Stories Conflict On Shooting in Gulf of Mexico

Tampico, Mexico, Nov. 14 (AP)—Mexican Coast Guardsmen and Texas shrimp fishermen tell conflicting stories of the latest shooting incident in the Gulf of Mexico. The Mexicans charge the Texans fishing in their territorial waters, the Texans deny it.

Capt. Tom Wilson of the shrimp boat Pescadora, wounded by rifle fire from a Mexican cutter in the frigate Monday, was reported in good condition in a hospital here. He may be flown home to Brownsville, Tex., today.

Lightly Wounded

U.S. Consul George D. Whittington said Wilson suffered "a light wound" and would be "up and around in a few days."

A formal hearing was to be held today to determine if the Pescadora and its two other crewmen should be seized and tried or released immediately.

Mexican officials did not seem inclined to push the case too far. An informed official source said he

Rockville Chamber Reports On Membership

Rockville, Nov. 14 (Special)—A total of $488 in membership fees has been collected from manufacturers and the automobile and transportation groups, according to Mrs. Myrtle Pierre, chairman of the new Chamber of Commerce group organization committee.

Commenting on the "wait and see" attitude, Schwedel urged residents to join the Chamber now, adding, "those who wait until next year may not be able to join; there just won't be room for them."

Dangerous Second Thoughts

Various parties are having dangerous second thoughts in the Near East crisis. Unless they give them up, they can still lead the world into full scale war, a war which is as tangled and basically senseless as its results would be tragic.

The second thoughts are all concerned with efforts to win the war. The United Nations has so far succeeded in stopping it. If these efforts to achieve symbolic victory in the war which has been halted do not cease, the war itself will be revived.

One of the parties having these second thoughts is Naaser. He has survived the obvious object of the British and French attack on him, which was to drive him out of power. He is now under not only the symbolic protection of the United Nations, but also he has the immortal moral support of Russia. He is, then, feeling better than he was when he was being soundly trounced by the military force of the three nations which attacked Egypt. As one British spokesman complained bitterly, Naaser is acting as if he were the one who won the war. The immediate factual punch of this is that he is not in as much of a hurry for a United Nations police force as he was a few days ago, and impossible conditions for his operations.

There is nothing wrong with these conditions from the point of view of United Nations votes on the subject, which led to Egypt's territory had been violated by foreign troops which had only one right thing to do, which was to get out.

But Britain and France are also having second thoughts. In their second thoughts, they are going back to their original objective, which were to humble Naaser and grab the Suez Canal. They are trying to act, now, as if they had won the war, and as if they had become bosses of the situation instead of the nations ordered by the United Nations to get out. Consequently, they are also quarreling with the nature of the prospective United Nations police force operation, and trying to dictate to the United Nations how that operation should proceed. They want it to proceed as if they, the British and French, had themselves been the champions of law in Egypt, and as if the United Nations were merely coming along to achieve their own original objectives. They want the United Nations, and the United States in particular, to proceed as if they, the British and French, had themselves been the champions of law in Egypt, and as if the United Nations were merely coming along to achieve their own original objectives. They want the United Nations, and the United States in particular, to forget the original nature of their act, and condone it.

In this second thought strategy, they advance a powerful argument to the United States in particular. They say that if we don't back them, Soviet Russia will become the dominant nation in the Near East area. They say we must side with them, in order to force Russia back out of the situation.

To all this, the answer is simple. The only way to be sure of avoiding world war is to remove all possible pretense for Russian action. And the only way to do this is to get British and French troops out of the United Nations police force in, immediately.

Tomorrow Night's Vote

We suspect that most of the fire has gone out of the issue of consolidation of our fire departments, and that what is left is mostly smoke and embers from a decision already under control in the minds of most Manchester voters and property owners. We will not be surprised, at any rate, if the vote at tomorrow night's South Manchester meeting is in favor of consolidation. And if it is not in favor tomorrow night, it will be before very long, anyway, at both ends of town.

The issue has been argued out in Manchester for at least 30 years. During this long discussion, the nature of the pros and cons has not changed, but the circumstances have changed, and they have changed so much that it is no longer a question of how to merge the old and the new, or what we would like to see, or what we would like to get, or what we would like to keep and preserve. It has become a question of what we have to do. Circumstances, not we, are shaping necessary community policy.

Many of us may do wish Manchester still had all the village charm, the village institutions, the village-size problems it had when we were born here, or when we came here. Many of us do not like it, as we are crowded and jostled out of our old ways and into a newer and perhaps better but often less satisfying mode of existence. There is even something nostalgic and appealing about the rivalries and jealousies of yesterday, now so tame and so faded.

But we have less choice in these things than we may think or want. We are what we are. We shall not recapture any sentimental yesterday through the artificial perpetuation of anachronisms. Unpleasant though it may be for some, we have to fit our institutions and services to what we are. If these things are of time-tomorrow night, or some other close tomorrow.

Toward The Fatted Calf

Recriminations are no good, and there should be no "I told you so" elements, or demand for open recrimination, in the policy of the United States toward its enemies. We do not believe in blind anger, even when it calls itself righteous indignation, toward even our enemies. Our policy should be to keep our friends our friends, and welcome our friends back after they have taken disastrous walks on us, and make friends of our enemies, too, if that can be honorably done.

But before the United States passes into this somewhat sanctified behavior, a few ironies must be stated. A headline from Israel says that nation now believes the United States alone now stands between it and total destruction by the Soviet Union. Two weeks ago that nation scored an urgent appeal from President Eisenhower for aid. It was a plea for a Big Three conference immediately, with President Eisenhower. Only solidarity, with us, it is said, left France out of the Big Three, and France which is so "blundered."

The quest for a Big Three conference with President Eisenhower is no less urgent in Lebanon, where it would seem to be the only thing that might give Prime Minister Eden a chance of continuing in power.

Two weeks ago both these nations were acting, in secrecy, behind our backs, and their act came out into the open, boasting that they had cut themselves loose from us. "We will act," Eden told Commons, "with or without the approval of the United States."

They were bound, then, by solemn agreement, to consult with us, and did not. Now they can't wait to get together with us. They are our friends, and we are not so pure we need read them any more of a lecture than events themselves have read to them. But it does remind us of the old complaint of Republicans under some phases of Democratic foreign policy, when the Republicans maintained that, in a truly bipartisan arrangement, they should be let in on the making of policy and not merely its execution.

All this being said, let us make ready the fatted calf of understanding and future friendship on a more solid base.

This Broodle, suggested by Rem Bianchi of Grand Rapids, Mich., should be a reminder to all of you readers to finish any unfinished business that you may have lying around. For instance, get that appointment with your psychiatrist, before it's too late. Get your other shoe re-soled. Punch your boss in the nose. Try your best to know about the weather forecast, so a De Moines younger man to watch all of a Charles Chan movie. Write that threatening letter to the Internal Revenue Dept. that you've been putting off. Get a haircut and have that crack repaired in your front tire. And there's one more small bit of business you could finish that would make me very happy. Try reading all of this column for a change.

Mamie Marks 60th Birthday; Dinner Planned

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower turned 60 today and a family dinner was planned at the White House to celebrate the occasion.

Otherwise, the first lady's birthday shared up as a quiet one, although she had a date to pose for pictures with representatives of the national Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon.

The citizens group arranged to present Mrs. Eisenhower with a life-size portrait of herself in the pink inaugural ball gown she wore in 1953.

She also planned to take pictures with her mother, Mrs. John Sheldon Doud of Denver, and her sister, Mrs. George Gordon Moore, Ma, John Eisenhower, the only son of the President, and the first lady, who was expected to attend the birthday dinner along with her wife, Barbara, and their four small children.

Mrs. Doud, 74, and Mrs. Moore, 68, and other relatives of the Eisenhower family were invited.

Last year, the formal celebration of Mrs. Eisenhower's birthday was delayed four months because the President then was recuperating from a heart attack.

It was not held until March 23 when the highlight was a nationally televised program of her favorite tunes.

Mrs. Eisenhower was born at Boone, Iowa, in 1896. She and the President have been married 40 years.

45 Bus Drivers Ask to Buy Firm

Hartford, Nov. 14 (AP)—Forty-five bus drivers want to buy the New England Transportation Co. to save their jobs.

A company spokesman said the bus drivers' union had made overtures to buy the company, but they are only in preliminary stages.

The company is asking the State Public Utility Commission to let it cut 21 daily round trips from the schedule.

Hollis Coy, assistant controller of the New Haven Railroad, which runs the bus company, said the routes have lost six cents a mile since Jan. 1. He said the company has been in the red since 1954.

The PUC continued the hearing indefinitely. Three hundred bus passengers have signed petitions protesting the plan to drop the trips.

The company wants to cut its 12 daily round trips between Hartford and New Haven, six and eliminate one daily round trip on these runs: Hartford-Springfield; Hartford-Waterbury; Hartford-Worthington-Winsted; Waterbury-Winsted; and New Haven-Waterbury.

Two Cypriots Shot by Police Gunmen

Nicosia, Cyprus, Nov. 14 (AP)—Cyprus authorities today announced the killing of two Greek Cypriots in a suspected rebel plot as they tried to escape and the other by unknown gunmen.

The rebel suspect had been seized during a recent British drive on the island, and was being held in a police mobile camp at Xeros, on the island's north coast.

The other victim was Andreas Pappas, a 34-year-old grocer who was shot in the back of the head in a market area on the outskirts of Nicosia. He died several times, the grocer tried to flee but collapsed and died. The assassins escaped.

CARE Milk Tied To Ceylon Death

Colombo, Ceylon, Nov. 14 (AP)—Ceylon's education minister today ordered an inquiry into milk distributed in Ceylon by CARE, the American welfare organization, after hearing that an 11-year-old schoolgirl died after drinking a glass of milk.

The minister, W. Dabapayake, said he had received reports from all over Ceylon of children being taken ill immediately after drinking CARE milk.

Hal Boyle 'Exploring Tension Of Life on Pension'

New York (AP)—Carloline comments of a Pension Plato. Twenty years ago a middle-aged man had the hope that if he could just keep his liver quiet until he was 60 he could retire and live happily ever after. Today the idea seems to be spreading around that it is not so simple. Ever since man first climbed down out of the trees he has dreamed of a day when he could grow a twilight zone in peace without having to do battle with a sabertooth tiger. He finally has the answer—the old age pension. But many today seem to view retirement as a life-shortening curse instead of a pension is the illusion it supposedly brings—the unhappy lost feeling of aimlessness when there is no longer any duty to perform, no more excitement in the treadmill of the daily job. It has taken two centuries of argument, strikes, occasional head-thumpings and the growth of social responsibility to win pension in our machine age. Yet now some corporations are denounced as "heartless" because they do not retire their employees at 65. You get a mental picture of thousands upon thousands of faithful employees dying of heartbreak because they no longer have the jocular privilege of keeping their noses to the grindstone until they keel over dead. Somewhere in this picture doesn't square with the facts of the situation as I run across them. The theory of retirement is like the practice of sex. It may be subject to certain justified criticisms, but nothing will ever make it downright unpopular with the masses. Quitting at 65 a job held for many years is a blow to many men, and it is a major readjustment in living for any man. But the biggest bolder made by most codgers on "R" (for retirement) Day isn't made because they yearn to go on endlessly laboring. Their real squawk often, justified or not, "my pension check isn't big enough for me to live the way I want to." Most men in any period of history have been willing—if they could do so without starving—to quit peddling their own canoes at 65 and float quietly along for the rest of their journey, enjoying the view. Most men still are. A man who doesn't have enough legislation or memories to live gracefully in retirement probably isn't much of a fireball at his job either, and you can't blame an employer for wanting to turn him out to pasture and replacing him with a younger man. Only a dull or basically mean man is bored to actual death by retirement. If he's still an eager beaver at 65 being pensioned at 65, you'll kill him. There are a thousand ways in which he can still make himself useful to the community and to himself. No man with an outgoing heart or hand has any reason to feel useless in this world, unless his real desire is to indulge in self-pity. Most of the men I know who retire—including a couple who practically cried with regret at the time—have found a new way of life and a greater freedom from worry. One wrote me recently: "The first few weeks I thought I'd go crazy. Now I'm happier than I've ever been. It's true I don't have as big a paycheck, but when you quit trying to outdo the Jones you don't need as much. I've even found myself agreeing with my wife more. The other day she told me, 'You were crazy not to retire five years sooner.' She couldn't have been righter. You're a tip from me, quit while you're ahead—while you're alive."

War Threat Pressure On Soaring Economy

By SAM DAWSON New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The threat of war is putting new pressure today on an economy that already is hot but burning its seams. This is shown in such things as: The prediction that the grinding, increasing demand for heavy steel plates will prolong the present shortage. The theory of retirement is like the practice of sex. It may be subject to certain justified criticisms, but nothing will ever make it downright unpopular with the masses. Quitting at 65 a job held for many years is a blow to many men, and it is a major readjustment in living for any man. The Doctor Says

Red Signal of Danger Calls for Investigation. By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. I am often asked if the presence of blood in the urine should be considered as serious. Quite often the correspondent says the blood is first noticed after strain from lifting some heavy object. The subject is important because far too many people tend to ignore the appearance of blood in the urine, particularly if it appears to come and go as is often the case. This symptom should never be ignored, and even the matter of a month or two before getting attention for it may mean the difference between life and death. Blood in the urine is rarely caused by "strain" or a "cold," but by some more serious cause almost always responsible. It means that there is bleeding somewhere along the urinary passageway. Blood may come from high up in one or both kidneys. Bleeding from the kidneys can result from an injury, a tumor, infection, stones, or from other disorders within these organs. Needless to say, anything which causes enough bleeding from the kidneys to be seen in the urine should be investigated promptly and thoroughly. After leaving the kidneys, the urine passes down tubes known as ureters—one for each kidney. These tubes can be injured, can be blocked by stones, or can be blocked by tumors. Any one of these may cause bleeding into the urine. Before then comes the urinary bladder and in men other structures all of which can become diseased and cause the latent blood. Most of the conditions mentioned can be treated successfully either by medical means, or by surgery, but only if they are discovered early. It is a great tragedy when they have been allowed to run on for too long because they often reach a stage in which successful treatment is no longer possible. Blood often appears for a short time in the urine and then disappears, leading to a false sense of security. Specialists in this field maintain that this irregularity of bleeding is responsible for many tragic delays and that many of their problems of treatment are greatly complicated because of neglect. Late warning from such a symptom is vital. Immense suffering and even death would be avoided if more attention were paid to it. It should never be allowed to pass a painless portance or which will go away by itself.

Group Advises Jury Probe of Secret Leaks

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—An advisory committee sponsored by the Pentagon today advised a grand jury to probe "leaks" of secret information.

The 8-man committee is headed by Charles A. Coolidge, a former assistant defense secretary. Other members are high ranking retired officers of the armed forces.

Its report, submitted to Wilson, said in its general conclusions: "Our examination leads us to conclude that there is no conclusive evidence within the Department of Defense to withhold information which . . . the public should have."

The committee's proposal for grand jury inquiry said that "in cases of a 'leak' appearing in the press which involves disclosure of information which obviously gravely damages the security of the nation and where the source of the 'leak' cannot be identified, we recommend that a grand jury investigation be conducted to discover the source of the 'leak'."

In addition, the committee proposed that in the event of a serious leak the Secretary of military operations of a department convene a court of inquiry composed of representatives of each of the three services.

Urges Stern Action
It is noted that when a member of the Defense Department has been identified as the source of a "leak," stern disciplinary action should be taken, and taken with the utmost promptness.

The committee said that despite keen competition in newspapers the "press is fully loyal to the nation as any other segment of our population." It added that: "Indeed we have run across instances where information of high news value has been voluntarily withheld only to be disclosed by some one less scrupulous. It is true that we have also run across instances where a member of the press has made it clear that he is disclosing the contents of a top secret document. We think that is a disservice to the nation and should be wholly unacceptable, even after making due allowance for the existing tendency to overclassification."

Wilson's office made public the committee report and his letter to the committee.

Copies are to go to a House subcommittee which is studying government information policy. It is testimony to the House group Defense Department spokesmen contended that security restrictions are not so tight that scientists can't swap ideas if they "fit themselves into the procedure."

Lathrops Mark 25th Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lathrop, former Benton St. residents, whose 25th wedding anniversary today, were honored with a surprise party Saturday evening in recognition of the event.

More than 20 members of the Lathrop and Straghan families gathered in the banquet hall of Coney's restaurant, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with chrysanthemums and silver candelabra.

A handsome centerpiece in the form of a silvered tree, adorned with silver dollars, graced the banquet table.

Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop were married Nov. 14, 1932 in the parsonage of the Bolton Congregational Church.

A son, Charles J. Jr., is in the service in Germany. Robert, another son, is a student at the John F. Robinson School, West Hartford.

The senior Lathrop is prominent in insurance and real estate circles in Manchester. He was the first elected ruler of Manchester Lodge of Elks, a position he assumed in March 1944. Mrs. Lathrop was the first president of Manchester Emblem Club No. 261, organized in June 1944. She also served as supreme press correspondent for Connecticut at the 26th annual supreme convention of Emblem Club in Birmingham, Ala., in October 1955.

The Lathrops recently moved from Manchester to their new home at Bolton Lake. However, they continue their insurance and real estate office at 100 S. Center St.

No Need for Men
Benson, N. C. (AP)—Four sisters run a 27-acre farm here with no need for a man around the house.

Beatie Ellen, Leslie Elizabeth, Addie Mae, and Lilly Jane Tart have been operating the farm alone since a younger brother married and moved away 15 years ago. The women use mules and a tractor for planting, plowing and harvesting tobacco, cotton and corn. They built a concrete block garage themselves to house the car.

The Tart sisters admit they sometimes call on male help in the summer tobacco harvesting season, but they hasten to explain that's just a temporary thing.

Nikita's 'Trial' Looms At Red Party Talks

By EDDY GILMORE
London, Nov. 14 (AP)—The meeting in Moscow next month of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee may turn into a trial of Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The First Secretary of the party may have to fight for his political life. Certainly he will be called upon to defend his advice to the satellite party chiefs—made at the 20th party Congress—that there are more roads than one to communism.

Western diplomats report that his enemies on the Central Committee, and there are said to be several, hold Khrushchev responsible for the Polish uprisings, the growing anti-Soviet sentiment in Poland and Hungary's struggle for freedom.

Opposition for Nikita
One belief is that such military leaders as Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov and Marshal Ivan Konev have turned against Khrushchev. Their feeling reportedly is that his relatively lenient policies have led to a weakening of the satellite military alliance, creating soft spots in the defense system along Russia's long western front.

The military has been in the ascendancy over the secret police, discredited by the execution of police boss L. P. Beria in late 1953, and some students of Soviet affairs say the Army is getting as strong as the party.

Other westerners, however, say that this is a selfish illusion. They contend the Communist party is still the supreme master of such military leaders as Zhukov and Konev. Anyhow, Zhukov and Konev are staunch party men, they add.

Certainly their deferential actions around the top men of the Kremlin indicate that they are not only servants of the state but also desperately afraid of the party big shot.

Zhukov and Konev may still remember Stalin's ruthless purge of the army general staff in 1937—a purge that sent many commanders to their death and such a soldier as Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, to prison.

They were released at the beginning of World War II and was the undisputed military boss in Poland until the events that returned Wladislaw Gombala to party power last month.

Khrushchev, it appears, has more to fear from such men as Premier Bulganin, former Premier Georgi Malenkov, old Communist V. M. Molotov, and Deputy Premier A. M. Mikoyan, than from the Army.

Western diplomats who hoped that time and Russia's slowly improving internal economy might soften the Kremlin's attitude to the satellites and the West are having to rethink their thoughts.

They agree that the big party meeting next month could mean trouble for Khrushchev and a continuation of the Stalin era, or worse.

The meeting, which was to have taken place this month, has been postponed until the latter part of December.

Sorry, No Can Do
Fourth World, Tex. (AP)—Officials at an aircraft plant here decided they couldn't do much for a prospective customer.

They said they received a letter professing interest in a helicopter for transportation "in or out of the South American interior."

The prospect was an inmate of a federal penitentiary.

GROWING NATION
Mexico City (AP)—Two new cement plants are expected to boost Mexico's output by 200,000 tons during 1957, to a total annual production of 2,300,000 tons.

The total production in 1948 was 500,000. The nation's rapid growth has been a constant challenge to production.

TV 'Air Power' Program Called Rather Absurd

By CHARLES MERCEZ. New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—By this time anyone who owns a television set should be well prepared for any enemy air attack on this country.

Rather Absurd. These thoughts are prompted by the first presentation of "Air Power" (CBS-TV, Sundays 8 p.m.) "Air Power" undoubtedly will become one of the most popular and fascinating series on the home set.

It may be an exaggeration to say that CBS has a fixation on air attack against this country. But there does come to mind the recent dramatization of "Forbidden Area" on "Playhouse 90" "studio one" dramatization several months ago.

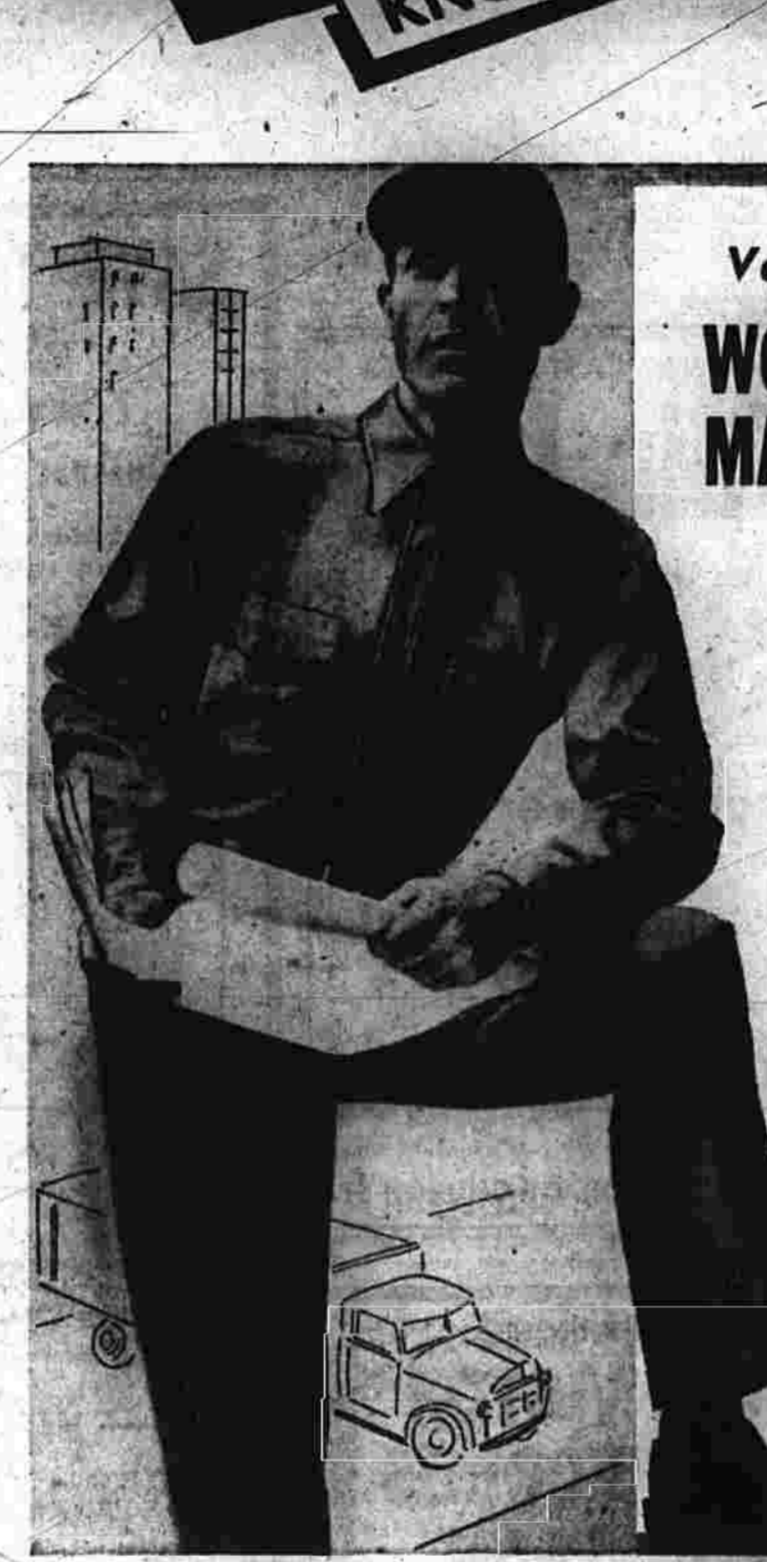

First the enemy was coming from the north, and then from the east and west, and then the squadron scrambled. Maybe this is the way the enemy would do it—if they did it at all.

But at least the troubles will cause long delays before it can be given a sea trial. It is now 28 months since its keel was laid. The Nautilus made its first highly successful sea trial 30 months after its keel was laid by former President Truman on June 14, 1952.

That's why the sodium reactor was tried.

But the sodium creates chemical reactions in the system which have not yet been controlled. These reactions can result in cracking steam pipes, among other things.

The overdose was so minor it only required the men to be transferred to other jobs temporarily.

Pros, Cons of Court Reform Argued by Panel of Experts

The proposed State court re-organization bill was both discussed and argued last night at a panel discussion at the Bowers School.

Probate Judge Charles Healey of Waterbury declared that, so far as the probate courts were concerned, the bill would result in a "unimprovable and shameful waste of money."

Among the guests was Supreme Court Justice, Edna Goshorn of Charter Oak Lodge, Hartford, whose officers will be seated this evening by Mrs. Ethel Duncan of the local lodge.

At issue in the discussion last night was whether the local character of the present system is beneficial. The proposed bill would replace the present 122 probate courts with 18 courts and the 168 municipal courts one for each city and town, with 40 district courts. Meaning the system would be full-time career judges and staff.

Judge Healey, speaking for the probate courts, and Parsons, commenting on the municipal courts to the people they serve, is good. They said it provided the probate courts with a greater understanding of and sympathy for the problems of those brought before them.

Full-time High Court, however, contended that the full-time judges would be in the form of "part-time judges presiding at a trial in the morning and doing business with the defendant in the afternoon," is too high.

Clark called for "full-time, expert judges" who would be selected by their jobs as a career. He said municipal court judges are not full-time, only in building their law practice, or furthering their political careers.

The record of the probate courts also pointed to different conclusions for the speakers. Judge Healey, stating that out of 30,000 appeals cases heard last year, only 50 or 55 were appealed to the Supreme Court.

Full System Works Well

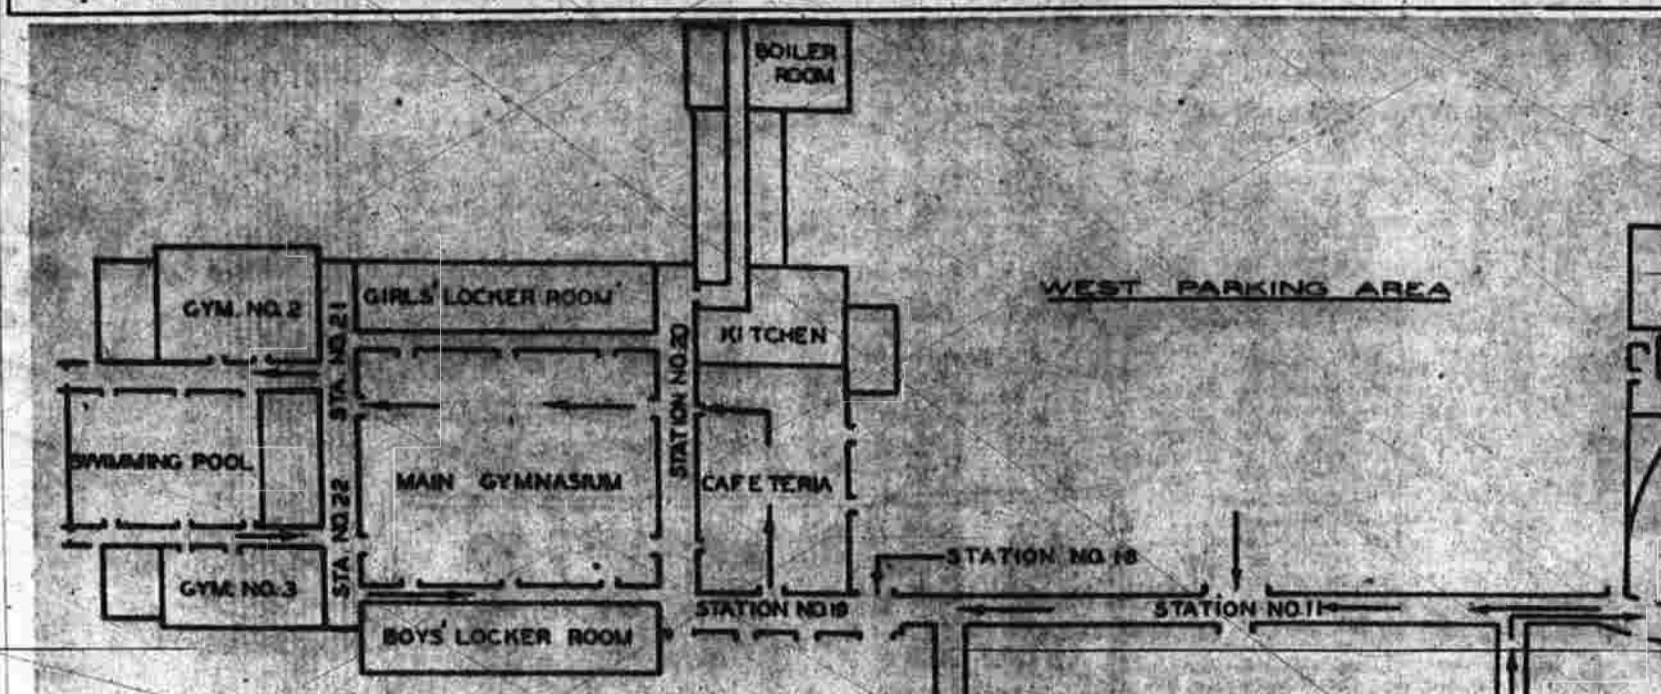

He called this "proof positive" that the present system works well. He also said the "greatest complaint paid to the probate courts is the continuous rejection of probate judges."

Under these circumstances, he said, the proposed reorganization would be a waste of money and a waste of time.

"We don't need that reorganization," he said. "We're getting along without it."

He, however, suggested that appeals were not taken because of the time and expense involved. He also said in the fact that appealed cases can be tried again in the Superior Court, a confession that "we can't guarantee a good trial" at the lower level.

Traffic Plan for Open House at High School This Weekend

It will be easy to see all of the new high school at open house this weekend without getting lost. The school is located at the next higher station number, the next, the next, and so on. The high school station number is 22.

There will be signs in the school to tell you at what station number you are standing and which way you go to get to the next one. And students who are members of the school Honor Society will be there to direct you or give assistance.

Open house hours are from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Representative classrooms, the entire shop section, by home economics section, the auditorium, gym, swimming pool, and the auditorium will be open for inspection.

Parking space is available along Brookfield St., at the Brookfield St. parking area, and at the West Parking area.

The Board of Directors will be an appropriation to pay for the school building. The Board will take up the matter at its next meeting.

Extensive Sought

Cystic Fibrosis Work Described To Soroptimists

Soroptimists heard a local expert describe Cystic Fibrosis Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Jarvis of 261 Center St. spoke to the group meeting at the home of Mrs. Mauda Johnson, 235 Cooper Hill St., club secretary.

They presented the needs of the Children's Cystic Fibrosis Assn. of Connecticut, Inc., and stated that Connecticut is taking a leading role among the states in this cause.

The association, which has its headquarters in Cheshire, conducts a fund drive each year in March for research and education of parents whose children are afflicted with pancreatic fibrosis. Through legislation, they are now endeavoring to procure drugs and antibiotics at cost or free of charge.

The disease shows up generally during the child's first year. They have enormous appetites but do not gain weight like a normal child, and have numerous lung infections and chronic cough or wheezing. In the past, when death has occurred, it has been attributed usually to pneumonia, bronchitis, or heart disease.

As for their diet, all fats, such as butter, margarine, peanut butter and pork, must be eliminated. They may have bread, cereals, lean meat, skim milk, vegetables, fruit or juice.

The disease is not infectious. It ranges from mild to severe and is inherited, but often skips several generations. The Children's Medical Center in Boston was the first to recognize it and to concentrate attention on diagnostic procedures and treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis have reason to be interested in the treatment of this dread disease. They have a young son, Tommy, now two and a half years old who is afflicted, and are helping the assistance of service clubs and other organizations.

Soroptimist members for some time have had as their project raising funds for scholarships to teachers of mentally retarded children. The Children's Medical Center in Boston is teaching in South Windsor. The hearing will be at the Municipal Building at 8 p.m.

IF YOU ARE AN ELECTOR Residing In The South Manchester Fire District

You are strongly urged to attend the meeting of the district To Vote for the Consolidation of the Fire District with the Town where -- Buckley School when -- Thurs., Nov. 15 -- 8 p. m.

Some of the Reasons why YOU should support Consolidation -- There would be

1. An up to date Town Fire Department. The district system is outmoded. At present there are two separate fire departments.
2. A single Fire Department which would be in a better position to determine location of firehouses -- alarms -- distribution and purchase of equipment to best serve all sections of town.
3. A central alarm and phone system for the whole town.
4. No increased cost, because complete consolidation means the cost will be borne by the entire town. The outlying areas would share.
5. Eventual lowering of insurance rates.

U.N. Police Stalled Another 24 Hours

Until the arrival of the bulk of the U.N. force, the chief mission of the 12 observers will be to help keep the cease-fire along the 600-yard-wide No-Man's Land in the canal.

Hammarajold had been scheduled to arrive in Rome today to confer with Gen. Burg and to inspect the assembling U.N. troops before going on to Cairo to meet with the Egyptian. The Secretary General postponed his departure from New York until this afternoon, ostensibly to work on arrangements of relief to revolutionaries in Hungary.

Burns said he would fly to the staging area today for a "quick inspection trip" and then return to the Italian capital to meet with Hammarajold's arrival.

More Troops Arrive

The ranks of the force gathering outside Naples were increased during the night by the arrival of 60 Danish infantry troops, 53 Norwegian and the first 33 Canadian soldiers from all three countries were expected later today.

Looming over the U.N. operation were conditions laid down by Egypt for the policing role and the conflicting British, French and Israeli positions.

Egyptian President Nasser reportedly has insisted that the international force be restricted to policing the 1949 Egyptian-Israeli armistice lines, that it have no duties in the Suez Canal zone and that British-French forces pull out of the Port Said area immediately.

These demands run counter to stipulations by the British, French and Israelis which they agreed to in Egypt.

A French Foreign Ministry spokesman reaffirmed the French view, saying France expects the police force to occupy "a leading role" in the entire canal zone, not just the northern third held by Britain and France.

The spokesman added that he was "confident" Hammarajold would insist on enforcing all decisions of the U.N. General Assembly, and that these included the reopening of the canal, freedom of passage for all shipping.

Israel has made clear it intends to remain in the Gaza Strip, seized after its thrust into Egypt's Sinai Desert Oct. 29. The narrow strip of land on the Mediterranean had been administered by Egypt since the end of the 1948 Palestine War.

No Legion Base

A major supply and housing headache was building up for the hurriedly assembled U.N. command. It has been estimated the international organization eventually will total 30,000 men. The troops being hurried into Naples already were straining local accommodations.

No Legion base has been set up. No one knew where the bulk of the troops were to be billeted, either in Italy or in Egypt, and no place for clothes.

Poles to Seek More Freedom From Red Rule

one knew where next week's resignation would come from.

"We are sure these problems will be solved," said one (Canadian) colonel, "but until they are the task of moving troops into the canal zone and taking over police duties is now a military impossibility."

There were beds in the staging area for just over 200 troops, and U.N. officials hurriedly bought extra cots.

"We hope to get some of them looked after by the NATO command here," a U.N. spokesman said. "Others will have to be doubled up until we can get tents pitched and other accommodations lined up."

Even when we get to Egypt, said one U.N. officer, "we still have a problem on our hands. We cannot expect to land troops in foreign soil and operate efficiently within 48 hours. It will take some time."

Blame Soviet Counsel

British-French headquarters in occupied Port Said blamed the Soviet consul there for an "undercurrent of intimidation" in the city.

Slips of paper bearing the warning "do not let the foreigners who collaborate with the occupiers" appeared under doors of homes in the city's big Italian and Greek colonies several cases of beatings and discouragement cooperation with the British-French forces were being reported.

The Russian consul, Anatoli Chikov, has been seen touring Port Said in a big Russian sedan with a hammer and sickle flag and address of small meetings of Egyptians.

In Jerusalem's Israeli Sector, an Israeli army spokesman charged Fedayeen (commandos) activities and urged the northern third of the Syrian border. He said one Israeli was killed and three were wounded.

The 8-nation Arab summit conference continues in Beirut, Lebanon. A conference source said the agenda includes four main points: financial aid to Jordan in the event Britain cuts off its military subsidy; withdrawal of Iraq from the Baghdad Pact made up of Britain, Iraq, Turkey, Pakistan and Iraq; financial and military aid to Egypt; and designation of Lebanon as negotiator bridge disputes between the West and Middle East.

In Baghdad, an official announcement by the Iraqi government declared peace cannot be secured in the Middle East unless Israel is wiped out. It "appealed to all nations to remove Israel from the Middle East" for the sake of security and peace.

A popular utility in American homes in 1968 was a copper-lined bath box which was used as a bath tub, was used as a storage place for clothes.

B-52 Story Told

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The B-52, the Air Force's intercontinental jet bomber, was on the brink of cancellation many times during the eight years it took to design and perfect it.

The story of the B-52 is told in "Vision," a new book on aviation by Harold Manfield. He claims it was only after the Korean War pointed up the need for a long range bomber with speed that the Air Force approved quantity production of the plane.

Italy now has 4 million automobiles, an increase of 15 per cent since 1953.

Editor Scores Curbs On Freedom of Press

Philadelphia, Nov. 14 (AP)—The editor of the Associated Press Managing Editor's column today scored curbs on the freedom of the press.

In an address prepared for the 23rd annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, he said that the "curbs on the freedom of the press are a major threat to the freedom of the press in this country."

U.S. Bureau Without News Newton said that in the U.S. the greatest current struggle involves what he described as efforts by government agencies to withhold from the press the facts and figures of their "inner workings."

He said that this year the representatives of all 19 government departments and agencies called before the congressional committee on government information, "admitted that they freely withhold news of government from the people and several testified that they had the inherent right to do this."

"When a free people become free on its press," Newton said, "they are free on all other facts of government at the time and in the future, for too often in history it has been too late."

"A press is not free," he said, "if the politician deprives it of the right of printing facts of government."

Pike's Peak Test Open to Smokers

Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 14 (AP)—There's such a thing as a smoker conditioning himself for an athletic contest, here's fair warning.

Those who smoke and those who don't can match endurance in the second annual Pike's Peak or bust marathon next July 27.

The foot race up and down the 14,110-foot peak was inaugurated last Aug. 18 with results for smokers who entered, not one finished the round trip.

Monte Wolford, 28, a local gymnasium operator, won in the time of 3 hours, 38 minutes, 58 seconds.

Rudy Pahl, a physical culturist who sponsored the inaugural race, said he will accept entries until one week before the race is run.

Ingrid Undergoes Surgery in Paris

Paris, Nov. 14 (AP)—Actress Ingrid Bergman underwent an appendicitis operation at the American Hospital here today. Hospital officials said the surgery went off perfectly.

The actress entered the hospital in suburban Neuilly yesterday after having become ill last Saturday.

She has been appearing in a revue at the Theater de Paris and was scheduled to open shortly in a French adaptation of Robert Anderson's play, "Tra and Sympathy."

New Haven, Nov. 14 (AP)—Mayor Richard C. Lee said that a "light of freedom" will be lit on the New Haven Green Friday, to mark the 20th anniversary of Franklin D. Roosevelt's birth.

Ray Franklin Schock, dean of the University of Pennsylvania, told of Benjamin Franklin's role as an early American newspaperman. The APME conference coincides with the 20th anniversary of Franklin's birth.

Thai Seen Swaying Toward Neutralism

By MURRAY FROMSON
Bangkok, Thailand, Nov. 14 (AP)—There's an old saying in Thailand that "like the bamboo, we bend with the wind."

A new wind is blowing today—a combination of Asian neutralism and nationalism—and Thailand is again bending. Just how far it will veer from its present almost unqualified support of U.S. policies is uncertain.

U.S. Ambassador Max Bishop contends that Thailand remains a firm supporter of American policy. But there are these contradictory factors:

1. A mounting wave of anti-Americanism in Bangkok news papers, many of which are controlled by leaders in the government.
2. Considerable approval of the way in which Egyptian President Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal and defied the United States.
3. That complaints that their support of the United States is not getting them any more aid than Communist or neutralist countries.
4. A mounting fear of increasing trade restrictions with Communist China.

May Go Neutralist
Thailand may go neutralist. And with the strongest economy and the best-fed people in Southeast Asia, it does not appear to be in danger from Communist penetration.

But in September alone 55 anti-American editorials appeared in Bangkok's newspapers, compared to only three a year ago. Six of these papers are known to be under the control of either Prime Minister Phao Sriyanond or Army Chief of Staff Gen. Sarit Thanarat. They could stop the anti-American trend if they wanted to.

American sources here see the editorials as an attempt to get more money from Uncle Sam. Some of the Thai leaders are unhappy because their support of America has gotten them only $35 million in economic assistance and perhaps twice that much in military aid this year. State Legislature Overhaul Sought Hartford, Nov. 14 (AP)—A bipartisan committee yesterday recommended a plan to overhaul the State Legislature. The proposal will be laid before the body when it convenes Jan. 9.

The proposals included recommendations that:

- The public be allowed to finish testimony at such hearings before any lawmakers are heard.
- Legislative sessions be restricted to one meeting a week in February and two a week during March to get public hearings out of the way.
- A collection of bills be set up to eliminate bills getting more money from Uncle Sam.

Bus Boycott Ends Tonight Negroes Fighting Order To Halt Dixie Car Pool

King halted the ruling as a "glorious day" to end a long night of enforced segregation."

It came just shy of one year after the start of the boycott Dec. 5, a protest which became the first mass use of economic force in the South since the Supreme Court ruled against public school segregation 30 months ago.

Negro attorneys sought to use the Supreme Court's decision in their argument before Carter yesterday, but he ruled it out. The judge held it was simply a question of whether the Negroes were operating a legal or illegal car lift and the ruling on segregation "has nothing to do with it."

The issue was primarily whether the car pool was a "private enterprise" operated within the law as the city contended—or a voluntary share-the-ride plan provided as a service by Negro churches without profit or financial gain.

"We were badly treated on the buses but now they've given us justice," said the reaction of a 76-year-old Montgomery Negro woman to the U.S. Supreme Court's decision yesterday that his segregation is unconstitutional.

The woman, Mrs. Susie McDonald, and three other Negro women brought the suit that broke city and state bus segregation laws.

White officials across the South took a strong stand directly opposed to here.

Charges of unlawful interference with the states, common since the 1954 Supreme Court ban on public school segregation, school again across Dixie.

A similar boycott of segregated buses has been conducted by Negroes in Tallahassee, Fla. It began several months after the Montgomery protest started Dec. 5.

Decision Criticized
The governors of Mississippi and Georgia, U.S. and State Senators, a state attorney general and other officials were among those sharply criticizing the decision.

The Montgomery City Commission, named in the suit, had no immediate comment. Alabama's attorney general John Patterson, who had filed an appeal to the Supreme Court of a special 3-judge federal panel, was not available for comment.

President Jack Owen of the Alabama Public Service Commission said that "to keep down violence and bloodshed, segregation must be maintained."

With no immediate efforts reported of Negroes seeking to ride in the front parts of buses, there was no sign of violence in the first capital of the Confederacy.

A caravan of about 40 carriers of robed Ku Klux Klan members toured Negro residential areas of Montgomery last night, horns a great powers" could be taken to apply to Russia as well.

Reminding the world that these South Asian prime ministers represent 475 million persons, the communique said of Hungary: "They regret that Soviet forces, which had been withdrawn in accordance with the policy laid down in the statement issued by the government of the Soviet Union on Oct. 30, were reintroduced into Budapest a few days later."

"They are of the opinion that the inalienable right of every country to shape for itself its own destiny, and that the Hungarian people should be left free to decide their own future and form of government, they will have without intervention from any outside power."

The prime ministers hope that after the terrible strife through which Hungary has passed, necessary changes will be brought about to bring about peace and stability with the wishes of the people."

The communique was issued after the three visiting prime ministers had witnessed a celebration of Nehru's 67th birthday at the National Stadium, smiling and waving. Nehru circled the stadium in a flower-decked jeep and received the cheers of 100,000 school children. The children showed him with garlands and rose petals and shouted "long live chacha uncle Nehru."

At the time of his birthday, Nehru's foreign policy has come under more fire than at any time since India became free.

Newspapers, some government officials in private comment and informed private citizens have widely attacked India's vote in the United Nations against a proposal which included withdrawal of Russian troops from Hungary. The critics said India's vote made it appear India was on the Communist side.

Nehru met criticism of India's position in Parliament today with a promise to issue foreign policy statement Friday.

Opposition members of Parliament charged the government had not taken a strong position on the Soviet military moves. They contrasted it with the firm position

Parking Authority Question Will Be Aired by Directors

The Board of Directors Tuesday will consider what to do about setting up a town parking authority.

A group of residents have petitioned the Board to pass an ordinance which would create a 5-member authority to take action on the town's parking problems.

Unless the Board passes the ordinance or one much like it by Dec. 14, the town clerk must call an election at which the voters would decide the issue.

The discussion Tuesday at the Board's meeting at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building will be the first time the parking authority has been considered formally since the petition was filed. But the question goes back over more than three years.

A parking authority is supported by many Main St. merchants, by the Chamber of Commerce, and by the Democratic Town Committee which includes forming a parking authority as a plank in its campaign platform.

There are four Democrats on the new 5-member Board of Directors.

Up to now, the Directors have been reluctant to form a parking authority which they feel has too much power, a contention challenged by authority supporters who say the power of the purse remains with the Directors.

The new Board consists of five members who served on the former Board and four new members.

India took against the British, French and Israeli action in Egypt. Nehru cut off an adjournment motion with his promise of a policy statement and "an early debate" on foreign affairs.

NCAA Places Four Colleges on Probation, Texas A & M, Miami Not Eligible for Bowl Bids

Detroit, Nov. 14 (AP)—No-charge post-season bowl games for Texas A & M and University of Miami football powers, probation periods ranging from nine months to four years for North Carolina State, Ohio State, Southern California and the University of California. Such was the stern edict issued by the council of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) yesterday as it concluded a lengthy investigation into reported athletic irregularities at member schools.

The council, powerful body directing both the NCAA and turned down requests by Texas A & M and Miami to suspend probation that prevent them from accepting bids in bowl games on Dec. 10. Both probationary runs into 1957, Miami's probation runs until July 1, 1958, California's to next Nov. 13 and Ohio State's to next Aug. 21. Only California may take part in NCAA events during the probation, but the participation bars against USC runs only until next Nov. 13.

USC and N. C. State also were declared ineligible to participate in the national television series sponsored by the NCAA after their current commitments run out.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive secretary and a member of the investigation committee which concluded the investigation, said it was "general policy" of the council to let probation "run their full course." In addition, he said, a new violation had been reported at Texas A & M and the council wanted to apply the Southwest Conference "an opportunity to investigate."

Similar action came from other schools involved. The council placed Miami on probation for 11 other colleges "had boys" currently serving NCAA penalties. All were accused of offenses extending to 10 athletes. North Carolina State, which only last year received a one-year probation, was placed on probation for 10 basketball players from Miami. NCAA basketball championships were suspended for the council four years.

The school is forbidden to take part in any of the annual NCAA sponsored events or 25 cooperating games, while the probation is in effect. The council also denied it representation on any NCAA committee and the right to vote on any question before the association.

Probation Periods

Southern California's probation runs until July 1, 1958, California's to next Nov. 13 and Ohio State's to next Aug. 21. Only California may take part in NCAA events during the probation, but the participation bars against USC runs only until next Nov. 13.

USC and N. C. State also were declared ineligible to participate in the national television series sponsored by the NCAA after their current commitments run out.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive secretary and a member of the investigation committee which concluded the investigation, said it was "general policy" of the council to let probation "run their full course." In addition, he said, a new violation had been reported at Texas A & M and the council wanted to apply the Southwest Conference "an opportunity to investigate."

Student involved

In the ruling, 16 members of the 18-man council who attended the meeting here said the action against N. C. State involved "probation of student athletes" who received offers of annual "scholarships" if he could enroll at State. The offer also allegedly included a five-year "unrestricted" scholarship and a seven-year college medical education for a friend of the prospect.

Friday identified the student of Missouri who suddenly turned up at N. C. State in September after several other schools had declined to enroll at N. C. State. He reportedly is linked with NCAA action against both A&M and N. C. State.

expenses for athletes from an "unrestricted" case. The council also ruled that there had been no violation of the NCAA regulations. The penalty was probation of the school, not the athletes. The council said the school had provided athletes at USC with "monthly cash allowances" ranging from $10 to $75 a month. Student athletes at Ohio State followed a thorough investigation into athletic status at conference schools.

The council said California had permitted two members of its football coaching staff to make 16 loans and pay transportation many rules. Fortunately, the college-educated Davey quit the ring before the "unrestricted" case was making more money and taking less punishment out of the square circle. Until there is a settlement on his accident case, Davey's status remains in limbo. Rolan LaSuzara plans to return to the fight game as an active manager. He also reportedly has knocked out 40 opponents in 50 bouts, is now being managed by assistant Al Weil, former right hand for Rocky Marciano. Ralph Torres Jones has been guaranteed $10,000 for his battle with Charlie House in Paris Monday night.

Funniest story I heard from the college football scene last Saturday was related by Karl Kurtsch, assistant coach and chief scout for the University of Wisconsin. He said he had a coach in the first half told one of his reserve backs to get ready to play. The reserve player jumped off the bench and started a fight with the opposing reserves. He appeared ready. Walters gave him a grip. The back's grip was so strong that he could not get up. Walters said he had to get into the game. He said he had to get into the game. He said he had to get into the game.

Rec Senior Basketball League Has Six Teams

By FAT BOLDUC

Six teams will comprise the Rec Senior Basketball League which opens its 1956-57 season Monday night, Nov. 26 at the new high school gym. Games will be played every Monday and Wednesday night, the first contest starting at 7:15 and the second at 8:30. Three-rounds have been scheduled with the top four clubs being eligible for the post-season playoffs.

Judging from the tentative rosters turned in by the six managers at last night's meeting at the East Side Rec. Wimping All-Stars appear the club to be the strongest. They will be led by Mike Kodes and Charlie Gaselli from the nucleus of the Craterhos.

Jimmy Mason and Pat Bolduc again will officiate all games.

Better Supervision Needed in Sports

Chicago, Nov. 14 (AP)—"Clearer attention to rules by officials is needed to prevent sports injuries from many faults or rule infractions which now go unnoticed," an article in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. said today.

The article was written by Dr. Augustus Thordike, chief surgeon of Harvard University's Athletic Department. He said many sports injuries could be prevented by better medical supervision of practice and events.

He believes the true incidence of injuries is too high, adding that only a few serious figures are available and those are of deaths. Thordike recommended that a preventive program be developed by sports organizations and that a method of recording injuries on a national scale be devised, preferably through the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.
