Tentative Agreement On Golf Rules, Fees

The Board of Directors today holds all players, members and non-members must start at the 7:30 p.m. on each day of a proposed lease of town-owned Globe Hollow land to the Manchester Country Club for a golf course.

One of the provisions requires the Board of Directors to approve the regulations and fees to be established in a draft of a tentative agreement between town and country club officials have already been made public. Below is the full text of the agreement that was reached, along with a covering letter from General Manager Richard Martin to the Board of Directors.

1. Enclosed is a draft of Tentative Regulations and Fees for Public-Private use of the Country Club golf course. It results from a meeting with Country Club officials and Mr. James F. Heddie, superintendent of recreation, May 28, 1958.

2. Concerning the outline dated Feb. 1958 of the "Offer to Lease," it occurs to me that the agreement is one in which the club should have a specified time after expiration of any lease within which to remove its clubhouse.

3. It is my recollection that the Board's extension of time for removing the clubhouse expires this month.

4. Use of the golf course will be free to members of the Manchester Country Club.

5. The problem of a lease is not resolved hereby. The Board may wish to grant a further extension.

Richard Martin, General Manager.

TENTATIVE REGULATIONS AND FEES

A. Application: Applies to 18-hole golf course, Pro-Shop and building facilities. Does not include clubhouse facilities owned by the Country Club and building facilities.

B. Tentative Regulations:

1. Non-Member Playing Fee: $4 a day regardless of number of holes played. Same fee for men and women.
2. Starting times between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. may be reserved by members or non-members by going to calling Pro-Shop not earlier than Thursday preceding a Saturday or Sunday and not earlier than two days preceding a holiday.
3. Only four courses will be allowed to start if other players are waiting to start.
4. Starting times will be eight minutes apart.
5. If a starting-time reservation is not taken the next four courses will be allowed to proceed, if ready, or any other foursomes will be allowed to proceed.
6. Every eighth starting time will be held open until reserved, until that starting time arrives for foursomes of which none is a member of the Manchester Country Club.
7. Starting times for women foursomes will be limited to 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and after 1:30 p.m. on Saturdays and after 11 a.m. on Sundays and holidays, subject to above provisions concerning reservations, except that every fifth starting time shall be held open for foursomes of which none is a member of the Manchester Country Club.
8. On Saturdays, Sundays and

Hebron Town to Honor Mrs. Alice Fogil At Coffee Hour

The public is cordially invited to attend a coffee hour to be held in the Hebron elementary school auditorium June 7 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. In recognition of Mrs. Alice Fogil's 25 years of service to the town.

Arrangements are being made by a committee of the following: Misses Douglas H. Porter, Mrs. John Hooper, Mrs. Oliver Lavelle, Mrs. Bryce Carleton, Miss Virginia Davis, Mrs. Charles Barnes and Mrs. Albert Taylor.

On behalf of the PPTA, Mrs. Ralph Boyington has accepted general chairmanship. Mrs. Fogil has resigned as second grade teacher here, and will accept a similar position in the Hebron elementary school.

Pupils Plan Operetta

The two-act operetta, "The Happiness of the Three Kings," will be presented in the Hebron elementary school auditorium June 11, at 7:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Willo M. Suprenant. Approximately 100 elementary pupils will take part in this production. The hour is set for 7:30 p.m. because the performance is being given on a school night. There will be no admission charge and parents and townspeople are cordially invited.

Champs to Florida

The Rev. Howard C. Champe, former pastor here and in Gilead, has accepted a call as pastor of the Congregational Church, Lake Helen, Fla.

His duties there will begin Oct. 1. He says the parsonage, already built, is attractively furnished with the parsonage property area.

Green Committee of Hebron

The Rev. Mr. Champe's committee is asking help in locating the sites of the town's old distilleries.

The town once had seven distilleries. Two of them have been located, but the sites of the other five are still a mystery. Town tax records indicate seven distilleries for brewing applejack from about 1820 to 1850.

The Champe, describe the scenery of the new town as being very beautiful and the people as likeable and friendly.

SMU Graduate James Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Collins, 38 West Main St., will be graduated from Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex., Monday, June 8, 1958.

A graduate of Manchester High School in the class of 1954, Collins majored in speech. He was active in dramatics and is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

At the graduation, he will be receiving a Bachelor of Science degree in education.

There will be about 11 short scenes, in which men, women and children will take part. There will be both speaking and silent roles.

Charter Unit Suggests Study To Ease Martin's Workload

The Charter Revision Committee last night decided to recommend to the Board of Directors that it create a special commission to study the workload of General Manager Richard Martin.

"It is a serious question," committee member Jacob Miller said at the group's meeting in the Municipal Building. "The town is holding its organization in depth."

"The manager is the lord high chief of everything," he added. "It's too much for one man to carry."

Concerns have been growing among town officials since a 2-week test was ordered for the manager May 27.

Last night's action of the committee was taken after discussion of a proposed charter change Martin suggested last week.

It asks the committee to conduct a study of the workload of the manager and to report back to the Board of Directors by August 1.

At a meeting May 27 for Vermont and Connecticut, the committee deferred Martin's request until after the summer vacation.

The committee last night voted

Zoners Grant 12 Requests

The Zoning Board of Appeals granted 12 applications, denied seven and postponed action on two last night after a public hearing in the Municipal Building.

A special exception was granted to a gasoline service station located on the south side of Spruce near the East Hartford line in a Business Zone.

The action was taken by the Board after July Jerome Walsh showed plans for the proposed 2,000 building and expanded that it would be located in the neighborhood.

Extensions of permission were granted to Jervis Acres, Inc. to have a double advertising sign on the north side of E. Middle Tpk. and to Arthur Strickland to sell and repair used cars at 176 Toland Tpk.

A variance was granted to Romeo Infante, 168 Autumn St., to have a double advertising sign on the property line. Similar permission was given to Joseph McConville to enclose and extend a front porch sidewalk at 502 Woodbridge St.

Sign Denied

The Board denied a variance sought by Warren Howland, 870 Main St., to erect a 6' x 8'-0" free standing, lighted ground sign five feet from the street line which would be set back 10 feet from the street.

Also Denied

Also denied was a variance sought by Alfred Costa to erect an addition to a garage at 655 N. Main St. to include a workshop for equipment storage space.

The Board also denied a request for a variance to construct a two-story building at 245 E. Central St. in a Residential Zone.

Mrs. Levinsky explained that she planned to build a two-story building on the property. She said that the building would be used for a variety of purposes, including a workshop and a garage.

There would be no more than 12 stories, including the existing building.

Opposed Bid

An objection to the proposed shop was raised by Alexander a light by Richard Carpenter, 285 Henry St. Residence Zone A, who said he would build an attached porch and garage to the east side of the house which would be four and one-half feet closer to the street than allowed by regulations.

The friends also argued that he had the legislative experience, was a member of the Avon Town Committee and had had administrative experience. "As president of the United Insurance company in Hartford," he said.

His one serious comment was the hope that in convention, the Republican party would make its choice for governor from three bases. They were to select 1. The person they feel will make the best governor; 2. Someone on whom all factions in the party can agree; and 3. The candidate who will do the best job in selling the GOP record during the last four years and the GOP program for the future.

Paul Sweeney, candidate for reelection as the town's High Sheriff, referred to Altop as one of the two outstanding candidates for the party's nomination as governor. Although not endorsing Altop formally, Sweeney said he was an individual candidate with a terrific amount of brains, guts and knowledge. He did not mention the other nominee.

Mrs. Marie Boutelle of Middle-town, a state representative who is a candidate for nomination as secretary of State, expressed optimism about Republican prospects this fall. She said one of the party's big weaknesses was its "failure to tell the people adequately of the grand reform of the Republican Party."

She referred to Gov. Ribicoff's election four years ago as the result of a wide public relations campaign but said the "Ribicoff myth" had been "exposed."

Sweeney also referred to Gov. Ribicoff as a "master of propaganda" but claimed he did not have "know-how." Asking "what has he done?" Sweeney said "if Altop has any way to believe he would take the budget of the federal government to run the State."

Rep. Franklin Welles of Vernon

George-Picot said the French troops were in Tunisia by treaty. He said Tunisia had provided the necessary acquiescence to the troops in violation of an agreement last February that their status would remain unchanged pending negotiations between France and Tunisia.

The negotiations in which a U.S.-British group of officers acted as go-between, collapsed when Premier Felix Galliani—governor of Tunisia—overthrew George-Picot and said that Tunisia would not be bound by the 1923 agreement. British and U.S. members of the council said their governments were willing to revise the good office mission and George-Picot said he hoped to know by tomorrow how the De Gaulle government felt about this. The general in the past has been represented as being extremely touchy about anything smacking of foreign interference in French affairs.

Communicants And De Gaulle

Communist policy, both in France itself and in Moscow, has been conspicuously benevolent toward the advent of Premier de Gaulle.

Inside France, the Communist role has been defined by what the Communists did not do. They did not do anything they might have done to block the progress of de Gaulle.

There, one Soviet dignitary popped off in informal fashion, saying he thought de Gaulle might be a Communist agent.

There are two explanations, both of them leading toward the same ultimate hope, and neither of them good.

First, Moscow could be hoping that de Gaulle, with his past pronouncements in favor of direct negotiations between Paris and Moscow, in favor of greater independence for France in foreign policy, and in disapproval of NATO, will accommodate Moscow's foreign policy by breaking up the Western alliance against Moscow.

The second explanation is somewhat more involved, but more likely to be valid. Moscow, by this theory, believes that de Gaulle will be unable to solve the problems of France, and that, to the contrary, he attempted exercise of power, followed by his failure, will open France up to still another revolution, this one to be dominated by the Communists themselves.

By this theory, the Communists have helped de Gaulle come to power because they expect from him a rightist dictatorship which will be the prelude to a swing of France to the extreme political left. That, too, would break up the Western Alliance, for sure, and perhaps even add a member to an Eastern alliance.

Such Communist motives for not really opposing the advent of de Gaulle are raised enough for anyone to see. One way or another, they expect his coming to power to break out in their own ultimate advantage.

Premier de Gaulle and his advisers, then, can hardly be ignorant of what the Communist aspect from them. As for frustrating the expectations of the Communists that would not be too difficult, on paper at least, to achieve reforms without repression, at home, peace without blood in Algeria, and some healthy independence without recklessness in foreign policy—that would do the job.

Something In Common? Even when something seems assured, the process of diplomacy cannot tolerate having it just happen. There must be the required number of messages back and forth.

That's what Khrushchev first conceded that Russia would agree, reluctantly, to have a consultation of experts to discuss the technical side of mounting nuclear tests. There would be the business of President Eisenhower picking up the phone and completing all the

It is surely disappointing to all to all those who were looking forward to possible contents in both state conventions this month, to learn, even before the convention assembled, that each of them is in the bag, not once, but at least twice.

Early in April, the Bowles camp admitted modestly that it had the Democratic situation well in hand. It did not quite claim a majority of the delegates at that point, but left no doubt that it would have such a majority the moment the chips were down.

Now, with equal modesty, Tom Dodd has admitted that he has exactly 51 per cent of the Democratic delegates already named up. The prediction of this figure is convincing, because it testifies that the calculation behind the Dodd claim has been mathematically meticulous.

We have never yet come down to playing the game of public life in the bag than either Bowles or Dodd cannot be considered equally factual, because it does not cite exact mathematical calculations.

The mathematical certainty of the situation has to be limited to the admission that both Bowles and Dodd control the Democratic state convention.

Frederic Zeller has the convention bagged with 298 sure delegates for himself, only 18 delegates short of nomination, with a 700 reserve of 184 Bradley delegates to call upon in the moment of need. It may be that both Zeller and Bradley are claiming some identical delegates, but even, such duplication, must leave enough over to guarantee the nomination of Zeller.

135 Drivers Face Speeding Charges

Hartford, June 3 (AP)—State Police arrested 135 highway drivers for speeding over the July Memorial holiday, marked by only two traffic deaths.

Vigilance of the lawmen and a lot of sensible driving helped keep Connecticut's figure below the national average, which produced a record nationwide total of 371 fatalities.

The arrested speeders will lose their licenses, if convicted, for 30 days on first offenses and 90 on second offenses.

Their names will be added to the more than 18,000 drivers whose licenses have been suspended since Gov. Ribicoff's anti-speeding directive went into effect Jan. 1, 1956. The Democratic governor says the program will remain in force as long as he stays in office.

Judging from their past diplomatic behavior, they would not be finding this symbolic little corner unless they were both concerned with moving toward agreement in some broader policy area.

One can guess that both have a motivation which, although it may wave the flags of humanitarianism, and although it may indeed wind up serving the cause of humanity, is a hard-boiled and practical thing underneath. They may not be zealous to limit nuclear testing in order to spare humanity the perils of fallout, but they may be concerned with protecting the exclusiveness of their own nuclear club, still, at this moment, limited to themselves and to Britain. They may not be particularly interested in controlling themselves, but they may be willing to do that if it is the only way to blackball the ambitions of other nations to join the club. They may even have a certain perverse trust in each other—in, to specify, the sincerity of their joint desire to keep the bomb reserved to themselves and their own strategies.

Man In The Citroen

We are grateful, as always, for the non-essential information of our times. With the real Joan of Arc, of course, the news that she rode a white Citroen is not essential. But with her modern reincarnation, most news writers are so concerned with the figure on horseback that they neglect to chronicle the particular transportation which happened to make history in this case.

But thanks to one news service which recognizes the essentially of the non-essential, we do know now that the vehicle of the six historic de Gaulle rides to Paris and back, black, long and low-slung with headlights perched on top of its fenders, the Citroen is a solid, conservative, but reached Paris away-backed anyway.

"Pass the can, lad," said the poet, Hamlet. "There's an end of May." A good thing, too, may we say, this particular May.

Nothing became this May, except its coming and its going. The single day which was May 1 was perfect. So was the doubtless, May 30 and May 31, which closed the month.

All in between, with the exception of one or two evenings, was cold and wet.

This kind of May did produce certain perverse dividends for which one might perhaps have managed a certain grudging thankfulness, had one passed the can often enough. The wet, mild winter helped make all kind of blooms heavy and profuse. This cold, wet May saw to it that this bloom, once it had opened, had a longer life than usual. The result that forthwith, apple, dogwood and lilac overlapped one another more than usual, that tulips, with unusual politeness, waited for the iris, and that each individual kind of bloom lasted at least a week longer than usual. The result is the fact that it could make such bloom stand still, along with the thermometer, and the sun, could be entered, we suppose, on the plus side of the ledger. One could add, we concede further, that it was a very month in which it was very common sense to wait for the season to catch up to mortal endeavor, and in which any endeavor expended definitely was likely to end up as wasted.

But the only really convincing reason we can think of for this particular May is that there would have been a big hole in the calendar without it. We proclaim it ended not with the inevitable inevitability of the poet who could hardly bear to see it go, and who wished to stalk his sorrow, but

Author Hersey Wed

Field, June 3 (AP)—Author John Hersey and Mrs. Barbara Day Adams Kaufman of New York City and Westport, were married yesterday. They left for a Cape Cod honeymoon.

The marriage was the 43-year-old Pulitzer Prize winner's second. His bride's third. She is 32. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Stanley Lyon Houston in the Greenfield Hill, Congregational Church.

The couple will return in the fall to Hersey's home in nearby Southport.

Hersey won a Pulitzer prize in 1945 for his novel, "A Bell for Adano."

Ted Bats 1,000 in This League

Worcester, Mass., June 3 (AP)—Ted Williams gained new friends last night at Massachusetts State Prison.

The Boston Red Sox slugger, gripped in the worst slump of his career, batted 1,000 times in 1957.

Speaking as chairman of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation, Jimmy Fund-Williams thanked the prisoners for their donations.

In a question and answer period, Williams was asked his latest average.

"It's about .256 (actually .264) now, but it's going to get higher," Ted replied.

Another question from an inmate: "Will the Yankees beat Milwaukee in the World Series this year?"

"I'd grinned and said: "I'll give you a little tip. I'm going to bet on the Yankees."

L.A. Voters to Decide Dodgers' Fate

President Concerned With Issue

Los Angeles, June 3 (AP)—It's up to Los Angeles voters today to call the Dodgers safe or out at Chavez Ravine.

The situation has Dodger boss Walter O'Malley more concerned for once about ballot boxes than the pitcher's box.

The fate of proposition 13 in today's election will determine whether O'Malley goes ahead with his plans for a drab stadium in the wooded ravine, or builds his site only a mile from the city center.

Under the contract, O'Malley would build his own 12-million-dollar stadium and also finance the construction of a $10-million recreation center in the ravine. The deal was attractive enough to lure the Brooklynite to Los Angeles, at no little relocation expense.

It appeared above all, a majority of the city council, they approved it.

But a week of opposition developed, some of it on the council. And it gained momentum, so much so that petitions for the referendum got enough signatures to qualify for the ballot.

A chief opponent of the contract has been Councilman John H. Land, who represents one of the city's older sections. His main argument has been that the contract is a giveaway.

Land and his supporters have contended that the average Los Angeleno would get a lot more for his money than the city would get for its money.

Land also cites the taxes the Dodgers would pay—estimated at $100,000 annually—on their stadium.

Meyer Norris Paulson, who played a major role in affecting the Dodger transfer, has said that Los Angeles would become a laughing stock if it goes back to outbidding transferees again.

O'Malley himself at first kept a discreet silence. In fact, many believe a legislative committee looking into the contract, he could have given the only practical site for his projected ball park. He even hinted the Dodgers might be forced to look for another site if proposition B were turned down.

National League President Warren Giles indicated a hot note into the campaigning when he said that if proposition B passes, he would take steps to have the Dodger franchise transferred again.

Some people got angry.

Some people took this warning seriously. Some got angry. Others reminded of the club's new jack at Cleveland looking upon it as an ideal threat.

Who are the chances of a rejection by the voters of the O'Malley-city contract? Right now, it heads or tails. Take your choice.

Both sides express optimism. But even fate is divided. You hear such a "yes" vote is a vote for baseball. That a "no" vote is a vote against baseball.

Conceivably the Chavez Ravine contract could be renegotiated under advantages acceptable to both sides and the city, but at less advantage to O'Malley.

The voters will have their own smiling or sweating after the one is decided.

Indians Rated Sixth in CIAC Class A Ranks

Deerby, June 3 (AP)—Fairfield Prep, Southington and St. Basil's of Stamford were top seeded in their respective divisions in school-boy baseball tournament pairings announced today.

The division pairings were disclosed by the Rating Committee of the Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic Conference Baseball Tournament. The event gets underway today at the statewide level.

Four games in each of the three divisions will be played with Guilford and Bloomfield meeting this afternoon at Middletown in the Small School (Class C) Division.

St. Basil's, the Class C leader, was the state's highest rated team with 825 points followed by Berlin, with 482 points.

Fairfield Prep, with 520 points, was the Class A leader, followed by New Britain at 507.

The committee set down these two specific tournament pairings: Fairfield Prep, 520 points, vs. Southington, 430 points, at 1:30 p.m. at Middletown. Fairfield Prep, 520 points, vs. Berlin, 482 points, at 3:30 p.m. at Middletown.

Andrews Ousted In British Event

St. Andrews, Scotland, June 3 (AP)—Reg Taylor of South Africa dealt a crushing blow to American hopes of winning the Royal British Amateur Golf Championship today when he defeated Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., 2 and 1 in the second round.

Andrews, former U.S. public links champion who twice before had been among the last 16 in the British championship, on the strength of his superb play in the first round yesterday, had been rated as the leading American contender for the title.

Today's match was played under miserable conditions as rain, heavy fog and high winds swept the 4,800-yard Old Course of St. Andrews in spite of the weather. Taylor shot a par 56 on the front nine and was still in the lead at the end of the match when he was ousted by Taylor.

The match was the first of the day. Taylor and Andrews started at 11:30 a.m. and played the first nine holes in 35 minutes. Taylor led 2-1 at the end of the front nine.

Harvard Cut Athletic Program

Cambridge, Mass., June 3 (AP)—Harvard, the nation's oldest college and one of the best, has decided to cut its athletic budget.

The Harvard Corp. drastically cut support of the program and will leave last night in transferring $100,000 from the 1958 athletic budget.

The corporation acted on recommendations of the Faculty Committee on Athletics which reported operating costs of the athletic program have more than doubled since 1951.

An expected $100,000 boost in the budget was 1957-58 prompted the action. The amount of the budget was not announced, but one source said it was "in excess of one and a quarter million dollars."

REDS BID U.S. Add to Trade

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER Washington, June 4 (AP)—The United States began looking into the possibility of increased trade with Russia today on the basis of a direct bid from Premier Khrushchev to President Eisenhower.

The issue of eastern Europe policy was discussed by the State Department in a meeting with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin today.

President Theodore Roosevelt was in the White House today when he received a letter from Premier Khrushchev.

The letter, which was received by the State Department today, was a direct bid from the Soviet Premier to increase trade with the United States.

Officials said that between this and the next few days, the State Department will be in touch with the Soviet government regarding the bid.

But it was learned that Khrushchev's bid was not a simple request for increased trade, but a proposal for a comprehensive trade agreement.

Officials said that Khrushchev's bid was a significant step toward normalizing relations between the two superpowers.

Governor Says Senator Choice Not 'Sewed Up'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Governor Ribicoff says none of the three Democratic senatorial aspirants has the party's nomination "sewed up."

The race is still wide open, the Governor told the spring meeting of the Connecticut Circuit of the Associated Press last night in Stamford.

Ribicoff and U.S. Sen. William A. Purtell spoke informally to the meeting of publishers and editors from state newspaper members of the circuit.

Purtell, who is seeking reelection this fall, would give no indication as to whether he favored a particular gubernatorial running mate on the GOP ticket.

"I will not or cannot express any preference," he said. "I will be glad to run with anyone selected at the Republican convention."

The candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination for senator, and six of the GOP members of the circuit are also seeking reelection.

Ribicoff's comments on the Democratic nomination of the party's gubernatorial candidate were made at a news conference after the meeting.

The Governor said that he was not in a position to make any announcement regarding his own gubernatorial campaign.

VOL. LXXVII, No. 234 (TWELVE PAGES) Blast Jars Coast City Boy Killed

Portland, Ore., July 5 (AP)—A fireworks plant exploded with the fury of a bomb on the outskirts of Portland early today. One child was killed, more than 20 were injured and a score of homes were wrecked by the blast.

The charred body of a child, first believed to be a girl, was found in the wreckage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Howe. The boy, identified as Robert McCann, 11, was killed by a bomb that exploded in the front yard of the home.

Charles E. Ryan, 42, of 79 Vermont St., was arrested after the accident and charged with reckless driving. Patrolman James McCone said that Ryan, driving east on Hackmatack St., attempted to turn into the Main St. intersection.

Two Houses Wrecked The explosion wrecked two houses, it smashed doors and windows of a nearby motor and wrecked the street and debris from the wrecked plant and houses covered the highway.

Elderly residents of a nursing home in the city were temporarily removed from the building. The explosion was caused by a fire in a fireworks plant.

Washington, July 5 (AP)—Bernard Goldfine, resting after a long illness, died today. He was 67 years old.
