Kennedy Names Dean Rusk Secretary of State

Bowles Gets Post, Adlai Goes to UN

Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 12 (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today picked Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, to be his secretary of state.

Kennedy also announced at a news conference the appointment of Adlai Stevenson as ambassador to the United Nations.

And he named Rep. Chester Bowles, D-Conn., as undersecretary of state.

The three appointments were announced by the President-elect on the patio of his Atlantic shore home.

Rusk, a Democrat who served as an assistant secretary of state in the Truman administration, was at his side, Stevenson and Bowles were not present.

Kennedy offered the U.N. Ambassadorship to Stevenson, the 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential nominee, last week.

Asked for time to think it over, apparently wanting to know first who would be secretary of state.

The announcement of Stevenson's appointment meant, therefore, that he was willing to serve under Rusk.

Rusk, 51, is a native of Georgia and a Presbyterian. He has been head of the Rockefeller Foundation for nine years.

Kennedy, reading a prepared statement, said Rusk would bring to the new administration and his particular position a long record of ability in the field of foreign affairs.

The President-elect mentioned specifically Rusk's former association with the State Department.

On the new administration's foreign policy, Kennedy said he hoped that it will become generally identified with the concept of being "free, freedom," and not simply anti-Communist.

Rusk told the news conference he is accepting "a compelling and sober responsibility."

He called Stevenson "one of our greatest Americans," and also praised Bowles warmly.

Rusk said the present age is one of rapid and revolutionary change, but added that there need be no fear of the changes.

The United States, he added, cannot be likened to a cork tossed about on the waves.

In response to a question, Kennedy said he met Rusk for the first time last week.

Rusk arrived at Kennedy's ocean front home last evening, but there (Continued on Page Seventeen)

Jobless Totals Highest Since Days of 1930s

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Unemployment topped four million in November—the highest idle figure for the month since depression days of the 30s.

The government reported today that job changes between October and November were mainly seasonal except for a further decline of 150,000 in factory employment.

These are November figures: Employment—down by 300,000. The totals were 67,490,000 in October as compared with 67,182,000 in November.

The rate of unemployment declined slightly from 6.4 per cent in October to 6.3 per cent in November, but the Labor Department said the change was insignificant.

The Center didn't look the same today. Traffic wasn't whizzing around the rotary and it was easy to find a place to park your car. It wasn't so easy to

Drifts Clog Roads, Cities Immobilized

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS) A gale-swept blizzard covered southern New England with more than a foot of snow today knocking out air and rail transportation, closing schools and businesses and leaving thousands of stalled automobiles in drift-filled highways.

At least 20 persons died as a result of the winter's first snowstorm.

The weatherman said the storm will taper off during the afternoon, with clear, near-zero weather to follow.

Biting winds and temperatures around 10 above zero added to the suffering of pedestrians who had to go out of doors.

Gale warnings were displayed from Cape Hatteras to Eastport, Maine.

Drifts 20 inches high covered part of Logan International Airport, with all service halted. The Boston & Maine and New Haven railroads canceled all trains by mid-morning.

The Hillsgrove, R. I., Weather Bureau called it the worst early season storm since record keeping began 56 years ago.

Most of Block Island, R. I., was left without electric power as the wind reached 77 miles an hour, ripping down lines and piling up huge drifts.

Providence, R. I., reported commerce was at a virtual halt.

Boston department stores were open generally with skeleton staffs—but there was little Christmas shopping being done.

The New York Weather Bureau said today's blizzard snowfall is the second heaviest December storm in its records.

The biggest—25.6 inches—fell Dec. 26, 1947. The following year there was a 16.6 inch fall on Dec. 19.

The present fall had hit 17 inches by noon and more was expected.

The crippling snowstorm raged over most of the Eastern Seaboard snarling ship, air and highway travel, closing schools and plants and paralyzing entire communities.

Scheduled morning meetings of the U.N. Assembly and the General Committee were canceled by New York's heavy snow, but some other meetings went on.

In Chesapeake Bay the freighter, Edgar Hogshire, with 11 persons aboard was grounded as the raging snowstorm struck Maryland in full force.

Three men were rescued and a fourth presumed drowned in a separate rescue operation in the bay during the storm.

The Edgar Hogshire was driven into 8 feet of water by 5-to-6 foot seas running in the face of 30 knot winds that swept the storm across Maryland piled snow up to 18 inches.

The blizzard delayed the opening of the New York Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange in New York and closed government offices in Washington.

Only those offices concerned with the nation's security were kept open. District of Columbia school children also got a day off when the schools, standing deep in piled snow drifts, were closed.

Four Die As Storm Hits State

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS) A wild snowstorm, the first of the season, caused at least four deaths as it whipped across Connecticut today and left the state smothered under a traffic-smarling blanket.

A 13-year-old boy in Waterbury, an epileptic, mistaken for his home since last night, was found in a snowbank near his home. Authorities said the boy, John Shea, had frozen to death.

In Redding Center, Stephen F. Fuchs, about 60, a nursery worker, collapsed and died of a heart attack while shoveling snow.

Fuchs was described as an itinerant worker of uncertain address.

The storm played havoc with morning commuter travel. Cars were abandoned by motorists. Driving conditions were hazardous. Visibility was poor.

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft announced this afternoon that second shifts in all its plants in the state had been canceled. As of 2 p.m. plans were to operate the third shift.

Most schools were ordered closed giving youngsters an unexpected holiday. State offices were shut down for the day. Many scheduled gatherings and meetings were canceled.

Traffic tieups were commonplace. All available highway crews

OIL RULE IN EFFECT

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court today issued a final decree putting into effect its May 31 decision on ownership of oil and other underwater resources in the Gulf of Mexico. In that decision, the High Tribunal held that Texas and Florida own such resources for 10 1/2 land miles out from their shores. But the court limited to 3 1/2 land miles the offshore rights of Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi. All beyond those boundaries on the continental shelf belongs to the federal government, the Supreme Court said.

ANTITRUST BAN UPHOLD

Chicago, Dec. 12 (AP)—A Federal court today denied a plea by three major meat packers to end a 40-year antitrust ban on expansion into general food marketing. The ruling by U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman upheld a 1920 decree which compelled Swift & Co., Armour & Co. and the Cudahy Packing Co. to dispose of subsidiary interests.

SNOW HAMPER FIREMEN

Damariscotta, Maine, Dec. 12 (AP)—Firemen from eight communities battling in a swirling snow storm, brought a roaring fire in a downtown business block under control today. The fire burned out the three-story structure. A couple suffering from smoke inhalation was carried from the burning building. Medical authorities reported the condition of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Copp was not serious.

REDS SEEN A-TESTING

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission was quoted today as saying "probabilities are very strong" that Russia is making secret tests of new atomic weapons. But AEC Chairman John A. McCone said in an interview published by "U.S. News & World Report" that the United States has no positive evidence that such tests are being made.

Laos Rightists Move To Cut Pro-Red Rule

Bangkok, Burma, Dec. 12 (AP)—Rangoon's biggest English language paper, The Nation, today frontpaged reports of fighting between Chinese Nationalist guerrillas and Burmese troops on the borders of Burma, Laos and China.

The paper did not give the source of its reports. The story said Burmese army units clashed with Chinese Nationalists near Mongsat on the Burmese side of the international border which long has been infested by marauding gangs of Chinese Nationalist guerrillas. A number of Chinese were reported killed.

Vientiane, Laos, Dec. 12 (AP)—A majority of the Laos parliament today moved to oust the day-old pro-Communist government of Quinim Pholsena.

Assembly president Tiao Somnath left savannakhet for Luang Prabang to ask King Savang Vatthana to summon a special assembly session, according to a dispatch from the AP correspondent at the Rightist headquarters.

Rightist rebel deputies, holding 38 of 58 assembly seats, stood ready to vote a quick death to the Quinim regime.

Savannakhet Radio earlier claimed the assembly already had voted to dissolve Quinim's government.

Quinim, minister of information of the old Neutralist regime who seized power in Vientiane when government leaders fled, declared defiantly today.

"We will fight to the last bullet if they attack us," Quinim indicated he would defy

8th Airman Hunted In Mountain Snow

Pittsburgh, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Forest rangers battle snow and zero temperatures today in an attempt to track the last of eight airmen still missing since Friday night, when the crew parachuted from its disabled jet bomber into the Adirondack Mountains.

The search for Staff Sgt. Pierre Mahoux, 27, Auburn, Maine, suspended last night as a snowstorm approached—centered in rugged terrain near North Hudson, N. Y., where a parachute believed to be Mahoux's was spotted.

The other airmen were found alive within a 20-mile radius of the search area. Some were in-

General Alarm Fire Sweeps Mystic Block

Mystic, Dec. 12 (AP)—A general alarm fire roared along both sides of a block of Mystic's East Main St. early this morning, leveling 10 stores and business houses.

Firemen fought the flames as a wild snowstorm hit the state.

The first alarm was turned in at about 12:30 a.m. At 3 a.m. fire officials said they had apparently curbed the blaze. However, they kept more than 50 hoses pumping water on the ruins and other nearby buildings that were spared.

No injuries were reported. Unofficial estimates of the financial loss ranged into many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A fire official said that when he arrived the flames seemed to be coming from a hardware store on

The appointments completed the list of 44 circuit court judges. The new circuit court system goes into effect Jan. 1.

Sullivan is judge of West Haven Town Court, and Monchun former Windsor Town Court judge.

Woman, 93, Dies

Seymour, Dec. 12 (AP)—A 93-year-old woman died of a heart attack last night after an electric blanket on her bed became overheated because of a short-circuit.

The victim was Mrs. Leila Matteson, 21 Rider Ave., who lived with a son.

The authorities said that Mrs. Matteson suffered burns, but that the cause of death was a heart attack.

M. C. Betters Dies

Hartford, Dec. 12 (AP)—Mitchell C. Betters, 47, of 227 Tunxis Ave., Bloomfield, widely known in Greater Hartford as a radio personality, athlete and more recently for his promotion work with the Hartford Times, died unexpectedly early this morning in Middlebury, Vt.

Betters had driven to Vernon Friday to visit some old friends. His car was involved in an accident in Middlebury around 10:30 p.m. Friday night and he was taken to Middlebury Hospital. He had suffered injuries to the vertebrae in his neck and was put in a spinal traction. He expired suddenly around 4 o'clock this morning.

In 1942 he moved over to radio station WHTT, then owned by the Times, as a staff announcer. He did news broadcasts, handled panel discussions and ran a program of Swedish music.

Highest Court Bars Teachers' Affidavits

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The state's legitimate inquiry into the fitness and competency of its teachers, he said.

Stewart contended that the Arkansas law requires a teacher to reveal the church to which he belongs, or to which he has given financial support, and requires him to disclose his political party and every political organization to which he may have contributed.

"It requires him to list, without number, every conceivable kind of associational tie—social, professional, political, avocational, or religious," Stewart went on.

"Many such relationships could have no possible bearing upon the teacher's occupational competence or fitness."

De Gaulle Shortens Algeria Peace Tour

Algiers, Dec. 12 (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle is cutting short his peace tour of Algeria and hurrying back to Paris a day early.

The sudden switch in the French president's plans was disclosed today as his campaign to give Algeria home rule came under twin hammer blows.

Bloody rioting in Algiers for the second consecutive day in Algeria pushed the casualty totals to 78 dead and hundreds wounded. Four others have been killed in Oran.

Muslims battled French troops this morning after fierce clashes Sunday with European settlers in the biggest bloodbath in the North African territory since the nationalist revolt against France began six years ago.

From Tunis the Algerian nationalist rebel government in exile rejected the De Gaulle program for Algeria could only aggravate the rebellion which has raged for six years.

The statement by Rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas was directed at De Gaulle's policy of installing a home-rule Algerian administration and giving the Algerians the right to determine their own future.

"We are convinced that France will find in Algeria no Algerian worthy of the name who would lend himself to such a masquerade," he called for United Nations intervention in Algeria.

Shortly after noon, a special squad of mobile police flown from France during the night began to move into Algiers' ancient Casbah.

They advanced into the teeming native city from Government Square, ripping down rebel flags and driving Muslims back.

A Muslim command post set up in the Casbah was abandoned as the mobile police moved up the twisting and narrow streets.

Cuba Sugar Union Tells Electricians To Support Castro

Havana, Dec. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro's success in keeping organized labor united behind his revolution appeared today to depend upon an ultimatum from the Red-led sugar workers union to the restive electrical union.

The sugar workers union in effect ordered anti-Communist leaders of the electrical union to close ranks behind the revolution.

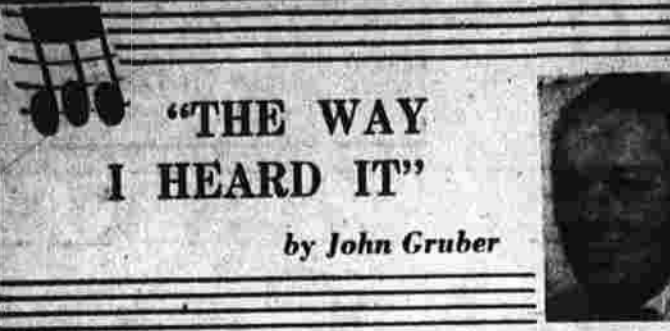

The electricians staged the first open labor opposition to a Communist influence in the government by marching on the presidential palace Friday night shouting "Cuba si, Russia no."

The sugar workers, largest and most influential in the million-member Cuban Confederation of Workers, yesterday demanded the smaller electrical union condemn the organizers of the march as counterrevolutionaries.

Manchester is certainly becoming an operatic city. It has a number of operas in motion. The State Opera, beginning Jan. 24 and continuing on successive Tuesday evenings for six weeks. All of the offerings will be new to the town, although they are all old favorites of the operatic repertory. The operas will be based on the second volume of Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," based on the second volume of Beaumarchais' farcical novel about the Spanish barber. Then comes a bill that intrigues. For opera we shall have "Fidelio," that study of Leonora Cavallotti. It is a one-act work, and is almost invariably coupled with "Cavalleria Rusticana," but at the State Theater it will be coupled with a full length ballet, "Graduation Ball," to Strauss music.

"I think this is the very finest sort of programming for the winter. The opera is one of the most popular of all time, and it's short so that even the novice can get behind, and then comes a 'ballet d'action,' or ballet with a plot, to the beautiful music of the waltz king, Franz von Suppe. Next, based as it is on the Scott novel, 'The Bride of Lammermoor,' with music by Donizetti.

Tall Tales

USE YOUR WITS
By Alfred Sheinwold

When you can't win a trick by force you must try to steal it by cunning. A good bridge player must know when to use his wits instead of his good right hand.

West opened the jack of clubs, and South could see almost at once that he could not make the hand by force. He knew that the ace and king of hearts were in different hands.

The opening lead did not clear that East held the ace and queen of clubs. East could not also hold the top hearts since he had never entered the bidding. If West had held both top hearts he would have opened the king of hearts.

South wasn't a bit happy to discover that the top hearts were split. This meant that his contract could not be made unless the opponents made a mistake.

Try a normal play in hearts to see what happens. Lead the ace of hearts from the South hand, and East captures the king. West leads the queen and must make two additional heart tricks. The same thing is true if East captures the queen with the king. Now East has the A-9 of hearts behind him, and must make two further heart tricks.

Continuing Play
There is a continuation play to use in this situation. You must prevent the opponents from wanting to take a finesse that is going to lose. They will open the door for you, only to close it when you have stolen a trick from them. In this case, South ruffed the second round of clubs, drew trump with the ace and queen, and then led the jack of hearts from dummy. East thought that South had a general charge with the K-10 and that he was going to lose a finesse to a queen in the West hand. East therefore played a low heart, and the jack forced out West's king of hearts. It was a simple matter to return to dummy with the queen of diamonds and lead another heart toward the queen to set up the vital tenth trick.

Partners open with one diamond and the next play passes. You hold: Spades—7; Hearts—A 9 7 6; Diamonds—10 8 7 6 5 4 3 2; Clubs—A Q 8 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one heart. A jump to three diamonds would probably encourage your partner to play in notrump, which would not please you at all. (Copyright 1930, General Features Corp.)

After his stop at Ain Arnat, he went by helicopter to Targuier, where, after reviewing troops, he went into conference with local officials.

Only yesterday, an official spokesman said, the chief of state would alter his plans to visit Algeria for reasons of bad weather.

De Gaulle has kept in touch with his officials by telephone during his trip but may have decided that the weather in Algeria is too bad to permit a visit to the capital.

It is also possible that officials had persuaded the usually stubborn general that his continued presence in Algeria might lead Israel to even greater disaster.

Reasons against his trip to spread his program of home-rule for Algeria touched off by Europeans to riot in Algiers and Algeria, and the general's own desire to see the situation in the streets of Algiers and Oran.

Withoutless crowds of Europeans and Moslems began massing again today on the streets of Algiers. The demonstrators were shouting their slogan and overture to the fighting.

Faked Accidents, Padded Bills

Newsday's investigation of the swindlers has convinced a three-wheeling firm for making a dishonest dollar.

Frauds involving cars are today as numerous and varied as auto accessories, according to law enforcement authorities. They go from intricate schemes to fleecing insurance companies to selling worthless contraptions that are "guaranteed" to make a Model-T jet-powered.

Profits from these rackets are tremendous. Lester A. Pratt, Washington accountant and nationwide authority on fraud, estimates the total annual auto swindle figure as "several million dollars."

One of the most lucrative is the fake accident swindle. A classic example involved 10 Panama City, Fla., men who were jailed for insuring wrecks to collect liability insurance.

Most of the culprits were auto mechanics, body repair men and junkyard operators. They would spot a customer who looked hapless for money and talk him into participating in the scheme.

For $200 plus a free repair job, he was supposed to collide his car with one of the swindler's salvage models. Once the collision—which usually involved simply scrapping the cars together—had taken place, the swindlers would better their auto with auto parts or turn it over. Then they would call the police.

The customer always took the

swindlers could file a claim against his insurance company. During a four-year period, the gang fleeced 60 companies of $230,000.

Lawyers are often the culprits in a second type of insurance swindle. This scheme works like this:

A lawyer gets a client who has been involved in an auto accident and arranges to receive a percentage of any claim settlement. Then he arranges to have all medical bills sent to him and pads them to increase his percentage if he wins the case.

Chicago lawyer grossed a million dollars a year for 10 years from padded claims.

Another common auto swindle is the sale of attractively advertised, but useless, auto gadgets. The New York State man made more than $300,000 by selling a contraption called the "Turbo-Jet Converter." It was supposed to convert oxygen into fuel.

The man made the mistake of advertising his device through the mail. They soon were arrested. Post Office Department investigators say that the "Turbo-Jet Converter" was nothing more than an "extra" piece of metal in the ignition system.

Bull Racing Top Indonesian Sport

Panama, Indonesia—Only in Indonesia and particularly on the island of Madura are bull races found. The exciting, colorful sport has a long history. The government encourages the races as an aid to improving the quality of Madura's cattle.

The animals are raced in teams of two with the driver standing on a hawthorn-like stand. The harness is very elaborate and decorative. Races are first run each year in each of Madura's 20 districts, and the winners go on to regional semifinals.

The 24 winning teams then compete for the island championship at Pameasan, the island capital.

Where Are You Putting Your Savings? — It's a Big Puzzle. Perhaps you'd be good enough to answer the question I put to a couple of top-notch economists without getting a satisfactory reply.

"Where are the people's savings going?" I asked.

Our personal income during the first six months of the year showed a 5.5 per cent gain over 1959.

Disposable income—the amount of money left over after we pay taxes—rose by $16 billion, on an annual rate, during the second quarter of 1960 compared with 1959. In the same period, personal expenditures increased by $14.9 billion.

Kidney May Raise Blood Pressure

Cleveland—Hypertension, or high blood pressure, may be caused by a kidney ailment rather than the stress of modern living.

Researchers in Cleveland believe the ailing kidney exerts an enzyme that acts on the blood to produce a substance called angiotensin, which helps cause high blood pressure. Healthy kidneys, they say, can break the blood-pressure-raising chain.

Prescriptions Radioed

Canberra — Radio transmitters and receivers and medical kits with numbered bottles are supplied to families in the isolated Australian outback so doctors can prescribe for minor ailments without making a call. Five doctors, nine pilots, and 11 planes in the government's flying-doctor service care for the 1,000,000 people in the area.

Investors Hear Spiels on Tape

Tokyo—In department stores and other strategic places a large Japanese securities firm has installed push-button devices that give taped spiels or prospective clients.

Four kinds of up-to-the-minute advice are available: on investment trusts, discount debentures, debentures, and monthly investment schemes. These are four-minute talks; more advanced stock-market information is given in eight-minute tape-recorded lectures.

14 cases of ammunition. Soviet technicians also departed.

Neighboring Communist China and North Viet Nam are expected to quickly lend their support to Quinim.

He had just returned from Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital, when he seized power from a 6-man junta and brought Laos its first change of government in four days.

The majority of the National Assembly, which fled to Gen. Phoumi's headquarters in Savannakhet, voted no confidence in the Quinim government last night, according to a Savannakhet Radio broadcast today.

It said the Vietnamese government, which is still officially neutral, is being controlled by Premier Quinim. It is disavowed and attemped of all constitutional rights and powers cannot carry out its policies or bring peace and security to the people.

It charged the government "allowed Communists, enemies of Lao people to come in, take power and oppress the people day by day."

Quinim took over from the government yesterday from a military junta which headed for Laos people to come in, take power and oppress the people day by day.

You can't run away from a fire in the back of your truck, but you can dump the fire out. That's what this trash collector did when his load burst into flames Saturday near Ogden's Corner in Vernon. The truck is owned by Scotty's Trash Removal. The cargo became the responsibility of the Vernon Fire Department which extinguished the blaze.

YOUR HOSPITAL TODAY....

the community medical center

Great progress in the field of medicine has made the hospital the most important building in your community.

In the short span of a few decades, the hospital has been transformed from an institution where one went to die... to a modern medical center where we go to get well.

Continued medical research to combat illness, expanded hospital plants, modern equipment and better trained personnel has given us the highest standard of health care in the world.

All of this, of course, has cost money. Almost everything the hospitals use (fuel, food, power, wages, equipment, etc.) has contributed to the increased cost of care. And hospital experts, who foresee even greater medical achievements with an even longer lifespan in years to come, have indicated the cost of care will probably increase for some time to come.

But when the emergency arises—maybe a life at stake—isn't it worth the small amount you pay for your Blue Cross? Is there really anything more important in your family budget—anything that can mean more?

Yes, it does cost more to go to a hospital today. And it may cost even more in the future. But when modern hospitals have done so much, isn't it worth it?

Make certain you have Blue Cross where you work—dollar for dollar, benefit for benefit, it's the best hospitalization plan available.

The Doctor Says

General Practitioner vs. Department Store Medicine

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D. Editor for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many years ago the late Dr. Bernard Sachs chose a quotation from the writings of the second century playwright, Terence, for the title above the entrance to the New York Academy of Medicine. "I am a man," the inscription reads, "therefore nothing that concerns mankind is alien to me."

Some time later, when my publisher was controlling my writing for a title for my five volume text written to meet the needs of modern physicians, I decided to use the title "An Integrated Practice of Medicine."

In each instance, emphasis was placed on the patient as a living unit. Thus the physician who cares for the patient is required to have a certain familiarity with all branches of medicine. For it is only through the physician who is qualified to treat the patient as a whole. And it is only an integrated program of treatment that will enable the physician to treat all phases of the patient's illness. In a way, the text opposed the growing tendency to over-specialize. It was a plea for the physician to know more and more about less and less. And it lacked sympathy for the trend of patients who wandered from one department to another sampling from the counter and that.

In the positive, side, the text recommended a return to a family doctor type of practice in which a single physician, or a small group of practitioners, functioned as a clearing house for his patients' medical transactions. The chosen general practitioner cared for those conditions he felt competent to handle, referred to specialists those problems whose solution required special knowledge or use of special techniques or instruments.

If you agree that this is the way you'd like your medical affairs handled, you and only you can start the wheels turning.

Choose your general practitioner a competent physician you like and can trust. If you don't find one suitable in your own neighborhood, look in nearby communities. Modern transportation permits you great latitude in your choice. Try to find a general practitioner who you're well so gets to know your constitution in health. Later, let him decide which of your medical problems he feels competent to treat without special assistance.

If specialist care is needed go to one your practitioner suggests or approves. With you, take a note from your practitioner, give a brief summary of your medical background, a statement of your present problem and an outline of attempted treatments that have proved unsuccessful.

From the specialist obtain a summary of his findings and recommendations. Or a promise that his summary will be communicated to your practitioner by phone or letter. Then, when preliminaries have been completed, arrange for wrap-up conference with your secretary of health to get authoritative briefing and detailed directions for further procedure.

Four Die As Storm Hits State

ad delays up to more than two hours on the Boston-New York run. It said commuter trains also were behind schedule because of the storm.

The train delays also "marred" the holiday season in the state. A few towns in the state were hit by power failures.

Blowing winds in some places hit 12 mph drifts in others, but snow was light. The snow was piled up to car-window height.

Late this morning, the Connecticut Highway Department workers were still clearing roads.

The crew was further strengthened by seven plow-equipped trucks sent from the state.

They estimated the depth of snow at nine to ten inches and said they hoped to get far enough ahead by tonight to start clearing roads to their full width.

Service in Manchester was through completely off schedule by stalled cars.

"It's hopeless situation" said Edward Royce, president of the Silver Lane Bus Co. He said a bus which left Manchester for Hartford at 7 a. m. had not returned by 11 a. m.

Rockville-Vernon Snow and Wind Sock Town, Crews Work Through Night

Heavy snow and wind socked Rockville and rural Vernon today as hard as anywhere else and highway crews and hired trucks worked through the night.

A meeting of the executive committee of Nutmeg Forest, Tail Colard of Lebanon, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed to tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the Masonic Temple.

Ploving operations early today went smoothly until motorists began to pile up on the roads.

Although conditions seem to be the best for stalling, they are not good for skating.

The City Recreation Commission members yesterday put together a huge plastic cover to be placed on the ground within the skating area.

David K. Welch, a member of the recreation commission, said he will be on duty today, having worked steadily through the night.

Some towns were hit by power failures for a while. Parts of Rockville and Vernon, Brookfield were affected.

Forecasters: Eastern and southern New England will be hit by heavy snow and blowing winds.

Waldo M. Plaisted, manager of the Hartford division of the Connecticut Company, said the main trouble in stalled cars over the road throughout the company's service area.

Many Oddities During Storm

There are always a number of oddities associated with a storm such as this.

Manchester police were called to inspect an expectant woman to the hospital, take the judge and clerk to the police and court building, and guard an open manhole.

Shortly before 8 o'clock, Patrolman James McCooze was dispatched to 78 Linden St. where Mrs. Madeline Meyers was in need of a quick trip to Manchester Memorial Hospital to give birth to her fifth child.

Two nurses who were unable to get their cars going.

Police assistance to get out of his 1954 Studebaker.

Mrs. Meyers was still awaiting the arrival of the baby at 1:30 p. m. Judge Jules Katz, Court Clerk Mrs. Katherine Bourne, and Assistant Clerk Mrs. Alice Hutchinson all had to be driven to the police station in cruisers so that the regular court session could be held.

At midmorning a report came in from the police that the cover to a manhole at Center and New Sts. was missing.

Many food deliveries to stores and restaurants were canceled, commencing with the start of service.

Until next Monday: Herbert J. Carril, 48, of Windsor Locks, charged with failure to grant the right of way.

Andover Town Began Digging Out Sunday Night

Three trucks were resident for the storm yesterday and sent out between 10 and 11 p.m. to keep the roads open during the first snowfall of the year. First Selectman Percy Cook said this morning.

Cook, who was out plowing until 3 a.m. today, said the snow crew is working now. They "have been over the roads two or three times already. Because it is snowing so fast and drifting rapidly, Cook said he advised the Andover elementary school principal, Mrs. Doris E. Chamberlain, early this morning not to run the buses if the storm were to continue.

The roads will be sanded as soon as the snow stops falling. Cook said trucks used to include games, Conrad Schatz and Cook are being used to haul sand.

Cook said he had heard no reports of utility failures or accidents due to the storm. Among the schools closed were the elementary school, R.H.M. High School and the cooperative kindergarten.

Firemen Plan Classes
Due to the growing number of accidents calls for the volunteer fire department will start a series of first aid classes some time in January. The classes will be limited to firemen only. The series will include four sessions of three hours each.

The announcement was made at the monthly fire department meeting Friday at the firehouse, where new fluorescent lighting has been installed in the upstairs meeting room.

Chief George Nelson reported the department was called out during the previous month on two brush fires, one furnace fire, one chimney fire and two calls for the emergency truck.

Firemen installed an additional siren on the roof of the firehouse. The siren is a "wailer" type, as soon as the power company connects the siren, it will be in service covering the northeastern section of town.

Firemen's Bowling Team
The Andover department is now participating in a 10-team bowling league which meets Thursday nights in Willimantic. The team is led by second place and was given a boost last Thursday when Joseph Armstrong hit a high single of 212.

Leon Palmer of the Andover Ship Tank Co. has contributed shirts for all the men who bowl on the local team. They are William Green, captain, Maxwell E. Hutchinson, Joseph Armstrong, Joseph Conner, Ford Norman Bonneau, Jack Fisher, Peter Manegga and Norman Estabrook.

Bolton Town Meeting To Consider Adding Roads

The Board of Selectmen has scheduled a special town meeting for Dec. 19 at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall to act on two portions of roads for acceptance into the town road system.

The Town Planning Commission approved 400 feet of Mt. Sumner Dr. and 1,000 feet of Dean Dr. at its meeting last Tuesday. Both sections of roads are located in the Mt. Sumner tract off Bolton Center Rd.

The tract, which is being built on land formerly owned by the Sumner family, will be situated on one of the highest points of the eastern ridge of the Connecticut River valley.

The U and R Construction Co., owner and developer, has mapped the building lots from one to two acre in size. All homes in the tract will be in the $25,000 and up price range, custom designed and built for each individual owner.

The Ernest E. Reichle Construction Co. is handling all the road development in the area. The R. E. Dimock Co., realtors, is handling the sale of all properties in this tract.

Storm Report
Donald Massey, town highway foreman, reported at noon today that Bolton roads were in "good shape." State Police alerted First Selectman Charles A. Robbins on storm conditions at 3:30 a.m. and town storm crews were immediately dispatched on the pre-arranged plowing schedule.

There were no abandoned cars to impede the work, Massey noted, which contributed to the generally good condition despite what he termed "considerable drifting."

The public school, like all others in the area, was closed. There were no telephone circuits were overloaded throughout the morning.

About Town Jobless Totals Highest Since Days of 1930s

The number of the long-term unemployed, those idle for 12 weeks or longer, remained unchanged in November at about one million. This is one-fourth of the total unemployed.

There are about 200,000 more long-term unemployed now than a year ago.

The Labor Department's monthly appraisal of the job situation said the 150,000 decline in the manufacturing sector is about twice the expected drop for the month.

The report said that, whereas job declines had earlier been confined largely to steel and auto industries, they now extend to virtually all industries.

Significance was attached, too, to a decline of three-tenths of an hour in the average factory work week in November. Normally there is no change. The work week has declined from 38.4 hours to 38.3. The department said this may have been partly due to time off given to vote on election day.

There was the usual seasonal decline of 100,000 in construction, accompanied by a rise of 100,000 in total Governmental employment increased by 75,000.

The department reported little change in average factory worker earnings at $90.78 a week. The average hourly rate was $2.31.

The north side of the block, within 20 minutes adjoining stores were beyond saving.

The fire jumped across the street, which is also U.S. Route 1, about 1 a.m., setting ablaze Strand Theater and a drygoods store.

At 1:55 a.m., a wall of the theater collapsed, sending smoldering debris into the Mystic River.

At the opposite end of the block, firemen had brought a hose into position to protect a large jewelry store on the corner. They were forced to fall back when an overhead traffic light fell to the ground, landing on the hose.

Then the dry goods and jewelry stores were engulfed by the rushing flames. On the north side of the street, a news stand, a store that sells store windows, an automatic laundry, a plumbing supply shop, barber shop and a drug store were hit.

This made a clean sweep of both sides of the street of fire block that begins at the east bank of the river.

The second floor of the buildings along the north side contained offices of engineers, a contractor, an insurance agency, an architect and Circuit Court Judge George S. Kimminth Jr. All were lost as the buildings fell into rubble.

The famed Mystic Seaport, with the Marine Museum that preserves whaling ships and other priceless exhibits from earlier days, is more than a half mile north on the river. Because of the fierce north wind the flames never threatened.

However, they reached the east end of the burning block and seemed about to jump Cottrell Street to the Mystic Hotel, the first business move in that direction.

The heat eventually was enough to shatter windows of the hotel but the flames were prevented from crossing the street.

The wind whistling down Cottrell Street turned it into a smoke funnel, making it impossible at times to see across the street.

The firemen working to save a nearby lumber yard occasionally saw the streams from their hoses divide sharply because of the drain on hydrant pressure.

At the opposite end of the block, pumps were drawing thousands of gallons of water from the river.

About 300 men from fire companies west to New London and east to Westerly, R.I., lent assistance to the Mystic companies, which were swamped by the size of the fire.

A reception for 120 guests was held at the Manchester Country Club following the ceremony. The country club was decorated with holly leaves, poinsettias and a silver Christmas tree.

For a wedding trip to New York City, Mrs. Curran wore a rust and black walking suit with fur collar, black accessories, and a cyrilium orchid corsage. The couple will live at 27 New St., Manchester, after Dec. 15.

After Year in Jail Uphaus Holds Firmly Against Tale-Bearing

because I still believe I did the only thing that I could honorably have done, given my Christian philosophy of life and my loyalty to our Bill of Rights.

"I feel that I upheld New Hampshire's own constitution that guarantees the rights of conscience.

"I realize that in world of tension and strife our country must look to its security, but in a democracy, especially in one as advanced as ours, we have the great responsibility of maintaining as curity and at the same time protecting the guarantees of the constitution.

"Our problem as a people is not to permit agencies in our federal and state governments, under the pretext of security, to keep us from our liberties and to ignore the fact that we are the only nation in the world to protect their vested interests.

"The deepest longing of my heart is for world peace. I do not want to see the precious values of our civilization destroyed.

"The people of New Hampshire never need to fear about disloyalty or subversion at World Fellowship Center. During our eight seasons I do not know of a single soul who came to the center who even hinted at lawlessness or subversive activity."

Uphaus' jailing resulted in protest marches, demonstrations, prayer meetings and all-night vigils outside the jail. During his year of confinement, he was allowed use of four extra cells. He crammed these eventually with correspondence and printed matter. He had a typewriter, and worked on a book describing his experiences.

"He insisted throughout that he never was a Communist and that his efforts were directed to furthering "world peace and civil liberties."

The New Hampshire attorney general called Uphaus' imprisonment "a case of self-manufactured martyrdom."

"He didn't have to stay in jail five minutes," Wyman said. "He could have provided the names or invoked the Fifth Amendment and gone home. But he didn't want to."
