Political Talks Set In Congo

Washington, Nov. 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower today bluntly rejected a Nov. 20 protest by the president of the Republic of Guinea that the United States has supported the enemies of African emancipation in the Congo.

Eisenhower told President Sekou Toure of Guinea in a cablegram that the United States has been in the forefront of those nations which have favored emancipation of all peoples, including Africans.

Leopoldville, The Congo, Nov. 26 (AP)—One of the most troublesome feuds of the Congo—the succession of mineral-rich Katanga province—may be on the way to a solution.

A dramatic announcement from Elisabethville in Katanga last night said three leading ministers from the central government in Leopoldville had reached an agreement with Moise Tshombe, president of the breakaway province.

A communiqué said a meeting was held in a cordial atmosphere and resulted in a "final identification of views on a program of action in the internal affairs of the former Belgian Congo."

As a result, said one of the Katanga participants in the meeting, a round-table conference on the future political structure of the Congo probably will be held in Elisabethville next month.

Tshombe set up Katanga as an independent state with his capital at Elisabethville 11 days after the Congo got its independence from Belgium on June 30. He took the action, he said, because Patrice Lumumba, then Congo's first prime minister, was using disruptive Communist tactics to create disorder throughout the new country.

Katanga, with its riches of uranium, copper and other minerals, is the economic backbone of the Congo.

"We decided a few days ago to get married now," said the beaming bride, "so the children can have a real family Christmas."

The wedding—Karl's fourth—was held Monday at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mrs. Harry Karl, 46, last night.

The Rev. John Wells, pastor of the non-denominational Little Broom Church of the San Fernando Valley, performed the double-ring ceremony before a crowd of yellow and white flowers in the Pollack living room.

Debbie's ring was, as she put it, "a plain wedding ring with a diamond." The company president said, "A strike would be fatal, and he appears to be the union member who has already authorized a new union speech earlier in the week, they said the use of atomic weapons should result only from a level higher than the commandment of the basic business decision."

Crime Probed Subpoenas 25

Hartford, Nov. 26 (AP)—Subpoenas have been issued for some 25 persons to appear before a one-man grand jury investigating alleged vice and corruption in the Hartford area.

Retired State Supreme Court Chief Justice Ernest A. Inglis will begin the investigation Dec. 1, it was announced yesterday.

Debbie Reynolds Wed To Shoe Millionaire

By JAMES BACON AP Movie-TV Writer Beverly Hills, Calif., Nov. 26 (AP)—Debbie Reynolds, who wanted her wedding to be a family Christmas, wed multi-millionaire shoe tycoon Harry Karl, 46, last night.

The wedding—Karl's fourth—was held Monday at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mrs. Harry Karl, 46, last night.

The Rev. John Wells, pastor of the non-denominational Little Broom Church of the San Fernando Valley, performed the double-ring ceremony before a crowd of yellow and white flowers in the Pollack living room.

The company president said, "A strike would be fatal, and he appears to be the union member who has already authorized a new union speech earlier in the week, they said the use of atomic weapons should result only from a level higher than the commandment of the basic business decision."

Other resolutions urged greater coordination in the development of the atomic energy program and greater economic cohesion within the alliance.

Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary of the alliance, said the alliance recovered $77,000 of the $200,000 ransom paid for the release of the Caliente crew.

Japan's Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda today charged today of being criminally responsible for the kidnapping of the baby.

Hartford County Coroner Louis Mulvey today announced the death of a 4-month-old child, Kurt A. Muller, son of Harry and Elizabeth Muller, who died in a hospital of brain injuries.

The coroner also said Mrs. Neith Muller, who was with the child at the time of the kidnapping, was in a hospital of brain injuries.

Nuclear Fire Brigade Urged By NATO Unit

Paris, Nov. 26 (AP)—Parliamentarians from 15 North Atlantic Treaty countries today recommended the formation of a military fire brigade with nuclear weapons at its disposal to meet any type of Communist threats to the alliance.

The lawmakers unanimously approved the idea originally put forward by Gen. Maurice Challe, supreme allied military commander in Europe.

At the same time, they asked that NATO be granted political control of atomic arms and delivery systems. At present, practical control of such weapons is the alliance rests with the United States.

The resolutions passed at the closing session of the annual conference of NATO parliamentarians in Brussels today.

The parliamentarians did not mention NATO as a condition for the eventual control of atomic weapons.

atican Protests Ban Of Haiti's Archbishop

Vatican City, Nov. 26 (AP)—The Vatican has officially protested to Haiti for the expulsion of Archbishop Francois Poirier, the Caribbean island's highest Roman Catholic prelate.

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, indicating that those responsible for the expulsion may have incurred excommunication with consequent loss of rights to the sacraments, said today that "we are informed that the Holy See has already prepared through diplomatic channels its expression of profound sorrow and its protests for the grave episode."

Now in Paris, the French born Archbishop said "The situation in Haiti is too delicate for me to talk."

Strained relations between the Vatican and Haiti were emphasized here today by the absence of Haiti's ambassador, Antonio T. Rebeaux, from a memorial service for Cardinal who died during the war.

Other members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Vatican, as well as 23 Cardinals and other high church prelates, were present.

The Haitian ambassador said his absence was due to rheumatism.

"It would have been very difficult for me to leave," said the Haitian ambassador.

Vatican sources described his absence as "diplomatic illness" and praised his conduct as dignified.

"At the same time," said L'Osservatore, "the haste and lack of official consideration by the Vatican to Communists and said it would be very difficult to think that public opinion will be persuaded that there are any real foundations to that charge."

L'Osservatore recalled that the Archbishop had denied charges by Haitian officials that he gave money to Communists and said it would be very difficult to think that public opinion will be persuaded that there are any real foundations to that charge."

Kennedy Visits Wife, New Baby in Hospital

Washington, Nov. 26 (AP)—President John F. Kennedy was just the word of a delighted "after taking quick trips today between his home and the White House, Kennedy visited his wife and newborn baby in a hospital today.

The object of all the excitement, baby John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr., described by his doctor as "a very good looking baby, a very healthy youngster" with a lusty cry, 9-10 days old.

There was a chance his 9-year-old mother, Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy, might see him for the first time today. If she's up to it, she'll see him in the hospital.

The co-attentions continued to flow in with a personal message from President and Mrs. Eisenhower heading the list.

"Mrs. Eisenhower joins me in warm congratulations to you and your family on the birth of your son. We add also our good wishes to your little daughter on her approaching third birthday," Mrs. Eisenhower message said.

The Kennedy clan, from father to grandfather, to great-grandfather, was delighted. Kennedy's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to England, welcomed his 18th grandchild.

Baylor Gets 320 Points In Last Seven Contests

New York, Nov. 26 (AP)—Where would the Los Angeles Lakers be without Elgin Baylor? Don't ask them. They shudder to think of it. Baylor has been on a scoring binge for the past seven games, putting in a total of 320 points, almost 46 of them last seven.

His streak also has kept them within sight of the Lakers when they led 109-94 with only 3:45 left in the game. But they couldn't stand the prosperity and scored only two more baskets. The Celtics went ahead 108-106 at 1:15 and Ken Sears eviscerated it at 1:06. But the Knicks missed their next seven shots from the field.

And on Some of Manchester's Side Streets, Too

The Urge Recently a student came home showing the effects of handling by an irate teacher. His mother was dismayed that things like that occurred at school, and said she intended to look into it.

Don't bother, the youth responded. "They've got the right to use force if they want to. The law says they can use capital punishment."

On Troubled Waters Dinner a deux is frequently considered to be a good way for couples to get away occasionally from their children and to recall that they are not just parents, but people, too.

An advertisement for holiday dinners this week at an excellent restaurant, inspired one wife who decided this would be a way of smoothing over a disagreement with her irate husband.

She began her approach to the situation with, "Darling, remember the 'what wonderful meals they served, I think it's one of the nicest places I've ever been. Why don't we go there again sometime soon?"

He looked up, grimly. "I've never been there. When were you?" After a flustered moment, she remembered she'd been there with his boss on a house-hunting visit.

Ingenuity Rewarded A Manchester man, exercising a resourcefulness that landed him in an area town court, managed to emerge from the experience unscathed.

As we heard it, he was driving through Columbus when his car broke down. Whereas he might have called a garage or friend for assistance, this boy spotted a car nearby and decided to "borrow" it.

To compound his troubles, he had a minor accident in Bolton and had to abandon the borrowed car there. We're not sure how he finally got back to Manchester.

Next morning he advised State Troopers of his crimes, went back to Columbia, confessed to the man from whom he had "borrowed" the car, and paid for damages done.

The Columbia man came to his rescue in court and said he didn't want to press charges. The court entered a nolle in view of the local man's spotless record, his two young children, and his occupation as truck driver.

Recruiters The Junior Century Club of Manchester is having a hard time "practicing what it preaches."

The two-year-old organization decided recently to undertake as its community service project the recruitment of blood donors for visits of the Red Cross bloodmobile.

There are 75 young women in the club, membership limited to 21 to 35 years of age. The oldest member this year is 32. The "girls" didn't realize what a productive group they represent until they canvassed their own membership for blood donors for Monday's collection.

Of the 75 members, only 12 were eligible to give blood, the remainder being either pregnant or very new mothers. Of the 12 eligible, seven members weighed less than the required 110 pounds. The five remaining members who showed up to give blood were all rejected for anemia and low blood pressure.

A doctor on the scene told the young mothers, "You are all so careful that your children eat well-balanced meals and take their vitamin pills, but you don't take care of yourselves."

The organization of underweight, anemic or expectant mothers was successful, however, in recruiting donors outside of its membership. Most of their recruits were members' husbands.

A husband, who recently dug down in his pockets to help the club's finances, remarked: "First you want my money. Now you want our blood."

Doctor, Lawyer . . . One of the pages in the program for "Hi Fever Follies" was titled "I Had My First Spanking at Manchester Memorial Hospital."

The page reproduced the signatures of a great many Manchester residents, most of them born between 1950 and 1960, like the Willhide children, the Mrosek children, the Warren children, and others.

Tucked into one corner between a list of Clarke children and Schardt children was the Marie offspring—Paul, born 8/26/27. We wonder how many of the other children in the list will be attorneys when they grow up.

Deluxe Service In compiling information for a Thanksgiving roundup Wednesday, the Herald reporter called the police station to find out if there would be more men or fewer men on duty.

Officer Primo Amadeo said there would be the same number on duty as usual.

A little while later the reporter happened to wonder if anyone would be spending the holiday in the clink, and if so, what he would eat. Officer Amadeo answered the phone on this call also, and assured the reporter there was no one incarcerated at that moment.

But any prisoner would have a regular Thanksgiving dinner. "Really?" asked the reporter. "Yes, Miller's caterer, and the court pays for it," said Amadeo.

The reporter didn't catch on until the last phrase. What prisoner really eat on Thanksgiving at the Manchester jail is hot dogs, or hamburgers or eggs.

Willing To Improve Sometimes it just doesn't pay to ask for too much. Take Mrs. Alice Hutchinson, clerk of Manchester's traffic violations bureau, for instance.

Last week she complained to Patrolmen David Galligan and Newton Taggart that they hadn't been issuing enough tickets for overtime parking in the metered section of Main St.

So what happened a few days later when Mrs. Hutchinson had her car parked at a Main St. meter for more time than she had put pennies in for?

Galligan placed a ticket on her car. P. B. Mrs. Hutchinson paid the $1 fine.

Or Something Two young ladies in the Municipal Building were modeling Christmas earrings. The tiny earpieces were designed in the shape of bells and Christmas balls.

While attaching one of each kind to her ear lobes, one young lady remarked, "Does this make me the 'bell' of the 'ball'?"

Tattle Tale The election is over, and we can disclose the facts. A photograph last September showing two office-seekers at a political coffee hour weren't drinking coffee at all, even though they held cups and saucers.

One cup held tea. The other was empty.

From Many, One William T. Madden, the late father of Miss Alice Madden, Red Cross swimming instructor had his own translation of the national motto, "E Pluribus Unum."

It was "Let's stick together."

Stubborn Stub

A well-drilling company has been having trouble removing a stub left over from a flag-pole cut down in Manchester's Center Park last year.

Park Supt. Horace Murphey said the Capital Well-Drilling Co. of Bloomfield is having difficulty because the wooden stub has become wet in the 6 foot 9 steel sleeve that holds it.

Intermittent attempts to remove it have been made since the pole was cut down last year after developing a fault, Murphey said.

Now a well-drilling rig is being used to chip it out, in pile-driver fashion, after an earlier attempt to bore it out with a pneumatic auger was unsuccessful, he added.

A new pole will be installed once the stub is out, according to the superintendent.

Missing Car, 4 Youths Held In Virginia

Detectives from the Tolland County States Attorney's office are in West Virginia today to extradite four Connecticut youths charged with the theft of an automobile from Rockville last week.

County Detective Arthur Kos and William Wheelock, assistant, left yesterday for West Lewisburg, where the youths were picked up after the car was involved in an accident.

One of the four youths was listed as a juvenile and his name was not released. The others are: William Lawrence III, 17, of 208 South St.; Eric A. Abola, 16, of Hartford; and Herbert Fell, 17, whose address was not listed.

West Virginia police held the quartet on the strength of a description of the stolen car broadcast from Rockville police headquarters. The car was reported stolen Nov. 17 by Mrs. Lewis E. Miner of East St. She said she parked the car in the drive the night before and had left the keys in it.

Police said the car is in running condition but suffered moderate damage in the accident, according to West Virginia authorities. The accident occurred in Union, W. Va., they said.

LOW BIDDER Convera Construction Co. Inc. at 21 Tolland Tpk., submitted an apparent low bid Wednesday for alterations to museum and television areas at the University of Connecticut at Storrs.

The firm entered a base bid of $83,951 and a total bid, with two supplementary offers included, of $77,301.

Both bids were lower than two other area contractors, Jack E. Hunter of Manchester and Felix J. Lupachino of West Hartford.

BRIEFS James A. McCarthy of 66 Vernon St. and Frank R. Wood of 150 S. Lakewood Circle, have been elected to two-and-one-year terms, respectively, on the board of directors of the Hartford Home Builders Assn. It was announced last week by the H.H.B.A.

George C. Mortlock Jr., of Mortlock's Professional Driving School at 443 Main St. and president of the Connecticut Association of Professional Driving Schools, attended the Eastern Seaboard Conference of Professional Driver Educators held this past week at the Sheraton Hotel in New York City. The conference coordinated information, knowledge and skills as well as materials used by those in Driver Education and Traffic Safety.

Happiness is reflected on the faces of Mrs. Ernest D. Clough and John H. Miller, as the two 40-year club employees of the Carlyle Johnson Machine Co. received gold wrist watches from company President Frank R. Simon, center at a surprise party given in their honor Tuesday afternoon by management and fellow colleagues at the Main St. plant. (Herald Photo by Pinto).

WITH FIRM 40 YEARS "Congratulations, quite an accomplishment, and the Carlyle Johnson Machine Co. is very grateful for the jobs you have done." These were the words extended by Frank R. Simon, president of Carlyle Johnson to John H. Miller and Mrs. Ernest D. Clough, 40-year employees honored Tuesday at a surprise party given them by fellow workers and top brass at 52 Main St.

Both received gold Hamilton wrist watches from the firm and Schaefer fountain pens from their colleagues. Miller, treasurer of the firm, started work on June 1, 1919, after he and his wife, the former Marjorie McFarland, arrived in Manchester from Kingston, Ontario, Can., their native port.

He recalled the early days when the company manufactured cast iron (expanding ring type) clutches, produced on machines that were connected to the now outdated line shaft ceiling pulley system. "In the 40s, we developed the multi-disc type clutch and today we have a magnetic type clutch, have to keep it work with the jet age, you know," he said.

When asked about his more than 40-year association with the company, he said, "I have nothing to complain about, I like my work and the people I work with."

Married some 40 years, Miller and his wife have one daughter, Mrs. Robert Starke of Manchester. The Millers now reside on Bolton St. in Vernon, retired, but still enjoying today, but his wife can still remember when "Saturday afternoons on the golf course was his hobby. I was a golf widow," she said.

Mrs. Clough, secretary of the company, was presented a purple and yellow orchid and Miller a white gardenia which they wore during the affair.

She said she was very surprised with the party, "probably because the years have passed so quickly for me under such pleasant working conditions."

Mrs. Clough joined the firm as stenographer on Nov. 22, 1920, and at one time during the depression years, she was the only girl kept on by the firm.

She became secretary of the company shortly after Scott Vernon, retired, bought out ownership from a group of men in Ohio. "At that time I also bought a little stock in the firm," she said.

A native of Glasgow, Scotland, Mrs. Clough came to the United States and Manchester in 1920, shortly before finding her first job at the local firm.

"I have returned to Scotland only once since I came here, and that was during a vacation in 1925," she said.

She married a native of England, whom she met for the first time in Manchester in the early 30s. Clough, now retired, was a painter and decorator. He married the former Agnes Rankin, her maiden name, in 1936.

Her hobby is music, and she has played piano accompaniment to Manchester's Beethoven Glee Club when Fred Werner, piano teacher, was director of the group. The glee club disbanded about 1946. She has also played for nine years at the Christian Science Church.

Both she and Miller related that they were very happy to be with the firm this year, because this year was the firm's 40th anniversary. Both she and Miller related that they were very happy to be with the firm this year, because this year was the firm's 40th anniversary.

A multi-layer cake, containing six individual fruit cakes, decorated with mums and pom-poms of full autumn color, topped with a frosting cornucopia (horn of plenty) was created by Mrs. Rose Tanguay for the surprise affair.

Among the some 70 guests were four of the original staff who were with the honored guests, Mrs.

Hayes and Healy Visit Old Haunts

By ESKINE JOHNSON
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Hollywood (NEA) — The title reads "Peter Loves Mary." Irreverent-as-always Peter Lind Hayes said: "I wanted to call it, 'I Hate Deal,' but no one seemed impressed with the idea."

The Monday night NBC telefilm series—situation comedy but far from saccharine—brought Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy back to Hollywood for the first time in 11 years and it was, in a way, a sentimental journey.

They were married in Hollywood and they were nurtured in Hollywood—Peter as a night club comedian and actor and Mary as a "Miss New Orleans" who first became a movie starlet and then the Mrs. Hayes in his night club act. Even then, you see, Peter loved Mary.

To film the series on a Hollywood sound stage, they left their home in New Rochelle, N.Y., and reopened their original three-room honeymoon cottage in San Fernando Valley. The sentimental journey started there but after 11 years and big-time success in TV, radio and on Broadway—well—

Peter drove past a hillside mansion he once shared with Grace Hayes, his ex-vaudeville star mother.

"Fourteen rooms and no food," he laughed.

The Club Grace, which Peter and Mary turned into one of the most exciting late spots in America had become a strip tease joint and even the paint was peeling.

"When we opened in 1938," Peter recalled, "our first customer gave the bartender a $20 bill. We didn't have enough loot in the till, or between us, and I had to run next door to a motel to get the change."

They went to a restaurant where Peter proposed marriage to Mary. "I'd forgotten," he grimaced, "that she went there with Franchot Tone, too."

They checked up on the young Hollywood married set in which they once traveled. "All divorced," they discovered.

They were invited to dinner at the home of David O. Selznick and Jennifer Jones. "We had forgotten," Peter tells it, "that in Hollywood it's fashionable to be late. After 11 years in the East, we arrived on time—and the Selznicks weren't even dressed."

They remembered the Selznick home as the former "love nest" of Greta Garbo and John Gilbert. After dinner, when Jennifer laughed about hearing ghostly midnight voices, Peter was back ad libbing in the night club spotlight: "And I bet I know," he said, "which one has the low voice."

They remembered the circumstances under which they left Hollywood in 1949 for New York television, night clubs, the stage, coast-to-coast tours and their own nationwide radio show.

"Mary insisted we had to get out of Hollywood," Peter said. "It's a good thing she made me go east. If we hadn't gone, today I would be Bob Hope's caddy at the Lakeside Country Club."

"Who was that lady?" gave Peter and Mary a Broadway hit. They recently saw the film version and take it from Peter:

"I thought Janet Leigh played my part very well."

As a show business couple in the TV series, they have two children, a girl nine and a boy six. Back in New Rochelle, grandma Grace is baby sitting with their 11-year-old Peter and 9-year-old Cathy.

Miss O'Hara Stars In Yuletide Show

Maureen O'Hara will be hostess for "Twas the Night Before Christmas," a full-hour colorcast of Yuletide music-and-dance on the "Bell Telephone Hour" Friday, Dec. 23, over the NBC-TV Network (9-10 p.m. EST). She also will sing carols of her native Ireland.

Opera star Rise Stevens and popular singer John Raitt will participate in this program of traditional Christmas music. Another highlight will be the ballet "Les Patineurs" (The Skaters) danced by the American Ballet Theatre with Ruthan Koesun, Scott Douglas and John Kriza in the principal roles. The Columbus Boychoir, one of the nation's foremost youth choral groups, will be featured on the show.

'Gershwin Years' 90-Minute Show

"The Gershwin Years," a 90-minute special reflecting American life in the 20s and 30s against a background of George Gershwin's music will be presented Sunday, Jan. 8 (8-9:30 p.m., EST), on the CBS Television Network.

In "The Gershwin Years," to be adapted from the book of the same title by Edward Jablonski and Lawrence Stewart, the show concentrates on the period between the end of World War I and 1937, when Gershwin died at the age of 39. During these years American artists, writers, composers and sculptors began to come into their own and gain worldwide recognition. How this cultural development affected our lives—and the life of George Gershwin—will live again in "The Gershwin Years" through motion picture, film, cartoons, paintings, sculpture and other devices, with Gershwin's music as the connecting force.

Top Broadway and Hollywood stars will sing the famed Gershwin songs and recreate musical numbers from Gershwin's Broadway and Hollywood hits.
