About Town

The wedding of Miss Jane Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burr, 132 Ashford St., and Richard S. Massey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Massey of New Haven, will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Congregational Church.

The Lithuanian Sons and Daughters Society will hold its annual picnic tomorrow at Harty Park, Broad Street, from 12 noon to 9 p. m. All are invited.

Carl David P. Kriekas, 505 of St. Caroline Street, 52 Elbridge St., has completed schooling at the University of Chicago, Ill., and has been assigned to the Cargo Transport Squadron, U. S. Navy, at a post about 400 miles from Europe. He entered the service in January, 1936.

Heard Along Main Street

And Never the Twain...
A 30-year-old man, who is a resident here, tells of a most unusual incident which he witnessed in the city of New Haven. It was a coincidence, in which his friend was involved.

It seems that the friend, a woman who moved away from Manchester a few years ago, had been corresponding with another woman who likewise left town at about the same time. One of the women decided to spend their time together. They rented a cottage near the ocean, at a point about midway between their respective homes.

After enjoying their week together they each came back to their respective homes. The woman who had been corresponding with another woman, who likewise left town at about the same time, one of the women decided to spend their time together. They rented a cottage near the ocean, at a point about midway between their respective homes.
