So Much for Angling At least one Manchester resident is singing "Hail to Our Fair Feathered Friends" these days.

One of these went into a bombing-run, plunger into the sea and reappeared a second later with a good sized fish in its beak. Flying overhead, however, the bird suddenly lost its prize which landed at the feet of the little girl.

Hot, Noisy Debates Warm weather is here again. The swallows are back in Capistrano and the din of traffic is back in the hearing room of the Municipal Building.

Policeman's Matinee Some State Policemen working the night watch must have been lonely a week or so ago. Or perhaps he was just sad remembering something or other.

No Strings Attached Richard S. Tibbitts, executive director of the Town Development Commission, has developed a sudden, and understandable, aversion to bread pullers.

The Raid Four members of the law enforcement arm went down to the beaches of Stonington a while ago to investigate the clam population.

Under a Shadow A Manchester couple did quite a bit of traveling in Connecticut over the Fourth of July weekend. The State was crawling with troopers, they discovered on Saturday the minute they went on the road.

Rare Phenomenon In Sky at Sunset

A string along the line of the ecliptic, which is the patch the sun takes among the stars. Actually, of course, all those bodies are millions of miles apart. For example, Venus is nearly 52 million miles from the Earth's moon. Dr. Franklin said the phenomenon is extremely rare but he could not say just how rare. To do this, he said, "you would have to compute the periods of revolution for all the bodies in the solar system taken simultaneously."

Cindy Dying Out: Rounds Cape Cod

Boston, July 11 (AP)—Tropical storm Cindy, the bulk of its fury spent on the South Atlantic seaboard, swung off Cape Cod early today, dropping moderate to heavy rain and packing winds up to 60 miles an hour.

The storm was expected to taper off by mid-day before heading for Nova Scotia and a gradually diminishing finale. New Jersey, New York and most of New England were hit with a steady downpour as the storm moved northeastward. Tides ran one to three feet above normal and gale warnings were displayed from Atlantic City, N. J., to Eastport, Maine. The Weather Bureau said that only Nantucket Island and coastal sections of Cape Cod were in any danger of slight damage from the storm as it moved ever northward at lessening force.

Cindy spawned tornadoes, hailstorms and floods in its passage up the coast. Baby tornadoes swirled through an area near Portsmouth, Va., at Westover on the James River, southwest of Richmond, and at Nags Head, N. C., ocean resort. No injuries were reported and damage was not extensive. The rain-laden storm brought relief to parched farm lands in the south. Corn and tobacco crops in the South Atlantic states faced serious threat until the storm doused the area.

...the Right to Know

By HOPE LAWDER BITCHIE

Whether fulfilling the role of moderator, which he now does on "Face the Nation" each Sunday; or, as reporter three times daily on CBS news broadcasts, which he is; or, as a 1-man panel with "Congressional Closeup" (WCBS-TV, Saturdays), Stuart Novins plays a truly significant part in the timeless task of keeping us—the American people—informed of world affairs.

We sat with some humility and some pride on the 17th floor of CBS, Inc., in a famous newsroom of the network, sat quietly discussing Face, and Stu Novins' schedule. We asked him some of the questions you might have asked him—such as, are the guests briefed ahead of time? Do they know what questions will be asked? Is there a rehearsal?

How was the interview at the Kremlin with Khrushchev prepared? What about Castro and Cuba? Or Dave Beck? Does he prefer some newsmen rather than others on his panel? What evasions do guests use? What is the theme of Face?

Erudite, handsome, the man who presides on the panel answered the last question first. In a soft voice, he said: "The theme of 'Face the Nation' is a determined search for the truth, objective questioning of public figures who are on top-of-the-news, and respect for the intelligence of the American people. Our belief is that it is not so much the reporters' right to report as it is the people's right to know."

Likes Balanced Panel

He pulled his tie away from his collar, paused to light a cigarette. "My favorite panel? No, I have no specific people whom I prefer, but I do like a balanced panel. Ted Ayers, our producer, invites the newsmen. We almost always have one reporter who's fast and snappy; and one man whose approach is dogged, even bull-dogged who will hang on to get an answer; and a third who is sort of the middle of the road. There are no rehearsals. I arrive in Washington about three hours before airtime, and with Ted Ayers, go over the area of interrogation. About half an hour before the program, I meet with the reporters and we again study the editorial angles we wish to unearth. Only one question—the first—is planned ahead of time. That is the only question that I know is going to be asked. No guest ever knows. "How is it possible," we asked, "for one man to come up on all the penetrating questions the panel will ask?"

"We try to have as guest the most authoritative person in his field, and one who is concerned with the current topic of discussion that we will probe. He, therefore, expects certain areas of inquiry to be covered. He knows his subject, of course. I have nothing but the greatest respect for the courageous man, or woman, who will face the nation through the impersonal eye of the television camera and the sensitive ear of the microphone. If a public figure refuses to answer a penetrating question, he is apt to be mobbed the next day; if he evades, he has the reporters to contend with. All guests come to Face of their own volition. They cannot hide behind the Fifth Amendment."

Aim at Facts

"Do the newsmen ask loaded questions?"

"Emphatically no!" answered Conciliator Novins. His back was up a bit. "That is not our purpose. We are not trying to make news. No reporter would be in our program twice if he aimed for headlines rather than exposure of facts. We hope to probe into some of the dark corners of the subject and expose a little light. We hope to ask questions our viewers would ask if they were present."

"Do you often feel that you are sitting on a keg of dynamite?"

The tall man stretched his legs, grinned. "Perhaps, at times. I have to sense when to shift from one question to another—to keep the half hour in balance. You asked before about disturbing factors. The most disturbing of all—not only on Face—but on all Washington news coverage, is the hiding behind the shield of security when security is not actually involved. It sometimes happens that a public figure uses 'security' as an out; then, and quite rightly, the reporters keep on, probe and dig until they get an honest answer."

Beck Volunteered

Novins leaned forward, earnestly said: "We all know that it would be most unwise to announce to the world exactly how many bombs we have. That is security. But when Senate payrolls, or any other administrative and general problem is the subject and the interviewee invokes the shield of security, it is the newsmen's right and their duty to find the truth.

"For instance, Dave Beck volunteered to be our guest. He was not forced to appear on Face. Yet, his appearance materially influenced what happened to him, because he was forced to admit using money which belonged to the Union. Penetrating questions pierced through his evasions."

"But surely," we persisted, "You must have had to prepare questions ahead of your visit to Khrushchev. Did the Kremlin demand a briefing? Clearance?"

"All we agreed to do, and all we did do, was to present various areas of subjects for his interpreter to prepare for him. Had we, as we asked, provided definite questions it would have been only another propaganda interview. That was out. If you recall, we did put Khrushchev on the spot about the Hungarian situation."

"Was this also true of Nehru? Of Castro?"

"There were no prepared questions for any one of them. We were very proud to announce when we interviewed them that these questions are spontaneous and have not been previously cleared."

Correspondent Novins has flown to Cuba four times since January 1, and he commented that he was not very popular with Fidel Castro. "It is not a comic opera revolution. It is a people's revolution, has the popular support, and many individuals are dying."

"One half hour of 'Face the Nation' can't catch up with all the truth, but it can help us live better with our neighbors at home and throughout the world."

VIEW points By HOPE L. RETORIE Everyone of us who liked "Flibber McGee and Molly" on radio probably has different picture in mind of what the famous "79 Wistful Vista" home looks like. We'll soon see Bob Sweeney and Cathy Lewis in the title roles. Bob is a writer, newscaster, announcer and producer as well as an actor. In 1944, he teamed up with Hal March as a writer-actor team. Cathy Lewis co-starred with Marie Wilson in the TV and radio series "My Friend Irma" series. Miss Lewis is also a writer and has sold stories to national magazines and network radio programs.

"I Have Served My Sentence"

—and "I'm Moving Back To The City," says Jerome Weidman, the man who has kept a generation of Americans laughing—and thinking—in such books as The Enemy Camp, What's In It For Me?, and The Horse That Could Whistle "Dixie". Mr. Weidman has had his fill of country life, and is getting out. Read his story and see whether you think he's right this time.

Marinas For The Millions

The recent tremendous rise in the popularity of boating as a sport has resulted in a furious scramble to provide adequate mooring facilities for the millions of pleasure craft taking to the water this summer. Cast off with us this month and tour the country's waterways, from Flamingo, Florida, to Seattle, Washington, and examine the marina—that modern dock-side marvel designed and built for those who enjoy living afloat.

Cool, Exquisite Salads

Here are salads—light, crisp, green, and varied—to brighten the outlook for all mid-July cooks. Crab Louis and Garden Court Salad are hearty enough dishes to provide a refreshing main course; molded Pineapple-Cheese Salad, Empress Salad, and Cucumber Mold could be deliciously chilly luncheon treats.

What? Live In A Round House?

Before you quickly reply, "Not on your life," have a look at the one we found. Another in our Unusual Suburban Home series, the Round House at Sausalito was built by a young couple who like to entertain, who have a large art collection, who enjoy magnificent views, and who have found that for them, "going in circles" is the best way to go.

John Pike

Our cover artist this month is no stranger to the water, having grown up in a sea-side suburb outside of Boston. He now lives in Woodstock, New York, with his wife Zellah and their son, Peter. He is a member of the National Academy of Design, has been a town Senior Councilman for seven years, has just completed his 25th one-man show, and was named Woodstock's "Citizen of the Year" for 1959.

Cranbrook - Suburban Art Center

"The way to learn about art," said a very honest critic, "is to look—and live with it." Around Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills the fortunate neighbors of the Cranbrook Institutions can look and live with the beautiful balance and simplicity of Saarinen's buildings, the sweep of landscaped gardens and the magic of Carl Milles' watery world of nymphs and dolphins. Typically, Cranbrook started in 1918 as a Meeting House, put up by its founders, George Booth and Ellen Scripps Booth, to serve the community's needs, and those needs are still being served now that the Booth's cultural and educational foundation has become internationally famous. Art center and educational foundation, yes—and also summer day camp, summer drama school in the Greek Theatre for the young people of the neighborhood, local music and drama center, beautiful park, open to all. The community's pride—and also the community's joy.

Portico of Eliel Saarinen's Academy of Art building, with Milles' sculptures, Europa and fountain, in the foreground.

Christ Church, Cranbrook—built by Mr. and Mrs. George Booth. Goodhue Associates, architects.

Three hundred landscaped acres in Bloomfield Hills—an Institute of Science and an Academy of Art—Christ Church and three secondary schools—all this is Cranbrook, internationally famous, locally beloved.

Prospect from a country arbor—Jerome Weidman, contemplating his return to the city.

We asked for it—and we got it—the answer to our question about this famous author's imminent return to the Big City...

Why I'm

Editors' Note

This may seem like the most scurrilous, outrageous attack on suburban living you have ever read. But we couldn't help laughing, and we hope you'll laugh too. We thoroughly disagree with the author of I Can Get It For You Wholesale, The Enemy Camp and countless other best-sellers but, like Voltaire, we are ready to defend to the death his "right to say it"—especially as we've engaged another best-selling author, Peter De Vries, to reply to him in our August issue.

AFTER a dozen years as a commuter I am leaving the suburbs. My reason? The same reason that caused Edmond Dantes to leave his dungeon in the Chateau D'If and return to Paris: I have finished serving my sentence.

The fact that my incarceration was self-imposed made it no less onerous than the imprisonment to which the hero of The Count Of Monte Cristo was subjected by his implacable enemies. I did not realize, of course, when I forsook the city pavements on which I had been born, raised, educated, married, and inducted into parenthood, that I was turning my back on all the things that make life worth living. On the contrary.

I thought I was embarking on a way of life that would be to my previous existence what the Koh-i-noor is to the rhinestone. My horizons, I was told, like those of Columbus when he set his course due west, were about to be enlarged beyond recognition. Life, which I was told in my teens began at forty, I was told in my thirties began in suburbia.

What nobody told me is that it never gets very far beyond that beginning. Applying the word living to existence in the suburbs is like applying the word chilly to the Arctic Circle. It's true enough, but it hardly tells the whole story.

My story, like that of most suburbanites, begins with parenthood. Until that hit me, I seem to recall that I was a creature of average intelligence and reasonable courage. As soon as I became a father, I became as well a fool and a coward. Instead of paying attention to the evidence of my own experience, which indicated clearly that it was possible to enjoy as I had a healthy and happy childhood in the city, I listened worriedly and guiltily to the child guidance counselors, a surprisingly noisy crew. They insisted that any parent who could afford to, but did not provide, his offspring during the years of growth with the benefits of country life, deserved to be shot and, when his resentful children reached the trigger-pulling age, probably would be.

Like most fools and cowards, I sought and of course found reasons to demonstrate to my own satisfaction that my foolishness was wisdom and my cowardice bravery. It wasn't only for the children that I was moving to the suburbs. Oh, no. Look what it would do for me and my wife as well. After a dozen years of looking, a number of things began to come into focus. They all added up to reasons for going back where I came from.

The most important reason, of course, is that whatever advantages suburbia may have for the growing child, or for the parent of the growing child, become disadvantages when the child grows up. Our children were infants when we brought them to the country. They could not fight back. They are now twelve years older. I can no longer get away with telling them, for example, that our local baseball games are as exciting as anything that takes place in the Yankee Stadium. They have reached the age of reason. They know better. They want to go to the Yankee Stadium. As a matter of strict accuracy, so do I, but that's a minor point.

The main point is that for the last few years the amount of time I have been able to devote to earning a living is a mere fraction of the time I have been forced to devote to driving back and forth between our home in the suburbs and the Yankee Stadium; the American Museum of Natural History (like any city museum, it is bigger and better than our local suburban museums); Radio City Music Hall (like any city movie theatre, it is bigger and better than etc.); Madison Square Garden (like any city sports arena, it is etc.); the Bronx Zoo (like any big city zoo, etc.); and a list of other attractions as long as my doleful countenance, all of which are available only in the city, and all of which my children (who I was told a dozen years ago wanted nothing from life but fresh air and sunlight) feel they cannot live without.

I feel the same way. I have nothing against fresh air and sunlight. I am an average man who likes to live near the things he likes, and the things his children like, and getting to the things we like from where we now live is a quicker road to bankruptcy than anything thought up by Mr. Micawber. The time

Leaving the Suburbs

by Jerome Weidman

wasted in traveling back and forth between suburbia and a decent ball game, or a Broadway play (when you find anything as good as "My Fair Lady" in West Moriches, let me know), is as nothing by comparison with the expense, especially if you are playing host to your own children.

WHEN as a city boy I went to a ball game, or to any other of the many exciting events that the march of civilization has decreed can take place only in a large city, my mother gave me my lunch, subway fare, the price of a bleachers seat, and instructions to get home before dark. When as a suburban father I take my brood to, let us say, a meeting of the UN Council (which they have been told by their suburban school teacher they MUST NOT MISS), I feel as though I were lifting the check for one of Diamond Jim Brady's more elaborate entertainments. Between ten-thirty in the morning when we set out, and ten-thirty at night when—as my suburban neighbors ("cards," every one of them) put it—we return to the stables, the family exchequer—or, as daddy puts it, his bankroll—takes a beating.

Gasoline, highway tolls, parking fees in the city, taxis from the city garage to the place in town we have come to visit, at least two restaurant meals, I don't know how many in-between snacks—it doesn't matter whether we have come in to see "The Music Man" from orchestra seats or take a ride on the Staten Island Ferry, the day's expenses always seem to add up to $60.00.

There are suburbanites who claim they manage to reduce this figure by leaving the car at home and going into town by train. I claim they either never learned how to add, or they don't know the meaning of the word fear. I do. I learned it as a commuter.

WHEN I first moved to the suburbs, our local railroad was a means of transportation. Today as I write (with a nervously shaking hand) our local railroad has become either a bad joke or a daily invitation to violent death, and I gather from the public prints that the same is true of almost every commuters' railroad in the country: the seats are filthy, the washrooms detestable, the conductors sullen, the fares outrageous, the schedules lies, and the passengers helpless victims of the whole miserable system.

The camera catches Mr. Weidman in a typical suburban pose. There will be other problems, he admits, when the family moves to their city apartment but HE won't be the one to dump the trash or put up the screens. And no more bills for sheep manure!

doomed to failure, as was Icarus when he pined on those waxen wings.

City rents are high, of course. But not nearly so high as the excitement of rejoining the human race. There will be problems on East Eighty-Second Street. After all, as Edmond Dantes discreetly put it, I have been away for a while.

But at least there won't be any bills for sheep manure.

The Weidman family by the brook where they have finished—and we quote—"serving their sentence."

NEWPORT BEACH—From a wasteland to a boatman's paradise so luxurious some guests have stayed tied up at dockside for twelve years.

More and More Marinas

TIME was, when a son was born, his father rushed right out and enrolled him at Harvard. These days—and we have this on good authority—the thing to do on the day your son is born is to run right down to the local yacht basin and place his name on the waiting list for a berth for the boat he will one day have. Chances are that there will be adequate facilities for the boating millions by the time your son needs it.

As it is, there are almost three million Americans who want boats of their own this summer, but won't be getting them because there aren't enough moorings to be had. The three million or so who already own sloops, canoes, houseboats, and cabin cruisers are swamping all available facilities at the choice dockside marvels that line our waterways from coast to coast—the multi-million-dollar marinas.

What Is a Marina?

And what, exactly, is a marina? It is, we are told, a "boat basin with facilities for berthing, securing, and servicing of all types of recreational craft, as well as providing adequate supplies, provisions, storage, and fueling facilities." This is the "textbook" definition, which only hints at the great variety of goods and services available to the weary skipper who puts in at one of them. Today's marina is practically a suburb on its own, laid out and fully equipped to satisfy the least wish of those who like to live afloat.

A complete marina, 1959 version, furnishes not only well-planned slips, launching ramps, winter storage, marine railways, marine repair and supply shops; and auto parking space, but boats for charter, first-aid stations, auto rental service, restaurants, showers, brokerage offices, clubhouses, swimming pools and other recreational facilities, complete shopping center, waterway travel bureaus, and boatels (marine motels).

In addition, from the moment you tie up, here are some of the other features of a marina that are becoming almost commonplace. There are marinas that have classes in sailor's English for that landlubber guest of yours. At some, you need only pick up the phone in that conveniently located booth up the pier and find baby sitters, hairdressers, barbers, tailors, photographers, as well as pick-up boys to handle

3,000,000 visiting skippers will tie up this summer at these wonders of the waterways—for everything from gas and moorings to laundry service and baby sitters laundry, groceries, and mail; and, for the weary businessman who can't bear to get away from it, all—a dockside secretary!

If you're hungry, at certain marinas you may have a five-course buffet supper impeccably served aboard the family cruiser by an expert steward, and if you don't like to make up bunks, swab decks, and handle other boat chores, just notify mate service. If you're tired of the galley curtains or want the main cabin done over, the marina's interior decorators and upholsterers will do it. A number of marinas will rebuild your entire boat and repair your sails. And while they are about it, you can check into the boatel, take a dip in the pool, and enjoy "Skipper Steak Deluxe," "Sailorette Salad," and "Nautical Noodles" at the marina restaurant.

East Side, West Side

Although there are now marinas in every part of the country, the most famous, and most luxurious so far are still around our classic "sun spots."

The first of the big, modern, super-marinas is Bahia Mar, on the Intercoastal Waterways at Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Built in 1949, Bahia Mar is on a man-made island which centers three miles of concrete piers, and is a perfect example of how swamp lands are being reclaimed for marina sites. A visit to Bahia Mar is like a visit to a complete little waterways community. The shopping center is made up of 28 stores, plus a U. S. Weather Recording Station and a branch of the U. S. Post Office. The recreation center has a game area and swimming pool, and the yacht club offers outdoor movies and music for dancing. A fleet of 27 boats is available for charter; seven sight-seeing passenger ships visit nearby points of interest daily; and there are water taxis to hail if you're in a hurry. Last year, this 450-boat marina logged in 1,240 yachts.

Some other Florida pleasure-boating centers are particularly interesting because of their colorful history. Flamingo, once the hideaway and escape route for desperados who travelled the alligator-infested mangrove swamps to reach their boats is now the home of a new 200-boat marina and visitor's center. Another interesting spot is Apalachicola. At one time it was a sleepy little fishing town where it was difficult to earn a living. Thanks largely to its modern marina, it is now a booming resort area for those who like to fish in the Gulf of Mexico and Apalachicola Bay with its 75 miles of surrounding rivers and lakes.

On the Pacific side there is a whole string of plush marinas that make the California coastline a boat-lover's paradise. Redwood City, near San Francisco, is one of the many suburbs taking to the water this year with a marina of its own. Near Los Angeles is the magnificent $25 million Marina Playa Del Rey. Partially in operation now, it should be completed in 1960. A bit farther south the state is establishing a series of picturesque boating playgrounds at Alamitos Bay and Redondo Beach. When finished, this project promises to be the largest small-boat anchorage in the world.

California's Newport Beach, once a wasteland, is the site of some twenty present-day marinas. Here, for example, are the popular Balboa Bay Club and the exclusive Villa Marina. The Villa's patio cottages for permanent and transient guests and other deluxe accommodations and services have kept some guests tied up at dockside for the past twelve years. On a bright night you might see, in the harbor, the yachts of visiting royalty, the cruiser of a South American President, the houseboat of a college professor and, in the section designed for small craft, the dugout canoe of an American Indian.

THE PORT WASHINGTON L. I. RIVIERA—The Stanley Spivacks have berthed there for 5 years, and spend each vacation on the waterways. Here, Stan has the tank of Kismet II filled; Judy adjusts Karen's life preserver as Janis looks on; and ice is brought aboard for the fully equipped galley of the 30' Egg Harbor.

In the southernmost part of the state one of the country's most impressive city projects—Mission Bay Aquatic Park—is being rushed to completion. A twenty-five-year development, this mammoth $27,200,000 boat hostel will accommodate 10,000 boat owners. There will be features unusual even to marinas, such as a showboat, an aquatic sports arena, an aquarium, a drive-in water restaurant, and a service station canning the deep-sea fish you catch.

Wherever There's Water
What promises to be one of the finest installations in the east is Yacht Haven, situated on three islands just off Stamford, Conn. The project, begun in mid-1957, is unique in that it is the first marina known to offer a public issue of shares of common and preferred stock. Another Eastern boat mecca is Gloucester Gateway on Rust Island, Gloucester, Massachusetts. When complete it will have an amphitheater, an apartment building, and a hotel designed along the lines of the Caribe Hilton. Even Boston now has its first marina, an 800-boat accommodation at the former Squantum Air Base on Boston Harbor.

Naturally, the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway is inspiring our Great Lakes cities and towns to go full speed ahead into the building of waterway accommodations for pleasure boats. Toledo's Port Authority is hurrying completion of its Seaway Marina on Kelley's Island, Lake Erie; and other facilities are being developed all along the southern shore of the lake to Erie, Pennsylvania, where a 2,500-boat harbor is nearing completion. Cleveland has created public harbor facilities for 700 pleasure craft in the metropolitan area. At Detroit's Roostertails Marina there will soon be an amphitheater for viewing racing events. In the same category is the waterside park and launching facility on Lake Washington, Seattle.

The Marina's Future
What is the future of the marina? More than one hundred million dollars will be spent this year throughout the nation to produce housing for "pleasure craft, but the money will not even begin to fill the needs of boat-happy Americans. "Sorry, no space," are familiar words to the 1,825,000 who filed applications in their local areas last year and who were turned away. Boat dealers find that they have no difficulty selling the boat, if they can also supply the mooring.

The nation's waterways, from ocean-side to inland rivers and lakes, have, indeed, become another "new frontier." Plenty of water, millions of people who long to be on it—all we need now are more and more marinas.

How To Crash A Party

By Frank Jacobs

Chin up, eyes front . . . and the rest is easy

It's 10 p.m. on a Saturday evening and you, the man of the house, are bored. The wife and kids are away—visiting in-laws. The TV fare is tasteless and you've read every book and magazine in the house. You've just about decided to turn in when suddenly your ears pick up the semi-distant sounds of revelry. You listen closely. Can it be? Yes, it's true. That new couple next door is throwing a party. You're sure it's a party (and a pretty big one at that) because you hear a number of key party noises. The shriek of a spilled ice cube bouncing off a surprised bare shoulder. The roar of an Impala reversing out of a petunia bed. The blare of a dance record played at the wrong speed with a blunt needle. Yes, indeed. This is a party.

Now comes your crucial moment of decision—to crash or not to crash. You decide to crash, but hesitate. After all, what can you lose? But—how can you invade the gathering when you don't even know the host? How, indeed! You only have to approach your objective with the right attitude, and you are sure to succeed. There are any number of time-tested party-crashing methods to choose from. Here are several which have proven exceptionally successful:

The Concerned Method
"I've been expecting an important letter and I wonder if the postman left it in your box by mistake . . . oh, I didn't know you were entertaining."

The Parental Method
"My son, Tommy, tells me that he attends the same school as your boy. Be great if we could work out a car pool for them . . . oh, you have company!"

The Musical Method
"I'm a record collector, and I sure would like to know where you got that dance music you're playing . . . is that Scotch?"

The Needy Method
"Pardon me, but I wonder if you own a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica? I'm trying to settle an argument on the drainage area of the Orinoco River . . . am I interrupting something?"

The Man's Best Friend Method
"Our spaniel, Fred, cut his paw in the rock garden and we're fresh out of adhesive tape . . . oh, I see you're having a party."

The Togetherness Method
"Heard some singing over here and thought now's as good a time as any to organize a neighborhood group to sing Christmas carols . . . gee, looks like you've got a houseful!"

The Reverse Approach
"The wife and I are throwing a little shindig soon and we'd like to invite you and your . . . oh, no, I really couldn't! Well, all right, but just one drink!"

UNUSUAL SUBURBAN HOME

SAUSALITO ROUND HOUSE

The Bensons entertain as a sunny afternoon changes to a soft, foggy evening that drifts across the bay.

THE Walter Bensons wanted their house to be round so that they could get maximum exposure to their magnificent views.

To live way, way up on the top of a mountain in a house that seems to melt in with its surroundings; to look freely all about you and see the mountain ridges to the side, the bay and ocean below, and the teeming city across that you must be a part of and yet can turn away from at will—this was the dream of the Bensons, of suburban Sausalito, California. They built their turret in the sky—a round house in red-wood and glass in which every slightest turn of the head brings a new, breathtaking view. Surrounded by mountains, sea, islands, trees, and sky, the house that embraces all these majesties is a tribute to the architect, Mario Corbett, A.I.A., and to the owner's eye for beauty.

Main Floor Plan—Pattern for Life In The Round

Would you live in a circular house? The Bensons do, and for the best of reasons

Here is the round house, seen from below. Framed in eucalyptus trees, it stands on the highest point of this mountain ridge, flanked by huge walls of concrete blocks which protect it from the frequent high winds and rains driving in from the Pacific.

The kitchen (see Floor Plan) is a corridor adjoining the dining area. The sink, the space for basic small appliances, and the stove form a continuous, convenient line. Next to the refrigerator at right is a long working area which also serves for informal dining. Here Mrs. Benson prepares canapés for her guests as a friend looks on.

Mrs. Benson sits on the front terrace and looks out over San Francisco Bay. Angle Island is on her right. On her left is Belvedere Island and the Tiburn Peninsula. The body of water between them is Raccoon Strait. Note the pool, which carries out the circular motif found throughout the house, and the elliptical dining table, seen through glass doors leading into the living room.

SALADS

Special and Satisfying

Here are salads to start putting together in the cool of the morning... some of them hearty enough for a tempting main dish... all of them ideal for midsummer appetites.

MOLDED PINEAPPLE-CHEESE SALAD

To Prepare: 30 MIN. To Chill: 2 TO 3 HRS.

- 1 No. 2½ can crushed pineapple, drained (reserve sirup)
- 2 tablespoons (2 env.) unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
- 1 cup orange juice
- 2 or 3 drops yellow food coloring
- 1 lb. cream cheese, softened
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice

1. Pour ½ cup of the reserved pineapple sirup into a small bowl. Sprinkle gelatin evenly over sirup. Let stand about 5 min. to soften.
2. Add enough water to remaining sirup to measure 1 cup liquid. Heat until very hot. Remove from heat and immediately stir in the softened gelatin until gelatin is completely dissolved. Add sugar and salt; stir until dissolved. Mix in pineapple juice, orange juice, and food coloring.
3. Cool; chill in refrigerator or over ice and water until mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white. If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.
4. Lightly oil a 2-qt. ring mold with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil); drain.
5. Beat cream cheese until fluffy. Add lemon peel and juice gradually, beating well. When gelatin mixture is about the same consistency as the cheese mixture, stir several tablespoonfuls into cheese mixture. Continue to add gelatin mixture slowly, beating constantly, until well blended. Blend in the crushed pineapple. Turn into mold and chill until firm, 2 to 3 hrs.
6. To unmold, run tip of knife gently around edges of mold. Invert onto a chilled serving plate and remove mold. (If necessary, wet a clean towel in hot water and wring it almost dry; wrap hot towel around mold for a few seconds. If mold does not loosen, repeat.) Arrange clusters of frosted grapes and mint leaves around the mold. Fill center of ring with cantaloupe or honeydew melon balls and top with a spray of mint leaves. Serve with Pineapple Salad Dressing. 10 to 12 servings

PINEAPPLE SALAD DRESSING

To Prepare: 35 MIN.

- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 2 egg whites
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 tablespoons butter
- ¾ cup chilled whipping cream

1. Mix the sugar, cornstarch, and salt together in the top of a double boiler. Stir in ½ cup pineapple juice. Stirring gently and constantly, bring mixture rapidly to boiling over direct heat; cook for 3 min.
2. Place over simmering water. Vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of the hot mixture into the egg yolks. Immediately blend into mixture in double boiler. Cook over simmering water about 5 min. Stir slowly to keep mixture cooking evenly. Remove double boiler from heat.
3. Beat the egg whites until frothy. Add the 2 tablespoons sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Beat until rounded peaks are formed. Gently blend into mixture in top of double boiler.
4. Heat the 1 cup pineapple juice to lukewarm. Stirring constantly, gradually add to egg-white mixture. Cook over simmering water until thick and smooth, about 10 min., stirring constantly. Add the butter and stir until melted. Remove from heat. Cool; chill.
5. Meanwhile, chill a bowl and rotary beater.
6. When pineapple mixture is chilled, using the chilled bowl and beater, beat the cream until cream is of medium consistency (plies softly). Gently fold into pineapple mixture.

About 4 cups dressing

Note: This salad dressing, with or without the whipped cream, is equally delicious.

CRAB LOUIS

To Prepare: 15 MIN.

- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped green olives
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ¼ cup chili sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Shredded lettuce
- Crab meat

1. Blend together all ingredients except lettuce and crab meat.
2. Prepare enough shredded lettuce and crab meat for as many servings as desired. Arrange crab meat on a bed of shredded lettuce on each chilled salad plate. Spoon a generous amount of dressing over each serving. Garnish with ripe olives, wedges of hard-cooked egg, tomato, and lemon.

About 2 cups dressing

Note: For an interesting variation, stir ¼ cup sparkling white grape juice into dressing.

GARDEN COURT SALAD

For each serving, arrange a flat bed of shredded lettuce on a chilled salad plate. Top in the following order with: 3 crosswise slices avocado brushed with lemon juice, a large thick slice of tomato, and ¼ cup shrimp, crab meat, or chicken salad. Garnish with a ring of sieved hard-cooked egg yolk, spiced peach, ripe olives, and parsley (see photo). Serve with Thousand Island Dressing.

EMPRESS SALAD

Wash and thoroughly chill salad ingredients before preparing salad. Prepare, using as much of each as desired, watermelon chunks, pear cubes (unpared), and cucumber cubes (pared). Toss the fruit and cucumber cubes in the salad bowl with escarole and slightly sweet French dressing (made with lemon juice) to coat evenly. Serve immediately.

- 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 3 tablespoons mashed anchovy fillets

2. To serve, add the dressing to crisp salad greens and gently turn and toss until greens are evenly coated. Serve immediately.

GREEN GODDESS SALAD DRESSING WITH RIPE OLIVES

Follow recipe for Green Goddess Salad Dressing. Mix ½ cup chopped ripe olives with the dressing before chilling.

Note: For a heartier salad, mix about 3 cups deveined cooked shrimp which have been thoroughly chilled with about 2 qts. salad greens before blending with salad dressing. Chicken or crab meat may be substituted for the shrimp.

RECORDS

RENATA TEBALDI has given the world her great talents without the usual displays of prima donna temperament. London records have captured her magnificent voice again, this time in MADAMA BUTTERFLY and GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST.

MICHAEL RABIN is to the violin what Cliburn is to the piano. At 23, one of the foremost interpreters of the romantic composers, he comes out this summer with a new album, PAGANINI CAPRICES. (Capitol)

With enthusiasm, energy and wit, Villa-Lobos conducts two of his own compositions. BACHIANAS BRASILEIRAS NOS. 4 & 7 are each four-part pieces with the folklore and color of Brazil running through them. (Angel)

Joseph Schuster and Friedrich Wuehrer have joined with Vox's engineers to produce Beethoven's complete MUSIC FOR CELLO AND PIANO. This unique album may become the prize of your collection. Another beautiful new recording features the horn: one side is MOZART'S QUINTET IN E FLAT MAJOR for oboe, clarinet, bassoon and horn, and is done by the Dennis Brain Wind Ensemble. The other side is the BERKELEY TRIO FOR VIOLIN, HORN AND PIANO played by Brain, Horsley and Parikian. (Capitol)

KHATCHATURIAN: SYMPHONY NO. 2, Stokowski conducting the Symphony of the Air—bold emotional music. It was first performed in 1945, and gained immediate popularity. Recorded by United Artists.

The musicianship of Wilhelm Backhaus needs no introduction. On a London release, BRAMMS PIANO RECITAL, he plays intermezzos, ballads, a romance, a rhapsody and a capriccio in a kaleidoscope of piano music.

Veterans of show biz, El Bingo and Sinatra both have new discs this month. Crosby's record (Decca) IN A LITTLE SPANISH TOWN is smooth and Latin in the best of the old crooner's style. Frankie's is entitled LOOK TO YOUR HEART (Capitol), a dozen love ballads in the relaxed Sinatra mood.

For these hot summer nights when you can take the portable outside, pick up a record of SING ALONG WITH MITCH: FOLKSONGS. Several copies of the songs are included so people can sing all the words "along with Mitch." (Columbia)

Three gems of progressive jazz, that gentle, mellow West Coast sound . . . HOLIDAY IN BRAZIL features the talents of Bud Shank, and is a fascinating demonstration of saxophone technique. (World Pacific) . . . THE MASTERSOUNDS is a swinging jazz quartet of bass, vibes, piano and drums. The record is ballads and blues, deep reverberating sounds like boats blowing in the night. (World Pacific) . . . EVERYBODY DIGS BILL EVANS is endorsed on the jacket by four of the greatest jazzmen today. Pianist Evans has an inventive mind and a sparkling technique. Riverside has given it the full treatment.

BABELS AND BONGOOS (yes, that's the title) is a group of rhythms by the Irving Fields Trio. Using some old familiar Mediterranean folk tunes, piano, bass and drum beat out the cha-cha, bolero and rumba. (Decca)

Renata Tebaldi as Cio-Cio San in one of London's summer releases, MADAMA BUTTERFLY.

EXQUISITE CUCUMBER MOLD

To Prepare: 30 MIN. To Chill: 3 TO 4 HRS.

- 4 to 5 medium-sized cucumbers
- ½ cup cold water
- 2 tablespoons (2 env.) unflavored gelatin
- 1½ cups mayonnaise
- 2½ tablespoons prepared horse-radish
- 2 tablespoons grated onion
- 10 to 15 drops green food coloring
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- 1 cup chilled whipping cream

1. Chill a bowl and rotary beater.
2. Rinse cucumbers, cut lengthwise into halves; remove and discard seeds, and pare. Finely grind enough cucumbers in an electric blender to make 3 cups of cucumber pulp. (If cucumbers are put through a food chopper using fine blade, pulp will be coarser and texture of mold less smooth.) Set aside.
3. Pour the cold water into a small bowl. Sprinkle the gelatin evenly over the water. Let stand about 5 min. to soften. Dissolve gelatin completely by placing bowl over very hot water.

4. Mix together the mayonnaise, horse-radish, onion, food coloring, and a mixture of salt and white pepper. Add the dissolved gelatin gradually, stirring until thoroughly mixed. Blend in the cucumber pulp.
5. Chill gelatin mixture in refrigerator or over ice and water until mixture begins to gel (gets slightly thicker). If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.
6. Lightly oil a 1½-qt. mold with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil); set aside to drain.
7. When gelatin mixture begins to gel, using the chilled bowl and beater, beat whipping cream until cream is of medium consistency (piles softly). Fold whipped cream into gelatin mixture. Turn into mold. Chill until firm, 3 to 4 hrs.
8. Unmold (see Molded Pineapple-Cheese Salad). Set cucumber cups filled with salted pecans at equal intervals around the mold. Tuck in sprigs of water cress between the cucumber cups. (For cups, hollow out 2 in. slices of unpared cucumber to form cups. Scallop edges if desired, allowing base to remain flat.)

Herter Tells Reds U.S. Hopes to Pave Summit Talk Way

Geneva, July 13 (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told the Soviet Union today the United States hopes for sufficient progress in working out an East-West agreement in the Big Four summit conference here to warrant a summit conference. At the same time, Herter challenged Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko to provide specific assurances for the protection of Western rights in West Berlin during a Soviet-proposed moratorium in the Berlin crisis.

Reds Send Two Dogs Into Space

London, July 13 (AP)—The Soviet Union rocketed two dogs into Space July 10 and brought them back to earth, Moscow Radio said today. The broadcast said the dogs were carried aloft in a ballistic rocket weighing 2,200 kilograms (4,845 pounds). Quoting an official Tass dispatch, the radio said a quantity of equipment was also parachuted back to earth. The first announcement gave no details of the height attained by the rocket.

Steel Talks Get Underway, But Settlement Hopes Dim

Washington, July 13 (AP)—A stalled steel negotiations got underway again today at White House bidding but with scant prospect of an agreement to avert a strike at midnight tomorrow. The union promised to make "an all-American try" at negotiating a strike-saving settlement. R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, said he would water off settlement prospects and showed irritation in posing with union President David J. McDonald for photographers. Cooper said there was only one possible way a strike could be avoided for the union to again extend its contract. McDonald, however, ruled out any further delay in a showdown. The union earlier had granted a 2-week truce but it expires at midnight tomorrow. Cooper said the union already has caused the industry injury by the fact that many firms have had to close down some facilities in the costly preparation for an orderly industry shutdown. "We're not the aggressors in the situation," Cooper said. "We're not causing a strike."

Butler Sees Catholic Hurt as Candidate

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Paul M. Butler, the Democratic national chairman, said today he regretted fully that being a Catholic would hamper the chances of a presidential candidate. Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), GOP chairman, agreed that might be so but added he is "hopeful it wouldn't be." Both Butler and Morton, answering questions on a television show (NBC today), shied away from predicting their parties' 1960 presidential nominees. If he ventured a choice, Butler commented the "sound and fury" that was whirled around him the past week "would be as nothing."

Revolt Fails To Oust Head Of Honduras

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, July 13 (AP)—President Ramon Villeda Morales put down a revolt of right wing forces in this Honduran capital Sunday after a 15-hour fight in which 100 were killed. A government statement today said "many" were wounded and 600 rebels captured. The rebels, made up of members of the National Police led by Col. Armando Velasquez Cerrato, former chief of the army general staff, who led an unsuccessful revolt in May, gave up at 11 p.m. last night after attacks on them by army troops aided by armed students and civilians. The rebels seized the national penitentiary and other strategic buildings in a morning attack. Before giving up the rebels set police headquarters afire and the spreading flames destroyed a square block in Tegucigalpa. Followers of former Dictator Tiburcio Caras Andino supported the rebels, the government said.

Plane Crash Kills 5, Sets Forest Ablaze

Ignacio, Colo., July 13 (AP)—A plane crashing high in the mountains of southwestern Colorado carried five persons to their deaths yesterday and ignited a forest fire. The victims included the head of a Chicago radio firm, an Iowa woman and her three children. The fire burned across about 100 acres of timber before it was reported controlled today. Between 70 and 80 fighters were on the lines last night. Fresh crews relieved them this morning. The fire is contained unless new winds spring up. Authorities said Kenneth B. Ross, president of The Ross Manufacturing Co. of Chicago, apparently tried to fly his 2-engine plane over a mountain ridge when it stalled, crashing in a steep, wooded area. A rescue by crew members was discovered by crew members.

House Group Ending Work On Labor Bill

Washington, July 13 (AP)—The House Labor Committee may complete work this week on a labor-management control bill. This was reported today by committee members after a month of wrangling behind closed doors over details of the bill already passed by the Senate. The faction-split committee this week tackled the major controversial provisions of the Senate measure—the "Bill of Rights" for labor, and amendments to the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations law. Although the big fight still is to come, Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.) has won an agreement from a majority of the committee to try to wind up bill-drafting sessions by Friday night. This may mean night sessions. Barden conceded.

Strike Leaves Norwich Mess After Parade

Norwich, July 13 (AP)—Norwich, the Rose of New England, is willing. Striking municipal employees have left this city without street cleaning and garbage men for almost two weeks. And Norwich, once known for its abundance of roses, is now trying to dig from under a week of festivities in honor of its 300th birthday. A number of factors are seen as improving chances for a committee windup this week. Pressure Exerted One is the conviction of house leaders that Congress must enact some labor legislation this session. They are putting pressure on the committee accordingly. Another is the evident belief among many members of the labor group that regardless of what kind of a bill they draft, a fight for wholesale revision of the committee version is inevitable. Already there are indications

Time Held Too Short For Accord

New York, July 13 (AP)—Stalled steel negotiations got underway again today at White House bidding but with scant prospect of an agreement to avert a strike at midnight tomorrow. The union promised to make "an all-American try" at negotiating a strike-saving settlement. R. Crum Tells Probe Union Merger Plan

Washington, July 13 (AP)—A Teamsters and Hoffa "attempting in a sense to corrupt justice." Crum said he refused to have anything to do with the scheme because he thought it improper. "I thought what Hoffa wanted was a strike, not a monitor," Crum said. The board of monitors was appointed by the U.S. district court here as part of a compromise settlement of a suit by a group of rank-and-file union members to bar Hoffa from taking office. The monitors were given the responsibility of seeing that union officers cleaned out corruption. When the monitor board was created, Schmidt represented the rank-and-file group; L.N.D. Wells, a Dallas attorney, represented the union officers, and Martin F. O'Donoghue, a Washington attorney, was named neutral member and chairman. Crum said the first approach to him came from Bridges, at a conference in the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco in July or August of last year. The lawyer said Bridges claimed to have a "direct interest" in the Teamsters. Crum said Bridges proposed an arrangement under

Kozlov Can Tell Boss About U.S. Strength

By WILLIAM L. RYAN (AP Foreign News Staff) For Moscow, July 13 (AP)—Kozlov can tell the results of his two-week tour of the United States to a useful purpose. He is in a position to advise his boss, Nikita Khrushchev, against any fatal miscalculation regarding the strength and intentions of this country. It was the Soviet first deputy premier's first venture in his totally indoctrinated adult life outside the Communist orbit. It would have been difficult for him not to be impressed by what he saw in the United States. To a news conference on the eve of his departure for Moscow he insisted his trip did not change his mind about one thing: That the United States someday will live under a Soviet-like system. But Khrushchev will be interested in his notions about the time-table for this. It is likely Khrushchev will want as factual a report as possible, to compare it with the findings of First Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan, who made the same trip early this year. Between the two reports Khrushchev may believe he can get an idea of what sort of resistance the U.S. government and public might put up to further Communist expansion. Two WBI DIBER The two men probably will differ in interpretation of the things they have seen. Mikoyan is an old Bolshevik revolutionary with a highly cynical outlook toward things as they seem to be. Kozlov is a born bureaucrat, representative of the new generation of Soviet functionaries who know nothing of revolution first-hand. He was only 8 years old when the Bolsheviks seized power.

General Helps Sergeant's Son Form Airborne Medical Safari

Naples, Italy, July 13 (AP)—The sergeant's son didn't go through channels. He wrote direct to the general. As a result, 13-year-old Bobby Hill will be off tomorrow at the head of an airborne medical safari carrying about $400,000 worth of medicines to Dr. Albert Schweitzer in French Equatorial Africa. And the general—Lt. Gen. Richard C. Lindsay, commander of NATO's Air Force in Southern Europe—will personally see the Negro boy off. Bobby's father, Staff Sgt. Henry Hill of Waycross, Ga., is stationed here at Lindsay's headquarters. Last month Bobby got to thinking about the men waging the battle for peace. He remembered his father often spoke of the "peaceful purposes" of NATO. He remembered reading about Schweitzer, the Nobel prize-winning philosopher who has worked in Africa as a medical missionary for almost half a century. Bobby put these thoughts in a letter to Lindsay.

Confusion Charged In Forced Landing

New York, July 13 (AP)—"Ignorance and confusion" ruled at Idlewild airport while a crippled jet airliner with 113 persons aboard circled the field, the city fire commissioner charges. Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said yesterday that city firemen got little or no cooperation from Port of New York Authority personnel who run the airport. Instead, he said, they encountered an arrogant attitude. "The Port Authority World Airways plane, which dropped part of its landing gear just after taking off for London, circled the field for four hours before making a safe emergency landing early yesterday. Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port Authority, responded hotly to Cavanagh's criticism. He said the fire commissioner had made an attempt "to besmirch a magnificent feat."

Sources said the car ran off Park Ave. just before the overpass, struck a tree and plunged down an embankment onto the east lane of the Merritt Parkway.
