100 Bowers Pupils In Yule Program

A cast of 100 Bowers School children, mostly sixth graders, will participate in the annual presentation of "The Christmas Quest" for their parents and friends tomorrow in the school auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The play was written in 1950 by Miss Sylvia Clark, a first grade teacher at Bowers, especially for the first Christmas program held at the school. This will be the seventh presentation.

"The Christmas Quest" tells the story of the search by little Benjamin and his sister Ruth for the Mistletoe. Their journey takes them from the hillside outside Bethlehem to the manger where they find him.

The case of Joseph McLean, 27, of 42 Spruce St., arrested Friday night after an incident at Murphy's Restaurant, 99 Main St., was continued until Dec. 17 under $500 bond.

Police said McLean began a fracas at the restaurant and was subdued by police who took him to police headquarters. He is charged with intoxication, breach of peace and indecent exposure.

Judge Gryk continued until Monday the case of Ronald E. Grover, 17, Hobbury, Mass., charged with soliciting for philanthropic purposes without a permit. He was arrested Friday on complaint of a local businesswoman, who said Grover was asking for donations to a Hobbury church.

94% Favor MMH Expansion To Meet Demands for Care

The people in this area overwhelmingly favor the expansion and modernization of Manchester Memorial Hospital in order to meet the steadily increasing demand for hospital service and keep abreast of the most advanced medical practice.

Ninety-four per cent of the men and women who have returned their questionnaires in the current survey of public opinion, endorse such a project.

This was revealed today by the hospital's community relations committee which conducted the poll. It also released the other results of the final poll analysis and a summary of three earlier reports published during the last three weeks.

94% Favor Fund Drive

Asked what they would do as members of the hospital Board of Trustees contacted with the task of raising funds locally to pay for an expansion program, 94 per cent of every 100 responding recommended a community-wide campaign for public subscriptions.

Only 16 per cent prefer borrowing on mortgage, and one in every 100 believes the project should be abandoned.

"Such an overwhelming expression of public willingness to participate in the building of a larger and improved hospital," C. Elmore Watkins, president of the hospital said, "is a tribute to the progressive spirit of the people of Manchester and surrounding communities, who depend on Manchester Memorial Hospital for health protection."

He also pointed out that contrary to the answer given to another question by 4 residents out of every 10, Manchester Memorial Hospital, like most other nonprofit hospitals, does not receive enough money from patients to pay for enlargements after necessary running expenses have been met.

Presenting the summary of the first three poll analyses, Watkins expressed the committee's satisfaction and gratitude for the widespread response to the questionnaire and the many constructive and helpful comments which nearly half of the poll participants contributed voluntarily. The summary follows:

Ninety-four per cent of the 100 participants believe Manchester Memorial Hospital is not large enough nor well

Kickoff Tonight For MMH Drive

The cost of the projected Manchester Memorial Hospital addition and modernization will be announced tonight during a dinner at the Masonic Temple.

Nearly 300 Manchester and area residents are expected to attend this fund drive kickoff dinner to hear a comprehensive outline and description of the building plans proposed to meet the expansion needs of the local hospital.

Also to be announced at the dinner is the amount of money the fund-raising group expect to solicit from the Manchester and area persons, firms, and organizations.

Five Foods Hold Vital Nutrients

Four out of five citizens think that the charges made by the hospital to patients are fair.

Regarding the attitude of nurses and attendants toward patients, 59 per cent of the survey answers indicate that it is either "friendly" or "very friendly." Ninety per cent declare it to be "indifferent" and one per cent "hard-boiled."

Ninety-eight people out of every 100 are members of Connecticut Hospital Service of a similar plan for the preparation of hospital bills.

Seventy-eight per cent are correct in believing that members of the hospital board of trustees are not compensated in any way for their services.

Similarly, 36 per cent are right in believing that doctors on the hospital staff treat "ward service" patients and outpatients free of charge.

More than one-fourth of the poll participants are correct in thinking that income from endowment or trust funds is the principal source of money to pay for free or below-cost hospital care.

See Increase in Demands

Demands for hospital care will continue to increase according to 97 people in every 100.

If asked to become a parent, nearly 9 persons out of every 10 would choose to have the baby born in Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Eighty-nine per cent would leave something to the hospital if they were making their will and in a position to consider a bequest. Fourteen per cent of these would leave a substantial amount.

Eighty-seven persons out of every 100 wrote that either they

Rockville-Vernon Vernon Postal Office Moves To Home of Postmistress

Rockville, Dec. 10. Special Vernon Post Office was moved over the weekend to 200 Washington Street, the home of its acting postmistress, Mrs. Doris Madden.

Mrs. Madden said today the post office has been established on the porch of her home.

The building at 20 Washington St., where the post office has been located for the past eight years, was sold and is to be removed from the property. Mrs. Florence Foley, former postmistress, and owner of the property, resigned the post Nov. 1.

Mrs. Madden said the new location is a little larger and will allow for addition of 25 more individual lock boxes.

The Vernon Post Office is considered fourth class because of its size, but it handles all the usual business of a post office, including parcel post, special delivery and money orders.

Rev. Fred Edgar Talks on Scrolls From Dead Sea

Universal Bible Sunday was observed at the South Methodist Church yesterday and in keeping with the occasion the Rev. Fred R. Edgar delivered a sermon on the Dead Sea scrolls. In the message the minister related the account of the discovery of hundreds of ancient manuscripts that had been found in a cave on the northwest shore of the Dead Sea by a Bedouin shepherd boy in 1947.

The Rev. Edgar concluded the service by urging the congregation to make use of the books and articles now available on the market and in the Manchester libraries on the Dead Sea scrolls. Many of the scrolls have already been translated and all of them provide enjoyable reading and a better understanding of the Bible.

Special music for the service was under the direction of Philip Trager, minister of music. Mrs. Fred Gal was the morning soloist, singing "He Shall Puff His Wind."

Sense and Nonsense

The manager called his secretary. "Ab, Miss Smith, I'd like to see a short note to Blank, Blank & Company to remind them that their account is three months overdue. In a few minutes the secretary returned with a letter which the businessman looked over. "I'm afraid this is a little too strong. I don't want to insult them. Just remind them of the account." The third letter was prepared eventually. "That's better," said the manager, "but still a bit vigorous. What I want is just politely to remind them that they have overlooked paying our bill." The third letter was prepared eventually. "That's much better," exclaimed the manager, "just about what I want. Now just rewrite it and correct two mispelled words. There's only one 'r' in wreathed and one 'r' in swinder. The professor was hard of hearing and tried to conceal the fact. He called on the day's lesson.
