Cease-fire Assurance In London

Geneva, May 11 (AP)—The Big Three western powers were reported ready to take their seats tomorrow in a big East-West conference about the future of Laos, basing the decision on word received in London today that organized fighting has ceased in the jungle kingdom.

There was no official confirmation from the United States, Britain and France that they had dropped earlier reservations to participating in the conference if a cease-fire was not certified.

But sources close to the western delegations said that, in view of the London news from Laos, they probably would agree tonight to sit down at the conference table at the U.N. Palace in London tomorrow with their eastern opponents.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and President Kennedy's special ambassador, Averil Harriman, already are in Geneva. So is Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Red China's foreign minister, Chen Yi, arrived this afternoon.

Lord Home of Britain and Maurice Couve de Murtied of France were due later in the day and were reported planning to meet later in the day with their counterparts in the three to take part in the conference.

A Foreign Office spokesman in London said an assurance that organized fighting had stopped arrived from the Polish-Lithuanian-Canadian International Control Commission.

The commission's job is to certify and supervise the cease-fire. In making its announcement, the British spokesman said complications are very bad, but the Briton said, "and it may be (Continued on Page Ten)

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

Sausage Rolls, made with a flaky puff pastry, is a favorite recipe of Mrs. Norman Slade, 101 E. Middle Street. She learned to make these in cooking class at a school for girls in her native England. Sausage rolls are popular with her family and make a good hot appetizer for serving at cocktail parties.

Sausage Rolls
1 lb. sausage, either ground or skinned links
3 cups all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
10 ounces of lard
a squeeze of lemon juice
1/2 cup cold water

Mix flour and salt, and divide the fat into four pieces. Cut one quarter of the fat into the flour and chop it up well into nut-like pieces. Mix to an elastic dough, adding enough lard and cold water. Roll into eight-inch wide strip. Dot the pastry with one-third of the sausage links, seal open ends, and roll into a long thin strip. Cut into one-inch wide strips, like an orange, and leave for one hour.

Fry cook the sausage, either ground meat or skinned links, in a fry pan with a little water, to remove excess fat. Roll the pastry to one-eighth inch thickness. Cut into small rectangles to enclose whole or piece of sausage. Depending upon intended use either as main dish or appetizer. Place on cookie sheet for 15 to 20 minutes at 425 degrees.

These Sausage Rolls may be stored in the freezer to be re-heated and served later.

Mrs. Slade was born in Preston, Lancashire, England. She studied in various countries. Mrs. Slade served as a junior officer in the fire service and as a member of a control room for directing the lighting during World War II bombing. She later became a practical nurse and served in a troop hospital at Blackburn where prisoners from Germany and many other countries were treated.

The Slades were married in Preston. He had been a corporal stationed with the Air Force near her hometown. The fathers of both were close friends and Mrs. Slade and her future husband had known each other during childhood. They came to this country in 1925. Mrs. Slade is an organ and piano salesman at the Tom Paine Co. in Hartford. The couple has four children, Madeline, a Freshman at Manchester High School; Howard, a Freshman at Hollister Catholic School; and Andrew, 5. Mrs. Slade is a member of the Chambliss Musical Club of Manchester and St. Mary's Episcopal Church where she sings in the choir. Her hobbies are sewing and singing.

Bus Firm Asks New Work Pact

Hartford, May 11 (AP) — The stage has been set for negotiations over a new contract between the Connecticut Co. and the bus drivers' union to start later this month.

The bus firm that services Hartford, New Haven, Middletown and Stamford areas yesterday informed the union that it wants the present contract to expire June 30.

The next step calls for negotiating a new contract.

Both parties had the option to continue the contract by mutual agreement until Aug. 31.

The union is seeking a pay increase for some 1,100 bus drivers and mechanics which would bring their present wages of $2.41 an hour to $2.75 an hour in a one-year contract.

The State Supreme Court last year nullified a compulsory arbitration clause in the old Connecticut Co. Contract. This means that the utility and the union will have to negotiate for a new contract instead of falling back on arbitration of their contract dispute as in previous years.

If the Connecticut Co. and the union fail to agree on a new contract.

Free Eichmann, Israelis Urged

Jersey City, N. J., May 11 (AP) — Adolf Eichmann, the Nazi war leader charged by the state of Israel as being the greatest mass murderer of all time, should be paroled after he has been found guilty, Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., said last night.

If Eichmann were allowed to go free, the act "would serve as a great example of the generosity of the state of Israel," the Congressman said at a meeting of the Jersey City Israel Bonds Committee.

The trial of Eichmann, now in progress in Jerusalem, is one of the biggest contributions Israel could make to the world, Roosevelt said, because "information about the proceedings will eventually penetrate the 'Iron Curtain' countries and show these nations how a democracy operates."

Columbia Mrs. Squirer Reports 79% Tax Payment

Mrs. Laura L. Squirer, tax collector, reports 79.45 per cent of this year's tax bills were paid within 90 days of their due date. On May 1, $156,982 of the $197,000 levy had been collected.

Last year the comparable collection figure was $9.50 per cent. Mrs. Squirer reports that 97.1 per cent of all back taxes has been collected. The figure the previous year was 82.5 per cent. Interest and late fees on back taxes collected this year totaled $1,397, compared to the 1960 figure of $1,022.

She pointed out that collections have dropped off 1.4 per cent this year. Outstanding items on May 1 numbered 32 as compared to 23 in 1960.

Mrs. Squirer comments that the figures show that as the property tax rate rises, it becomes more and more difficult for property owners to pay the tax. She urges taxpayers to make their payment at any time. This not only eases the burden, she said, but reduces the interest.

P.T.A. Honors Mrs. Allen
Ljudia Allen, music supervisor at Foster School for the past eight years, has submitted her resignation.

Last night the P.T.A. presented her with a bouquet of flowers. Mrs. Clarence Grant read an original poem, which depicted Mrs. Allen's efforts here, as a farewell gesture.

Mrs. Rudolph Altair, president, presented Mrs. John Fring, who has served on the executive board of the P.T.A. for 12 years, with a service pin and expressed the gratitude of the unit for her work. These were both surprise features of the meeting.

Mrs. Kate Stratton, past president, installed Mrs. Rudolph Altair as president. Mrs. Clarence Knight, vice president; Mrs. Clarence Grant, secretary; and Mrs. Arnold treasurer. The organization has 186 paid up members this year.

Among the officers' reports, Mrs. John Koszka, chairman of the library committee, reported that Mrs. George Pederson has cataloged the books for the year. A total of 158. Mrs. Koszka also reported that the library work had been contributed this year by 25 mothers. Outstanding among them was Mrs. Fred Whelan, Mrs. Alhair, Mrs. Walter Card, Mrs. Howard Sawyer, Mrs. James Fuller, Mrs. Arvid Anderson, Mrs. Elizabeth and Mrs. Ward Miller. She also singled out Mrs. George Evans who had headed the staffing committee.

Giving her report on the state convention, Mrs. Altair said state unit suggests that booklets be compiled to eliminate the need for so much money which is taken from the real P.T.A. purpose of educating parents in the realm of education for children.

"Most of our projects duplicate things done by the Board of Education, and while worthwhile are non-essential," she said.

A panel discussion on cooperating with boards of education brought the statement: "These people are unpaid volunteers who are elected by the voters of the community to further the education of our children with the money we vote to them. Granted they have an obligation to us, but we also have one to them. The members of the board represent all of the voters of the community, not just the members of the P.T.A. which is a minority group. We often seem to forget this point."

In cases where school policy on a major issue is concerned, she said, a committee should be appointed to work with committees representing the majority of the voters to look into it thoroughly. When the matter has been studied deeply whether it takes three weeks or three years, (and without keeping it a secret from the Board of Education) go with the facts and take it up with them. After all of this don't let it drop. If they, too, feel it is feasible, back them up when it comes to a final battle at the town meeting or at the polls. Their budget comes from the voters.

She ended with these statements: The purpose of the P.T.A. is to find facts, not to find fault; to raise the standards of the home, not to criticize; to raise children better, not to raise them more easily; to secure good schools, not to ignore poor ones; to cooperate with schools, not to operate them; to give every child a chance, not to make each a prodigy; to make lives, not to make money.

First Aid Last?
 Portugal, having been the first European nation in Africa, also seems likely to be the last to go.
 But there seems to be little present interest in the Portuguese colony that has been the subject of that dubious honor; by its present policy and present mood, Portugal does not plan to go. It is so sensitive on this point that all of North Atlantic democracy meeting at Oslo this week, it was careful just how they framed their words to avoid Portugal. The debate over might have been responded by walking out of NATO, and then where would the case of North Atlantic democracy have been?

Portugal's theory of how it can avoid the same fate which has overtaken other European countries in America was illustrated, the other day, when it announced the sending of additional military forces to Mozambique, the East coast colony which has not yet openly declared the threat which it has against the Portuguese
 This sending of troops, Portugal announced, was intended to see that such troops never even got started in Mozambique.

Given troops enough, and a continuation of such a resolute spirit, we do not doubt that the duration of Portuguese rule in Africa can be prolonged.

But the real issue is not the present moment at which the heavy burden of maintaining an office here, and the bearing discussion made it clear that something more serious than some public telephone booth was contemplated.

Most advocates of licensing measures, too, are a little hesitant about admitting openly that they want to chase anybody else out of business.

In this instance, there was no such stigma. It was openly proclaimed that these licensing bills considered the so-called "black book" of the state of deflation, and that of the requirement for a $200

Today marks the anniversary of

 I see my Lord returning,
 While I, a stranger in the earth,
 For heaven am ever yearning.
 Mid toil and sorrow here I roam,

Eichmann Trial Testimony
Norway Underground Fought to Save Jews

By TOM HEBBY

Jerusalem, May 11 (AP)—A heroic tale of Norwegian underground fighters who saved hundreds of Jews from the Nazis was told at the Eichmann trial today by the widow of a rabbi who failed to survive the holocaust.

Mrs. Henriette Samuel, whose husband had been chief rabbi for Norway's 5700 Jews, described how the Gestapo searched for Jews in 1942 to round up and deport the entire community.

"My husband was one of the first seized," she said.

"I had confirmation that on Dec. 16, 1942, he was exterminated at Auschwitz," she said.

She noted that her husband had been arrested in 1942, and had been taken to the underground at great peril brought 800 Jews—including her husband and three children—across the border into Sweden.

The Samuel testimony was introduced by Israeli Deputy Atty. Gen. Gavriel Salvendy as part of the case against Adolf Eichmann, the 55-year-old SS officer charged with being the operating head of the Nazi bureau assigned to wipe out the Jews in Europe.

Only in Scandinavia—Norway and especially Denmark—did Eichmann come up against something too big for even his midnight raids.

"The Jews lived in Norway freely and without restriction and their economic situation was the very last moment" should not be spared, Salvendy said.

He objected to a request that Eichmann testify that he had been ordered to go to Sweden by the German authorities. Eichmann, who had been in the Nazi Security Police since 1938, had been recruited to go to Sweden in 1942, he said.

Under an illusion
 "From 1940 to 1942, the first two years of the occupation in Norway, the conditions were such that the anti-Jewish laws of the Nazis were not strictly enforced," he said.

On the night of Oct. 26, Nazi police swooped down on a Jewish home in Oslo, and arrested 120 Jews. On Sept. 2, 1942, he was arrested and never seen again.

The Rivals

The official communique issued by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's Council of Ministers at the conclusion of its Oslo meeting introduces one new note into the history of that organization. It itself proclaims a broadening of its interests and its own proposed activities to make them world-wide in scope, beyond their own originally insular geography.

This new disposition on the part of NATO, to take on the whole world, should not, perhaps be taken too literally at the moment. In actual experience, NATO has had trouble enough managing its own affairs, within its own territorial limits.

But what is reflected in the communique is an increasing amount of thought, among NATO members, of the possibility of building up NATO as an alternative to the United Nations.

There has always been an inevitable conflict between the parallel existence of the two organizations. The one is an old fashioned power politics alliance for the ultimate purpose of waging war if that cannot be avoided. The other is an alliance supposedly against war itself.

The one has a limited, selected membership, which, in theory, even if not in practice, should have a relatively easy time acknowledging and serving common goals. It includes dictatorship as well as democracy, but at least it is used to wage exclusively by the liberals. The latest battle cry comes from two young instructors at a community college down on Long Island, hired a year ago for a probationary period of one year, and now, at the end of that year, facing reappointment. To them the explanation is simple and ideological. They had helped organize the Conservative Club at Nassau Community College in Mineola, and one of them had made a speech in which he attacked the Communist Party. He was soft on Communists, or at least hard on anti-Communists. The college president, General B. M. Bryan, former commandant at West Point itself, says ideology had nothing to do with it and that the young instructors are being let go because they had failed to measure up to professional standards in their teaching work.

The academic record of the past is probably full of incompetent college instructors and professors who used their liberalism as an alibi and as a sympathy-getter when their incompetence was fired. One can concede that incompetence, rather than conservatism, may be the real trouble down in Mineola.

But, whatever the facts, the two young instructors are beginning to gather their sympathizers and their allies, and we can expect to hear more of them in the role of martyrs, and more of conservatism's claim to its place under the sun of American academic freedom. And there has already been one tell-tale sign of the somewhat amazing reversal of the roles of conservatism and liberalism in our colleges and universities. It used to be that the liberals were the darlings of the press, and the conservatives were the ones who were being let go because they had failed to measure up to professional standards in their teaching work.

West Big-3 Nations Ready For Start of Laos Parley

That sporadic outbreaks of fighting will still occur.

"With the fighting lines unglued, groups on both sides were left isolated from the main armies at the time of the cease-fire," the statement said.

The statement said the 7-day May 5 and may still be involved in minor clashes.

"These things still have to be regularized. It may not be possible for some time yet to give assurance of complete silence all along the front."

In Vientiane, however, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan told the press that the military situation is still calm and that the government's military forces are still holding their positions in the Thon Thom area.

The deputy premier, who is the military strong man of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma, said that as a result of the government's 11-man delegation would play out of the Geneva conference and probably for several days.

Harriman arrived in Geneva with a prediction that the awaited official news will be coming along soon.

He cited the presence of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko who arrived yesterday to head up the Communist side of the conference to which 14 nations are invited.

"I think that, in view of the fact Mr. Gromyko is already here, an official certification of a cease-fire will be coming along soon," Harriman said.

Rusk, arriving last night, said he would take part in the conference. "Only if arriving from Laos per se," Harriman said, "is Rusk as head of the U.S. delegation when the Secretary returns to Washington, perhaps the leading representative of the United States."

The U.S. delegation will include Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, Prince Souvanna Phouma, the head of the Communist bloc government recognized by the Communist bloc, and the head of the Laotian government.

Before leaving Vientiane, the committee chairman, Senator Gen. of India said he saw "encouraging signs." He could not predict, however, when he could certify to Geneva that the cease-fire proclaimed eight days ago was actually in effect.

Only sporadic shooting has been reported in the past week, but the opposing armies have been unable to agree even on a meeting place to negotiate details of a permanent truce.

Vientiane meanwhile was filled with holiday crowds today, out to celebrate constitution day and the opening of the National Assembly.

Informed sources in the Laotian capital said Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, fighting strenuously in the west-backed government, would head a 10-man delegation to the Geneva conference. There was no word on departure plans.

Delegations representing the Pathet Lao and Souvanna Phouma arrived yesterday by way of Peking and Moscow.

Gromyko, one of the first to arrive for the conference, said Rusk will make every effort to solve the Laotian problem "peacefully and without preconditions and to stamp out a hotbed of war danger."

Clos on the heels of the Russian came Red China's delegation, headed by Chen Yi, and a North Vietnamese group headed by Foreign Minister Ung Van Kienem.

Fourteen nations were invited to the conference, which was called by Britain and the Soviet Union co-chairman of the 1954 Geneva parley that wrote the Indochina cease-fire.

The invited nations were the United States, France, Great Britain, Canada, Thailand, Poland, Laos, North and South Viet Nam, Cambodia, and Indonesia.

U.S. Offers Support to Asia Allies

has been put in place in recent years.

Beast by an estimated 12,000 Communist rebels, South Viet Nam is the first Asian stop for the Vice President in his survey of the growing red menace in this part of the world.

Johnson reportedly will offer $40 million more in arms aid to the Diem government.

American aid to South Viet Nam since her 1954 independence has already topped $2 billion, about four-fifths of that military.

During a stopover in Honolulu, Johnson disclosed the U.S. intelligence organization probably in Saigon to coordinate all U.S. intelligence in South Viet Nam.

While holding a striking force in readiness, U.S. military authorities in Hawaii told Johnson that American troops should not be sent to South Viet Nam at this time.

Johnson's chief mission is to find out how the United States can shore up the Southeast Asian countries against Communist infiltration.

President Kennedy's policy is to give the embassies sweeping authority to make suggestions to the heads of state in meetings on behalf of the administration.

Talking with newsmen on his way to Saigon, Johnson said the United States "is trying to show its concern for peace in the world."

He said this was evidenced by U.S. position in Geneva at the world's largest meeting.

"But we don't want anybody to misunderstand us," he warned. "We are not going to bully anybody."

The Vice President's visit aroused enthusiasm among the South Vietnamese.

Newspapers cheered him as an "Ambassador of Freedom" and declared his tour to be the most important since the "most reliable ally."

But one Saigon daily, Yuen Tung, warned: "We hope that the U.S. authorities after getting the news of the real situation in this area, will no longer hesitate to take the time to run out for us."

An American official here said Johnson would urge Diem to institute political, social and economic reforms by reminding the Indo-China leader that long-range peace and security do not hinge on arms alone. One Vietnamese opposition official suggested the Vice President may run into opposition if he makes further American assistance contingent on these reforms.

"The United States should not try to interfere in our affairs," this official said.

Several elements have protested that the Diem government is a family dictatorship and have charged corruption in high places. Diem has promised a shakedown but so far has not made good on his promise.

Johnson will remain in Saigon until Saturday morning, then fly to Manila. He will also visit the Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa and Hong Kong.

Johnson is being accompanied by state department aides, assigned to him for the trip (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Retirement: Happy Times

By MARIE DAERZ

Retired Teacher Thrills To Building New Career

"Being my own boss is fun. I don't get leads, I don't make time, I don't have to be strictly up to it."

This is Miss Clara C. Clark's reaction to an after-retirement career that keeps her so busy she scarcely has time to keep up on news paper and current magazine reading.

Clark, a public school teacher for 40 years, Miss Clark now selling pens, pencils and desk accessories on commission.

Clark's work includes such teaching tools as rulers, compasses and marking pencils.

"I had never sold so much as this," she said. "I had never had so many orders as this."

Clark is a member of the principal in our city's school system.

Miss Clark said often, "It is a case of calling old friends for an appointment."

"I never drop in. Often I ask to come to lunch hour, so I can talk to teachers during their free time."

She plans to work another year, which will give her more than enough quarters to be eligible for retirement.

Clark's new career is a supplement her teacher's pension.

Miss Clark also does substitute teaching.

"I never want to leave a school building with the knowledge that I forced someone to buy something," the retired teacher said.

"I sell only what people want."

Miss Clark's 40-year teaching career includes assignments in three elementary schools. For 20 years, she taught elementary subjects to adults in evening school at a high school. For another 20 years she was principal of that night school.

Clark had worked so many hours a week, she would have been completely lost if she had retired to complete leisure.

"I am 48 years old and have worked many years under social security. I have been doing sales work but more with only 10 percent vision. I find, I can't carry that weight."

A-I suggest that you ask your social security office whether you are eligible for monthly benefits as a disabled worker. Eligibility requirements include at least five years of work under social security during the 10 years just before you became disabled.

Coviello was arrested on March 23 following an audit of the books of St. John's Church, Coventry, which revealed $2,900 as the amount of embezzlement, of which $1,000 had been returned.

The case was presented in court by Harold Garity of Manchester.

Mrs. Charles T. Daley was installed as president of the unit by Principal Richard B. Mather, who also installed Elijah J. Rorer as vice president; Mrs. Robert Gordon, secretary; and Mrs. Samuel Goldstein, treasurer.

The PTA voted also to accept the offer of the Board of Education to do the required enumeration of all children in the town.

The vote to sponsor a program to increase citizen understanding of education followed a discussion of the need to cooperate with the Board of Education to promote the educational goals of the town.

It was said that the PTA and the board were the two groups in town most interested in education.

The resolution adopted provided for an "integrated program of activities directed to acquaint all Bolton residents with the purposes, needs and methods of public education."

It directed the PTA executive committee to appoint an "Acquaint the Citizens Team" (ACT) which would include the PTA president, program chairman, "Educator" chairman, and five members-at-large, to devise such a program and establish budgetary requirements.

James Kilar, chairman of the committee which publishes the PTA "Educator," asked that ACT consider a total program including the general content and aim of each PTA meeting, special public meetings on specific aspects of education, an aggressive press campaign including special features, radio panels and discussions on a regular basis, preferably on set time, methods of obtaining

Aboard USS Lake Champlain Town Sailor 'On Deck' For Shepard Recovery

"We were due for a liberty, but for once, nobody complained when it was canceled."

That was the report of Seaman James R. McCavagny, 21, of Manchester, who witnessed from the flight deck of the USS Lake Champlain the descent and recovery of Navy Cmdr. Alan Shepard last Friday.

As a member of the crew, McCavagny saw the recovery of the astronaut's capsule and the recovery of the astronaut himself.

McCavagny said he first saw the capsule as it descended from the sky. "I saw it as it came in over the water," he said. "I saw it as it came in over the water."

Board Sells Small Plot to Green Manor

The board of directors agreed last night to sell a little piece of land to Green Manor Construction Co. for one dollar and certain other valuable considerations.

The certain other valuable considerations to which the company has agreed are payment of 70 per cent of some sewer assessments, and the construction of a retaining wall around the little piece of land.

The company wants the land, which is 500 square feet, for a driveway around a 50,000 square foot addition to the Grand Union Market at the Shopping Park.

The sewer assessments which the company has agreed to pay are $18,000. The assessments were levied against the parcel by the town.

The company now agrees, said Atty. LaBelle, to pay 70 per cent of the assessments, immediately.

Early Retirement Plan For Police Approved

Manchester policemen may retire at the age of 55, instead of 65, provided they have served 20 years of the force, and provided they contribute 5 per cent of their pay to the pension fund, instead of the 2.5 per cent other town employees contribute.

An amendment to the pension ordinance was approved last night by the board of directors to permit this plan for policemen.

The cost to the town to cover the policemen's current service benefits will remain the same, said actuary Homer Anderson, if the average age of the policemen remains the same.

If the average age increases from 35 to 40, and if all the men retire as soon as they are eligible to at age 55, the cost to the town for pension service benefits may increase from 2.5 per cent to 5.4 per cent.

Anderson told the directors that he was highly unlikely, since there is a large turnover on the police force. New men replace the older men, he said, keeping the average age down.

However, the cost to the town to amortize the unfunded liability will increase by 1 per cent of the active payroll, from 7 to 7.173 per cent, said Anderson.

Oliver Olson, General Manager Richard Martin said the benefit to the sewer department would be great, since there is no law which compels a hearing on sewer assessment appeals, as there is on tax assessment appeals.

The sewer department will receive part of the money immediately, rather than having to wait for it, he said.

While at first General Manager Richard Martin recommended the town sell the land for $50, the directors decided to sell the land for $1, instead of $50, which would be the value of the land, he said.

The land was originally given to the town by the sewer department by Green Manor for nothing.

A question and answer panel for discussion of the play, which consisted of a ten-year-old at home and outside the home, was headed by Mrs. Alice Hammar, Miss Betty Gove, Paul Fialabon, and Principal A. Hyatt Sutcliffe.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Traylor and her committee.

Jobless Aid Asked

Hartford, May 11 (AP)—Federal aid to help alleviate unemployment in the industrialized Naugatuck Valley has been requested by the General Assembly.

The House, in concurrence with the Senate, approved a resolution yesterday asking President Kennedy and Congress to consider establishment of a public works program and other measures to alleviate the area's economic depression.

The resolution had the support of both parties.

Unemployment in the Naugatuck Valley is reported between 10 and 15 per cent of the work force—about 3 per cent higher than jobless level throughout the state.

Grange Notes

State Master Robert K. Mitchell and National Flora May P. Mitchell attended the annual meeting of the United States Committee for the United Nations at the United Nations Building recently. This committee is composed of representatives of many national associations and corporations.

The State Master continues: "The major problems facing the U.N. today are: (1) number of new countries throughout Africa and Asia that have recently become members; (2) The Congo situation and support of U.N. forces there; (3) economic inequality throughout the world; (4) the attack on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld."

We were greatly impressed by the progress made by the United Nations in spite of the opposition and problems confronting them, Mitchell said.

Eskimo Relief

It is the belief of some Eskimos that the souls of the dead reincarnate themselves in newborn babies, protecting the growing children from harm. Thus a parent should not punish a child for fear the spirit might resent the interference. According to the same belief when a child grows old enough to take care of himself the spirit departs.

Committee Split On Job Pay Bill

Hartford, May 11 (AP) — The legislature's labor committee has split over a bill that would change Connecticut's jobless pay law. Democrats and Republican leaders met yesterday with members of the committee, but failed to patch up the differences.

Instead, the Republican-controlled house labor committee approved a jobless pay measure which raises the maximum benefit at the present $45 a week, and restricts persons receiving benefits in the amount of jobless pay benefits they can pocket.

The Democratic-controlled senate labor committee has approved a bill changing the benefit from a flat maximum of $45 a week to 50 per cent of the average production wage in the state.

The Democrats also would add a non-working spouse as a dependent, provide uniform duration of benefits of 26 weeks for everyone instead of the present range of up to 26 weeks.

Rep. J. Tyler Patterson of Old Lyme, the GOP house leader, and Sen. Louis Gladstone of Bridgeport, Democratic senate leader, said the committee action wasn't binding at this time on the parties.

Gladstone said both parties couldn't reach an agreement on the jobless bill. To meet the legislative deadline for bringing out bills, he explained that the committee acted separately. They plan more conferences on the issue next week.

British, Russians Postpone Parley on Future of Laos

Delegation Question Continues Unsettled

Vientiane, Laos, May 12 (AP)—Phoumi Nosavan, vice-premier and military strongman, has proposed the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist chiefs meet him in Cambodia today to get down to brass tacks on Laos' political future.

Phoumi said he and three other royal government officials are ready to go to Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital, to discuss formation of a coalition government and a Geneva conference delegation, if Pathet Lao leader Prince Souphanouvong and Prince Souvanna Phouma, ex-premier and self-styled neutralist, will join them.

His group also is standing by to go to Geneva, Phoumi said, depending on developments.

Geneva, May 12 (AP)—Foreign ministers of Britain and the Soviet Union today agreed on arrangements for a 14-nation parley on the future of Laos and decided to postpone formal opening of the conference. It had been scheduled to start today.

The British and Russians—Co-chairmen of the conference—were unable to reach an agreement on which delegation should represent Laos at the table. The United States had refused to show for the talks unless this question was settled.
