Recalls Parliament Kasavubu Bids To End Strife

Leopoldville, The Congo, May 13 (AP)—President Joseph Kasavubu today called parliament back into session to help resolve the political chaos that has split the nation since its founding. It is expected to meet in a few weeks.

"After nearly 10 months of confusion, misery and all kinds of privation," the president said in an address, "we will have taken note of the need for stable social order based on the principles of public morality and legal justice."

The call for parliament to meet represented an attempt to bring Kasavubu back under control of the Central government, now that Katanga president Moise Tshombe has been arrested on treason charges. He has proclaimed his province an independent nation.

It remains to be seen whether Kasavubu's deputies will desert Tshombe and attend the parliamentary session.

Kasavubu asked for United Nations protection for the parliamentarians and their families, and for U.N. travel facilities to bring the members to Leopoldville.

He called the first session to open immediately after the conclusion of the present political conference in Coquilhatville, probably this month.

"The moment is very grave," Kasavubu said in a formal address in Coquilhatville. "Everyone has the duty to collaborate in the work of reconstruction. I hope the convocation of parliament will bring not merely a return to legality but at full new lease of life for our population."

By recalling parliament, Kasavubu effectively challenged the rebellious Lumumbist regime in

Statement to Filipinos Johnson Says U.S. To Keep Promises

Manila, May 13 (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson today free Manila to "keep its promises" to the Philippines.

The vice president, in a radio address to the Philippine people, said that the United States would stand by its promises to the Philippines and that the United States would support the Philippine people in their struggle for freedom.

Executive Held As Leader of Labels Racket

Meriden, May 13 (AP)—Police early this morning arrested an engineering executive, described as the leader of a racket label counterfeiting racket that netted $25,000 in the last nine months.

Authorities said further arrests will be made in New York and Boston—two areas in which the operation was active.

The racket, police said, operated by purchasing surplus ball bearings and "dirt cheap" pieces, repackaging them in boxes with counterfeit labels bearing name firms and selling the merchandise as new bearings but at low prices.

Some of the bearings used were purchased at federal surplus sales, police said.

Arrested was Alvin L. Trumbull, 42, Newington, owner of Trumbull Bearings and Engineering Corp. He was charged with counterfeiting stamps and labels and making untrue and misleading advertisements. He was released on $2,000 bond pending trial May 24.

Police said the labels were printed in Worthington, Mass., and some of the parcels were done in the Trumbull firm here. An estimated 10,000 boxes bearing falsified labels were confiscated, police said.

Among labels falsified, police said, were those of New Departure, a division of General Motors; Fisher of New Britain and SKF of Philadelphia.

Crash Kills Woman

Greenwich, May 13 (AP)—A woman was killed and two other persons injured when their car left North St. and smashed into a store wall yesterday.

Mrs. Lois Barrett, 68, of Geneva Lane, New Rochelle, N.Y., died at Greenwich Hospital of a rupture of the aorta.

Her son, Edmund E. Barrett, 35, of 120 Maryland Ave., Hartford, N.Y., the driver, and Mrs. Joseph H. Hoot, 58, of Hooper St., New Rochelle, were injured in the crash.

Mrs. Barrett is the wife of the president of the Wood Flock Corp., maker of newspaper mats.

Police believe Barrett lost control of the car and the vehicle veered off the road and smashed into the wall.

Rogers Pleads Guilty

New Haven, May 13 (AP)—Harold Rogers, New Haven, who fought death in the electric chair for all most seven years, has pleaded guilty to second degree murder in connection with a holdup-slaying in a West Haven package store.

Rogers made his plea yesterday before Superior Court Judge John D. Conroy, who set May 28 as the day for sentencing.

The 34-year-old Rogers was convicted of the first degree murder of Mrs. Dorothy Kennedy, May 1957, when she was shot in the back of the head while she was driving to work.

Three Laos Factions Sign Formal Cease-fire Papers

Geneva, May 13 (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko met today but failed to solve their dispute over Laos should be represented in the international conference on the future of Laos.

The issue of Laotian representation at the Geneva conference, starting on schedule yesterday, in his first try at personal diplomacy with the Russians, Rusk conferred with Gromyko in a 30-minute session to try to end the dispute.

Rusk told newsmen after his meeting that the United States would not accept the Soviet demand for full and equal status for the Communist-led Pathet Lao at the conference table.

This represents an injection of a new idea by the Soviet Union, Rusk said. "This was not the basis on which we were invited to the conference."

Rusk and Gromyko were together for 70 minutes. The American decided to call on the Soviet foreign minister to explore ways of breaking the deadlock, a move encouraged by other western leaders.

Meanwhile, five members of the western-backed Laotian government, delegation reached Geneva. W. Averell Harriman, president of the United States, met them and Rusk arranged a prompt conference with them.

Rusk said that the United States would support the Laotian government, the other two factions would already be at Geneva.

Their arrival was one of a fast-moving series of developments.

In Laos, at the town of Ban Meung, the Laotian government forces and the Communist forces were engaged in a bitter struggle.

The Laotian government forces, under the command of General Phoumi Phouang, were fighting the Communist forces, who were supported by North Vietnam.

The fighting was particularly fierce in the area of Ban Meung, where the Communist forces had established a base.

The Laotian government forces were trying to drive the Communist forces out of Ban Meung and to reestablish their control over the area.

The fighting has caused a large number of people to flee the area and to seek refuge in the mountains.

The Laotian government forces are trying to bring about a cease-fire and to start negotiations for a settlement of the Laos problem.

The United States and the Soviet Union are both interested in a settlement of the Laos problem and are trying to bring about a cease-fire and to start negotiations for a settlement of the Laos problem.

Flood Crests Peril Weakened Levees

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Flood-weary residents of southern Illinois and Indiana kept a tense watch today on soggy levees. Fifteen counties have been struck by flooding that has reached record proportions.

Hundreds of thousands of acres remained under water with several rivers and streams still surging toward crest expected in the next few days.

The Little Wabash in southeastern Illinois surged toward an expected crest of nearly 22 feet above flood level at Carlin today. More than a third of the community's 6,200 residents have been evacuated.

White county, where Carlin is located, was reported to have more than 40 per cent of its farmland under water.

At Murphysboro, the Big Muddy River created nearly 9 feet above flood level at Tell City and is expected to top 14 feet when the crest reaches Cairo, Ill. Monday.

Blaze Sweeps Wide Section Of Hollywood

Hollywood, Calif., May 13 (AP)—Fire swept through the scenic beach-covered Hollywood Hills with explosive fury last night, leaving an estimated 24 homes destroyed or damaged.

The flames, pushed by gusts up to 40 m.p.h., blackened more than 1,000 acres before fire fighters got the upper hand. There were no reports of serious injuries.

Scores of residents were evacuated from the heavily populated, exclusive residential district overlooking the Hollywood-Los Angeles area. The blaze is only one of several fires that have swept through the area in recent weeks.

The fire started in a house on a hillside near the Hollywood-Los Angeles border. It spread rapidly, destroying several homes and damaging many others.

Fire fighters worked for hours to contain the blaze, but it was not until early this morning that the fire was finally brought under control.

The fire has caused a large number of people to flee the area and to seek refuge in other parts of Hollywood.

The fire has also caused a large amount of property damage and has left many people homeless.

The fire is a reminder of the danger of fires in Hollywood and the need for fire safety measures.

He Sure Did —And He Did

Memphis, May 13 (AP)—It was a black day for Mrs. Stanley Barnes, who sold a gas stove to a man who came early in response to a classified ad.

The price is $25, said Mrs. Barnes. The man called. He brought out the newspaper and showed her the ad, filed by her husband. It said: "First $15 gas stove."

Oh, all right, then, said Mrs. Barnes, but just wait till she got hold of her husband. While they were chatting a second prospect arrived, ad in hand.

"Sorry," said Mrs. Barnes. "This gentleman just bought the stove."

"Sure did," the fellow added. "I'll sell it to you for $25."

And he did, right there in her own house.

Prof. Daniele Petrucci, noted Italian biologist, says award in honor of the late President Kennedy should be given to a man of human egg to two-month embryo stage.

Rep. J. Taylor Patterson, R-Ga., says he will support a bill to bring it to a vote immediately, if that were possible.

The bill cannot reach the House, however, until the Senate completes action on it.

Patterson made his statement after a Republican legislative caucus.

Sen. Peter P. Mariani, Groton, Conn., says the President makes it clear that the Democratic administration's budget is now $30 billion above the nation's ability to pay.

Mariani said the Republicans are now more than ever in opposition to the President's budget.

Dempsy's highway plan calls for the diversion of $50 million from the highway fund to help balance the general fund budget.

The $50 million is needed chiefly for the $24 million in increased state grants for education recommended by the administration.

Even those GOP legislators who have some doubts about opposing Dempsy's highway plan, say they are not sure they can descend to 1,000 feet, almost twice as deep as any previous diver.

Alternative to Deadlock Editor Urges President Build Liberal Coalition

Washington, May 13 (AP)—Newly started explaining to him that he was hardly President at all, that he survived by the sufferance of the narrowest of margins, that the margin of his electoral victory and congressional record had been so narrow that he would have to abandon any great dreams.

"I had begun when the coalition reassured its historic power, when, for better or for worse, Mr. Kennedy decided to answer three with compromise..." said Wechsler.

"I see no other ultimate path out of the political dead-end," Wechsler said. "The only way out is to build a liberal coalition of Democrats and Republicans."

Church May Regain Long-Departed Brother

By ROBY O'CONNOR: It, on May 23, town voters approve the transfer of a parcel of land to the Vernon Center Congregational Church, they will have returned to the church a long-departed brother.

It's not a big parcel, about one-third of an acre, but its 78-foot width separates the church from the Rev. Philip Ward, pastor, who will be in charge of the church's affairs.

Parishans of the Congregational Church at Vernon Center today have hope that the town will approve the transfer, for it will enable the church to take on new dimensions as a community center.

The Rev. Philip H. Ward, pastor, said no definite plans have been laid—the transfer will be made by the town board.

However, the general feeling is that the church must think about developing as a community center, and the transfer of the land is a first step.

At the moment, the church has 4-5 groups and the church school fills it to capacity. Also, more than 100 people attend services each week.

Many people feel that Vernon Center is a growing community, and the church should be a part of it. The church is a place where people can find a home and a place to worship.

Sheinwold on Bridge

BEST FINESSE IN NO FINESSE: By Alfred Sheinwold: It is often possible to miss a trick in either direction for a missing queen. One of those directions is found to be correct, so you may think.

After an impressive pause, declarer led out the ace and king of hearts. He had decided to try only one of the two finesses since there was a reasonable chance that the queen of hearts would drop.

Declarer next cashed the ace of diamonds and took a diamond finesse through West. This led to East's queen and back came a spade to dummy's ace.

Declarer led the king of diamonds from dummy, expecting to discard a ruff on the next diamond. But his plan was dashed when West ruffed the third round of diamonds.

Wrong Complaint: "Very unlikely," South complained, "I should have guessed the other way in diamonds." It was wrong. He should have guessed that East would take any diamond finesse at all.

After taking the top hearts, South should cash both top diamonds. Then he gives up a diamond trick.

However, the general feeling is that the church must think about developing as a community center, and the transfer of the land is a first step.

At the moment, the church has 4-5 groups and the church school fills it to capacity. Also, more than 100 people attend services each week.

Many people feel that Vernon Center is a growing community, and the church should be a part of it. The church is a place where people can find a home and a place to worship.

Church May Regain Long-Departed Brother

By ROBY O'CONNOR: It, on May 23, town voters approve the transfer of a parcel of land to the Vernon Center Congregational Church, they will have returned to the church a long-departed brother.

It's not a big parcel, about one-third of an acre, but its 78-foot width separates the church from the Rev. Philip Ward, pastor, who will be in charge of the church's affairs.

Parishans of the Congregational Church at Vernon Center today have hope that the town will approve the transfer, for it will enable the church to take on new dimensions as a community center.

The Rev. Philip H. Ward, pastor, said no definite plans have been laid—the transfer will be made by the town board.

The Risks of Innocence

How innocent-minded can we get? Perhaps our readers have been asking that question about us for many years on many issues.

One of these innocents offers the idea of having an industry of our own which might bring us some economic benefit.

Another footnote in this news item is an instance where the Export-Import Bank has a considerable personal investment in the firm of a certain manufacturer.

It is being very wet for May, and the sun has been shining dry for brilliant, transient intervals.

It is the latter goal that we are seeking, a way of making "an arrow" which will arrive at its target with the least possible liability of the nuclear missile under conditions of emotional strain.

Further, the Committee is in promoting the activities of guaranteeing a successful war, not in making war itself impossible.

The Committee seems to have some strange hunch that, once a nuclear intercontinental missile is fired in anger, something strange and unexplained may happen.

We haven't delved deeply enough into the 1961 General Assembly to be able to give you a complete picture of the session.

Special bills are such items of legislation which, for one reason or another, have an overriding importance.

But when and if they do get passed in any session, it is for a special reason.

These are the political and the legislative and the executive.

From Vieques Marine Base Beaten Cuban Invaders Flown to U.S. Mainland

All were among 69 persons aboard two merchant ships which dodged this week in Baltimore. The ships apparently took part in the escape.

H. L. Woolwine, district immigration director in Baltimore, said everyone aboard the Atlantic and Lake Charles were merchant seamen, though some were crew members.

All of the officers and a major portion of the crew were Cuban. The passengers also are Cuban.

The immigration official said he understood one or two of the other members of the crew might be political asylum in New Orleans.

The Baltimore Evening Sun said, however, that 16 persons aboard the two vessels were crew members and the rest were passengers.

Doctor in the House? In a recent session of Circuit Court in Manchester, an accused was brought before Judge Benedict Holden charged with "obstructing passage."

His Honor queried Prosecutor Eugene Kelly as to just what the charge referred to.

For a moment the usually quick prosecutor was at a loss for an explanation.

Whereupon Judge Holden interjected: "This sounds more like a medical problem than a legal one."

Moment of Truth The Hawaiian Night held a week ago at the Talcottville Congregational Church produced a startling revelation.

Civic Minded! A seven-year-old moppet informed her mother this week that one of her playmates has gone to school to vote for her kindergarten teacher.

The puzzled mother explained to her daughter that she must be mistaken because "You don't vote for your teacher."

The little miss insisted that a boy in the neighborhood had missed out on the voting; it was the last day to vote and he was supposed to start school in September.

At that, the amused mother realized her daughter had heard about registration for children entering school in the fall.

Try Again There is a father-in-law in Manchester who isn't speaking to his son-in-law these days.

One day recently the father-in-law climbed aboard his riding, rotor-type, lawnmower and for the next hour or so mowed his lawn. However, when he had finished and looked over the finished product, something just didn't look right.

In fact, the lawn didn't look any different than it did when he started to mow it.

The son-in-law, who lives next door, was called over and, with a red face, he solved the mystery.

Last fall he had taken the blades off the machine to get it sharpened, and this spring he had forgotten to put it back on.

Identification What good are initial license plates? They are giveaways for owners who park their cars beside discount houses, in front of bars, or at the rear of the police station.

They give the impression to some persons that their owners are nouveaux riches, or exhibitionists, or silly.

They cost $11. And they are becoming more difficult to obtain in the letter combinations that the motorists want.

But one friend has come up with an idea for using them. He wants to put them on springs and electrify them, to make branding irons of them. Then the motorist can stamp indelibly everything and everyone he bumps into.

Or Something? A cedar is a tree. A Tall Cedar is a Mason who belongs to the fun-making branch of the fraternity. A Sappling, or Sap, is a candidate for Tall Cedarism.

So, it was only natural, we suspect, that the Tall Cedars last Saturday should twist a current saying into:

"Whatareya, some kindofa Sap?"

Music Groups

At MHS Heard By Full House

By JOHN GRUBER The 29th annual Spring Concert by the high school choir and orchestra brought a capacity house to Bailey Auditorium last night.

In addition to the high school organizations, the Manchester Youth Choir, directed by Miss Kathy Hagan and Miss Martha White, acted as guests.

Taken by and large, I found the orchestra to be the most impressive group of last night's concert.

In past years this has not always been the case, but last night they did a very good job, whether it was in the music of Mozart, or in lighter numbers by Lecocq, Simeone, or Rodgers.

Good Intonation They play with excellent ensemble, and good intonation. And they responded enthusiastically to direction from Robert Vater, who trained them, and to Roberta Johns, who acted as student conductor in a couple of numbers.

This is not to infer that the choral groups were bad; they were not. In fact, they turned out some very impressive sounds, and I was pleased to note that the program came to a good musical climax with Haydn's "The Heavens Are Telling." G. Albert Pearson conducted the combined choirs, and the Round Table Singers during the evening.

In addition to his stint with the orchestra, Mr. Vater also conducted choral music, as did Diane Platt, who acted as student choral conductor. Miss Platt directs with considerable aplomb, but the Freshman chorus failed to respond completely to the breadth of her direction.

Pamela Parker, a senior at the high school, was heard in Addison's familiar "Warsaw Concerto." She proved to have considerable technical ability, and the audience gave her what was perhaps the best reception of the evening.

She is still too young to play a composition of this type with a great deal of flair and style. Incidentally, the piano needed tuning, which didn't help.

Accompaniments during the evening were provided by David Almond, Diane Platt, Elizabeth Neubert, Kenneth Woods and Caroline Mather. All were more than adequate. Miss Mather and Mr. Almond were also to be heard on different instruments, as members of the orchestra.

While headlines have been lavished on the impending flights of the Mercury, and the Russian astronaut, one of the major achievements in the expanding space picture has been the successful X15 flights which have taken it to the edge of space.

The X15 has carried some of the bravest men on earth to the fringes of space.

To this observer of the space travel panorama, the recent feat of NASA's senior test pilot Joseph Walker in climbing to 31 miles and barreling along at 2,600 miles per hour carried with it much greater hazard and risk than the flight of the first astronaut.

With due regard to the astronauts' courage, their task is not nearly as dangerous, nor is so much skill required as in flying a rocket plane to the fringe of space and back.

Because this statement may come as a shock to the public, let's examine the details of the two ventures into space.

The X15 is a rocket plane in which the power plant is the new and relatively untried Reaction Motor's XLR10 engine using ammonia and liquid oxygen propellants. The newness of this engine (which can be throttled) is enough to make a normal man hesitate before committing himself to flight in this manned missile.

For the flight, the X15 is fitted under one wing of the B52. In this position the X15 is barely eight inches off the ground and the B52 is in a highly unbalanced condition. This makes for a deadly combination (in the B50 and X2 tests over Lake Ontario two men lost their lives).

The loading of the B52 is so high that a three-mile runway is needed for it to become airborne. The pilot of the X15 sits only six inches from the explosive propellants. Behind the pilot lie approximately 19,000 pounds of fuel containing more energy than 20 tons of dynamite.

When the B52 reaches 45,000 feet the X15 is dropped. This is itself a hazardous undertaking, for the X15 must be dropped without power and the pilot cannot escape from the plane in an emergency in this phase of the operation. This represents an additional hazard for the pilot.

Only after the X15 has cleared the mother ship can the rocket engine be ignited. Once the plane is powered, the pilot must maintain the proper attitude in flying it. Pilot survival is tied to the ability of the X15 maintaining this attitude. Shock waves will buffet the plane as it goes from subsonic through supersonic into hypersonic flight regimes.

After about 90 seconds (the last flight was powered for 79 seconds), the X15 has reached full speed and is moving along between 2,500 and 3,700 miles per hour and zooming upward. About a minute before the pilot reaches peak altitude he is weightless and subject to all sorts of weird and alien feelings. Despite this unorthodox feeling he must still guide the plane.

Once he heads down and the plane meets the denser layers of the earth's atmosphere the pilot is subjected to re-entry shock. Not only must he endure stresses, but the plane will also be subjected to severe decelerations and strains.

Assuming he comes through safely, there remains another task

Pilots of X15 Called Bravest Men on Earth

Shriners to Hear Story of Satellite

How space satellites can be used to bounce phone calls and television programs across continents and oceans will be the subject of a talk on Friday, May 19, by John Becker of the Southern New England Telephone Co. at a meeting of the Omar Shrine Club of Manchester at the Log Cabin in Lebanon.

Becker will use colored slides to show the preparations made by Bell System scientists and engineers to launch the Echo balloon satellite which was used to bounce telephone calls between New Jersey and California last summer.

Scientists are hopeful that the Echo satellite, a 100-foot high aluminum-coated balloon, is the forerunner of the worldwide communications system of the future.

Becker's talk will follow a social hour at 6:30 and dinner at 7:30. Omar Club President Marvin Baker said.

Industry to Award Emmys on Tuesday

By CHARLES J. LEAVY

She's beautiful, single, very young, most sought after and welcomed in the homes of every well-known personality in television. As a matter of fact, when she does arrive, she is invariably escorted to the most prominent place in the house and maintains a position of prominence just so all other guests are certain to see her.

Her presence is so sought after that she has left many of the most well-known television personalities in great disappointment. Despite the fact she has come and stayed in some homes more than once while by-passing others entirely, she is still most welcomed everywhere.

Once she arrives she always has a marked influence on the future of the people whose homes she graces with her presence.

Her real name is Image Orthicon—but most people call her "Emmy."

13 Years Old
She's 13 years old this year, and already she's a star. She's an old pro at TV specials and once again will be the star of the "Emmy Awards Show" on Tuesday night, May 16, on NBC-TV.

Emmy was born in Hollywood in 1948 after the late Charles B. Brown, then president of the Na-

Artists submitted ideas for possible awards and Lewis McManus' conception of Emmy was selected as the winner.

Since television was largely a technical achievement, the statuette was named Image Orthicon after an early type TV camera, but that proved to be quite a mouthful. For everyone's convenience she then became Immy but eventually emerged as Emmy, at the suggestion of Harry R. Lubcke who succeeded Brown as president of the Academy in 1949.

It was decided that since Oscar was a boy, the television counterpart of the motion picture award should be a girl and no one argued about it.

Artist McManus modeled Emmy after his wife and describes the five pound statuette in the following terms:

"She is standing on top of the world, on her toes. She travels through the air on electrical impulses and carries the symbol of electronics—she is going places."

Public Once Voted
In the past 13 years hundreds of people have taken her home, many more than once. In fact, it's rumored that seven-time winner Dinah Shore finally gave gold plated Emmy her own bedroom.

The first annual awards were made at the Hollywood Athletic Club in 1949, the only year the public participated in the voting. At the time, television was indeed in its infancy and Emmys were given in but five categories.

Voting is now limited to members and associates of the Academy. Currently, there are 4,000 eligible voters, including actors, actresses, art directors, camera-men, directors, engineers, executives, film editors, musicians, producers and writers.

This year Dick Powell will be the Hollywood master of ceremonies while Joey Bishop will hold the reins in New York.

They will be assisted by two Miss Cinderemmas, Nancy Simpson, NBC secretary on the West Coast, and Jean Hale, who is a regular on the "Sing Along with Mitch" series, on the East Coast.

Having seen both of these beauties, my vote goes for them to steal the show. Considering what happened to another young television aspirant in last year's show, it could very well happen. If you recall, last year a virtually

Sullivan Learned Humility Quickly

Long before the word became associated with the name of Arthur Godfrey, a great actress gave Barry Sullivan, star of "Tall Man in the Tower" last night, a lesson in humility he has never forgotten.

Barry was working with the great star Ina Claire on Broadway in a play, "Yankee Doodle." During that period the motion picture companies had begun to notice him and were making overtures. Naturally, Barry's agent also wanted him to go to Hollywood and the bigger money involved.

"After a long and ego-inflating chat with David Selznick," recalls Barry, "my hat size grew immeasurably. Just before curtain time that night, I informed Miss Claire that I had decided to leave the company for bigger and better things.

"As the curtain went up, Miss Claire pinned me with a disconcerting look and proceeded to make hash out of my part. She killed twelve of my laugh lines that night and made me look like a greenhorn trying out in a little theatre.

"It was the most humiliating experience of my life but I'm glad I eventually landed in Hollywood."

Barry, now known as one of the nicest people in the movie and TV colony, has made dozens of motion pictures since then. His current television show, "Tall Man in the Tower," about Billy the Kid, is his third regular series. Previously he starred in "The Man Called X" and "Harbor Master."

Emmy Awards

unknown comic, Bob Newhart, wrapped up the show and almost stole it from the Emmy winners. At that time, Newhart appeared in only a few night clubs, made one record and was famous only to his agents and relatives. Then in a few minutes, he did two smashing hilarious monologues and was the talk of the industry. Who can say what this year's show may bring.

24 Categories

To save a lot of wear and tear on ballot counters, the categories for this year's "Emmy Awards" have been reduced to 24 but still provide comprehensive coverage of the total television scene.

So on the day of Tuesday, May 15, in both Hollywood and New York, show business circles will be in a flurry. Those TV shows which are in production will arrange to close down early so the staff members of the casts can get to their hair-dressers early enough to be coiffed, home to dress and makeup and get to the Moulin Rouge nightclub in Hollywood or the Ziegfeld Theater in New York on time for the telecast. The most elegant gowns in their wardrobes—or their studios—will be donned. It's hoped for pleasant weather—or too cold for nink stoles; or too warm to wilt makeup.

Nominees for the awards will be observed driving in their cars or walking down the streets muttering to themselves. They're rehearsing the speeches they HOPE they will be able to give on-camera as they are handed their Emmys.

'Tall Man' Creator Once Law Official

Sam Peoples, creator and producer of "Tall Man," the western saga about Billy the Kid over NBC-TV Saturday nights, was once a police commissioner. He was elected to the top cop spot of the Broadmoor Police Protection District, the largest police district in California.

Over the years Peoples has held many jobs, from a working cowboy in Wyoming to a clerk-typist with the War Department. However, his one big love has been writing, with Western American legend and history as the foundation of most of his literary output.

"It took three years—and hard ones—to make my first sale," recalls Sam. "It was to Harper and Bros. for the novel, 'The Dream Ends in Fury.' It was the story of the infamous California outlaw, Joaquin Murietta, and in all editions has now sold more than one million copies. It has been translated into French, Spanish, German, Swedish—and I've even heard reports of a pirated edition in Russian."

"The Dream Ends in Fury" was the first of 30 hardcover novels he wrote and they have sold nearly eleven million copies.

At the beginning of 1958 a good friend of Peoples, an established western writer named Frank Gruber, persuaded him to come to Hollywood to write just one teleplay for "Tales of Wells Fargo." It became the first of more than 100 teleplays he has written in the last three years.

Peoples branched out and created and produced "Overland Trail" which was one of the better westerns. "Tall Man" is the second series he created.

His TV scripts have been nominated for Emmy Awards nine times in three years. That's a record even for Hollywood.

MOBILE FAN MAIL

Page Morton, songstress whose radio program is heard on several stations in the East, reports that most of her fan mail comes from motorists who listen to her as they drive. "This strikes her as ironic, since she doesn't own a car herself."
