Conferees Hold Fate Of Aid Bill

from the $1.8 billion in foreign military assistance abroad. The conferees will probably split their differences on this item.

The long range lending and Treasury-bond financing program, the House bill was knocked out by an amendment 107-165 before a vote in the House Wednesday. Democratic leaders there made no serious effort to reverse this result, on a roll call vote despite an appeal from Kennedy. A voice vote upheld the amendment.

The administration suffered only one serious upset in the Senate yesterday when it voted to clamp a tight ceiling on the interest that can be charged by a foreign government on loans made to the United States. The United States plans to make its loans as low as one per cent and in some cases interest-free but repayable in dollars rather than foreign currency.

The administration will plead with Senate-House conferees to drop this ceiling on the ground that in many Latin American countries, plagued by inflation, it is unworkable. Later in the day, the House vote was higher than 15 per cent.

Washington, Aug. 19 (AP)—The House has voted unanimously to authorize the President to clamp a total embargo on trade with Cuba.

It wrote this discretionary power, proposed by Rep. Daniel Rostenkowski, into the foreign aid bill yesterday.

The House also approved a bill to prohibit approval of any loan under authority of the amendment, sponsored by Rep. James R. Michener, removed the discretion given the President under the bill's medical waiver.

It also approved an amendment by Rep. James R. Michener, authorizing the President to withhold aid from any country that provides military or economic aid to Cuba.

Crossing Crash Leaves 7 Dead

crossing was marked by white signal post but no bell or flashing signal.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio, Aug. 19 (AP)—A bridge collapse over a rural intersection yesterday killed six persons in two cars, including five members of one family.

It happened at the intersection of a two-lane road and a four-lane road and Ohio 509, about two miles west of Sandusky, Ohio.

Killed in their 1957 model station wagon were Don M. Harvey, 57, of Kenton, Ohio, identified as the driver; his wife, Ethel M. 50; their son, Frank C., 30, who lived at home; and the Harvey couple's grandchildren, Linda Nowland, 10, and her sister, Mary, 7, also of Kenton.

The other driver, Claude (Billy) Joe Hufford, 19, of nearby Carey, probably drove the 1960 model auto, H. Hathaway, Hufford, married to Mrs. Hathaway, was found slumped in a small stream that runs along a ditch in which both cars came to rest.

Dr. Hathaway said Hufford's body bore no visible signs of serious injury.

Sheriff deputies said two witnesses stated that Hufford passed them at high speed just before the accident. His 1960 model auto, westbound on Ohio 509, struck the Harvey family car eastbound, it pulled into his path from the county road, deputies said.

The four persons home at Carey, where the bodies of two victims were taken, said the Harvey family was en route from Kenton to Erie, Pa., to see the doctor, but immediately home.

The children were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nowland, 10 and 7, and the son, Kenneth, 10.

Foreign newsmen who left Bizerte before the first incident were reported saw several hundred Tunisians gathered in front of a barracks. The amendment, sponsored by Rep. James R. Michener, removed the discretion given the President under the bill's medical waiver.

DEFENSIVE PLAYS NEED COOPERATION
By Alfred Sheinwold
Some of the new defensive plays take partnership cooperation. The trouble is that the defenders play with a declarer's advantage of knowing just which high cards are in the partnership hands.

East won the first trick with the ace of hearts, though for a long moment or two, and returned the deuce of spades. It was the best play. He finally put up the queen of spades, and West had to decide whether to play the eight or the queen.

Defends His Play
When the hand was over, West defended his play. It would be correct, he pointed out. If East had led from J-9-x-x of spades, West could have taken the trick as an entry. West would probably get in to lead another spade, and West would eventually get his side ace and take two tricks on the defense.

Daily Questions
Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next bid is 2-4. Hearts—10-9-8-7; Diamonds—K-6; Clubs—8-5. What do you bid?

Answers: Bid two hearts. This is a weak response, which partner will normally pass. You should have an easier time at two hearts than at two spades.

U.S. Troops Movement Political, Psychological

concerned both with the current phase of the crisis resulting from East Berlin border closing and with the longer range aspects expected to develop when Khrushchev makes his next move later this year. He has announced that he will sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany which will recognize East German sovereignty over West Berlin and the supply routes leading to it. At the same time he has offered guarantees to access to the West although Washington officials say they do not know what he means by "guarantees."

The United States takes the position that the West Berliners have no right to demand that the West be proposed at some point but that the "basic rights" are not negotiable. These have been defined by Secretary of State Dean Rusk as the right of the western powers to maintain troops in West Berlin, the right to have free access to West Berlin and the right of the people in West Berlin to live their own lives independent of surrounding Communist rule.

Leaders of the three western governments who had expected a crackdown on the massive outflow of refugees, separately were surprised at the nature of the West Berlin reaction and began to fear the effects on morale in the city. They decided against using an East-West trade embargo or other sweeping economic sanctions which might be needed to force West Berliners to accept the new situation. They were directly threatened because economic sanctions within the last two or three days that something had to be done. The decision to use economic sanctions was made by Adenauer and Brandt and to make a personal appeal to Khrushchev. Brandt was one of the results; the decision to send a token force to strengthen the garrison was another.

The White House said the British and French governments had been advised of Kennedy's decision. Presumably, the word also was given to the West German government well in advance of the formal announcement. In fact it is understood that the troops reinforcement plan was discussed by State Department officials with British, French and West German embassy representatives who are now meeting almost daily at the department.

The fact that reaction from West Berlin came from Brandt's office which welcomed the assignment of additional troops, a "token" force, spokesman said, "are better than the spokesman said Brandt had asked for such a measure but had advised word and personally welcomed it.

Take Your Medicine, Dear A man having some trouble with his stomach was prescribed some bad-tasting medicine by his doctor. His wife was insistent that he take it.

However, the man discovered that a patent medicine tablet served the purpose and tasted much better. Now, every so often he stops at a friend's house and fills his empty prescription bottle with the tablets. His wife is none the wiser and the man is satisfied.

Shape of Things to Come Most of us are familiar with "The Organization Man" concept and "The Status Seekers" and also "U" and "Non-U."

In the Declarations and Restrictions and Covenants registered by the J. R. Stich Associates, Inc., with the Vernon Town Clerk this week there is an interesting passage which the organization has included to maintain the tone of the new properties.

"No clothesline pole shall be erected or used upon any lot nor shall clothes lines be attached to any trees or any portion of the dwelling house, garage or car port.

Firemen Put Out Five Acre Blaze At Bolton Notch

Bolton firemen, augmented by a state fire crew, worked for several hours yesterday on a difficult fire atop Bolton Notch mountain where five acres of brush burned over. The blaze had evidently been burning briskly when Robert Booke of Cook Dr. noticed dense smoke at the Notch as he was driving home.

Booke reported the smoke to the fire department, thinking that perhaps a permit had been issued for burning. When it was learned that no permits had been given out for the area, Booke volunteered to try to reach the spot where the fire was. When he reported on the situation at 4:30 p.m., a call was immediately sent out for volunteers.

The firemen were able to put the fire under control in a short time but because of the dry ground, the fire kept cropping out again and again, having gone "underground" so that it was smouldering deep in the ground. Without rain recently, it was explained, the soil at the top of the mountain had been baked by the sun until it resembled peat.

Firemen used the new Wall St., off Notch Rd., to approach the fire scene, located between Rt. 6 and Notch Rd.

Fire Chief Peter Massolini said the cause of the blaze was undetermined. The state fire crew and a truck from East Hampton left the fire at 1:30 a.m. today and returned before 8 a.m. with two trucks, one a new-type "blender" which helps make the water go farther. Chief Massolini said, "The Bolton tank truck and several Bolton firemen were back on the job this morning assisting the state crew."

CRPA Lists Year's Work

A report of activities of the Capitol Region Planning Agency (CRPA) for the year ended June 30, along with the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1961, has been released.

The new budget of $52,800 will be financed by funds from the Federal Government, the Connecticut Development Commission and 27 member towns. Manchester's share is $1,423.

Agency activities for last year included a land study use, zoning and potential development survey report of the Capitol Region, released in September 1960; and the start of a preliminary regional plan—a first phase to be completed by October of this year, at which time alternate proposals by some 24 member towns will be presented.

A significant part of the work being done by the CRPA has been a joint study with the State Highway Department relating to future highway and future land use. A mass transportation study, financed principally by business and industry and directed by the CRPA, was completed during the year with one result being action by the General Assembly enabling the creation of regional transit districts, and an organization of interested citizens has been formed to promote their acceptance in the Capitol Region.

Last June, after several exploratory meetings, the CRPA became coordinator of a study of the feasibility of joint refuse disposal facilities for the towns of Manchester, South Windsor, East Windsor, Ellington, Tolland, Rockville, the Vernon Fire District and Bolton.

Manchester's three representatives to the CRPA are John B. Barnini, Dorothy C. Jacobson and Judge Jay E. Rubinow.

Somebody Goofed

I don't care whether it was town officials or executors of the Wickham will, I thought I would drive in and see what the Wickham park looked like. There was a stiff breeze and the disgraceful entrance and exit roads were offering as a welcome waves of sand and dust. Everything I saw before I could get out was as amateurish as anything of its kind I have ever seen.

If there is as alleged in the press, so much money for maintenance and upkeep, why weren't all of the roads amended last spring? To say that somebody goofed is putting it mildly. Let the chips fall where they may. The whole roadway situation is a disgrace and if I were a town official I would close the park until it is really in shape to open.

Better Things Ahead On Video Horizon

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
New York—(NEA)—There are signs of stirring in the lethargic lump that is television today.

Perhaps under the prodding of FCC Chairman Newton Minow and perhaps for other reasons, there are some indications that the worst is over. Next fall, there will be a few improvements; more will come later in the season and, by the fall of 1962, we definitely should be on the way back.

One of this fall's major hopes is CBS's The Defenders. It is a major hope, because it is the product of two creative men and because it will be made in New York.

The Defenders comes from a 1957 two-part Studio One play by Reginald Rose. It was called "The Defender" then, when it starred Ralph Bellamy, but an "s" was added to the title for some reason.

Rose, and his partner, Herb Brodtkin, who has a long record as one of TV's finest producers (Studio One, Playhouse 90, etc.), are trying to forge a TV series which will be exciting and, at the same time, artistically acceptable.

E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed are featured as a father-and-son legal team. Don't for a moment confuse this with such Hollywood lawyer firms as Perry Mason, Harrigan & Son or The Law and Mr. Jones.

"We're touching on subjects Perry Mason wouldn't go near," says Brodtkin. "Subjects like mixed marriages and mercy killings. We're not worried about a comparison with any other show about lawyers. This is so much better."

It is being shot in New York simply because that's where Brodtkin and Rose want to shoot it. They find the artistic climate much better here—"no interference, no factory techniques, just as many good technicians and more good actors"—so they much prefer their New York base.

There are other signs of better things ahead on the video hoizon. CBS is considering a one-hour weekly drama series, such as those great programs of the past, for the fall of '62. NBC will offer some live drama this season, done by the brilliant Fred Coe, under the title Theater '61 (with the expectation that the title will be updated after New Year's Day). Steve Allen is coming back, live. And, among the three networks, CBS' Frontier Circus is the sole new Western.

What are the reasons for these changes? Primarily, it is because of Minow and his stern speech. The networks realize that the era of the lazy schedule is over; no longer can they merely press a button and let the Hollywood sausage factory grind out another show.

But that is only one reason. Another reason is that the public is exhibiting signs of restlessness with the status quo. This is exemplified by TV Guide's awards, made on the basis of viewers' votes. Despite the fact that almost 90 per cent of last season's programs were on film from Hollywood, five of the eight winners were New York-based, live or tape products.

An the networks, sponsors and advertising agencies are not stupid. They can feel a public pulse as well as anyone; it may take them a while to get moving but they've never turned their backs on the public's whims yet.

Herb Brodtkin is one of several producers beginning to get the chance to do what they want to do. The Defenders isn't exactly as Brodtkin would wish; he would prefer to do it alive.

"It's fun as it is," he says, "but it would be more fun live. I'm optimistic about live television coming back. I definitely feel there will be a renaissance of TV quality. I feel that, because TV is so lousy now, there has to be either a renaissance or a disappearance."

And that's just about the size of it, TV, as it now stands, must fall or improve. And nobody wants it to fall—so, obviously, it'll get better.

There's no place to go but up.

Want More of Peggie
Fans of Peggie Castle, seen as "Lily" in "Lawman" Sunday nights, have been writing to suggest that she do more singing and dancing in the series. When she first started on the western she was given some vocalizing and hoofing to do. They have also written that it would be a good idea if she could finally corral Marshal Troop in matrimony. It could happen during next season's episodes.

Bill Leyden, 'It Could Be You'

Firemen of Television

By CHARLES J. LEAVY

If Perry Como's title as the "most relaxed man on television" was up for grabs, certainly one of the main contenders would be Bill Leyden, emcee of NBC-TV's "It Could Be You." Having been presented with the TV Radio Life magazine Distinguished Achievement Award in 1947 for possessing "the most convincing microphone manner," Bill continued climbing the ladder of success and in 1954 and 1955 became nominee for the Television Academy's "Emmy" as "outstanding new male personality." His resemblance to Como doesn't end with a relaxed manner. Both are great sports clothes wearers and collectors. On the sartorial side, Bill is a collector of sport shirts—has about 300 in his wardrobe.

Perhaps the resemblance ends here for Bill never had any great interest in golfing. Considering his many vocations and avocations, he probably never had the time to concentrate on golf. His hobbies include mosaics, hunting (with rifle and bow and arrow), Irish coats of arms (he has made 50 shields which are prominently displayed around his den, photography, sports cars and racing cars, water skiing and boating, a home workshop, phonograph records, and a continued interest in art and archaeology, his original vocational pursuits.

He received a degree in archaeology after attending Northwestern and De Paul Universities.

"Perhaps the reason I don't find it difficult to do both the daytime and night show of 'It Could Be You' is because I've been used to hard work all my life. I worked my way through college as a page boy at NBC in Chicago."

"It Could Be You," which observed its fifth anniversary on daytime television in June, was seen at night at various times between 1958 and 1960. Based on the element of surprise, the series features amusing stunts for unsuspecting members of the studio audience, reunions with close friends and relatives and regular participations by guest celebrities.

Very much like a relief pitcher in baseball, "It Could Be You" and Bill Leyden have become known as the firemen of television. In 1967, Bill and his gang took over the Wednesday night 10 o'clock time spot from the beginning of July to the middle of September. In 1958, they were called to duty again—this time from November to March of 1959. Before they had rested too long, they were back on the evening viewing from September 1959 to January 1960. Once again this summer the unique program was recalled to the NBC nighttime schedule. It can be seen on Wednesday night in the 10 o'clock spot.

The show itself has developed a personality very much like Bill's. The human is all warm and friendly; the tears are those of joy, not of sorrow; and the successive reaction of the participants to Leyden's unexpected revelations are shared with the studio audience and millions of home viewers. Each participant receives either a "gag" souvenir or some other appropriate memento of his (usually her) appearance on the show (e.g.—a woman driver who could never remember to release her emergency brake was given an anchor, and a mother who made all her children's clothes had her broken sewing machine replaced by a new electric model.)

The surprise element, which provides the principal ingredient of "It Could Be You," is extended to the home audience by Bill Leyden via a telephone call which he makes each show day to a viewer selected at random by the production staff. The "surprised" viewer is rewarded for his participation by a phone conversation with the show's emcee and a substantial gift.

The exciting and surprising format of the program, plus the easy-going manner of Bill Leyden, make "It Could Be You" a welcome addition to TV's summer nighttime schedule—no matter how many times it leaps on and off the evening programming.

In any event, whether or not "It Could Be You" continues for years to be television's nighttime relief pitcher, we're certain Bill Leyden will always be in there pitching in whatever he does.

Tunisia Urges U.S., Allies to Help Oust French in Bizerte

United Nations, N. Y., Aug. 21 (AP)—Tunisia today appealed to the United States and France's other western Allies to join in supporting U.N. action to get French troops out of Tunisian territory.

The appeal was made by Tunisian Delegate Mongi Slim at a special session of the U.N. General Assembly. France boycotted the meeting.

Slim led off the debate after 32 countries had submitted a formal proposal that the 99-nation assembly call on France to negotiate for withdrawal of all her troops from Tunisia, including the big naval base at Bizerte.

The Tunisian delegate urged the western powers to forget that France is a member of the western camp and to join the Soviet Union as they did last year in The Congo debate when they demanded withdrawal of Belgian forces.

Slim was interrupted at one point by a heckler from the public gallery who walked down the aisle to the rear of the assembly floor shouting. He was ejected by U.N. guards.

The assembly convened at 11 a.m. EDT and got down to business quickly. Frederick H. Egan of Ireland, president of the last regular assembly, was chosen without opposition to preside.

The session was called to deal with the "grave situation in Tunisia" after the Security Council deadlocked on steps to end the French-Tunisian dispute.

Slim charged that French forces in occupying the city of Bizerte killed more than 800 Tunisians and wounded more than 1,185 in a "massacre of the civilian population" July 21.

He said the French began moving into the city July 19 after Tunisia barred French planes from landing because France refused to negotiate for withdrawal from the nearby military base.

He accused the French army of atrocities, including the use of napalm bombs.

Slim said that 30 days after the Security Council called on both France and Tunisia to withdraw their forces to original positions, France still was ignoring that decision and also sending planes over Tunisian territory. He

$1 Million Loss In New Jersey Terminal Fire

Weston, N. J., Aug. 21 (AP)—A half-mile railroad terminal and dock area was destroyed today by a fire which raged for three hours before it was brought under control. It was the second big New Jersey waterfront fire within three days.

Fire department officials said the blaze caused more than $1 million in damage.

The fire apparently started at the New York Central Railroad's abandoned 42nd Street Ferry, officials said. The first alarm was received at 3:15 a.m.

Forty-five minutes later, the huge ferry terminal, adjoining docks, and several nearby freight sheds and boxcars had been reduced to a glowing pyre of cracking timber that could be seen from the center of Manhattan on the New York side of the Hudson River.

The terminal building covered

Fatally Injured

Danbury Aug. 21 (AP)—A Bethel man is to appear in Circuit Court today to answer charges stemming from a collision in Newtown Saturday in which one man was fatally injured.

Fred Jones, 35, of 25 Reservoir St., Bethel, was charged with negligent homicide, evading responsibility and reckless driving.

Police arrested Jones at his home some time after the accident on Route 6 in which John Prihoda, 67, of 6 North Ave., Derby, was fatally injured.

Police said Jones' car veered into Prihoda's, causing it to spin out of control and run head-on into a hay truck coming the other way.

Prihoda's wife, Mary, 66, was critically injured when she was thrown out of the car. She was taken to Danbury Hospital.

The truck driver, Andrew Sidor, 47, of Currituck Rd., Newtown, and his passenger, William Hall, 19, of Pole Bridge Rd., Newtown, received slight injuries.

Jones' car stopped for a short time and then it was driven away. But not before witnesses took down the license number.

Rights Unit Fight Seen In Senate

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate plows into a scrap over smoldering civil rights legislation today, while the House takes up a bill providing a death penalty for airplane hijackers.

Promising sparks in the Senate was a leadership-sponsored move to suspend the rules and hook onto an appropriation bill a 2-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission, now due to expire Nov. 9.

Advocates of other civil rights measures planned to try to get in some licks of their own despite the damper the Kennedy administration has put on legislation in this field.

The hijacking bill up for action in the House, along with a string of routine measures, is similar to legislation recently passed by the Senate in a short bill on an outbreak of piracy in the skies.

It provides for a maximum penalty of death, and not less than 20 years' imprisonment, for hijacking airplanes. In addition, it makes federal offenses of assaults, murder, robbery and other crimes committed aboard planes.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois will try to attach a bill extending the Civil Rights Commission to a $761 million appropriation measure for the State and Justice Departments and the Federal Courts.

To carry out this maneuver, it will be necessary to obtain a two-thirds majority to suspend a Senate rule banning legislation in an appropriation bill.

Mansfield told a reporter he expects the move to succeed—a prediction that was not challenged by southern Senators who fought creation of the commission and who oppose giving it a new lease on life.

"We appear to be at a disadvantage," said Sen. E. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Dixie forces.

He maintained, however, that extension of the commission is wholly unnecessary. He said it already has had more time to carry out its work than its sponsors originally contended it needed.

"It now has become a political question, pure and simple," Russell said.

The commission was established by the 1957 Civil Rights Act to investigate violations of civil rights, particularly the denial of voting rights, and to make recommendations to Congress and the President.

In 1959, when the commission first was due to expire, Congress voted to continue it for another two years. This was accomplished by hooking an extension bill onto the West Berlin appropriation measure, a procedure identical to that now proposed.

British Guiana Holding Vital Election Today

Georgetown, British Guiana, Aug. 21 (AP)—Voters in this tiny British colony of East Indians and Negroes on South America's north coast chose a new government today in an election that political experts believe may decide whether British Guiana moves on to democratic independence or Soviet-style socialism.

Cheddi Jagan, socialist with Communist leanings who has dominated the colony's politics for eight years, seeks to become its first prime minister. Opposing the East Indian dentist for power over the 83,000 square miles of tropical territory are Forbes Burnham, socialist lawyer leader of the Negro-dominated People's National Congress (PNC), and Peter Dugiar, an anti-Communist beer baron of Portuguese origin. Dugiar was expected to run third.

Jagan attacked the United States in an election eve statement and said he did not "propose to establish any form of dictatorial regime."

Without denying his enemies' claim that his People's Progressive Party (PPP) is Communist, he said: "Events in Russia and Cuba have deeply wounded" (North Americans') national pride and made their fear of communism psychopathic."

His opponents predicted that Jagan would lean to the Soviet side in the Cold War if the PPP

Reds Add Barricades After Johnson's Visit

Fine Print in Pep Talk Johnson Clarifies Line Between Dream, Reality

By JAMES MARLOW (AP News Analyst)

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—If you read the fine print in Vice President Lyndon Johnson's pep talk to the West Berliners, you'll notice the distinction being made between dream and reality, but not as bluntly as stated here.

"It's the kind of distinction which might make peaceful settlement of the Berlin rumpus a little more possible.

The dream is that the Communist government of East Germany doesn't exist and that divided Germany can be reunited. The reality is that it does exist and that Germany won't be reunited until the Communists are gone.

"When Communists sealed off East Berlin with barbed wire to stop the flood of East German refugees to West Berlin last week, depressed West Berliners complained because the Allies did nothing more than protest.

There could hardly have been direct intervention without war with Russia.

So President Kennedy sent Johnson over to boost morale and promise American support in prosecuting West Berlin—but not East Berlin—from communism.

Johnson delivered the message. But, while saying nothing at all about active support for the East German side, he did say this: "In the short run, the barbed wire is there and it will not go away by a wave of the hand. But in the long run this unwise effort will fail.

"Lift your eyes from these barriers and ask yourselves: Who can really believe that history will deny Germany and Berlin their natural unity?"

In other words: "The Allies will not interfere in what happens in East Germany or East Berlin, but the two Germanies must remain a long hope only.

"What history does make clear is that the Allies do not consider East Germany or East Berlin a problem to fight over. Their hands-off performance now is only a repetition of 1953.

"That year, anti-Communist Germans revolted, the Russians smashed them with tanks, and the Allies did nothing.

Visit Bolstered Ties to Berlin, Johnson Says

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson brought back to President Kennedy today a report that the free world's bonds have been strengthened by his 36-hour visit to West Berlin.

The presidential jet touched down at nearby Andrews Air Force Base at 11:04 a.m. EDT, after a 7-hour 45-minute flight.

The Vice President's plane landed on a mist shrouded runway. Despite the bad weather and the arduous and dramatic weekend journey, Johnson seemed in good spirits.

Johnson had flown earlier from Berlin to Shannon, Ireland, where a replacement of a cracked window got in the military jetliner delayed him more than an hour this morning.

The Vice President was met at the airport with a minimum of

British Put Infantry on Main Road

Miami Beach, Fla., Aug. 21 (AP)—Army Secretary Elvis Stahr said today he does not look for war over West Berlin as the situation is today.

"If there were to be war, it would have started yesterday," he told a news conference prior to a speech before the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"If there were to be war," he said, "that battle group would not have arrived here (in West Berlin) yesterday."

East German Reds tightened their barricades around West Berlin a bit more today in the wake of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's visit. British troops turned out to keep watch on one wire-strung job at the zonal border.

British headquarters was especially interested in Red operations at Staken. A main highway from West Berlin heads across Communist-ruled East Germany near Staken to Hamburg, West Germany. About two miles away is a small grass airfield occasionally used by Soviet and East German Air Forces.

A company of British infantrymen and four Centurion tanks deployed along a 2-mile front there. Maj. Gen. Sir Rohan Delacombe, the British commander, went out for a personal look at the activity of the workers and their guards, Red police and militiamen, who labored in a drizzling rain. Six armored personnel carriers were stationed behind the workers.

2 PRIESTS TO TEST BIAS
New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—Two Roman Catholic priests, both of whom serve in the south, were scheduled today to test segregation rules at transportation facilities in Jackson, Miss., site of numerous arrests for such conduct. They are the first Roman Catholic clergy to join in "Freedom Ride" activities sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE). The two are the Rev. Richard Wagner, 39, chaplain at Xavier University in New Orleans and a teacher at St. Augustine's High School there, and the Rev. Philip Berrigan, 37, also a St. Augustine's teacher.

GUEVARA SPARKS CRISIS
Buenos Aires, Aug. 21 (AP)—Cuba's Ernesto (Che) Guevara told President Arturo Frondizi that Fidel Castro's regime never will sign a military pact with the Soviet Union, highly placed sources said today. The Argentine-born economic boss in Cuba said a surprise, one-hour visit to Frondizi last Friday, touching off another crisis. Military leaders demanded Frondizi fire officials who arranged the interview. Frondizi refused, but issued a statement later saying Argentina still maintained its anti-Communist policy.

RISK ON CRISIS
Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—The United States was reported today putting emphasis on the right of Germans for self-determination in explaining to uncommitted nations U.S. policy on the Berlin crisis. Officials said this view is contained in instructions to American ambassadors. They are now quietly explaining to the nervous countries that the West's position on Berlin is just that Moscow is pushing the world to the brink of war.

ACCUSED OF 2 MURDERS
New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—A 17-year-old youth, one of a dozen children of a Puerto Rican family, was charged today with the murder of two Brooklyn boys. He stabbed them 53 times in a fit of sexual frenzy, police said. The confessed slayer, Israel Santiago of Brooklyn, a 5-1, 185-pound weightlifter, showed no remorse as he sloshed through a pre-dawn rain to re-assert the crime for police in a weedy marshland in the Canarsie section of Brooklyn.

Auto Union to End Pact with Chrysler

Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—The United Auto Workers today served notice of termination of its contract with Chrysler Corp.

The company was expected to take the same action immediately. Under terms of the UAW-Chrysler agreement, today was the last day for termination notice.

"We feel the notice is necessitated by the fact we have made absolutely no progress at the bargaining table," Norman Matthews, head of the UAW's Chrysler negotiating team, told G. A. Atkinson, Chrysler manager of labor relations.

Contracts between the UAW and Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. already are set to expire in 10 days — on Aug. 31. Chrysler's contract, which runs out of the same day, stipulates that either party give 10 days notice of cancellation.

In the past, however, contracts have been extended on occasion even after cancellation notice has been served.

The Big Three automakers are expected to make their wage offers sometime this week.

But tomorrow, the union is expected to turn down the only settlement offer it has received so far.

The offer from American Motors Corp.—includes the union's No. 1 goal from 1958 bargaining: Profit-sharing. But the UAW says AMC's offer does not go far enough.

AMC presented its take-it-or-leave-it package to the union July 28. It proposed to share 10 percent profits, after taking the first 10 per cent by stockholders. It also offered a 7-cent hourly pay increase annually over the next three years.

But the firm demanded that all fringe benefits at present levels

Vaccine Supplies Low Cholera Epidemic Perils Hong Kong

Hong Kong, Aug. 21 (AP)—Vaccine was rushed today to help prevent a cholera epidemic raging in Southeast China from spreading to this refugee-packed British colony.

The scare spread to Formosa and the Philippines.

Hong Kong health officials reported 32 confirmed cases of cholera—the first since 1947—and 20 suspected cases. Social workers said the total may be as high as 100 but they have not been reported.

The English-language South China Morning Post reported a few days ago that cholera had killed 20,000 in China's Southeast Kwangtung Province. The Communists were reported holding mass meetings to blame the Americans for the epidemic — raising the same germ-warfare charges they did in the Korean War.

Red China is the main source of Hong Kong's food supplies and health inspectors have been posted on the border to check all shipments coming into the colony.

The scare has brought travel between China and Hong Kong to a virtual standstill.

With supplies of anti-cholera vaccine running low, shipments were being flown in from Britain, the United States and a half-dozen other countries.

Bosses Told to Yell In Approved Style

By WHITNEY SAWYER
Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—The next time the boss gives you a dressing down, make sure he's doing it right.

A good way to check up on him is to read a book by George S. Odorne, director of the University of Michigan Bureau of Industrial Relations.

Odorne's book lists seven deadly sins committed by bosses in chewing out employees.

They are:

- Failing to get all the facts.
- Acting while angry.
- Not making the charges clear.
- Not getting the employee's side of the argument.
- Backing down when right.
- Failing to keep records.
- Harboring a grudge.

And, Odorne says, the type of employee often determines the type of dressing down he should get.

If a genuine, sincere person were being flown in from Britain, the United States and a half-dozen other countries.
