Labor Cutback Ends Jobs for 100 Organizers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The AFL-CIO today announced that it has ended the jobs of 100 organizers who were hired to help it fight a proposed labor law.

Ke for Red Ink Spending At Reasonable Rate in '58

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower today would prefer a reasonable amount of deficit spending this year to a tax increase.

The President, at his first news conference in 2 1/2 months, said he believes some red ink spending would be the only answer under present circumstances if it came to a choice between that and a tax increase in order to handle the proposed new federal budget.

In that connection, Eisenhower noted that his economic advisers are predicting an upturn from the current business recession.

Eisenhower was discussing the $73,900,000,000 budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 which he sent to Congress on Monday.

On paper, it is narrowly in balance with a forecast of a surplus of a half billion dollars based on anticipated tax revenues.

A $600-million deficit now is in prospect for the current fiscal year, but Eisenhower said he expects the deficit to be covered by the end of the year.

Opposes Tax Boost; Wants Dulles to Stay

Golden Claims Lee Can Win Senator Races

HARTFORD, Jan. 15 (AP)—Democratic National Committee Chairman John M. Golden today predicted that if New Haven Mayor Richard C. Lee announces his candidacy for the party's U.S. Senate nomination, "it will be all over."

Golden, a powerful Democratic leader and staunch Lee-for-Senate supporter, said he was confident that Lee would win the nomination.

Golden said he was confident that Lee would win the nomination, and that he would not be surprised if Lee were elected.

Railroads Ask End Of Wartime Taxes

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL, Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central System, testified yesterday the nation's railroads face starvation unless Congress frees them from what he called "this country's archaic transportation policy."

President Harry A. DeBetta of the Southern Railway urged an end to the wartime tax on transportation on grounds it is highly discriminatory and a factor in breaking down the nation's essential transportation system.

The two railroad executives thus took a stance alongside others who are telling Congress the industry's financial troubles and recommending remedies.

Their statements were prepared for delivery before a Senate commerce subcommittee headed by Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.).

"This committee," Perlman said, "has granted the nation's last chance to save the situation. If we fail to convince you of the industry will go downhill, ever faster, until it is a mere shadow of its former self."

DeBetta testified that the 3 per cent freight tax, left over from World War II, is driving business away. Former customers he said are buying trucks and hauling their own goods.

Canadian producers of aluminum sheeting of marine of boats, he said, can undercut American manufacturers because they don't have to pay the tax—and the Southern is losing hauling charges.

"I believe," DeBetta said, "it is unrealistic and extremely shortsighted to say that this tax is producing revenue to the government which the government needs for national defense, when the immediate result is to cause the wasting away of the very plant that produces the tax and which is an absolutely essential part of our national defense."

McGinnis testified that the Boston and Maine has tried to lure back passenger business with new, modern, comfortable equipment, but with this result:

Steadily declining patronage and growing worse every day.

"After listening to the public complain for years about outmoded equipment, I reluctantly bought all this passenger equipment. I know now that modern clean equipment is not the answer. The people have chosen the private automobile."

And the shippers of freight have turned to trucks, barges, tankers, ships, pipelines and the like because these carriers can set rates that we cannot match under existing regulations.

McGinnis added his voice to the chorus for repeal of the 10 per cent tax on passenger traffic and the 3 per cent levy on freight.

In these days of world tensions," the B and M president said, "it is important that our railroads be given the chance to become strong and healthy. The present conditions under which we operate make this impossible.

"We need to help ourselves, and we are doing so to the best of our ability. But, in my opinion, the government must now grant us the right to compete."

Regarding merger, McGinnis said a more realistic attitude of government would help the railroads improve services and eliminate waste. He said in his opinion the 35 lines operating east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio River are far too many.

With reference to passenger operations, he said his own line is seeking to abandon 26 unprofitable lines competing with the municipally-owned Boston Metropolitan Transit Authority.

"Such duplication of service," he said, "is inexcusable waste in this day and age."

The number one difficulty of the Boston and Maine, McGinnis testified is the "almost unsurmountable problem" of refunding $47 million first mortgage bonds by July 1, 1960. Investors consider the $1 million net interest of the road for 1957 highly unsatisfactory, he said, and it is almost impossible to interest new ones.

McGinnis said passenger business, less than a tenth of the total lost more than $14 million last year.

Repeal of the transportation

Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central System, displays bulky documents at a Senate inquiry into financial troubles of the nation's railroads. Perlman said the papers prepared for the New York State Public Service Commission is a commuter fare increase, contains 30,000 words and cost the Central $25,000 to prepare. He said it took 18 months to assemble the data in the reports. (AP Photofax).

Reasons Why I Love God's Day
 Because it gives me an opportunity to give apart from the world awhile and learn more of Him. It is the Day of God, and I love Him because it brings a welcome rest from the stress and strain of everyday life.

Because it contributes to the happiness of Him, it is innumerable instances of family reunion.

Because it affords quiet opportunities for reading, meditation and study of our Father in Heaven.

Because it brings opportunities for Christian service, helping to explain and Adlai Stevenson, to explain to the public the importance of aid and trade and the interest involved in these programs.

But while the commission represents a welcome first step in the fight for essential foreign economic programs, a second, and more direct, step would be to turn the aid and trade program into a more, if possible, on Congress itself. After all, that is where the money will be made, and it is there that the high-tariff funds earmarked for foreign aid to satisfy military requirements and that is where the high-tariff bloc advocates are organizing for an attack on the proposal to reduce the reciprocal trade act for another five years.

The theory behind the Commission idea, of course, is that Congress is cool toward foreign aid and trade because the hostile tactics of the Communist bloc, and therefore, are the public, make it realize the United States self-interest in involving the theory goes, and Congress will find the political courage to vote the right way.

The fact may be, however, that, as on many issues in the past, the public is ahead of the Congress on the question of mutual aid and reciprocal trade. There are some internationalists who will desert the ranks of the free traders in this session because of political considerations in their constituencies. But these are more than outnumbered by Senators and Representatives who are still in the United States and who are still in the United States and who are still in the United States.

It is these members of Congress, the representatives of a departed generation of economic thought and not the Communist bloc, who pose the most serious obstacle to passage of the President's foreign aid and trade programs. If the President can get the support of these members, he can get the support of the rest of the Congress.

But Johnson has made it clear he does not believe the administration is putting enough emphasis on satellite production.

"We need the marshaling of our resources, physical and mental, such as we have never had before," he said. "We need imagination and freedom."

"We need force and boldness in our leadership," he said, "I believe we are paying too high a price for conformity."

"America's vigor has come from the originality, the freshness, the vision of our people—all our people, not merely an intellectual elite. For a decade now, we have been growing a climate of conformity."

Mr. Johnson said that the State Public Utilities Commission says the New Haven Railroad has petitioned for permission to abandon less than 400 miles of right-of-way at Beacon Falls, Conn.

The railroad stated in its petition that the company is "presently providing less than required service at Beacon Falls. Little use is made of this service for shipments of less than 4,000 pounds and substantial savings could be made if such service were discontinued."

Beacon Falls is about 13 miles northwest of New Haven.

The PUC scheduled a public hearing on Feb. 13.

The Embattled Jimenez

It becomes increasingly clear that the abortive New Year's Day revolt of the Venezuelan army was merely the beginning of a long and bitter struggle. The situation in hand again, as, of course, he has had it in hand, by his own claims, all alone.

Meanwhile, however, the people refuse to stay quiet and only the heaviest kind of armed patrol keeps the streets quiet. And thought played a part in our willingness to create an emergency out of the situation, as the natural desire of our armed services for fat appropriations again may be inspiring them to build up the spunkie agency too.

We do know this. A year which was called the International Geophysical Year was rolling along in routine fashion. It was a year of great budget economy and cutbacks in defense spending. It was a year of domestic economic difficulties which could be noticed. It was a year in which both Russia and the United States were scheduled to be at work on the launching of earth satellites, at the prospective top scientific achievement of the International Geophysical Year.

Then one satellite was launched ahead of the other. And instead of being a glory for the International Geophysical Year, it became the great expansion of defense spending, and the great cur for an incipient economic let-down. If, on the other hand, it had been our satellite which had got up first, it would have been a glory for science, a light year for defense spending, and a year without any sure cure for its domestic economic ills.

A tall, blond man, very dour, tore a Bangkok telephone apart one evening. The press in Thailand's capital quickly identified him as a crazy American. He wasn't.

But Americans get blame for everything in Southeast Asia. Anti-Americanism is almost a fact.

However, there's another side to the picture. Take Indonesia, for example. There, the American technicians are the ones who bring the light of modern science and technology to the dark corners of the continent.

Ike for Red Ink Spending At Reasonable Rate in '58

cautions that the United States is fast losing military superiority to Russia.

Eisenhower said he names each study group with the proviso that information given to them, and developed by them, is a privileged or secret category. If there should be any change in that, Eisenhower added, he would have to stop setting up such study groups.

Dulles Eisenhower vigorously labeled as trash reports that Secretary of State Dulles might resign. He said Dulles is the last person he would want to see resign and added that he regards the cabinet officers as the wisest and most dedicated men he knows.

Eisenhower said he is sure it is the desire of all to whom he has talked including officials of other governments, that Dulles stay right squarely on the job.

Dulles, the President said, has greater knowledge in the field than any man he knows.

25th Anniversary - A reporter noted that Eisenhower will observe his 55th anniversary in office next Monday. The past five years, the newspaper said, have produced Eisenhower such credit as the Little Rock school integration crisis and the rise of Nikita Khrushchev as Communist party boss in the Soviet Union.

The reporter asked then for the President's view of those years and for a forecast of the future.

Eisenhower responded that he intends to carry on in the three remaining years of his term exactly as he has during the first five years.

An obvious allusion as to whether he will live out the term, Eisenhower said the future is in the lap of the gods.

That five years, he said, have not been very much more than he had anticipated. He felt at the start that world problems would increase, and as a result it was determined that America's liberties had to be maintained in the face of a tremendous threat to their existence, the President said.

Gavin - Personally Matter - The resignation of Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, chief of staff of the Army's chief of research and development was personally matter, Eisenhower said. He added that Gavin had a right to quit, Gavin had decided to do so after the end of March because of policy differences regarding the defense program.

Defense Reorganization - The President, who has promised a reorganization of the defense set-up, declined to answer questions about his plans. He said he would not give details in advance of his special message to Congress. He did say his aims are completely objective, and that he will remain as commander in chief for no more than the next three years.

Asked whether he intends to fight his defense reorganization plans, Eisenhower replied that he is striving to put an effective plan before Congress. He said he expects the plan to touch off a battle but his view is far stronger than any he has expressed as yet.

Says GOP Stronger - Politics in this country, Eisenhower said, the solidarity of the Republican party is far stronger than some people believe. He made that statement when asked what extent he intends to engage in the party drive to recapture control of Congress in this year's election. The reporter putting the question noted that Eisenhower is scheduled to lead off that drive in a speech at a Chicago GOP rally next Monday night.

Without ever providing a specific answer, Eisenhower said the political philosophy he has followed has been believed in long before he got personally into politics. He said he also believes that Republicans generally believe in that same philosophy.

Eisenhower did not set out what that philosophy is.

But he did say that the people who believe in it are far stronger than people for whom he will do his best, apparently willing to do his best to lose.

Eisenhower was asked whether he has any special plan to get support for his program in Congress by giving or withholding presidential support in the election campaign. He replied he would not deal on that basis.

Oppenheimer Case Closed - Oppenheimer - Asked about the possibility of restoring the access of scientist Robert Oppenheimer to government nuclear secrets, Eisenhower replied that he has not heard the slightest thing regarding any such step. Oppenheimer, who helped develop the atomic bomb, was barred in 1954 from access to government atomic data on grounds he was a security risk.

The majority of a special board decided he was a loyal American but said he had held himself above security regulations. He was associated with Communists and had been untruthful in some instances, Eisenhower said he is under the impression the Oppenheimer case is completely closed, but said he certainly would be willing to consider any new information bearing on it. He added that he knows of no such information.

Golden Claims Lee Can Win Senator Races

the race came on the heels of former U.S. Senator William Benton's announcement that he is "actively seeking the nomination."

In a letter to Democratic leaders throughout the state, Benton said he is "merely available" for the nomination for U.S. Senator but would carry his fight to the floor of the state convention tentatively set for June 27 and 28.

"I am actively seeking the nomination," the ex-senator declared, "and with the help of my friends shall press my candidacy to the ultimate decision at the state convention."

Benton, a resident of Southport, told fellow Democrats that he intends to continue his speech-making visits around the state in the coming months.

Former Congressman Thomas J. Dodd, who was the party's nominee in 1956 but lost to GOP Sen. Prescott S. Bush of Greenwich, has warned that he will carry his battle for a second crack at the nomination to a primary, if necessary.

Labor Cutback Ends Jobs for 100 Organizers

The retrenchment reflects the failure of the organizing campaign, at least in terms of a 250-man staff, a 10 per cent cut in income as a result of the resignation of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and other unions, and a shift in emphasis to the public relations.

South Church Gets Title to Cheney Land

The South Methodist Church completed purchase this afternoon of three lots formerly owned by the Frank Cheney estate for a cost of $100,000. The deeds for the property were to be filed this afternoon.

The three lots are located at 20, 28, and 70 Hartford Rd. They include about 10 acres and contain four buildings which will be used for expanding the facilities of the church. Some of the area will be used for a parking lot.

Acting for the church's Board of Trustees was W. Dennis Dutton, chairman of the Board, and Fred Rogers, city. John Brooks served as legal adviser for the transaction.

Temperature Rise Erases Ice Threat

cause of this, we've got to get as much snow away from the catch basins as possible. If snow freezes in front of them, then we would be in trouble," he said.

Fever Unaffected - Fortunately, the freezing rain did not accumulate enough to affect electric power and telephone communication. Parker Soren, manager of the Manchester division of the Hartford Electric Light Co., said that no lines were felled down by ice accumulation or by ice laden overhanging trees, as was the case during last week's snowstorm.

Lloyd Hobson, local manager of the Southern New England Telephone Co., said, "We had no trouble whatsoever. It was fortunate that it got warm before the heavy rain had a chance to accumulate on telephone lines."

The Police Department reported that there were only two minor accidents, caused by the storm, both occurring about 1 p.m. yesterday, just after the storm started. Both mishaps involved cars sliding on the icy pavement into parked cars.

Streets Deserted - Police Chief Herman O. Behan said that local motorists used their heads in staying on the road. "I'm afraid on my duty last night reported Manchester streets were almost deserted."

At 1:05 p.m. yesterday, cars driven west on New Bolton Rd., near the Bolton town line, by Robert Ricca, 21, of Hartford, and John P. Monahan, 18, of Tolland, added to the side of a parked truck operated by Bert C. Davis, 17, of Lebanon. Both vehicles slid as they came down a hill and struck the side of the truck. Damage to the three vehicles was minor, police reported.

About 15 minutes later, a car slid off the side of the road near the intersection of Middle Turnpike and McKee St. in West Hartford. Ida R. Lasso, 44, of West Hartford, slid into a parked van owned by the Middle Turnpike Co. The truck was carrying right side damage estimated at $1,000. The driver was hurt in this mishap either.

St. Hurt in Fall - The Manchester Memorial Hospital reported six minor accidents involving cars during the storm. They were all attributed to icy conditions.

Both the Silver Lane Bus Co. and the Connecticut Bus Co. reported that their routes were affected by the storm. A spokesman for the Silver Lane Bus Co. said that the bus routes were closed after the storm. Connecticut Co. said that main highways were generally clear and that only minor delays were reported. However, the company said that routes where side-street travel was necessary, severe Hartford traffic jams were closed early, moving the bus lines into periods.

None of the city's firms found it necessary to let their employees out earlier than usual. Case Bros., Lyall and Fonda and Cheney firms were closed early, but the rest of the city's firms found it necessary to let their employees out earlier than usual. ### A Tale of Oil and Water

This fuel oil truck was flipped over on Rt. 6, Coventry, at 9:40 a.m. today, after being struck in the rear by a car. The truck operator, Gerard J. Champagne, 33, of Vernon was admitted to Manchester Memorial Hospital with multiple fractures. (Burkapp Photo).

Town Engineer James Sheehey originally defended against his department against criticism of the night. Manchester Police driver involved in an accident which overturned a fuel oil truck on Rt. 6, Coventry, was admitted to Manchester Memorial Hospital with a fractured leg, forearm, fractured ribs and abrasions of the face. The driver of the truck, Edward P. Bushnell, 20, of 573 Woodbridge St., Manchester, was not injured.

The greatest problem of men who went out to plow during the snow was cars stranded all over the town. "People just stepped out of their cars, locked them, and left them," added Fred Williams, a town foreman. "We can't even send a road, much less plow it, when cars are parked across the street."

To improve the equipment, plow men now also small for the trucks. The Andover Fire Dept. has been ordered to purchase five additional plows to be used to clear streets. The town has also ordered to purchase five additional plows to be used to clear streets. The town has also ordered to purchase five additional plows to be used to clear streets.

Vernon Man Snow Removal Work Hurt as Car Upsets Truck

Gerard J. ### Police Probe Office Break

All but two offices in the multi-office Professional Building, 153 Main St., were broken into during the night. Manchester Police are investigating the incident. Today police officers, including Sgt. John S. Travis, were called to the scene and he hinted at early arrest.

Sometime between closing time last night and early this morning, several of the offices opened by the building's secretary. The damage was caused by breaking a window off a fire escape. The culprits began breaking windows leading into the offices.

Two hours is estimated as the normal time to get employees to work in the office. The police are checking the trucks and get them out of the streets as quickly as possible.

Must Trucks Move - "I have to call them all the time," Lewis said. "Some are not available immediately. You can't get them in five minutes."

The men understand that they may be called when snow falls but they get no stand-by pay, Sheehey said.

The number to be called for each snowfall is unknown, he said. "You'll be criticized if you call too many out for a night of snow," the engineer commented. "If you call too many out for a night of snow, you'll be criticized if you call too many out for a night of snow."

Funerals

The funeral of Samuel J. Black, 34 Church Street, will be held at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Holmes Funeral Home, with the Rev. C. J. King, of Oakwood Rd., officiating. Burial will be in East Cemetery.

It appeared unlikely today that Mrs. Fitzpatrick would appeal Judge MacDonald's order. Court Rules Mrs. Fitzpatrick Not Plaintiff in Globe Action

Mrs. Helen Fitzpatrick has been eliminated as plaintiff in the Globe Hollow injunction suit and two other residents had brought against the town.

In an order granting motions that she be struck as a party plaintiff, Superior Court Judge Herbert S. MacDonald yesterday held that, since she is not a property owner in Manchester, she has no proper cause of action in the case.

Judge MacDonald heard arguments on the motions on Dec. 4. They were filed in behalf of the town and two individual defendants, John Trevelyan and George Daniels, both of Bruce Rd., who had brought into the case as a result of their purchases from the town of about a half acre of the Hollow and near their homes.

"Not Convicted"
Judge MacDonald in his order, dismissed as "not convicting" Mrs. Fitzpatrick's argument that she could be damaged by the "illegal" sale or lease of the land and her home though she is not a property owner. She had contended that the Special Act under which the Globe Hollow bonds were issued obligated all Manchester "inhabitants," regardless of whether they were property owners.

Judge MacDonald's order also contained a surprise for the attorneys involved in that it denied a motion by Alty, W. David Keith, counsel for the individual defendants, that Trevelyan be dropped as a party defendant. Keith originally had held that, at the time the injunction suit was brought, Trevelyan was not the owner of the Globe Hollow land he had purchased, having transferred it to his wife. However, at the time of the hearing, he and Alty, Leo Flaherty of Rockville, counsel for the plaintiffs, had agreed that both Trevelyan and his wife should be party defendants and made an oral statement to that effect in court. As a result, it would be expected that the judge would rule on Keith's motion as it concerned Trevelyan.

In granting the motions filed by Keith and for the town by Town Counsel Charles N. Condit, Judge MacDonald said that a review of judicial history indicates that, "for almost a century, the basis for a plaintiff's standing in court—in cases of this sort—appears to depend quite clearly upon his rights and obligations as a property owner."

Appeal Unlikely
Mrs. Fitzpatrick would appeal Judge MacDonald's order. Her attorney said he had not had an opportunity to discuss the case with Mrs. Fitzpatrick but added that he doubted whether an appeal would be taken. The decision on the case will be made in the Superior Court in March in this area this year.

'Bridge Tickets for Charity' Getting Lots of Support Here

Manchester's "Bridge Tickets for Charity" campaign has now ballooned into a "fabulously successful project," George Marlow, originator of the idea, said today.

Over 700 Charter Oak Bridge ticket books, most of them with more than 50 tickets, had been turned in to the town's 18 collection points.

The Manchester Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the cooperation of the Greater Hartford Bridge Authority, will conduct the obsolete tickets to cash. The money will then go into the Joyce's Charity Ball, Jan. 25, with the profits going to the Marchessa for Mental Health Clinic and the Manchester Infirmary Paralysis Service Center. Employees at these companies have been instructed, adding that the number is increasing every day. "One woman came in yesterday with 10 books which she'd collected in her neighborhood," he said. Marlow's office on Main St. is one of the collection points and employees are wearing pinned to their lapels ticket book covers to serve as reminders to customers.

Marlow reports that about 300

Speaks to PTA Lawyer Claims High Court Rule Sets New Law

A decision of the Supreme Court of Errors regarding a trailer park in Coventry has established the law in two aspects, according to Attorney Harry H. Lugg, former counsel for that town.

The decision, announced yesterday, written by Chief Justice Kenneth Wynne, establishes as law the contention that a trailer park reduces the value of other property in the area, Lugg said.

Chief Justice Wynne wrote: "There was uniformity of opinion as to the unfortunate effect year round use of the trailer park would have on the surrounding property."

In the town's appeal to the Supreme Court of Errors, Attorney Lugg argued that extension of time of a non-conforming use was not permissible any more than an extension of area.

The Supreme Court's decision establishes this contention as law also, Lugg said.

Race Bias Unchecked, Tuskegee Head Says

Tuskegee, Ala., Jan. 15 (AP)—Race relations have worsened in the South in the past year, says Tuskegee Institute, and realistic action is imperative "if serious difficulties are to be avoided in the next future."

But some progress was made toward peaceful settlement of differences, notably in actions taken by the federal government, President L. H. Foster said yesterday in the famed Negro college's annual race relations report.

All branches of the government "made clear," the report observed, "that American citizens must receive treatment which is racially non-discriminatory in education, transportation, recreation, voting and employment."

Nevertheless, Foster said, "race relations in the Southern States are in a more unsettled and disturbed status than a year ago. Divergent segregationist and desegregationist points of view are held more resolutely now than in the recent past."

"There is an urgent need," he cautioned, "for realistic and constructive communication on the part of both sides. The use of force is to be avoided in the near future."

Continuing, the Negro educator said "several factors operate curiously to affect the state of race relations in the South: 1. The economic authority in the South has not been able to exercise its influence on the public policies of the nation. There is, too, the persistence of decades of operation of these resources in behalf of a segregated society."

"Segregationists have at their command substantial control of the economic authority in the South," he said. "The influence of the public policies of the nation has not been able to exercise its influence on the public policies of the South."

"The Negro educator said he found two basic obstacles to 'favorable race relations': 1. The 'unwillingness and misunderstanding' of the white South. 2. The 'unwillingness and misunderstanding' of the Negro South.

"For one thing, he said, there is 'unwillingness and misunderstanding' of the white South. For another, he said, there is 'unwillingness and misunderstanding' of the Negro South."

Pearson Gaining Strength In Canada's Liberal Party

Ottawa, Jan. 15 (AP)—Former Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson continued to pick up strength as the national convention of the Liberal party prepared today to receive formal nominations of candidates to succeed the retiring Louis St. Laurent as party leader.

The voting will take place tomorrow night. The convention will hear the nominations read tonight and will hear speeches from the candidates themselves.

The other leading candidate is former Minister Paul Martin, who is waging an uphill fight. Pearson's candidacy was given a boost late yesterday when another candidate, Mayor Don Mackay of Calgary, withdrew and threw his support to this year's Nobel peace prizewinner.

Pearson also received the endorsement of most of the Liberal cabinet ministers who served with him and Martin in the St. Laurent government before its defeat by the Conservatives last June.

He was reportedly pledged to a substantial majority of the delegates from the populous province of Quebec and several other areas including the Toronto region which has 150 delegates.

St. Laurent, who made his valiant bid for re-election last night, has steadfastly refused to indicate any preference between Pearson and Martin. He said only that he was satisfied that the leadership would be in capable hands after his retirement.

The veteran St. Laurent took parting blows at the Conservative government of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker for what he called failed to come up with any clear and firm policies. As a result, he said, the Conservatives had led the country into a state of uneasiness and uncertainty.

"There is a growing uncertainty about defense," he said, "about trade, about investment, about unemployment, about the state of the national budget and the lack of clear and firm policies for the future."

He offered no new program to win back the government from the Conservatives, but he did appeal to the Liberals to "hold fast to the Liberal faith; to plan for a larger future; to promise only what we believe we can perform to treat the people and to deserve their trust."

In their speeches tonight, Pearson and Martin are expected to give their ideas about how they would go about putting the Liberals back in power if they are chosen to lead the party.

No decision has been taken as to when the general election will be held, but some leaders are pressing for it this spring.

CHURCH HEAD TO RETIRE
Greenwich, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, has announced that he will retire in October upon reaching the retirement age of 68. A general convention of the church will be held at that time in Miami, Fla., to elect a successor.

Britain Raps Delay On H-Bomb Story

British hold off until the United States could make a similar announcement. The ABC statement last night said the two countries would issue a joint announcement Jan. 24. The statement quoted Plowden as referring to "misinterpretations" about a 2-step decision to report hydrogen experiments. It was necessary first to declassify the information, Plowden said, and agreement was reached later on Jan. 14 for joint announcement.

Vince Martinez Favored over O'Malley Makes Pitch For Memorial Coliseum

Basilio Feted At New York Writers Dinner

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—After a night of being feted as the 1957 "Fighter of the Year," middleweight champion Carmen Basilio turned to serious business today.

The 30-year-old former Marine and his co-managers, Johnny DeJohn and Joe Netro, will confer at noon today with Jim Norris, head of the International Boxing Club, regarding terms for a return title bout with Sugar Ray Robinson. He defeated Robinson with a split 15-round decision in their torrid scrap last September.

Although Robinson currently is involved in legal troubles, the return bout is regarded as virtually set for Chicago sometime in March. The dates of March 1 and March 15 are being mentioned.

"I want this fight more than anything," declared the craggy-faced former colon farmer from Chittenden, N. Y. after he had received the Edward J. Nell Memorial Plaque as "Fighter of the Year" at the Booth Writers Assn. dinner last night.

"I want to beat Robinson more than any fighter I ever met," Basilio continued. "I want to win decisively so that there will be no question about it."

Basilio received the Nell Award, named in memory of the Associated Press boxing writer killed in the Spanish Civil War 20 years ago, before a Marine band guard.

"I want to beat Robinson more than any fighter I ever met," Basilio continued. "I want to win decisively so that there will be no question about it."

Los Angeles, Jan. 15 (AP)—Into the murky Los Angeles baseball atmosphere today came this cautiously hopeful forecast: Possible clearing, followed by mass relief. For this was the day on which it appeared—not for sure, mind you—but that the question of where the Dodgers would play next season might finally be settled.

After all but saying he had decided to put his National League team in Little Wrigley Field, Dodger President Walter O'Malley appeared before the Memorial Coliseum Board of Trustees today with a new idea for getting his athletes into the 100,000-seat stadium.

First Appearance

It was actually O'Malley's first appearance before the commission, but the question of where the coliseum to be before the Dodgers had been discussed several times before.

Today the commission was to hear a report from its Baseball Committee on O'Malley's latest plan. If the session produced a final decision, it was to be made on later today, probably to avoid evening.

Previous plans called for biting into the stands to extend the left field line, and this drew opposition from some of the commission members.

In addition, O'Malley said most clubs make $500,000 a year from beer sales alone. Beer is outlawed at the Coliseum, and the Dodgers plan to be at it. Work on the stand of the Coliseum, so the sun would be kept out.

Winner Meets Isaac Logart For NBA Title

Philadelphia, Jan. 15 (AP)—Depending upon where you live, tonight's hot battle between Philadelphia's Gil Turner and Vince Martini of Patterson, N. J., is or isn't a fight to earn a shot at the welterweight championship of the world. If you live in New York or in any place where the jurisdiction of the World Boxing Championship Commission is accepted as law, you'll merely be watching a scheduled 12-round bout which is one of a series of eliminations to determine a titleholder.

If you live in Massachusetts you probably will watch the bout as just another fight of two waterweights.

If, however, you live in a state where boxing is under the banner of the National Boxing Assn., you will be witnessing the semi-final elimination in the 147-pound title fight. The winner has been ordered by the N.B.A. to fight against Carmen Basilio after he won the middleweight title from Sugar Ray Robinson.

The 33rd day of the month was anything but unlucky for Correnti, who has been bowling one-half of his lifetime—16 years. Always in the background of his brother, Maurice, the current town workaholic and a stand-out duck pinner for 12 years, Correnti has come into his own Monday night.

Correnti's single, the best in 22 years in Manchester, was fashioned like this: Spare in the first box followed by a 300-point strike in the second box with a nine fill in the third box for 38, spare in the third box with a four fill for 25, strike in the fourth box for 40, total strike in the fifth and sixth boxes with 20 fills, for 90 and 120, strike in the seventh box with a 10 fill for 20, strike in the eighth box with a 10 fill, spare in the ninth box with a 10 fill, spare in the tenth box with a 10 fill, spare in the 11th box with a 10 fill, spare in the 12th box with a 10 fill, spare Profit Taking Slows Market

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—The stock market staged a mighty upsurge on news of lower margin requirements today but profit-taking slowed gains early this afternoon. Nevertheless, the market was substantially higher than at the start of the session.

Trading volume was heavy, with a high of 1,200,000 shares, equal to the first four hours yesterday. The ticker tape lagged for an hour and 36 minutes and was as much as 3 minutes behind at worst.

By the end of the first hour, however, traders were cashing their profits and the market average neared the recovery high reached last November, a resistance point since then.

Big opening blocks tumbled across the tape. Bethlehem took a loss of 1/2 cent, while its gain shaded a point.

Other gainers included Getty Oil up 1/4 cent to 20 3/8, and U.S. Steel up 1/2 cent to 40 1/2. Royal Dutch up 1/2 cent to 39 1/2.

The announcement came after other government reports showed production and income sagged in December.

First comments on the margin changes ranged from predictions that lowering the limit on margin purchases would have a stimulative effect on the market, to forecasts that the higher percentage had been in effect nearly three years.
