The Modern Educator The Regional District Eight Board of Education, comprising representatives from the three rural towns of Andover, Hebron and Marlborough, faced a problem as it met Monday night in Andover. The Board had just been informed that its new high school, scheduled to open its doors next Wednesday to almost 500 students, still lacked electricity, heat, and corridor partitions—not to mention a cafeteria, auditorium, athletic field, gymnasium, and all but a bare few classrooms.

A less momentous matter was occupying the educators, however. It was the problem of toilet tissue dispensers—another facility in which the new regional school was still deficient. In his weekly report on the building's progress, the Board's "clerk-of-the-works" had just mentioned that it had been decided to substitute toilet tissue containers which dispense the paper in individual squares, for the more traditional continuous-roll holders that had previously been ordered.

Just the change in the type of dispenser create a serious problem in educational logistics. He feared that the superintendent-principal, in whose province it was to order all regular supplies for the school building, might fail to take into account the Board's reversal in tissue container policy and might consequently proceed to order a large supply of the old toilet paper rolls instead of the now-required individual squares. Thus, before the Board relinquished the toilet tissue matter and proceeded to other subjects, the treasurer emphasized that such a mistake must be avoided.

Hot Time in the Old School Having thus disposed of the toilet tissue issue, and having decided to postpone the school's opening for a few days, the regional Board of Education now confronted the fact that there would probably be no heat available in the new school building until October. The clerk-of-the-works, with his knowledge of practical physics, was quick to deprecate this problem as far as the school's needs were concerned. He pointed out that with some 30 young people sitting together in one classroom, the 15 B.T.U. of body heat given off by each person would suffice to prevent any serious chilliness from developing, at least in the early fall.

He was skeptical, however, about the possibility of moving the superintendent's administrative offices into the school building before heat was available. These offices would not be crowded and consequently filled with body heat like the classrooms, but instead would have "only a few secretaries in them," he pointed out. The superintendent—principal immediately protested, however, that even so, the offices would be warm enough. "You don't know my secretaries," he said.

Apathy? A Manchester citizen this week wonders if the newly organized Parking Authority will collapse before it really gets started. According to the authority's secretary, this man points out, 22 invitations to members of the Board of Directors, the Town Planning and Development Commissions and the chief of police, were sent out requesting their attendance at a meeting at which a traffic and parking expert from New Haven was to be the guest speaker. When the meeting was called to order, however, only one director and the police chief attended in addition to the Parking Authority. The citizen knew of one other director who was ill that night and another who was on vacation the entire week. He still wonders what happened to everybody else.

Of My Chin, Chin, Chin: Nearly everyone has, at some time, heard the story about the "You don't know my secretaries."

No Herald Labor Day

The Manchester Evening Herald will not be published Monday, Labor Day.

Little boy who locked himself in the bathroom and couldn't shut off the running water. A variation of this tale occurred in Manchester this week. An Oakwood Dr. mother was sitting on her porch. Inside the house her 18-month-old son romped about in gleeful play. Some time later, when the mother got up to go inside, she found the front door to be locked—from the inside. Going around to the rear of the house, she found the same situation; the door was locked from the inside. She soon found all of the windows to be locked.

Plans to her child went to behead. "Please unlock the door," meant nothing to him. Finally, in desperation, she called her neighbor, the 8th District fire house, where custodian Walter Dent took the call. "Smookey," took the message, jumped into a department truck and, some minutes later, arrived at the scene. He unlocked the door to the little boy's room. The only alternative was exercised. Smokey pulled the hinge pins and removed the door to get inside.

Shares Sympathy Manchester merchants are beating the drums about the joys of going "back to school." They are working every angle which will pay off in terms of the cash register. There's one exception, however. One merchant, who admittedly has nothing much to gain, takes a different route. He sees it from the kid's point of view. The only seasonal indicator in his window is an old-fashioned slate with inscribed words— "BACK TO SCHOOL PHOOEY!"

E. Phuribus Umum Who said that no man could ever see eye-to-eye with his mother-in-law? We know of one man who not only could, but let everybody know about it. It happened during the lengthy public hearing session of last week's Board of Directors. As many persons stood a'voicing opinions on various sidewalk installation proposals, the hour grew late. The hearing had begun at 8 o'clock and it was already past 10 p.m. Evidence of unrest and an occasional flare-up were noted. It was at this point that one gentleman rose and delivered a lengthy address on the evils of a new sidewalk in his neighborhood. The crowd became more restless. A few left the hall. An air of uneasiness was felt. Finally the man finished his speech and the Board secretary promptly read the names of another shouting property owner who would now be given his chance to speak. "Is the property owner or representative present?" Mayor Turkington asked, as he had many times that night.

Whereupon, a man in the rear of the room stood and solemnly said, "The lead owner is my mother-in-law. She isn't here tonight, but I'm sure she feels the same way as I do." The laughter died down, the mayor was heard to say, "Now there is a man whom I think should be commended."

A Dead Tree's Dead A release received this week from the Hartford office of the Internal Revenue Service tells us that "no deduction may be taken on federal income tax returns for the loss of ornamental trees on home property resulting from disease." The release further states that the Internal Revenue Code allows a deduction for loss of personal property only in cases where the loss results from fire, storm, shipwreck, flood, hurricane, typhoon, earthquake, or other similar catastrophic events. The Internal Revenue Service says that the loss must occur through "sudden force." Tree and

St. John's Pastor

Rev. D. Kent Kulawass is the new pastor of St. John's Polish National Catholic Church. He succeeds the Rev. Stephen Strzajewski, who was transferred to St. Joseph's Church, Westfield, Mass., in July. The Most Rev. Joseph Soltysiak, Bishop of the New England Diocese, made both appointments. Father Kulawass's appointment is effective tomorrow. He will preach at both the 8:30 and 10:30 services. A native of Chicago, he is a graduate of St. Mary's University, Baltimore. He has completed a course in homiletics at Catholic University in Washington, and last year studied methods of teaching, principles of youth guidance and historical foundations of education at Hillier College. The Rev. Mr. Kulawass is married. He has spent over 25 years in the ministry. Sunday School classes will resume tomorrow.

Marginal Notes We saw a huge trailer truck bearing the name of a large textbook company rumbling along Rt. 15 the other day. The only thing, instead of the usual "Pass" and "No Passing" lettered on its left and right rear, this one said "Pass" and "Flunk."

Minister Back From Camp Trip

The Rev. John R. Neubert has returned from a two weeks' camping session at National Camp, Malamora, Pa., training camp for leadership in church camping. Leaders from many denominations were present as resource people in an experience of "small group" camping, a new trend in outdoor education. The camp was sponsored jointly by the National Council of Churches and the Outdoor Education Assn. The Rev. Mr. Neubert serves as director of the Junior High Camp Wightman at North Stonington for the Connecticut Baptist Convention. He will preach in the Community Baptist Church Sunday at 9:30.

Deaths at 200 In Rail Wreck

By SUSAN LEWIS
Mandeville, Jamaica, Sept. 3 (AP)—The smell of death hung heavy over this little Caribbean mountain resort today as burial services were rushed for nearly 200 Jamaicans killed in the wreck of a Roman Catholic excursion train.

It was one of the worst disasters in railroad history. The 12-coach train was packed with nearly 1,500 Roman Catholics returning to Kingston from a religious pilgrimage and holiday on the coast. The train, on Jamaica's north coast, nine coaches derailed and plunged over a 100-foot embankment near Kendal, five miles from Mandeville.

The count of the dead reached 174 last night. The Catholic Bishop of Jamaica, the Most Rev. John McEleneey of Woburn, Mass., estimated it might rise to 200.

Rains Slow Search
Torrential rains hampered the search for additional dead.

Nearly 700 persons were reported injured. About 500 crowded the hospitals in Mandeville, at nearby Spaulding and in Kingston. Many were put two to a bed. Doctors and nurses were rushed to the hospitals to work around the clock. A single-engine plane flew in medical supplies.

About 180 persons received emergency treatment but went home.

Ring of Guardsmen Block Integration at Little Rock

Ike Orders Inquiry For Law Violations

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 3 (AP)—Only white students went to class at Little Rock Central High School this morning while about 200 white adults stood outside the ring of National Guardsmen placed there last night by Gov. Orval Faubus.

None of the nine Negroes scheduled to enter the 2,000-pupil high school today showed up apparently in compliance with a school board request. The board called off the scheduled integration early today after the Governor ordered the troops to the school grounds last night in effect halting the planned race mixing.

Faubus told a television audience last night that to maintain peace and order the school had to remain un-integrated for the time being.

First Day Quiet At Sturgis, Ky., Clinton, Tenn.

Manfield, Tex., Sept. 3 (AP)—Mansfield High School, scene of a demonstration against desegregation last September, opened this morning without incident. Negro students of high school age were sent by bus to E. M. Terrell High School in Fort Worth, as in the past. Mrs. Geneva Baxter, school secretary, said no Negroes were seen on the campus this morning.

Accident Death Toll 610 over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Accidents killed 610 Americans during the Labor Day weekend.

The death toll from traffic was 431, more than two thirds of all accidents. Drownings took 87 lives during summer's last holiday. There were 92 fatalities in other types of accidents, with private plane crashes accounting for many of these.

The traffic death toll for the 3-day holiday compared with 435 last year, 438 in 1955, and a record of 461 for the holiday set in 1951.

The National Safety Council had predicted 420 traffic deaths for this year's holiday.

Higher Than July 4 Total
Commenting on the outcome, Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said:

"We are deeply disappointed, of course, that the Labor Day toll not only was higher than our preliminary estimate, but exceeded the 4-day Fourth of July toll."

In this year's Independence Day weekend, a 102-hour period, traffic took 420 lives. The traffic toll for a similar period Memorial Day was 413.

Dearborn said that good weather during the holiday brought motorists to the road in near record numbers. He praised the majority of careful drivers and law enforcement officials for keeping highway accidents in check.

The count of accident deaths covered a 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday.

Eisenhower Discounts Red Long Range Missile Claim

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower, commenting on Russia's intercontinental missile claims, said today more testing of such weapons is a long way from actual production.

Eisenhower made the statement at a news conference when asked whether he could give the American people any information on the status of this country's efforts to develop an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

The questioner asked for comment in the light of the Soviet Union's announcement last week that it had successfully tested such a weapon.

Eisenhower replied that anything he said would be within the framework of national security.

Russia, NATO Plan Separate Arctic Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Naval forces of both the Soviet Union and NATO are scheduled to carry out maneuvers in Arctic waters off Europe this month, but they apparently will be operating about 1,000 miles apart.

Moscow Radio announced the Soviet war games today in a warning to foreign ships and planes to steer clear of "hazardous" operations in the Arctic.

The statement said the Soviet Union would take no responsibility for damage incurred in the danger zone.

The Russian operations will be held from Sept. 10 to Oct. 15 in an area directly north of the Ural Mountains, extending to the Soviet Novaya Zemlya (New Land) Islands. The islands form an archipelago of 35,000 square miles between the Barents and Kara Seas. The closest part of Scandinavia in Arctic Norway is about 300 miles to the southwest.

The broadcast said air and naval maneuvers will be held with different types of modern weapons and warned all ships and planes it will be dangerous to enter the waters or the air space of the area.

North Atlantic Alliance officials have not pinned down the NATO maneuvers area, except to say that it will be north of the North Sea.

Ike's Group May Not Fight GOP Liberals Seek Role In Senate's Leadership

By JACK BELL
Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—Self-styled Republican Liberals have begun a long-range campaign to place one of their members in the line of succession to the Senate's GOP leadership.

As part of this campaign, the all-out Eisenhower group may avoid any fight over the top leadership post when Sen. Knowland of California steps down from that job at the end of his term next year.

Instead, they are seeking to name one of their number as assistant leader, with the eventual hope of moving him into the top post and the more immediate aim of strengthening their voice in party policies.

Dirksen Possible Assistant
Knowland's announcement he would not run again for the Senate apparently has put Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, now assistant leader, in line for top command in 1958.

Dirksen, once a strong supporter of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, more recently has taken pains to distance himself from President Eisenhower whenever he can.

As a result, Eisenhower had made it known he regards Dirksen as a valuable asset among Senate Republicans. With such a well-qualifying, the GOP liberals who are not enthusiastic about Dirksen have about come to a conclusion that it would be futile to offer any opposition to him.

Dirksen, of course, probably would have to step aside if either Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) or Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.) wanted to take over from Knowland. Saltonstall heads the conference of all GOP

U.S. to Watch Atomic Debris In Upper Air

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Defense Department announced today to set up a close and continuing watch on radioactivity in the atmosphere.

The full-time monitoring job was entrusted to the Strategic Air Command. It will start this fall to make regular samplings at high altitudes of radioactive debris. This military work will supplement monitoring carried out by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) using stratospheric balloons.

Much of the information now known by the United States of Soviet atomic weapon testing and progress has been attained by analysis of air samples.

The department said that results of the samplings which "bear military classification" will be announced from time to time.

West Plans New Try At Stalled Arms Talks

London, Sept. 3 (AP)—The four western powers decided today to continue disarmament negotiations with Russia as long as there is any possibility the Soviets will show serious intent to help end the world arms race.

But it was expected generally that the talks in the subcommittee of the U.N. Disarmament Commission are in their last week here.

Delegates of the United States, Britain, France and Canada coordinated their policy at a four-day strategy conference which took into account Soviet criticism of the western package plan for a first-stage disarmament pact.

The first reaction from the Soviet delegate, Valerian Zorin, to the 11-point western proposal was taken to mean that Moscow will not accept it as a basis for agreement.

Will Offer New Arguments
However, the western four decided to ignore Zorin's comments and to offer new explanations and arguments in behalf of their plan.

At the same time they agreed to press the Russian delegates to give precise and formal answer to their proposals.

If he continues to reject their plan the western statesmen will call upon him to suggest new steps in the East-West search for an agreement.

The meeting of the western delegates took place a few hours before the subcommittee was due to hold its first meeting since last Thursday.

The 6-power disarmament subcommittee, which resumed its London sessions March 18, has mired down in an East-West split over the banning of nuclear weapons tests, a halt in production of such weapons and inspections to enforce any agreement.

Calls for 'Real Progress'
The impasse was pointed up in a letter made public today from Prime Minister Macmillan to Soviet Premier Bulganin urging some "real progress" in the disarmament talks.

Macmillan went over the head of Soviet Delegate Zorin to call for favorable consideration of western proposals. He said the West was "not encouraged" by Zorin's recent rejection of the plan put forward by the United States, Canada, France and Britain.

The western plan called for re-

Socony to Stabilize Region Gas Prices

New York, Sept. 3 (AP)—Socony Mobil Oil Co. moved to stabilize gasoline prices in New England while an affiliate said it was further trimming crude oil purchases.

In New England, Socony said, several price wars have prevailed. The company will advance prices by 2 to 3¢ cents a gallon in Boston, Hartford, Springfield and four other cities.

Prices will be reduced 1-2¢ cent in Bridgeport and 8-10 cent in Danbury.

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Congress did not cut his budget enough to justify a tax cut. Eisenhower told a news conference he estimates Congress cut only $1 billion or so.

DICTATOR BOUGHT
Madrid, Sept. 3 (AP)—The whereabouts of the deposed dictator of Colombia, Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, were a mystery today, but the subcommittee of the Security Office said it had no information to indicate he had left Spanish territory. Reports were current in Colombia that Rojas, who fled to Spain after he was ousted from power last May, had arrived in the Dominican Republic and planned to return home. These reports could not be confirmed.

GRAHAMS EXPECT CHILD
Ashville, N. C., Sept. 3 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said today that he and Mrs. Graham are expecting their fifth child next year. Arriving at his home at Montreat, 16 miles east of here late last night from an extended religious crusade in New York City, the evangelist asserted that he was weary but in good health and hoped to get in considerable swimming and golf. He said their next child was expected to be born in January.

IKE DEMITATES WIFE
Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower today urged wide observance of the week of Nov. 22 as a national day of remembrance. The president said "it is fitting that all citizens, rural and urban, should recognize the untold dependence in contributing to the strength, character and prosperity of our nation."

FIRE THREATENS HOMES
Vanuise, Calif., Sept. 3 (AP)—Sheriff's deputies began evacuating residents in the Mt. Canyon area today as a brush fire raged uncontrolled in the rugged hills 10 miles northwest of here. Flames have blackened 1,300 acres since yesterday afternoon.
