their third meeting since Britain issued the invitation last week following the conference of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and U.S. Secretary of State Dulles.

Egypt asks support for her action. Egyptian Ambassador Mostafa Kama Scherif today calls today at the Egyptian Foreign Ministry in New Delhi to discuss the matter. Prime Minister Nehru meanwhile agreed to make a statement in parliament Wednesday.

The British paratroop brigade was in high spirits as it boarded the aircraft carrier Taurus last night. They were to be taken to their vehicles read "Look Out Nasser. Here We Come."

Harriman Calls on Democrats To Write FDR-Type Platform

Backers of Stevenson apparently believe Johnson, the Senate majority leader, could make it possible for them to gain the nomination on the first convention ballot.

By the same token, Harriman's supporters are probing Johnson as a possible serious candidate himself—one who might hold out long enough to bring about a non-convention deadlock.

As Texas favorite son, Johnson has his share of non-convention voters in his pocket. He also has widespread—if unpledged—support among Southern delegates who lack enthusiasm for Stevenson and who are vigorously vocal in their opposition to Harriman.

Johnson's attitude toward Stevenson, whom he supported actively in 1952, may be determined in part by the party's platform drafting committee handles the difficult civil rights issue.

Under the guiding hand of Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts, the 107-member committee starting today the week-long task of filling together the planks next week's convention will be asked to fall down.

The first subject in the order of business is the farm problem, an issue the Democrats hope will lure the wavering Midwestern agricultural states from the Republican camp.

The Civil Rights question, scheduled for formal discussion Friday, seems likely to bubble to the surface two days earlier. The party's platform drafting committee on Wednesday will not talk of the Supreme Court's 1954 decision striking down racial segregation in the nation's public schools.

Johnson is one of the new Southerners who did not sign the Dixie manifesto calling for a reversal of the court's order by a legal means. Johnson also had a hand in keeping Johnson's Civil Rights legislation from coming before the Senate in the closing hours of the Congressional session that ended last month.

Johnson's 1952 nomination, has taken what is called a "moderate" stand on integration. He has said it is up to the courts to say how and when it should be carried out. He has proposed that the President use the great influence of his office to bring the two races together for a compromise.

Harriman has taken about the same stand as Stevenson. He has denigrated the Dixie manifesto of federal troops to enforce the court's ruling.

Johnson's role at the convention, as he outlined it in letters to all delegates, is to lead the party to what he can see that the party does not split apart on the civil rights and other issues.

Johnson told the delegates the Democratic party is a party of "many interests" and always gives representatives of every section and region their day in court.

"We have done so but we have remained a unified party," he wrote. "When we are successful in this we are successful on election day."

Steadfast to Johnson
Stevenson's proposal for a gradual approach to integration apparently fits in with Harriman's idea of how to keep the Southerners from walking out of the convention or from trying to force a party movement.

Because of this, Stevenson's friends think and hope Johnson today on route home from a British Commonwealth meeting in London.

Despite Nasser's nationalization decree and his fiery words blasting the West, there still was no indication that Egypt might interfere with shipping through the canal. Traffic continued normally through the big ditch. Figures announced by the new Suez Canal authority indicated a slight increase in the total number of ships and their total tonnage passing through the big ditch during the last year.

Production Resumes in Basic Steel

The industry lost an estimated 10 million tons of production. And though some steel supplies were plentiful when the walkout started, there are shortages in many items now.

The major steel companies are reported working out new price schedules. Price boosts are expected to be announced soon. Estimates of the price hike range from $8 to $12 a ton. Steel sold at about $130 per ton before the walkout.

Manufacturers of most everything from hairpins to auto are expected to pass along at least part of the price hike to the consumer. And, in steel fabricating companies new contracts are expected to parallel the wage hikes and other benefits received by the U.S.W. It will take months to determine just how much of the increase will be passed on to the consumer.

The steelworkers, who lost an estimated $225 million in average $2.45 hourly under their contract. The new contract covers them through 1957. The increase was estimated at about $1.50 per hour. The union originally asked a 15-cent hourly increase as well as fringe benefits. The management offer does not include any fringe.

Later, however, the leaders reconsidered, and the Local's executive board voted to accept the offer. Final ratification came on yesterday's vote in Tinker Hall.

In agreeing on a 6 1/2 per cent increase, management and union were allowing the American Velvet Co. in Stoughton, to set the pattern. That was the increase recently agreed on there.

Cheney Bros., however, is still setting the pace in basic pay rates as far as the velvet industry is concerned. According to figures presented by Horace Learned, general manager and vice president of the local firm, Cheney Bros. pays scale about nine cents higher than the average for union and non-union plants and about 18 cents higher than non-union plants.

He also said that basic pay rates at the local plant were 10 cents higher than at American Velvet. The increase at both plants, American Velvet however, provides a profit-sharing plan which in good years raises its workers' take-home pay.

Following the last union-management bargaining session Tuesday, union leaders said they would submit the wage-increase proposal to arbitration. The union originally asked a 15-cent hourly increase as well as fringe benefits. The management offer does not include any fringe.

Later, however, the leaders reconsidered, and the Local's executive board voted to accept the offer. Final ratification came on yesterday's vote in Tinker Hall.

Union Members Accept Hike In Pay Offered by Cheney

The increase will go to the 450 union members as well as to non-union employees who are eligible for union membership and to those foremen who are entitled to overtime pay.

The 6 1/2 per cent increase, which is based on the plant's average base hourly pay of $1.58, comes to about 10 cents. It is effective as of last Monday.

Acceptance of the increase offers to about 150 union members yesterday eliminates the necessity of the issue being arbitrated.

No fringe benefits are expected to parallel the wage hikes and other benefits received by the U.S.W. It will take months to determine just how much of the increase will be passed on to the consumer.

CB Drops Upholstery Line, May Result in Layoff of 100

A further contraction of operations at Cheney Bros. which may result in the layoff of as many as 100 workers is now underway at the local plant.

Horace Learned, general manager and vice president of Cheney Bros. today disclosed the production of fringed upholstery is gradually being abandoned. He said the operation "has not been profitable here."

He said manufacture of the fringed upholstery is to be transferred to a LaPrance Industries plant in France, S.C., which is now being ready for that operation. The first step in that operation, he said, is to pass the facilities to LaPrance of J. P. Stevens and Co.

Rumors that a number of Cheney Bros. divisions were to be closed down and that 100 employees would be laid off were circulating throughout the plant for several days.

Today, however, Learned said he did not believe that many workers would be laid off. He said the replacement being considered is about a fabric similar to velvet.

But transferring the fringed upholstery to the south, Learned said, would mean the elimination of 100 jobs here, "depending on how normal Bradley Field normal is. A high of 84 and a low of 61. A moderate temperature today warmer on Wednesday, cooler Thursday and Friday and warmer again on Saturday. Showers occurring on both Thursday and Saturday will total three quarters to one inch."

administration retaining the framework of its attempt at a basic solution of the farm problem, but yielding to the extent of stepping up the amount of government money heading for farm pockets in an election year.

And perhaps the most outstanding and surprising result of the session was the fact that in the end, both parties resisted the political temptation to cut taxes, even with a surplus showing.

The one instance in which the Democrats succeeded in legislating that great big heart of theirs in the provision of social security benefits for disabled people, starting at the age of 50. We presume the President will have to sign it, and we doubt that he will be unhappy doing so. Perhaps the most spectacular bill the Democrats scored on a presidential proposal on the other hand, cannot make some Democrats too happy, for it meant the death of a moderate proposal for the advancement of typographical errors appearing in the Manchester Evening Herald.

The McKee Verdict

Because the high Marine brass and present, was concerned with preserving the famed toughness of the Marine training system, the last days of the court martial of Sergeant McKee resounded with defense of his conduct of the night march on which six recruits lost their lives and the man on trial seemed likely to become the hero of the proceedings, rather than the villain.

But that lay, trumpeting on the part of the high brass was more emotional than factual. And the evidence which had preceded it, at least through the McKee trial, indicated that, although Sergeant McKee did not have been too unusual in the mood and manner in which he did it reflected a lack of command and discipline by Sergeant McKee over the men who should have had under firm control—Sergeant McKee himself. With or without the influence of liquor being consumed in his own mind, he was permitted to hide completely behind the Marine code of toughness, which would have an injurious effect on the reputation of the code itself.

When the military court, paid some attention to this code and decided it could not use the code of tough training to whitewash this particular drill sergeant completely, it found the guilty of lesser charges and imposed punishment more severe than the atmosphere of the last few days of the trial had led anybody to expect.

This need not destroy or abolish the Marine code of training, it does establish, to put it one way, that Sergeant McKee was not exactly a Marine hero for what he did.

From the civilian point of view, at least, this is a reasonable outcome. Even the high brass which was trying to defend both sergeant and system admitted that he did not demonstrate fitness as a drill sergeant on the day in question. And the consequences were too serious and too tragic to be overlooked completely.

The Marines will continue their tough training code and they will take greater pains to make sure that the man administering it are men more likely to be in command of themselves.

Droodles
 BY ROGER PRICE

Exclusive Club

I thought of this Droodle last night while I was playing poker over at the Schwine Kiltzinger. I thought, Mrs. Schwine always runs the game and she suddenly insisted that I turn in my chips. I objected, but she said I had to abide by the House Rules or turn in my chips. I said, "I'm sure that there is in the mind and consciousness of each one of us a degree of sensitivity to the truth, that there is a broad range of attitudes, ranging from a complete faith in Christ Jesus as we receive Him as our Saviour from sin and a power in daily living. He is the gate. He is the door which God has appointed that men might gain the right perspective in life."

Patner, except by the way of the Cross of Christ and all that it signifies. The gate to the abundant life is here and now and in all eternity is "The Way of the Cross." This way to life is found by personal faith in Christ Jesus as we receive Him as our Saviour from sin and a power in daily living. He is the gate. He is the door which God has appointed that men might gain the right perspective in life."

'Way of Cross' Sermon Topic of Melvin Peterson

Melvin T. Peterson, assistant to the pastor at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, delivered the Sunday morning sermon yesterday, using the theme, "The Way of the Cross, for his topic.

"There is a dualism that is mentioned throughout Scripture," he said, "the saved and the unsaved, the righteous and the unrighteous, life and death. The Bible speaks about a narrow way, a narrow way, Jesus said, 'Enter ye in by the narrow gate for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction and many are they that enter thereby. For narrow is the gate and straitened the way that leadeth unto life, and few are they that find it.'"

"I am sure that there is in the mind and consciousness of each one of us a degree of sensitivity to the truth, that there is a broad range of attitudes, ranging from a complete faith in Christ Jesus as we receive Him as our Saviour from sin and a power in daily living. He is the gate. He is the door which God has appointed that men might gain the right perspective in life."

Dodd Sees Nasser Embracing Reds

Stonington, Aug. 6 (AP)—Asserting that Egyptian President Nasser has embraced the "Bulgarian-Schwarzhof-Clovis" social axis, Rep. Thomas Dodd said the United States should cut off its aid to Egypt and increase its aid to Israel.

Dodd, who is opposing incumbent Sen. Prescott Bush (R) in the Senate race, told New London county demonstrators that for a year he had warned Congress against the "explosive situation" which has developed in the Middle East.

"I don't believe in a policy of assisting those who openly defy us and sign themselves with the Communist bloc, while we leave our friends and defenders in lurch alone and unaided," Dodd said.

"He said the attitude of the Eisenhower administration on the situation could be described as 'bare in our terms.'"

Dodd few here after addressing another Democratic group at Stonington.

Pratt & Whitney European Tour Takes to Air

There are many Manchester faces among this group that left for a 3-week tour of Europe yesterday as part of the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Club tour. They were assigned to the second flight that departed from Rensselaer Field in East Hartford aboard the chartered Flying Tiger Line Lockheed Constellation. The group will take side trips to visit with relatives in native lands and rejoin the group for the return flight on Aug. 17 from Paris. (Herald Photo by Onara.)

Firemen Prepare For Lawn Party

The Ellington Fire Department's annual lawn party will be held September 8 to 9. A drawing for three prizes will be held in connection with the party. Prizes will be a portable radio, a 14 inch television and an upright freezer. Tickets will be on sale this week.

Potato Diggers Needed

Potato growers who will require help for harvest should meet next Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Ellington Town Hall. John H. Elliott, county agricultural agent, urged this past week.

The Potato Labor Committee has reported that because of the late shade tobacco harvest, labor may be hard to obtain. The committee includes Thomas LaChance, Joseph DeCarli, and Harold Ellsworth.

William Clark from the State Employment Service and Fox Croby of the Shade Growers Association will attend the Thursday meeting to take sign-up cards. Should be prepared to order the number of workers they will need and when the need will be, Elliott said.

Holstein Set Record

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America in Brattleboro, Vt., has announced the completion of official production records for registered Holstein cows owned by Hoffman Brothers of Ellington. A record average of 27 quarts a day for 361 days tested was made by Bill Sprague's Black Bar, a 6-year-old, with a total of 20,921 pounds of milk and 700 pounds of butterfat.

Man to Death

A man stung to death by a hornet and a woman who took a dose of the wrong medicine were among four persons killed in accidents in Connecticut during the weekend.

The victim of the wrong medicine was a 16-year-old bride, Mrs. Linette Sanders of Portland, who died yesterday in a Middletown Hospital.

Police said Mrs. Sanders and her mother, Mrs. Willie Walker, had identical appearing bottles of medicine, but Mrs. Walker's medicine was a liniment, intended for external use while that of Mrs. Sanders was a preparation to be taken internally.

Mrs. Sanders mistook her mother's medicine for her own, police said.

A special project by Dr. Vladimir Walters, research at the Office of Naval Research at the American Museum of Natural History, will investigate the metabolic efficiency of large, fast-swimming marine fishes.

Alexander Yuhos, 52, a municipal public works department worker, met death while clearing a play area Saturday for his two grandchildren in the back yard of his home in Norwalk. He distributed a hornet's nest and died within half an hour after hundreds of the insects stung him.

A car which police said apparently was traveling fast, hit a tree in Bloomfield Saturday, killing Mrs. Katherine Robinson, 43, Hartford, a passenger, and critically injuring the driver, Woodrow Ledbetter, 40, Hartford, a brother of Mrs. Robinson's brother-in-law.

Another traffic victim was Francis J. Margerson, 55, Bridgeport, killed in that city Saturday. Police said that while crossing Fairfield Ave., he stepped off the sidewalk and into the path of a car driven by Joseph Long Jr., 35, also of Bridgeport.

Challenges Premier To Keep Promises

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower called on Soviet Premier Bulganin today to demonstrate a "new spirit" and eradicate "evils" in international relations which Eisenhower said have survived the Kremlin's down-with-Stalin moves.

Brushing aside Russia's newest disarmament proposals, Eisenhower said bluntly he is "greatly disturbed by the developments which have occurred since we met at Geneva" at the summit conference a year ago.

In a personal letter to the Soviet leader, Eisenhower challenged him to "do more to realize the hopes" born at the summit conference, especially to keep pledges about German unification "which desperately need to be fulfilled."

In that connection Eisenhower gave short shrift to a Bulganin proposal for withdrawal of foreign troops from Germany.

The Soviet Premier advanced that idea in a letter to Eisenhower June 8 along with a plan for individual cuts in national armaments without the inspection and verification system on which this country insists.

Bulganin called the plan a "new approach" to get disarmament going.

Army Will Get 17,000 Men in October Draft

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Defense Department today issued a draft call for 17,000 men in October—all for the Army.

This is the largest monthly draft since last December's 18,000. However, that included 8,000 for the Army and 10,000 for the Navy.

The draft call is the largest since May 1952. The Army now has 3,000 more than announced for September.

The Army is now the only service resorting to the draft. For a 10-month period during the Korean War the Marine Corps drafted 61,430 men, but has taken 800 for the Army since May 1952.

The new call will bring to 101,500 the total number of men drafted or carried for induction since the suspension of Selective Service in September 1950.
