

About Town

Loyal Circle, King's Daughters...
Hartford chapter, Saint Joseph...
College Alumnae Assn., will sponsor...

David Wadsworth McKinney...
123 West 8th, has enlisted in the...
Navy and is now taking recruit...

The Star of the East, Royal...
Black Preceptory, No. 18, will... meet at 8 p.m. tonight at Orange...

A 1959 graduate of Manchester...
High School, he is preparing for a... career in accounting.

Harrison Griswold, 157 Forest...
St., has been inducted as a member... of Epiphany Alpha Zeta, honorary...

Sew A Dress...
WITH PATTERNS FROM...
HALE'S FASHION DEPT.
Main Floor, Room 100...

DOUBLE S&H GREEN STAMPS THURSDAY...
In All Depts. 9 to 9 With All Cash Sales!

SMARTEST FABRIC FOR...
SPINNING SUMMERS...
24" DRIP-DRY...
BEDFORD CORD

SAVE 40% FROM INDIVIDUAL UTENSIL PRICE...
WEST BEND...
Continental WATERLESS COOKWARE

MILLIKEN "ABBEY" FLANNEL...
$1.98 Yd. 45" Wide

EVERGLAZE CHAMBRAY...
CHECKS, STRIPES and PLAINS...
89c Yd. 38" Wide

COME SEE OUR SPRING HATS...
A light gay, whimsy hat hugs the... head neatly and complements any...

12 to 30 cup automatic...
"PARTY PERK"
For parties, coffee clubs, "tee" rooms...

stainless steel SINGING TEA KETTLE... with solid copper bottom

11" SQUARE AUTOMATIC SKILLET...
Prepares family-sized portions...

They're Here Spring Coats...
See our array of exciting Spring coats...

4 PIECE Canister Set...
Set includes Flour, Sugar, Coffee...

polished aluminum SERVING OVEN...
Serves rolls, muffins and all...

WEST BEND...
88c specials...
PIZZA PAN • COPPER COLOR MOLDS...

WE GIVE 20% GREEN STAMPS...
We welcome charge accounts! 20%...

FREE PARKING REAR OF STORE...
The J.W. HALE CORP.
MANCHESTER, CONN.
CORNER MAIN and OAK STREETS

We Just Love Those Wonderful Buys At Hale's Self-Serve and Meat Dept.

DOUBLE S&H GREEN STAMPS Tomorrow 9 to 9 With All Cash Sales...
Boneless Round Roasts TOP or BOTTOM ROUND

OH BOY! STEAKS SHORT or SIRLOIN

... AT THIS LOW PRICE YOU'LL WANT TO PUT SEVERAL IN YOUR FREEZER!

FILLET of HADDOCK... 45c
BETTY CROCKER 5 Lb. Bag GOLD MEDAL FLOUR 52c

DELUXE CAKE MIX $1.00
CLING PEACHES $1.00
MAZOLA OIL 57c

TEA BAGS 39c
FRUITS & VEGETABLES
ASPARAGUS 2 Lb. 39c

Dr. Salk Denies Peril in Shots...
The U.S. Supreme Court... has ruled that Uphaus...

Average Daily Net Press Run...
13,090

Reads Get West State News Tests Ban Plan

Geneva, March 31 (AP)—Western delegations were informed today that the Soviet Union will insist on Communist China adhering to any world disarmament agreement.

Geneva, March 31 (AP)—The United States and Britain formally submitted the Camp David plan for a nuclear test ban to the Soviet Union today.

Paris, March 31 (AP)—France today placed its vast atomic testing area in the Sahara desert off limits to aircraft, starting at 10 a.m.

Chicago, March 31 (AP)—Three proclamations were issued today by the executive offices at the state capital.

Washington, March 31 (AP)—Scientists hope to launch another 100-foot balloon from Wallops Island, Va., tonight and inflate it several hours before it falls.

Washington, March 31 (AP)—Supporters of Frederick Pope Jr. for the Fourth District Republican congressional nomination today filed petitions entering two more candidates for congressional delegates in a West Virginia primary election.

Washington, March 31 (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the rocket will be fired at 6:50 p.m. if the weather permits.

Washington, March 31 (AP)—Supporters of Frederick Pope Jr. for the Fourth District Republican congressional nomination today filed petitions entering two more candidates for congressional delegates in a West Virginia primary election.

Manchester Evening Herald

White Troops Isolate Two Big Negro Areas

United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

The Weather...
Forecast of U. S. Weather Bureau...
Clearing, cooler tonight. Low...

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Cape Town Fears New Bloodshed...
United Nations, N.Y., March 31 (AP)—Asian and African nations were reported today to have agreed on a resolution calling for U.N. condemnation of South African racial policies and the recent shooting of Negro demonstrators by white police there.

Jet Plane Explodes, 11 Men Saved From Ditched Tanker Plane...
Little Rock, Ark., March 31 (AP)—A jet plane exploded on the runway at Little Rock today, shattering the fuselage and causing the plane to crash into a house in the neighborhood.

Pope Presents Red Hats to 8 New Cardinals...
By FRANK BRUTTO...
Vatican City, March 31 (AP)—Pope John XXIII today conferred the red hat symbol of the Roman Catholic hierarchy on eight new cardinals.

News Tidbits...
Remington Arms, Inc. awarded contract for more than $10 million for continued manufacture of .762 caliber ammunition to its Springfield plant.

Senate Battle Raging On Open Vote Referee...
Washington, March 31 (AP)—Senators could accept registration applications anywhere and at any time in private homes, on the streets, or in public places.

Judge Blocks Plea For Chessman Stay...
San Rafael, Calif., March 31 (AP)—Attorney George T. Davis, turned down today by the state supreme court, his plea for a stay of execution for a man charged with the murder of a woman.

Dr. Salk Denies Peril in Shots...
The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that Uphaus' conviction is not unconstitutional because it was based on a state law that was not unconstitutional when it was enacted.

Dr. Salk Denies Peril in Shots...
The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that Uphaus' conviction is not unconstitutional because it was based on a state law that was not unconstitutional when it was enacted.

PAGE SIX

Manchester Evening Herald

Published by THE MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, INC., 100 N. Main Street, Manchester, Conn. 06102.

Printed at the Press of THE MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, INC., 100 N. Main Street, Manchester, Conn. 06102.

Subscription Rates:
 One Year $12.00
 Six Months $7.00
 Three Months $4.00
 Single Copies 10¢

Member of the Press Syndicate of America

Copyright © 1960 by The Manchester Evening Herald, Inc.

of his recommendation that the United States repeal the Communist control act, which he said would maintain our own veto decision as to whether or not we will permit any issue involving ourselves to go into the jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice.

Subsequently, President Eisenhower called for the same action in his annual State of the Union message.

When the Senate Foreign Relations Committee began hearings on the proposal, most of the noise came from various super-patriotic groups, whose spokesmen several times advanced the claim that Nixon had not really meant what he said in his speech on the subject.

Even when confronted with his own words, they shook their heads and said they knew better. This built up into a sort of challenge to Nixon to repeat his sentiments. If he really did hold the line, they did not see how he could consider it necessary to do so.

The other day the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a bipartisan vote, voted not to postpone consideration of what the Republican president and his Republican majority had proposed. This led to gossip that Nixon was not anxious to have further agitation over the issue of which his stand had alarmed and inflamed many of the right wing extremists who like to think the vice president is their boy.

One thing is at least obvious. The Republican members of the committee have not feeling and whip lashing them toward a vote for what the vice president and President were supposed to want. Once again, it would seem, the right wing, by making enough single-minded noise, has wielded an influence which may be out of proportion to its real strength in the country.

The real casualty is not anything concerned with the career of any politician involved, but in the fact that this country, struggling along in its new role of leader in the world, is being pulled back toward a world of peace through law, has once again decided, by the vote of nine senators in all, to leave behind the old isolationist, snobish dragging.

of them, only somebody not sure of finishing in a similar situation in which total career may seem to be at stake might possibly be entitled to judge or condemn. It is mainly a sad, sad story which makes you feel sorry for everybody.

When the Senate Foreign Relations Committee began hearings on the proposal, most of the noise came from various super-patriotic groups, whose spokesmen several times advanced the claim that Nixon had not really meant what he said in his speech on the subject.

Even when confronted with his own words, they shook their heads and said they knew better. This built up into a sort of challenge to Nixon to repeat his sentiments. If he really did hold the line, they did not see how he could consider it necessary to do so.

The other day the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a bipartisan vote, voted not to postpone consideration of what the Republican president and his Republican majority had proposed. This led to gossip that Nixon was not anxious to have further agitation over the issue of which his stand had alarmed and inflamed many of the right wing extremists who like to think the vice president is their boy.

One thing is at least obvious. The Republican members of the committee have not feeling and whip lashing them toward a vote for what the vice president and President were supposed to want. Once again, it would seem, the right wing, by making enough single-minded noise, has wielded an influence which may be out of proportion to its real strength in the country.

The real casualty is not anything concerned with the career of any politician involved, but in the fact that this country, struggling along in its new role of leader in the world, is being pulled back toward a world of peace through law, has once again decided, by the vote of nine senators in all, to leave behind the old isolationist, snobish dragging.

Connecticut Yankee

The grievance committee of the Hartford County bar has made complaint against two members of that bar, and a judge has subsequently censured them from the Superior Court bench, because their firm, last Christmas, accumulated to the spirit of the season to such an extent it sent out something more than 9,000 Christmas cards.

It seems that, by the best standards of the legal profession, it is not strictly ethical to wish a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to too many people at once. If the firm in question could have restrained its feeling of holiday joy, it might have been able to send out only a thousand or so of its closest, more intimate friends. Its Christmas spirit would, we suppose, have been considered a fine and genuine thing, whereas the list was broadened until it included some five per cent of the total population of the firm's home city.

The judge charged that Davis' contention that Chesman had been jealous on the part of other lawyers who couldn't claim quite as many good close friends, and he designed to establish a certain degree of reference in the mind of the comparative stranger who might happen to receive it.

If the judge's censure in this case is taken seriously, it means Christmas in the city of Hartford next year is going to be a less cheerful occasion, and the seasonal mail in that city considerably lighter in volume.

And we fear the Serocque-like effect of the incident may not be limited to the city of Hartford alone. We believe the judge himself intended that all lawyers everywhere might well guide themselves by his censure in this particular instance. That makes us in our own jurisdiction, think of one particular Christmas card we may not be receiving next year.

It occurs to us, in fact, that the mail may be considerably lighter in more than one section of the state. More than one Connecticut community, we would judge, is blessed with some firm which, come holiday time, likes to put aside all thought of business and give its office resources over wholeheartedly to the task of spreading seasonal cheer and sentiment to as wide a list as its friends and associations, past, present and potential, can inspire. It is no secret that, in such firms, this annual labor of love does take both time and money. Despite that fact, those who have indulged in this seasonal dissemination of cheer have, in the past at least, felt the heat themselves through the mercy of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Submitted by the Rev. Lawrence F. Almond, South Methodist Church.

Watch For R. A. T. S.

Sunday Afternoon, April 10

Special TUNE-N-TEST 8.95

Clean, Test Battery and Connections. Clean, Re-Gap Spark Plugs. Inspect, Adjust Carburetor. Lubricate, Adjust Distributor. Inspect, Adjust, Fanbelt. Set Ignition Timing.

PAUL DODGE PONTIAC, INC. 373 MAIN ST. MANCHESTER

A Thought for Today

Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches

Jesus said: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets." (Matthew 22:37-40)

O God, who makest all things profitable to them that love Thee, grant to our hearts an invincible power of love, that the desires which have been conceived by flesh inspire may not be changed by any temptation; through thy mercy, O Jesus Christ our Lord.

Submitted by the Rev. Lawrence F. Almond, South Methodist Church.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

Beauty, Beast Delight for School Tot's

By RUDY ARBAIAN

Love isn't red roses. It is compassion.

Manchester fourth, fifth and sixth graders watched the drama tell this story. "Beauty and the Beast," in the high school auditorium this morning.

The children sat staidly in the darkness, ignoring the smell of damp hair and steamy armpits they had brought with them, and listened to the singers from the Hart Operatheater unfold the story.

The tale tells of a man who is ugly because of something ugly that happened to him.

It tells of servants who reflect their master's ugliness, caught with him in the tangle of circumstance. It tells of a father who must choose between two equally admirable wives for a beloved daughter.

And it tells of a girl who loves the ugly man because his ugliness is part of a beauty inside him.

The girl had dreamed before she met the ugly man she wanted a love like the "red roses from a garden sweet with spring." She changed her mind when she saw the children seemed to understand these ideas immediately.

One girl in a Girl Scout uniform near the back row was disappointed that the beast would not speak like a man, sang like a man and didn't roar.

"I thought he was going to have a heart of a face. He only looks like a witch," she told her seatmate.

The attendants in the enchanted castle were looked like men with beards heads drew sympathetic sighs when they glanced out of the castle, especially when a trick of lighting made an image of a tormentor's face appear on the castle wall.

The trick of lighting on the castle wall was used two other times to show the interior of the castle, and to show a chapel window.

The production was under the direction of Elmer Nagy of the University of Hartford's school of drama and of Moths Paronov of the Hart College of Music of the University of Hartford.

Conductor was Louis Pelletier, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn, who sang with pianist Irene Kahn.

The children responded most enthusiastically to the three principals, Elizabeth Barrett as Beauty, Benjamin Thomas as the father and James Mitchell as the beast.

Others in the cast were Tanya Paronov as the story teller; Bill Levin, the first daughter; Barbara Ross, second daughter; and Charles Griffin as the gardener who was turned into a stone statue.

The affair was sponsored by the Manchester PTA Council and the Elementary School Music Fund as part of the program of cultural events for fourth through sixth graders. Cost of bringing the show here was $600.

A couple of classes from St. James' Parochial School were present during the second of the two performances put on at 9:35 and 10:45.

The children were prepared in their music classes to see and hear the opera for a day before the performance. So much so that two little girls showed up with opera glasses which they solemnly passed to 15 r friends. One fifth grader wore eyeglasses in honor of the occasion.

And four girls in a back row were short while gloves which they kept on during the performance.

He Goes Part of the Mile

We have been trying to decide, since the Eisenhower-Macmillan communique on their nuclear test ban talks, whether President Eisenhower has really decided to go whatever position of that extra mile may be necessary in order to get full agreement with the Russians, or whether we are once again in the process of maneuvering to evade our own professed high goals.

Interpretation of the Eisenhower-Macmillan communique, and of the prospects it creates, has varied widely. The New York Times, for almost an institutional decision, covering both its editorial approach and its news stories, in which the negative view dominates. And, in vivid contrast, the Herald Tribune offers a positive reading of the latter, you would think the world is really near, at last, putting some kind of bridge on its own runaway momentum toward self-destruction. Reading the Times you would get the idea that all that is happened is that another minor play has been made in a hopeless haze. We have resolved our own opinion on the basis of the President's performance at news conference yesterday. What he did there it seems to us, establishes the sincerity and purpose of his agreement with Macmillan.

What the President did at his news conference yesterday was a more significant part of an extra mile toward agreement that would be involved in any merely technical concession or condition made to Russia.

He made, in fact, the biggest concession open to him, the one big essential concession that has never before been made by an American cold war statesman. It was also the one concession which really had to be made before there could be any hope of any agreement on anything at all.

This was the President's concession that the Russians really do want what they say they want.

The President had, for the umpteenth time, received the question about whether the Russians should be considered sincere in their approach to the nuclear test ban.

The President, this time, replied as follows:

"Well, again I can't presume to describe in any accuracy what are the motives of somebody else. Now, all the signs are that the Soviets do want a degree of disarmament and they want to stop testing. That looks to me to be more or less proved.

And, referring to the Russian concession which opened the current phase of the negotiations, the President said:

"The very fact that they have made this concession means that they want to negotiate further: no question in my mind."

In the minds of those who preach that our real situation is that we are already in World War III and that our only business is to begin winning it, these remarks by the President will constitute the most reprehensible concession an American statesman could possibly make to Russia.

The fact that the President made them should leave little doubt that he has definitely cast his remaining public service on the side of possible survival for humanity. He may have more trouble on the home scene, with those who sincerely believe that World War III is inescapable, with Democrats who will moor to any issue in a campaign year, and with still powerful influences in his own administration, that he will have with Russia, but he should have some help, too, from people.

He Goes Part of the Mile

We have been trying to decide, since the Eisenhower-Macmillan communique on their nuclear test ban talks, whether President Eisenhower has really decided to go whatever position of that extra mile may be necessary in order to get full agreement with the Russians, or whether we are once again in the process of maneuvering to evade our own professed high goals.

Interpretation of the Eisenhower-Macmillan communique, and of the prospects it creates, has varied widely. The New York Times, for almost an institutional decision, covering both its editorial approach and its news stories, in which the negative view dominates. And, in vivid contrast, the Herald Tribune offers a positive reading of the latter, you would think the world is really near, at last, putting some kind of bridge on its own runaway momentum toward self-destruction. Reading the Times you would get the idea that all that is happened is that another minor play has been made in a hopeless haze. We have resolved our own opinion on the basis of the President's performance at news conference yesterday. What he did there it seems to us, establishes the sincerity and purpose of his agreement with Macmillan.

What the President did at his news conference yesterday was a more significant part of an extra mile toward agreement that would be involved in any merely technical concession or condition made to Russia.

He made, in fact, the biggest concession open to him, the one big essential concession that has never before been made by an American cold war statesman. It was also the one concession which really had to be made before there could be any hope of any agreement on anything at all.

This was the President's concession that the Russians really do want what they say they want.

The President had, for the umpteenth time, received the question about whether the Russians should be considered sincere in their approach to the nuclear test ban.

The President, this time, replied as follows:

"Well, again I can't presume to describe in any accuracy what are the motives of somebody else. Now, all the signs are that the Soviets do want a degree of disarmament and they want to stop testing. That looks to me to be more or less proved.

And, referring to the Russian concession which opened the current phase of the negotiations, the President said:

"The very fact that they have made this concession means that they want to negotiate further: no question in my mind."

In the minds of those who preach that our real situation is that we are already in World War III and that our only business is to begin winning it, these remarks by the President will constitute the most reprehensible concession an American statesman could possibly make to Russia.

The fact that the President made them should leave little doubt that he has definitely cast his remaining public service on the side of possible survival for humanity. He may have more trouble on the home scene, with those who sincerely believe that World War III is inescapable, with Democrats who will moor to any issue in a campaign year, and with still powerful influences in his own administration, that he will have with Russia, but he should have some help, too, from people.

He Goes Part of the Mile

We have been trying to decide, since the Eisenhower-Macmillan communique on their nuclear test ban talks, whether President Eisenhower has really decided to go whatever position of that extra mile may be necessary in order to get full agreement with the Russians, or whether we are once again in the process of maneuvering to evade our own professed high goals.

Interpretation of the Eisenhower-Macmillan communique, and of the prospects it creates, has varied widely. The New York Times, for almost an institutional decision, covering both its editorial approach and its news stories, in which the negative view dominates. And, in vivid contrast, the Herald Tribune offers a positive reading of the latter, you would think the world is really near, at last, putting some kind of bridge on its own runaway momentum toward self-destruction. Reading the Times you would get the idea that all that is happened is that another minor play has been made in a hopeless haze. We have resolved our own opinion on the basis of the President's performance at news conference yesterday. What he did there it seems to us, establishes the sincerity and purpose of his agreement with Macmillan.

What the President did at his news conference yesterday was a more significant part of an extra mile toward agreement that would be involved in any merely technical concession or condition made to Russia.

He made, in fact, the biggest concession open to him, the one big essential concession that has never before been made by an American cold war statesman. It was also the one concession which really had to be made before there could be any hope of any agreement on anything at all.

This was the President's concession that the Russians really do want what they say they want.

The President had, for the umpteenth time, received the question about whether the Russians should be considered sincere in their approach to the nuclear test ban.

The President, this time, replied as follows:

"Well, again I can't presume to describe in any accuracy what are the motives of somebody else. Now, all the signs are that the Soviets do want a degree of disarmament and they want to stop testing. That looks to me to be more or less proved.

And, referring to the Russian concession which opened the current phase of the negotiations, the President said:

"The very fact that they have made this concession means that they want to negotiate further: no question in my mind."

In the minds of those who preach that our real situation is that we are already in World War III and that our only business is to begin winning it, these remarks by the President will constitute the most reprehensible concession an American statesman could possibly make to Russia.

The fact that the President made them should leave little doubt that he has definitely cast his remaining public service on the side of possible survival for humanity. He may have more trouble on the home scene, with those who sincerely believe that World War III is inescapable, with Democrats who will moor to any issue in a campaign year, and with still powerful influences in his own administration, that he will have with Russia, but he should have some help, too, from people.

He Goes Part of the Mile

We have been trying to decide, since the Eisenhower-Macmillan communique on their nuclear test ban talks, whether President Eisenhower has really decided to go whatever position of that extra mile may be necessary in order to get full agreement with the Russians, or whether we are once again in the process of maneuvering to evade our own professed high goals.

Interpretation of the Eisenhower-Macmillan communique, and of the prospects it creates, has varied widely. The New York Times, for almost an institutional decision, covering both its editorial approach and its news stories, in which the negative view dominates. And, in vivid contrast, the Herald Tribune offers a positive reading of the latter, you would think the world is really near, at last, putting some kind of bridge on its own runaway momentum toward self-destruction. Reading the Times you would get the idea that all that is happened is that another minor play has been made in a hopeless haze. We have resolved our own opinion on the basis of the President's performance at news conference yesterday. What he did there it seems to us, establishes the sincerity and purpose of his agreement with Macmillan.

What the President did at his news conference yesterday was a more significant part of an extra mile toward agreement that would be involved in any merely technical concession or condition made to Russia.

He made, in fact, the biggest concession open to him, the one big essential concession that has never before been made by an American cold war statesman. It was also the one concession which really had to be made before there could be any hope of any agreement on anything at all.

This was the President's concession

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By MARGE FLYNN

Mrs. John Ruff, 281 Autumn St., makes homemade New England clam chowder from her grandmother's recipe. The recipe was handed down to Mrs. Ruff by her mother, Mrs. Frank Bushar, 40 Chestnut St., Rockville.

- 1 lb. assorted large hard-shelled clams and broth
- 1 lb. salt pork, chopped fine
- 2 lb. onions, diced fine
- 2 large potatoes, cubed
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 cup cream (optional)

Drain clams from liquid and chop very fine. Soak and save broth. Fry salt pork until crisp, add onions and fry five minutes; add water and boil slowly until tender. Add clam broth and cook for one minute; add clams and cook one minute more. Add cream if desired. Mrs. Ruff prefers both types chowder, without cream. Do not boil as the cream has a tendency to curdle. Serve with oyster crackers. This recipe makes 10 generous servings.

Mrs. Ruff was born in Rockville and graduated from Rockville High School. She has lived in Manchester for seven years. Her husband is a foreman at Pratt and Whitney Aircraft in East Hartford.

The Ruffs have a married daughter, Mrs. John Manlio in Hartford, and two sons, John, 11, and Leonard, 6, and three grandchildren.

In addition to her other church duties, Mrs. Ruff is a member of the Married Couples' club and is working on the building fund campaign of the Community Baptist Church. She is also a member of the Highland Park and Naish Hale PTAs.

Seeds Vibrated

Corvallis, Ore. — An automatic seed separator at the United States Agriculture Department's Oregon seed laboratory at Corvallis has a vibrating table that can be adjusted to make use of differences in the surface shape, texture, and weight of seed. Under vibration, different seeds form in paths and drop off the table into small containers.

POISON KILLER GETS LIFE

Urbana, Ohio, March 31 — A man who treated a woman friend's husband to a bottle of wine and six bottles of beer — all spiked with cyanide — has been convicted of first-degree murder.

James Garfield Buckley, 82, was adjudged guilty yesterday.

Cancer Unit Kickoff Event Slated Friday

Members of the 1960 Manchester Cancer Crusade Planning Committee and Divisional Chairmen will be the guests of William H. Smith, general chairman, at a Kickoff Dinner at Caver's Restaurant tomorrow, at 7 p.m.

The Cancer Crusade to be held in April will feature a house-to-house campaign April 22 to April 24. Eugene N. Kelly assisted by Mrs. Hugo Benson will direct the efforts of more than 500 volunteers in a drive to reach each home in Manchester. These Manchester volunteers are part of the more than two million in the country who will be participating in the annual crusade to finance the three-fold program — research, education and service — of the American Cancer Society.

Three new divisional chairmen have been announced by Smith.

BUY GASOLINE WHOLESALY

Pump and tank loaded to capacity of over 2,000 gallons annually. (For Commercial Users Only.)

RACKLIFF OIL CO.
Hartford — Jackson 7-3191

LYNN POULTRY FARMS

Choice Fresh Connecticut Poultry Direct From Farm to You!

CHICKEN LEGS To Broil or Fry Lb. 59c

SOUP STOCK 3 Lbs. 29c * LIVER Lb. 89c

GIZZARDS (cleaned) 2 Lbs. 59c * WINGS 3 Lbs. 99c

NEW * NEW * NEW * NEW *

FRIED CHICKEN and FRENCH FRIES 89c Per Order

TO TAKE OUT TELEPHONE MI 9-8251 AND YOUR ORDER WILL BE READY WHEN YOU CALL

TASTE and COMPARE — GUARANTEED TO SATISFY

FOOD KING AT KINGS

Former Cheney Mills Hartford Rd and Pine St. Manchester, Conn.

Plenty of FREE PARKING

Parcel Pickup Service To Your Car

WEEKEND EXTRA VALUES

— 2 Meals in One — LAMB COMBINATION (FOUR-QUARTER CHOPS TO BROIL AND STEWING MEAT) 45c Lb.

MEATY, TENDER SHOULDER CUT LAMB CHOPS 75c Lb.

COLONIAL FAMILY PAK KNOCKWURST (Jumbo Size Hot Dog) 2 Lb. 99c

COLONIAL MASTER SMOKED PICNICS (Short Shank) 4 to 6 Lb. 49c Lb.

LEAN, DEFATTED — 30% LESS SHRINKAGE

YOUNG TENDER Spring LAMB LEGS (OVEN-READY 69c lb.) 59c Lb.

WHOLE REGULAR TRIM

PORK SALE Look What 9c Buys!!

STRICTLY FRESH CORN-FED

Rib Pork Roast 29c Lb.

LOIN END ROAST Lb. 43c

HEAVY WESTERN BEEF RIB ROAST 7-in. Cut 45c Lb.

MILDLY CURED TENDER CORNED SPARE RIBS 43c Lb.

"FLAVOR QUEEN" WHITE SLICED BREAD 13c

REGULAR SIZE LOAF

PILLSBURY'S BEST FLOUR 25 POUND BAG $1.89

YOU SAVE 40c

AT FOOD KING

CUT WAX BEANS 1 1/2 Oz. Can 9c

RIVAL CAT FOOD 16 Oz. Can 9c

OLD RELIABLE CHICK PEAS 20 Oz. Can 9c

JIFFY CHOCOLATE FROSTING 8 Oz. Can 9c

BLUE LABEL PEAS 8 Oz. Can 9c

NORTH AMERICAN MUSHROOM SAUCE 6 Oz. Can 9c

YOUR CHOICE 9c each

FREE! FINE QUALITY SWEDISH SKOL GLASSES

1 GLASS FREE WITH EVERY $5.00 PURCHASE — A DIFFERENT TYPE GLASS OFFERED EACH WEEK

AT OUR BUSY PRODUCE DEPT.

Lowest Price Of The Season

FRESH ALL GREEN CALIFORNIA ASPARAGUS 17c Lb.

Large, succulent spears — Last week's price 29c lb

REPEAT OF SENSATIONAL BANANA SALE SAME FINE QUALITY YELLOW, RIPE BANANAS 10c Lb.

BEARDSEY (KING SIZE) CODFISH CAKES 2 8 Oz. Pkgs. 25c

LUCY LADY SWEET PEAS 10 Oz. Pkg. 10c

NIFTY WAFFLES 6 To A Pkg. 10c

DAIRY DEPARTMENT SPECIALS

GRADE "A" EGGS doz. 57c doz. 55c

EXTRA LARGE LARGE

QUE OWN SHARP CHEDDAR "THE ALL PURPOSE CHEESE" Lb. 69c

KRAFF'S FAMOUS VELVEETA 2 Lb. LOAF 83c

CHEESE Lb. 69c

The Baby Has Been Named...

Lolla Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Larocomb, Hurst Hill, Conn. He was born March 29 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Trahan, Danielson. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Larocomb, Hebron. He has two brothers, Charles Henry, 2, and Craig Warren, 1.

Dawn Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Oslman, 100 Willard Dr., Hazardville. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gleiger, Bronnville, N. Y. Her paternal grandmother is Mrs. F. L. Ostrander, North Syracuse, N. Y. She has three brothers, Bob, 4 1/2, Jim, 2 1/2, and Scott, 1 1/2.

Lynne Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kawam, 80 Vernon St., Hebron. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Victor W. Adamson, Hebron. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Adams, Hebron. She has a brother, Glen Paul, 2.

John David, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Cooper, Wall St., South Coventry. He was born March 26 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Victor W. Adamson, Hebron. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Adams, Hebron. He has a sister, Carol Lynn.

Joanne Paula, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peter Suga, West Shore Rd., Rockville. She was born March 26 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Nellie Resch Hopwood, Rockville. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Suga, Rockville. She has two sisters, Diane Marie, 5, and Rosemary Helen, 2.

Glenn Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eigharood, 110 Lyell Rd., East Hartford. He was born March 21 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Little, 74 Laurel St., East Hartford. He has a sister, Carol Lynn.

Raymond Joseph Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Wroblewski, 474 E. Middle Turnpike. He was born March 24 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Gladwyn, 845 N. Main St., East Hartford. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wroblewski, 24 North St., East Hartford. He has a sister, Pamela Anne, 27 months.

Sharon Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. O'Donnell, 474 E. Middle Turnpike. She was born March 24 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. LaVigne, New Brunswick, Canada. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. O'Donnell, 83 Edmund St., East Hartford. She has a brother, Michael, 7, and three sisters, Victoria, 5 1/2, Lynn, 4, and Lisa, 2 1/2.

Marguerite Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy F. Parker, 80 Willard St., Rockville. She was born March 23 at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan, Hartford. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carney, East Hartford. She has a brother, Michael, 7, and three sisters, Victoria, 5 1/2, Lynn, 4, and Lisa, 2 1/2.

Tracy Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, 6100 Mill Rd., Ellington. She was born March 19 at Rockville City Hospital. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Colaneri, Cantonect, N. J. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wilson, Manitoewoc, Wis. She has a sister, Dorothy Ellen, 2 1/2.

Bernard Kofsky

Spring's new silhouette is all flattery and grace $14.99

Red Cross Shoes

BLACK PATENT Ballad

Bernard Kofsky

MANCHESTER PARKADE

OPEN: MONDAY, TUESDAY, SATURDAY, 10 A.M. to 6 P.M.
WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY, 10 A.M. to 9 P.M.

This product has no connection whatsoever with the American National Food Corp.

FOR BARGAINS

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

Ed Sullivan

present brilliant recordings of

AMERICA'S GREAT MUSICALS

once a week for 12 weeks at sensational savings!

NOW ON SALE! SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY BONUS OFFER

Magnificent "MY FAIR LADY" ALBUM No. 1 99c with any purchase

AND FOR THE NEXT ELEVEN WEEKS More of the Century's Most Famous Broadway Hits... "Kiss Me Kate", "Porgy & Bess", "South Pacific", etc. . . .

AT A $1.69 EACH FABULOUS regular $3.98 value

START YOUR COMPLETE COLLECTION NOW EXCLUSIVELY AT FIRST NATIONAL

Fresh Bakery Buys!

DUTCH APPLE PIE Tasty Dutch Apple Filling EACH 39c Regular Price 55c

Excellent Dessert - Regular Price 45c Special Just Right - Regular Price 30c

Lemon Creme Roll EACH 35c

Apple N' Spice Donuts 12 25c

Graham Rolls PKG OF 9 25c

Potato Bread LOAF 25c

ENTER LEVER'S SAVE 'N WIN $100,000 SWEEPSTAKES

BRING US YOUR COUPONS AND MAKE EXTRA SAVINGS ON THESE POPULAR BRANDS:

Lux Liquid PINE LOTION CAN 69c CAN 39c

"SAVE 5c ON EITHER SIZE CAN WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Wisk LIQUID DETERGENT CAN 73c CAN 41c

"SAVE 5c ON EITHER SIZE CAN WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Handy Andy QT 69c PT 39c

"SAVE 7c ON EITHER SIZE BTL WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Praise Soap 2 REG 27c

"SAVE 5c ON TWO REGULAR BARS WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Praise Soap 2 BATH 39c

"SAVE 5c ON TWO BATH BARS WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Imperial Margarine 1 LB CTN 41c

"SAVE 5c ON ONE CARTON WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

ENTER PROCTER & GAMBLE'S "PYRAMID OF VALUES" CONTEST

30 Procters... $50,000 Cash

BRING US YOUR COUPONS AND MAKE EXTRA SAVINGS ON THESE POPULAR BRANDS:

Ivory Snow GIANT PKG 82c LGE PKG 33c

"SAVE 5c ON EITHER SIZE PKG WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Ivory Soap 2 BARS 31c

"SAVE 5c ON TWO LARGE BARS WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Ivory Soap 3 BARS 29c

"SAVE 5c ON THREE MEDIUM BARS WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Ivory Soap 4 BARS 25c

"SAVE 5c ON FOUR PERSONAL BARS WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Joy Liquid 22-OZ 69c 12-OZ 39c

"SAVE 5c ON EITHER SIZE CONTAINER WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Mr. Clean 18-OZ 69c 12-OZ 39c

"SAVE 5c ON EITHER SIZE BTL WITH COUPON IN MAIL"

Babo Cleanser 2 14-OZ CANS 31c

Sunlight Plastic Starch 100 37c

Armour's Corned Beef Hash 1 LB CAN 37c

Muller's Elbow Macaroni 1 LB BOX 22c

Veg-All Vegetables 2 10-OZ CANS 33c

Pennant Marshmallow Creme 10-OZ 27c

Beaumont's Coffee Cakes 2 4-OZ PKGS 41c

Beaumont's Shredded Codfish 4 1-OZ PKGS 23c

Pillsbury Deluxe Cake Mixes 12 Ounces 37c

FIRST NATIONAL FOR BARGAINS

WHITE TUNA FINAST Fancy - Solid Pack 7-OZ CAN 29c

KRAFT CHEESE - DELUXE SLICES 1/4 LB PKG 29c

BEANS RICHMOND - STRING GREEN or WAX 4 15 1/2 OZ CANS 59c

PEANUT BUTTER FINAST 10c Off Sale 1 1/2 LB JAR 59c

WONDERFUL MEATS!

BARGAIN PRICED!

That's how it's always been — for generations... Strictly top-quality meats at thrifty low prices. That's why you always buy famous First National meats so confidently.

ROASTS TOP and BOTTOM ROUND LB 79c

So Lean and Tender. One of Our Most Popular Roasts. Guaranteed to Please your Whole Family with some Excellent Eating.

QUALITY NEVER SACRIFICED FOR PRICE!

Roasts FACE RUMP LB 89c TOP ROUND LB 89c

Lobster Meat Man-Pac 14-OZ 1.89 CAN 95c Smoked Butts SHOULDER WELL TRIMMED LB 59c

Fresh Haddock Fillet LB 39c

Fresh Sliced Cod LB 25c

Frankfurts ALL BEEF LB 57c

Sausage FINAST - LINK LB 63c

More Grocery Bargains!

JELL-O FRUIT GELATINES - ALL FLAVORS 4 3-OZ PKGS 35c

NESTLES QUIK INSTANT COCOA 1-LB CTN 43c

KING OSCAR IMPORTED SARDINES - FANCY 3 1/2 OZ CAN 29c

TOMATOES RICHMOND - FANCY 4 16-OZ CANS 69c

SHARP CHEDDAR CHEESE WHITE OR COLORED LB 69c

Farm Fresh... Thriftily Priced!

ASPARAGUS CALIFORNIA - Large, Loose Delicate Flavor - Tender and Firm 2 LBS 35c

CALIFORNIA - ICEBERG - Large Heads, Well Trimmed LETTUCE 2 HDS 33c

Broccoli CALIFORNIA - Fresh Firm 8CH 23c

Celery FLORIDA JUMBO PASCAL 2 BCHS 25c

Cabbage FLORIDA Firm, Fresh 2 LBS 13c

Carrots WESTERN - Nutrition 2 CELLO PKGS 15c

FLORIDA - FULL-O-JUICE - Fresh Flavor ORANGES 15 FOR 49c

Plant Hart's Seeds!

Formula 7X LAWN SEED MIXTURE 4 LB BAG 1.49

Rye Grass Seed MIXTURE "100" 3 LB BAG 89c

Fescue "100" LAWN SEED 3 LB BAG 1.89

Emerald Beauty LAWN SEED 1 LB BOX 98c

WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT QUANTITIES

Frozen Food Specials!

BROCCOLI SPEARS "YOK" GARDIN 2 10-OZ PKGS 39c

CHOPPED BROCCOLI "YOK" GARDIN 2 10-OZ PKGS 29c

Potatoes FRENCH FRIED 3 5-OZ PKGS 49c

Dot Monte Buys!

Pineapple Grapefruit Drink 2 46-OZ CANS 57c

BAILY GARDIN Sweet Peas 2 7-OZ CANS 35c

CREAM STYLE - GOLDEN Sweet Corn 2 7-OZ CANS 31c

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

THE RED CROSS NEEDS $3494.26

BUDGET NEEDED TO KEEP OUR CHARTER... $19,067.00

TOTAL RECEIVED TO DATE... 15,572.74

TO BE RAISED BY MARCH 31... 8,494.26

Call MI 3-5111 - We'll Pick Up Your Contribution

HELP - EVERYONE - NOW

THIS ADVT. SPONSORED BY FOGARTY BROTHERS

DOUBLE DECKER DRIVING RANGE AND COFFEE SHOP

Opens Friday, April 1

WEATHER PROTECTED - PRACTICE RAIN or SHINE

OPEN DAILY 9 A.M. to 12 P.M.

CONN. GOLF LAND, Inc.

JUNCTION ROUTE 15 and 83 - TALCOITVILLE GOLF COURSE OPENS SOON

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with MAJOR HOOPLE

CARNIVAL BY DICK TURNER

LITTLE SHORTS BY ROUSON

MORTY MEEKLE BY DICK CAVALLI

CAPTAIN EASY BY LESLIE TURNER

JEFF COBB BY PETE HOFFMAN

Travel Means

ACROSS: 1 Rider's conveyance, 6 Western, 11 Weirder, 13 Rounder, 14 Motorless, 15 Blank, 16 'Reed-summer', 17 Tappan, 18 Indian, 19 Masculine, 20 Winty, 21 Unpleasant, 22 Unit of reluctance, 23 Without (Fr.), 24 Genus of ducks, 25 Check, 26 Indication, 28 Obtained, 29 Recent, 30 (comb. form), 31 Mineral rock, 32 Fish, 33 Ocean vessels, 34 Street, 35 Section, 36 Finance, 37 Commission, 38 Inmate, 39 Heights (ab.), 40 Indicated, 41 Cravat, 42 Breeze, 43 Neophyte, 44 Mortar's companion, 45 Looks heavily, 46 Revere, 47 Anglo-Saxon, 48 Shows.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

DOWN: 1 Montana's capital, 2 December, 3 Perpetrate, 4 Perpetrate, 5 Mistake, 6 Piffing, 7 Rip, 8 Arrive (ab.), 9 Pleasant, 10 Solid, 11 Repeat, 12 White ants, 13 Law, 14 Conducted, 15 Conspire, 16 Without (Fr.), 17 Genus of ducks, 18 Indication, 19 Obtained, 20 Recent, 21 (comb. form), 22 Mineral rock, 23 Fish, 24 Ocean vessels, 25 Street, 26 Section, 27 Finance, 28 Commission, 29 Inmate, 30 Heights (ab.), 31 Indicated, 32 Cravat, 33 Breeze, 34 Neophyte, 35 Mortar's companion, 36 Looks heavily, 37 Revere, 38 Anglo-Saxon, 39 Shows.

SHORT RIBS BY FRANK O'NEAL

WHOSE UNDERPASS? BY ROUSON

State News Roundup

(Continued from Page One)

that May 17 was mental health week, and in the Governor's address, he said that the Legislature will foster broader dedication to the objectives of our mental health program.

Pay Raises Urged Hartford, March 31 (AP)—Irked over the fact that new state pay books have started with 120 level raises, the Legislature's Public Personnel Committee today called for swift pay raises in the lower income brackets.

At the same time, President Salvatore Perruccio of Council 18, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, accused Governor Ribicoff of ignoring the pay needs of lower paid employees and called for more increases soon.

The lawmakers took their stand in letters sent to the Governor, Personnel Director George J. Walker and Finance Commissioner George J. Conking after a meeting.

Pointing out that the lower grade state employees were not given a pay boost during the last General Assembly and have been making requests for them for some time, Walker said that the Governor and Walker over the past two years.

He said that plans are being made by the employees union to bring more concerted pressure on state officials for more pay.

Some lawmakers disapproved that they had a rough time of it since Walker earlier this week announced a series of big salary boosts, the highest being over $5,000 for commissioners and others.

In a statement, the committee said that it unanimously recommends a job survey start "in the lower income brackets where it is the most needed at this time."

MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, MANCHESTER, CONN., THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1960

State Rep. Richard W. Sheehan (D-West Hartford) asked Albany Gov. Albert L. Cole yesterday to decide who owns the new underpass on New Britain Avenue in Elmwood—the state or the railroad.

The legislative action followed the erection of a big sign on the underpass promising to be decided by the Legislature.

Pay Raises Urged Hartford, March 31 (AP)—Irked over the fact that new state pay books have started with 120 level raises, the Legislature's Public Personnel Committee today called for swift pay raises in the lower income brackets.

At the same time, President Salvatore Perruccio of Council 18, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, accused Governor Ribicoff of ignoring the pay needs of lower paid employees and called for more increases soon.

The lawmakers took their stand in letters sent to the Governor, Personnel Director George J. Walker and Finance Commissioner George J. Conking after a meeting.

Pointing out that the lower grade state employees were not given a pay boost during the last General Assembly and have been making requests for them for some time, Walker said that the Governor and Walker over the past two years.

He said that plans are being made by the employees union to bring more concerted pressure on state officials for more pay.

Some lawmakers disapproved that they had a rough time of it since Walker earlier this week announced a series of big salary boosts, the highest being over $5,000 for commissioners and others.

State News Roundup

(Continued from Page One)

that May 17 was mental health week, and in the Governor's address, he said that the Legislature will foster broader dedication to the objectives of our mental health program.

Pay Raises Urged Hartford, March 31 (AP)—Irked over the fact that new state pay books have started with 120 level raises, the Legislature's Public Personnel Committee today called for swift pay raises in the lower income brackets.

At the same time, President Salvatore Perruccio of Council 18, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, accused Governor Ribicoff of ignoring the pay needs of lower paid employees and called for more increases soon.

The lawmakers took their stand in letters sent to the Governor, Personnel Director George J. Walker and Finance Commissioner George J. Conking after a meeting.

Pointing out that the lower grade state employees were not given a pay boost during the last General Assembly and have been making requests for them for some time, Walker said that the Governor and Walker over the past two years.

He said that plans are being made by the employees union to bring more concerted pressure on state officials for more pay.

Some lawmakers disapproved that they had a rough time of it since Walker earlier this week announced a series of big salary boosts, the highest being over $5,000 for commissioners and others.

In a statement, the committee said that it unanimously recommends a job survey start "in the lower income brackets where it is the most needed at this time."

MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, MANCHESTER, CONN., THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1960

State Rep. Richard W. Sheehan (D-West Hartford) asked Albany Gov. Albert L. Cole yesterday to decide who owns the new underpass on New Britain Avenue in Elmwood—the state or the railroad.

The legislative action followed the erection of a big sign on the underpass promising to be decided by the Legislature.

Pay Raises Urged Hartford, March 31 (AP)—Irked over the fact that new state pay books have started with 120 level raises, the Legislature's Public Personnel Committee today called for swift pay raises in the lower income brackets.

At the same time, President Salvatore Perruccio of Council 18, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, accused Governor Ribicoff of ignoring the pay needs of lower paid employees and called for more increases soon.

The lawmakers took their stand in letters sent to the Governor, Personnel Director George J. Walker and Finance Commissioner George J. Conking after a meeting.

Pointing out that the lower grade state employees were not given a pay boost during the last General Assembly and have been making requests for them for some time, Walker said that the Governor and Walker over the past two years.

He said that plans are being made by the employees union to bring more concerted pressure on state officials for more pay.

Some lawmakers disapproved that they had a rough time of it since Walker earlier this week announced a series of big salary boosts, the highest being over $5,000 for commissioners and others.

MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, MANCHESTER, CONN., THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1960

State Rep. Richard W. Sheehan (D-West Hartford) asked Albany Gov. Albert L. Cole yesterday to decide who owns the new underpass on New Britain Avenue in Elmwood—the state or the railroad.

The legislative action followed the erection of a big sign on the underpass promising to be decided by the Legislature.

Pay Raises Urged Hartford, March 31 (AP)—Irked over the fact that new state pay books have started with 120 level raises, the Legislature's Public Personnel Committee today called for swift pay raises in the lower income brackets.

At the same time, President Salvatore Perruccio of Council 18, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, accused Governor Ribicoff of ignoring the pay needs of lower paid employees and called for more increases soon.

The lawmakers took their stand in letters sent to the Governor, Personnel Director George J. Walker and Finance Commissioner George J. Conking after a meeting.

Pointing out that the lower grade state employees were not given a pay boost during the last General Assembly and have been making requests for them for some time, Walker said that the Governor and Walker over the past two years.

He said that plans are being made by the employees union to bring more concerted pressure on state officials for more pay.

Some lawmakers disapproved that they had a rough time of it since Walker earlier this week announced a series of big salary boosts, the highest being over $5,000 for commissioners and others.

MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, MANCHESTER, CONN., THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1960

State Rep. Richard W. Sheehan (D-West Hartford) asked Albany Gov. Albert L. Cole yesterday to decide who owns the new underpass on New Britain Avenue in Elmwood—the state or the railroad.

The legislative action followed the erection of a big sign on the underpass promising to be decided by the Legislature.

Pay Raises Urged Hartford, March 31 (AP)—Irked over the fact that new state pay books have started with 120 level raises, the Legislature's Public Personnel Committee today called for swift pay raises in the lower income brackets.

At the same time, President Salvatore Perruccio of Council 18, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, accused Governor Ribicoff of ignoring the pay needs of lower paid employees and called for more increases soon.

The lawmakers took their stand in letters sent to the Governor, Personnel Director George J. Walker and Finance Commissioner George J. Conking after a meeting.

Pointing out that the lower grade state employees were not given a pay boost during the last General Assembly and have been making requests for them for some time, Walker said that the Governor and Walker over the past two years.

He said that plans are being made by the employees union to bring more concerted pressure on state officials for more pay.

Some lawmakers disapproved that they had a rough time of it since Walker earlier this week announced a series of big salary boosts, the highest being over $5,000 for commissioners and others.

MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, MANCHESTER, CONN., THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1960

State Rep. Richard W. Sheehan (D-West Hartford) asked Albany Gov. Albert L. Cole yesterday to decide who owns the new underpass on New Britain Avenue in Elmwood—the state or the railroad.

The legislative action followed the erection of a big sign on the underpass promising to be decided by the Legislature.

Pay Raises Urged Hartford, March 31 (AP)—Irked over the fact that new state pay books have started with 120 level raises, the Legislature's Public Personnel Committee today called for swift pay raises in the lower income brackets.

At the same time, President Salvatore Perruccio of Council 18, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, accused Governor Ribicoff of ignoring the pay needs of lower paid employees and called for more increases soon.

The lawmakers took their stand in letters sent to the Governor, Personnel Director George J. Walker and Finance Commissioner George J. Conking after a meeting.

Pointing out that the lower grade state employees were not given a pay boost during the last General Assembly and have been making requests for them for some time, Walker said that the Governor and Walker over the past two years.

He said that plans are being made by the employees union to bring more concerted pressure on state officials for more pay.

Some lawmakers disapproved that they had a rough time of it since Walker earlier this week announced a series of big salary boosts, the highest being over $5,000 for commissioners and others.

Advertisement for Brunner's Super Market. Features: '59 Ford 4-Door Sedan, $1977 only $277 down cash or trade. Meats: Sirloin Steak 98¢, Boiled Ham 79¢, Hen Turkeys 55¢. Produce: Firm Ripe Tomatoes 25¢, McIntosh Apples 39¢, Cauliflower 35¢. Bursack's Super Market, 400 Broad St., Phone 3-3552.

Advertisement for A&P Super Market. Features: Super-Right Quality Meats - 0¢ Price Only - As Advertised! Roasts: Top Round or Bottom Round 79¢, Ground Beef 2 95¢, Top Round Steak 89¢, Pork Chops 75¢, Bologna 45¢. Fish Sticks: CAPN JOHN'S 2 PKGS 57¢, Swordfish 49¢.

Advertisement for A&P Super Markets. Features: Oranges 5 39¢, Asparagus 2 35¢, Bananas 2 25¢, Crunch Finger Rolls 39¢, P'nut Butter 37¢, A&P Tuna 79¢, Cake Mixes 45¢, Campbell's 6 1$, Reynolon 25¢, Green Peas 1.00, Marvel Ice Cream 59¢.

Advertisement for Procter and Gamble Pyramid of Values Sweepstakes. Features: Mr. Clean 31¢, Joy Liquid 34¢, Ivory Snow 28¢, Personal Ivory Soap 21¢, Bakers Color Sets 25¢, Dupont Sponges 10¢, Dinner Red Turkey Slices 39¢, Downy Flake Waffles 33¢, M&M Chocolate Candies 29¢, Sweepstakes: Save 'n Win, Redeem Your Coupons - Prizes Include Coupons.

Advertisement for Window Shades. Features: Washable Interstate Aqua Shades $3.95, Full Line of Custom Venetian Blinds, E. A. Johnson Paint Co., 721 Main St., Tel. 9-4601.

BOWLING SCORES

CHURCH TEN PIN	Standings	L	Pct.
St. James	66	20	688
St. Joseph	65	20	688
No. 1	55	20	678
No. 2	54	20	668
No. 3	53	20	658
No. 4	52	20	648
No. 5	51	20	638
No. 6	50	20	628
No. 7	49	20	618
No. 8	48	20	608
No. 9	47	20	598
No. 10	46	20	588

BASKETBALL SCORES

CHURCH LEAGUE	Standings	L	Pct.
No. Methodist	1.77	20	664
St. John's	1.77	20	664
St. Joseph	1.77	20	664
St. James	1.77	20	664
St. Mary's	1.77	20	664
St. Peter's	1.77	20	664
St. Vincent	1.77	20	664
St. Elizabeth	1.77	20	664
St. Ann	1.77	20	664
St. Rose	1.77	20	664

Headquarters Co. Wins to Even Series

Lea's market rolled it up to down 14-10, 14-10, 14-10, and 14-10. In the final West Side Junior League game at Verplanck School, Headquarters Co. defeated the other team 14-10. The scoring was well distributed. Lea's market rolled it up to down 14-10, 14-10, 14-10, and 14-10. In the final West Side Junior League game at Verplanck School, Headquarters Co. defeated the other team 14-10. The scoring was well distributed. Lea's market rolled it up to down 14-10, 14-10, 14-10, and 14-10. In the final West Side Junior League game at Verplanck School, Headquarters Co. defeated the other team 14-10. The scoring was well distributed.

AAU Carnival Opens at Yale For Swimmers

New Haven, March 31 (AP)—The road to Rome and the Olympics in the goal of the AAU swimmers entered in the three-day National Amateur Athletic Union Men's Indoor Championships starting here today. The winners in the 100-meter freestyle will be able to represent the United States at the Olympic trials in Rome. The winners in the 100-meter freestyle will be able to represent the United States at the Olympic trials in Rome. The winners in the 100-meter freestyle will be able to represent the United States at the Olympic trials in Rome.

Spring Training 'Rags to Riches' Manager's Role Is Dream of Dressen

By EARL YOST
Herald Sports Editor
Bradenton, Fla.—From an eighth place finish in his last year as a manager to a pennant winner in the Gulf Coast League, the role of a manager is the dream of Dressen. The role of a manager is the dream of Dressen. The role of a manager is the dream of Dressen.

McLish Gone, Indians Need Help from Score

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor
Tucson, Ariz. (NEA)—The thing most heard about the Indians this spring is that their pennant chances vanished when Cal McLish's arm was traded to the Red Sox and Minnie Mirowski's last to the White Sox. "That's an old record," said Frank Lane, talking after the game of his Cleveland players on the road. "That's an old record," said Frank Lane, talking after the game of his Cleveland players on the road.

Dressen Claims Braves 'Easy Bunch to Handle'

By EARL YOST
Bradenton, Fla.—"This is the easiest bunch of fellows to handle that I have ever had," Chuck Dressen told a visiting newsmen from Connecticut. "Newspapermen told me he had trouble keeping the players in line. They said I would have a tough club to handle. "This has been the outstanding development in spring training. Dressen said, hesitating before he answered. "We will have a curfew once the season starts. It will differ, depending upon the schedule of games. For day games, it will be 10 o'clock. For night games, the hour will be different. "I know that when I was manager of the Braves, I was never late for a game. I have always believed that a team should have a curfew. "I have always believed that a team should have a curfew. "I have always believed that a team should have a curfew."

PARKADE HOUSE	Standings	L	Pct.
St. James	151	20	688
St. Joseph	150	20	678
No. 1	149	20	668
No. 2	148	20	658
No. 3	147	20	648
No. 4	146	20	638
No. 5	145	20	628
No. 6	144	20	618
No. 7	143	20	608
No. 8	142	20	598
No. 9	141	20	588
No. 10	140	20	578

WEST SIDE JUNIORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. Methodist	1.77	20	664
St. John's	1.77	20	664
St. Joseph	1.77	20	664
St. James	1.77	20	664
St. Mary's	1.77	20	664
St. Peter's	1.77	20	664
St. Vincent	1.77	20	664
St. Elizabeth	1.77	20	664
St. Ann	1.77	20	664
St. Rose	1.77	20	664

WEST SIDE MIDGETS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. Methodist	1.77	20	664
St. John's	1.77	20	664
St. Joseph	1.77	20	664
St. James	1.77	20	664
St. Mary's	1.77	20	664
St. Peter's	1.77	20	664
St. Vincent	1.77	20	664
St. Elizabeth	1.77	20	664
St. Ann	1.77	20	664
St. Rose	1.77	20	664

ELKS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

GREEN MIXED DOUBLES	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

DOUBLE STRIKE	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

MORNING GLOBE	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

GREEN MIXED DOUBLES	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

COMMERCIAL TEN PIN	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

PERMANENT FLOORS	Standings	L	Pct.
No. 1	1.77	20	664
No. 2	1.77	20	664
No. 3	1.77	20	664
No. 4	1.77	20	664
No. 5	1.77	20	664
No. 6	1.77	20	664
No. 7	1.77	20	664
No. 8	1.77	20	664
No. 9	1.77	20	664
No. 10	1.77	20	664

NARRAGANSETT NOW 1/5

Light...as you like it! Brewed with expensive seedless hops.

KING-SIZE BOTTLE FOR $1

Don't miss this golden opportunity to stock up on good, golden Gansett Light, refreshing Narragansett Lager Beer. Hi, Neighbor—have a Gansett in the King-Size Bottle. Have 5—for only $1.00!

Eyebrow Gash Stops Rollins

Chicago, March 31 (AP)—Chico Rollins' effort to make an impressive showing in his national TV ring debut was newsworthy last night by a gashed eyebrow. The New York lightweight was kept from answering the bell for the seventh round in Chicago Stadium because of the cut, and Chico's

