 Spencer, W. Va. — Business has been so bad for the past few years at Route County's community center that School Supt. Alan W. Morford issued a public warning it was too close because of poor patronage.

That did it. Business now is so bad the cannery is open twice as often as before and Morford says it will soon be paying its own way if the boom continues.

 The history of the bygone battle in France in the 18th Century. At that time a small dagger called a "Bayonet" was popular and was used to open wine bottles and Frenchmen. Later it was adopted as a weapon by all armies and was used extensively during each of the wars we've had to end all wars. Today, however, the bayonet is considered old-fashioned because experts have invented more deadly weapons such as the flame thrower, the machine gun and the sports car. This sort of make an orphan out of the bayonet, but infantry soldiers still carry them and find them useful for trimming whiskers on a bivouac or for toasting K-ration Weenies.

Twisting The Story
 It is possible to sympathize fully with the popular image of President Eisenhower the peacemaker. But it is impossible to approve some of the contentions of fact and logic which are included in Stevenson's effort.

Lately, he has been assailing the Republican claim that Eisenhower made peace in Korea. He says that it was not Eisenhower but Stalin, who brought peace in Korea, and that Stalin did it by dying. He says, further, that the basis for peace in Korea, when it came, was "on no better terms than the Communists turned down under Truman. It is no more than to date shows that the outcome of the Poman riots has been vastly different from the outcome of the East German riots three years before. That demonstration of restlessness under Communism had the tragic result of producing a peace which had been taken place under Truman.

 The key function of the United Nations handling of the Suez crisis is expected to perform in that of saving face.

The search for a formula which will do that is now going on in secret meetings of the Security Council, in which the various nations involved can explore "point-to-point" solutions without formal public commitment.

The open preliminary to these secret sessions were relatively hopeful. Russia was mild; Egypt was mild; the United States was mild. Even Britain and France weren't as tough as they might have liked to be.

Now, in the secret negotiations, the question is whether Britain and France can be brought to acceptance of some formula which provides sufficient guarantees about future international use of the Canal without giving Britain and France any particular victory over Russia.

$10 Million Set To Reconstruct Norwalk Center

Norwalk, Oct. 10 (Special)—Less than 20 years ago floods wrecked $10 million worth of property here, and already a $10 million face-lifting for the business center is planned. The big flood came Oct. 15, last year.

Yesterday the modernization plan was announced by the Norwalk Development Agency.

It includes plans for the city to buy 100 flood-damaged properties for a total of $4.5 million. They will be demolished and the cleared lots sold to developers for $800,000.

The $3,800,000 loss will be paid for in this way: two-thirds by the federal government, under the urban renewal program; one-sixth by the state under its flood aid program; and one-sixth by the city.

Private capital will carry out the building program, improving the 22 acres by wiping out sub-standard stores and dwellings, some dating back to the civil war. Modern buildings, with streets and parking space for 1,000 cars will take their place.

Andover Board Names Mrs. Sprengle Part-Time School Librarian

Andover, Oct. 10 (Special)—The board of education voted last night to hire Mrs. Joyce Sprengle as part-time librarian for the Andover Elementary School. Mrs. Sprengle will be employed for the equivalent of one day per week.

She holds a bachelor of library science degree in work with children from Carnegie Library School in Pittsburgh. In addition, she will be required to take education courses for certification by the State.

Mrs. Sprengle was one of the principal organizers of the Andover school library under the direction of Mrs. Doris E. Chamberlain, school principal in 1954. During the first year, circulation figures were estimated at 790. Last year the circulation figure reached a peak of 3,345 books read by elementary school children, with an increase of 1,171 over the 1954-55 figure of 1,624.

The substantial increase in use of the library was a factor in the board's decision to hire a part-time librarian. A school librarian was recommended by Mrs. Francis Minor, chairman of the PTA library committee, in a report submitted last February.

Last year volunteers operated the library under a weekly program of 11 half-hour class periods, and four reference periods of one hour each. The program is to be continued under the present arrangement to meet with 10 class periods, reading one book and one story-telling.

Those who are interested should contact Mrs. Chamberlain until such time as formation of the PTA library committee is completed and a chairman appointed.

In other business, the board advanced Guy Dutton, Grade 4 teacher, to the 4-year level on the salary schedule, after notification that he has received credit for his doctorate from Boston University.

Paul Donahue, outside maintenance chairman, was asked to look into the possibility of providing change and posts for the bus turnaround which would reduce the hazard of children playing in traffic areas.

The board was informed that installation of a water conditioner and softener system would be completed today. Funds project were approved at a recent Town Meeting.

The monthly meeting was begun a half hour early, and a regular time for amending and revising existing school board policies was completed last night.

Further work is expected to be done on policies relating to curriculum, custodian and town-relationship, according to a report by Chairman Bernard J. Hudak.

Prospective new hunters must take a hunter safety instruction course before they can be issued a license.

Further information may be obtained from the office of Town Clerk Ellsworth Covell, Hebron Rd.

Meeting Tonight The Mothers' Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Andrew Gasper, Hebron Rd.

Names Presented Set Mrs. John Hutchinson is the Andover Grange representative to the Square Dance Festival sponsored by the East Central-Pomona Grange, to be held tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the Manchester Shopping Parkade.

Local residents are invited to join in the festival, she said, and she urged local Grange members to enter the pumpkin-pie baking contest.

Costume awards will be made in two divisions: Teenagers, and those 20 years and over. Awards will begin at 8:30 p.m., preceded by a program including the Manchester Pipe Band.

Coventry Democrats Ask GOP To Back Road Plan

Coventry, Oct. 10 (Special)—Democrats, once again, "beating the drum" against the Republican Party, have invited GOP leaders to make a public statement on their standing regarding a Democratic proposal to organize a town highway department under a "qualified superintendent of roads."

In a letter signed by Albert Rose, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, and the two candidates for the General Assembly, Stephen Loxton and Mrs. Mildred C. Hillier, support by "all good Republicans" is asked.

The letter, addressed to GOP Town Committee Chairman John F. Chappelle, pointed out that the non-partisan matter, which should be supported by all voters interested in "sound business administration of the town's road program."

Contacted today, Chappelle said as he had previously advocated such a road department, he saw no reason to change his position "and will give my personal support to such a change."

Democrats included a plank in their platform calling for organization of a town highway department. "In our opinion, this is a much-needed reform in our town government," said the letter.

"Many good Republicans have expressed their approval of and support for this measure. It was therefore, rather disappointing to learn that your platform did not include our proposal," the Democrats told Republicans.

They added that the issue should be non-partisan and "should command the support of all voters."

Chappelle said today "At this time I cannot speak for the Republican Town Committee" regarding the issue. "But I will take the letter up with them for consideration at a meeting tomorrow."

"From my own personal standpoint, it must be remembered that as an individual running for nomination for office of first selectman in 1963, I proposed a similar change in town government."

"I see no reason at this time to alter the position I took in 1955 and will give my personal support to such a change."

At present, the town road system is under the supervision of First Selectman Goodwin W. Jackson, a Republican.

MMH a Public Trust Created to Benefit All

(Editor's note: This is the start of a series of articles published by the Manchester Herald as a public service to give readers a better understanding of hospital practice general and Manchester Memorial Hospital in particular.)

Manchester Memorial Hospital is a public trust created 37 years ago by a group of civic-minded citizens for the benefit of the people of Manchester, and surrounding communities.

Throughout the long years of unintermitted service to the man, woman and child who needed and sought its care, the high purpose for its existence has always been the guiding spirit of the members of the board of trustees in whose hands rests the final responsibility for its proper function and operation.

Reflected Vital Need
Reflecting the real and vital need of the community for an adequate and up-to-date hospital at all times, the original organizers of Manchester Memorial Hospital clearly defined in its constitution the four principles that were to determine the hospital's future course.

They are: 1. "To establish and maintain facilities for persons suffering from illness or disabilities which require hospital care." 2. "To carry on educational activities and scientific research related to the care of the sick and injured." 3. "To participate as circumstances may warrant in activities designed to promote the general health of the community." 4. "To operate as a nonprofit organization and solely for the benefit of its patients and the community."

The original trustees of the hospital recognized the importance of these principles through bitter experience. Sickness and disaster uniformly strike where least expected. Manchester proved to be no exception to the rule. When the influenza epidemic of 1918 struck our town without a hospital and, therefore, wholly unprepared, the necessity to organize and build a hospital was dramatically emphasized.

Incorporated in 1919, Manchester Memorial Hospital was incorporated by authority of the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut. The following 28 men and women from Manchester were the original incorporators:

Frank H. Anderson, R. LaMotte Russell, Sarah Griffin Cheney, Agnes M. Pinnegan, Horace B. Cheney, N. B. Richards, Fred A. Verplanck, George H. Miller, F. J. Randall, Edward R. Egan, H. Rich, Fred H. Wall, William S. Hyde, Charles E. House, Lawrence W. Case, William J. McGuirk, Frank Cheney Jr., Frank D. Cheney, William C. Cheney, Arthur E. Bowers, Howard J. Taylor, W. H. Cook, Thomas J. Quirk, David H. Howland, Charles E. Hessegrave and Christopher Glenney.

In the meantime, a committee, including Miss Mary Cheney and Mrs. Maxine Case Crowell, and under the chairmanship of C. B. Moore Watkins, investigated building and operating costs. A public campaign followed in May of that year.

The immediate response of the people showed that they recognized their responsibility of sharing in the hospital building program. Within a short time, thousands of them had oversubscribed the original objective of the fund by $45,000.

In 1940, 1945 and again in 1950, the same remarkable civic sense of responsibility and advanced ideas that there is no investment like an investment in the health protection of the community was shown by the people of Manchester and her sister town.

On each of these occasions, the expansion and modernization of the hospital became an absolute necessity to take care of the growing needs of our fast-growing area.

On Dec. 15, 1920, Manchester Memorial Hospital was formally opened and began its many years of continuous service to the community which has, again and again, proved the wisdom of its founders and justified their overwhelming public support.

Of the original members of the Board of Trustees, only three still are among us to guide the hospital which their labor of love helped to create and develop: Mr. Watkins, who as president is executive officer of the board, Mr. Crowell and Mrs. Forlack, who were made secretary-treasurers in 1949 after 25 years of devoted service.

As deaths and resignations created vacancies, they have been filled at each succeeding annual meeting by men and women who have successfully perpetuated the humane tradition of their predecessors. Their number is legion.

Other members of the present board are: Elnor A. Welton, vice-president, Miss Julie P. White, secretary, Mrs. William R. Tinker, Dr. Raymond W. Gossel, Judge William J. Shea, Jacob Miller, Howell Cheney, Robert E. Hathaway, Matthew St. Mortary, Thomas Bentley, John D. LaBelle, Jay E. Rand, Fred J. Berdall, Mrs. Cain L. Mahoney, Sidney Ellis, Charles K. Burn, Miss Anna C. Sampson, Mrs. Clarence H. Wickham, Mrs. Robert V. Russell and Clarence H. Anderson. The Manchester Trust Co. is treasurer of the hospital.

Contrary to the belief of some people, the members of the Board of Trustees do not receive remuneration of any kind for their services. All their efforts are made freely in the interest of the people served by the hospital.

Their sole objective is to preserve the public health in our community by maintaining the highest standards and to see to it that the hospital keeps pace with the advances of modern medicine and the needs of the community.

Helping them in the attainment of this goal are the many professional, administrative and executive staffs who are necessary in a modern hospital with its specialized departments to make sure of having doctors with the highest skill, equipment, the material and the complex equipment required for them to care for their patients.

Mutual problems of this three-fold partnership are resolved by the joint executive committee of which the professional secretary of the Board of Trustees, the hospital administrator, the administrator and secretary of the medical staff are members.

Their joint efforts, both in the past and in the present, have made it possible for all of us to have a hospital that is second to none in communities comparable to Manchester. "In a very real sense," Mr. Watkins said in a recent interview, "Manchester Memorial Hospital, which was dedicated as a living memorial to the men and women of Manchester who served their country in World War I, is also living evidence of the spirit of our community. It bears witness to the many people who, either as corporate or as private citizens have always done their best to ensure adequate health protection for their families and neighbors by supporting Manchester Memorial Hospital."

ABANDON TUNNEL
Butte, Mont., (AP)—The 66-year-old Homestake Tunnel through the hospital building in Butte has been abandoned by the Northern Pacific Railway. The 582-foot tunnel 11 miles southeast of the mining city was replaced by a half-million-dollar open cut.

A sensational attempted train robbery and attempted in the tunnel May 7, 1907. Three men were sent to Montana Prison for killing the conductor and wounding a fireman in the hold-up attempt.

The tunnel was abandoned because of high maintenance costs and the danger of falling rocks.

Hal Boyle City of Future Seen Jaywalker's Heaven

New York (AP)—Typewriter talk. What can be done to keep traffic from choking to death the centers of America's big cities? Hal Boyle, a distinguished architect, has a simple but revolutionary solution — ban all automobiles from downtown areas and restore the streets to the pedestrians. Gruen predicts this will happen by the end of the century.

"I predict that by the year 2000, and maybe a little before," he said, "it will be considered just as foolish to take vehicles into the interiors of business centers as we feel today it's peculiar to drive a truck into a living room."

"Cars need 20 times as much space as people do, and their habit is higher. The time seems not far off when unless countermeasures are taken, people would be better off to move out and leave the cities to the mechanical monsters."

Gruen, designer of Northland at Detroit, one of the world's largest shopping centers, has been retained by the Greater Fort Worth Planning Committee to redesign the entire downtown area of that city for the next 10 years.

One of his proposals: Putting service and delivery traffic in the 300-acre business district underground and banning passenger vehicles from surface areas.

Pedestrians would have the streets entirely to themselves except for slow-moving electric shuttles for the ill, the crippled — and the downright lazy.

Sound's like Jaywalker's heaven. The heart of the city would be converted into a pleasant business and residential area with plenty of trees, fountains, gardens and arcades. One fashionable street in the shopping center would be roofed over and completely air-conditioned.

Buses would penetrate into the Pedestrian Paradise at three points. No building in the business center would be more than a 6-minute walk to a ring of 30,000-car garages that would be served by helicopters for flying commuters.

The cost of such a civic change-over would, of course, be fantastic. But Gruen optimistically believes

Bitter Cold Of '55 Hurt Wine Output

By ANDREW BOROWICZ
Paris (AP)—Last winter's bitter cold—the most severe to hit Europe in a long time—will hurt many years hence in the world's wine cellars.

But French wine exporters and government experts do not appear particularly alarmed. After all, they say, the French wine industry has survived many bad seasons and this one is not the worst.

"No official figure" are yet available on this year's crop. A cold, rainy summer delayed the wine harvest about three weeks. It was September 20 that finally tipped the grapes and permitted wine growers to start their annual "vendange."

Unofficial estimates, however, say this year's wine production in France will be cut about 6 to 7 million hectolitres (129-140 million U.S. gallons) . . . or one tenth of the country's average output.

Prices May Higher.

The winter's ravages and fear of poor crop had sent wine prices up about 20 per cent earlier in the year. Later, however, expectations of a fair harvest in the Burgundy, Champagne and Alsace regions helped steady the market. Nevertheless, wine prices this year are between 10 to 15 per cent higher.

Hard hit by snowstorms and frost was the Bordeaux region, largest wine-producing area of France. About a third of the region's vineyards were destroyed. Wine producers admit that the quality of this year's Bordeaux will be a "little worse."

It will take at least three years before some winter-ravaged Bordeaux vineyards start producing again. Will not be replaced by Bore, and some bidders quoted on only a few.

Included is gymnasium equipment such as bars, boxes, scales, horses, hucks, volleyball standards, mats; swimming pool equipment such as a diving stand, buoys, fins, water safety equipment; badminton and tennis materials; baseball and softball equipment; track and field equipment such as discus, putting, shot-put, archery materials; table tennis supplies; and miscellaneous equipment such as timers, tapes, inflectors, and fly casting rods.

Skywatch Post located on top of Manchester Police Station. Volunteers may register at Civil Defense Headquarters, Municipal Building, Manchester on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday from 1-5 p.m.

Wine exporters hope to increase shipments from the Champagne and Burgundy regions to offset any Bordeaux shortages. Although it is said that Champagne and Burgundy suffered comparatively little from last winter's frost, wine growers were disturbed by a government report on Beauplais—a popular red Burgundy table wine. It said the alcohol content in this year's Beauplais was very weak and unless the weather changes, the harvest could be one of the worst in recent years.

U.S. Future Market

French wine exporters are looking to the United States as a "quality wines market of the future."

Although rating fifth in the volume of purchases of French Wines, the United States in 1955 was third in value of its wine imports. At the same time, the United States was the leading purchaser of French alcoholic products, including brandies and liquors.

The United States also is the most important buyer of champagne, consuming about a fifth of France's champagne exports.

Generally, however, French wine experts feel the average American

Miss Jaspers 'Still Upset'

New Haven, Oct. 10 (AP)—Blindfolded, Virginia Jaspers is still too upset to tell her lawyers what she told police when they arrested her on charges of shaking two babies to death.

The 21-year-old blonde baby attendant, her lawyers said, is still too "emotionally upset, too incoherent and unstable" to tell them.

They finished arguments yesterday in an effort to get Superior Court Judge William J. Shea to let Miss Jaspers be scheduled to appear in court Tuesday, when her trial on manslaughter charges

Hattin-Custer Wedding

Allan bouquets of mixed white flowers and palms decorated the Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Miss Dora A. Custer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Custer of Westfield St., became the bride of Eugene Edmund Hattin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Hattin of East Hartford. The Rev. Kenneth C. Brantiff officiated at the double ring ceremony. Traditional bridal music was provided by Miss Marjorie Dreyer of Oxford St., Hartford, soloist, and Ivan Beckwith of Pratt St., Glastonbury organist. Miss Dreyer sang "The Day of Golden Promise" and "Oh Perfect Love."

Escorted to the altar and presented in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in ivory satin, styled with a Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice with long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists, and a beautiful skirt of soft pleats terminating in a full train. Her veil of fingertip illusion was arranged from a headband of pleated ivory satin with lace applique. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. William S. Beaton Jr. of White Rock Dr., Wilson, attended her sister as matron of honor and Miss Carol A. Schubert of Summer St. was maid of honor. The bride's cousins, Miss Louise Marie Becker of Norwich and Miss Kathleen Custer of Hillside St., were bridesmaids.

Harry Jones of Waterford was best man, and ushering the guests were Duane Heck of Hartford, William S. Beaton Jr. and the bride's cousin, Karl E. Becker of Norwich.

The honor attendants chose gowns of tangerine silk. The bride wore a long, flowing, high-collared gown with a full skirt. The bridesmaids wore similar dresses in Grotto blue satin, with matching pleated headbands.

The mother of the bride selected a gown of cocoa brown rose point lace over beige tulle, with coral and dark brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue, with matching blue accessories. Both mothers wore a corsage of Talcott roses.

A reception followed at the Italian American Club after which the couple left for a wedding trip North. The bride dressed for travel in a winter white suit with brown accessories and a corsage of garnet roses. They will reside in this town.

Miss Hattin was graduated from Manchester High School and attended the University of Connecticut. She is woman's club editor at the Hartford Courant. Mr. Hattin was graduated from Glastonbury High School in 1949 and served with the Eighth Army in Korea. He is assistant manager of the advertising layout and dispatch department of the Courant.

HOUSES OUT POLLEN COUNT
The Moines Co., extensive housing developments since World War II are cutting down on the airborne pollen that cause Des Moines hay fever sufferers their worst agony each year.

The count has been going down each year in Des Moines, says Dean Cyril Benton of the Drake University college of pharmacy.

"I think part of the reason is that extensive building projects in the city now occupy vacant lots where ragweed and other pollen producing plants grew."

Strong-Whitney
The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Ann Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Whitney, 22 Alexander St., and Donald Spaulding Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight S. Strong, 71 Mountfort St., Boston, Mass., took place at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in the chapel of the Arlington St. Church, Boston. Officiating clergyman at the double ring candlelight ceremony were Dr. Duane McLean Greely, minister of the church and the Rev. David B. Parker, minister of the Unitarian Church at Peterborough, N. H., brother in law of the bridegroom. Chapel decorations were white chrysanthemums, gladioli and pompanos. The bride's music was played by John B. Woodworth, church organist.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballroom-length gown of white Italian silk, fashioned on princess lines, with scoop neckline finished with motifs of imported lace. A cap of matching lace held her shoulder-length veil in place, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and lily.

The maid of honor, Miss Janet A. Whitney, 22 Alexander St., sister of the bride, was attired in a gown of emerald green crystalite, with matching tulle. She carried a cascade of yellow spelt carnations and lily.

Karl-Dan Sorenson of Boston was best man, and ushers were Robert L. Whitney of Fresh Meadows, N. Y., brother of the bride, and G. Robert Hoehler of Boston. Mrs. Whitney wore a sheath dress of Monaco blue tulle and a corsage of sweetheart roses, and Mrs. Strong wore a sheath dress of mink brown crepe and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony...

Making You-and-No Lists
"My mother just won't let me do anything," a 15-year-old girl writes in a letter to the column. That is a common cry from teenagers hurrying to grow up. Yet each teenager feels it his or her problem alone.

I would like to suggest to the writer of this letter, and to any other teenager who feels his parents are more strict than anybody else's a little exercise in accounting.

For one month on one sheet of paper list everything you have permission to do. This should include shows you attend, ball games you go to, parties your mother okay's, friends you have over to spend the night and all the rest of the "plus" items.

Put down every single thing you are allowed to do that you want to do. Then on another sheet of paper put down the things you wanted to do but which weren't permitted. Be fair on this list, putting down only those things you honestly think you should have been allowed to do. Don't list any crazy ideas you didn't even hope your parents would agree to.

Completed Lists May Contain a Surprise
Then at the end of the month look at the two lists. It may come as a great shock to you to find that you have actually been allowed to do a great many more things than you were prevented from doing.

The average teenager, allowed to do nine things out of any 10, forgets about the nine and walls himself to do a great many more things than he actually is allowed to do.

If it should turn out that your "No" list is larger than your "Yes" list—which isn't likely—just showing the lists to your parents may convince them they actually are being too quick to say "No."

NEW... from Du Pont
ONE-COAT HOUSE PAINT

☆ Cuts repainting costs!
☆ Stays dazzling white for years!

For a beautiful paint job at a real saving in cost, use the new Du Pont "41" One-Coat House Paint. You get double economy—because it combines exceptional hiding and excellent durability, all in one coat. It's specially made for one-coat coverage over previously painted surfaces that are in good condition, or on new, primed wood.

Your house will stay dazzling white for years, too—because Du Pont One-Coat White is self-cleaning! Due to a unique blend of pigments and oils, it actually cleans itself under normal exposure to sun, rain, and weather... provided, of course, that dense shade or excessive accumulations of dust and soot do not retard this self-cleaning process.

Come in to see us. We'll be glad to give you free literature on "how to paint," help you with your painting problems or recommend a reliable painting contractor.

Sense and Nonsense

This is how the editor of a paper in China declared a manuscript: "Illustrious brother of the sun and moon! Look upon the slave who rolls at thy feet; who kisses the earth before thee, and demands of thy charity permission to speak and live. We have read the manuscript with delight. By the bones of our ancestors we swear that never before have we encountered such a masterpiece. Should we print it, his majesty the emperor would order us to take it as a criterion and never again print anything which was not equal to it. As a law requiring every female in ten thousand years, all tremblingly we return the manuscript and beg thee ten thousand pardons. See—my head is at thy feet, and I am the slave of thy servant.

CARNIVAL

Teach your youngsters the way to keep risk out of play. They are angels—but heaven can wait.
Friend—When the judge ruled that Calver had to pay alimony, how did he feel about it?
Attorney—Chagrined.
Friend—And how did his wife feel about it?
Attorney—She grinned.
