MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD, MANCHESTER, CONN., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1961

Such a positive neutrality would also see that there is, looming in the background of the ideological struggle, a simple, elemental struggle for power politics, such as the world has almost always known, a struggle which would destroy, in the present world moment, from the mere fact that Russia and the United States are the world's two most powerful nations.

Such a positive neutrality, having recognized both the ideological and the traditional power politics of the cold war, would then place itself in a position to say something about each aspect of the struggle which would destroy, in the present world moment, from the mere fact that Russia and the United States are the world's two most powerful nations.

Connecticut Yankee

No matter from what angle you look at the Republican side of Connecticut, it is alive and eager and stirring. It is full of life and initiative. It is crowded with the best of the state's political and political philosophy. The quality of all these attributes may be summed up in one word: "Yankee."

What this means is that a 1962 state campaign is going to be fought from the Republican side, and the longest campaign in the state's history is already being waged. It has already begun, and it is going to be a long one.

Standings table for National League and American League

DISAGREEMENT—Yankee outfielder Mickey Mantle sounds off after being called out on strikes in ninth inning of last night's game.

New York Sept. 2 (AP)—New York Manager Ralph Houk called it the toughest game the Yankees have won all year.

crowd of the season—saw a brilliantly pitched game come to a sudden end in the last of the night's straight singles after Mosti had retired Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle produced what may be the most important run of the season for the Yankees.

That's right," corroborated the Yankees' relief ace. "He told me that when Berry got the hit, sent Howard to third, I turned to Moore and said, 'Here's your chance.'"

That's the toughest game of the year for us," sighed Houk. "It was a battle between two hard-nosed clubs, each refusing to give an inch."

Those were the contrasting views of the main principals in last night's victory for the Yankees over the Tigers which yielded New York's annual World Series lead over Detroit to 2 1/2 games.

Yankees Have Heroes by the Handful Daey Big Guy in Key Victory

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Heroes? The New York Yankees still the team that wins the big ones, had heroes by the handful in that 1-0 victory over Detroit last night that topped their American League lead over the second-place Tigers.

But the big guy in the victory was almost overlooked. It was Bill Skowron who drove in the run when they broke through against Don Mossi with three consecutive two-out singles in the ninth.

That's the toughest game of the year for us," sighed Houk. "It was a battle between two hard-nosed clubs, each refusing to give an inch."

For the American working man, the millennium has not arrived. He does not have everything he would like or should have. But, as a class, he is very well off. He is making rapid progress in obtaining a fair share of the fruits of his labors.

Monday we honor the working man of our country. He has built this nation and made it prosper and strong. Without him, nothing would have been or will be accomplished.

Parking meters, like us all, get balky at times and there is one particular meter on Bissell St., near The Herald building, that has caused quite a bit of confusion in recent weeks.

You see, the meter is half-broken, it will accept nickels, and pennies, too, but won't register, not even when nickels are inserted. Pennies never did work since the five-cent

Wickham Park Set To Close Monday

The American Legion of Manchester will mark the closing of Wickham Park on Labor Day with a flag presentation. The ceremony will take place at the observatory cabin Monday at 10:30 a.m.

Ted Fairbanks, chairman of the Legion's Americanism Committee, arranged the ceremony. Members of the color guard of the American Legion who will be present include Com. Anthony O'Bright, Commander-elect Albert Frederick, and Past Commanders Eugene Freeman, Michael McDonnell and Fairbanks.

Thousands of people have visited the park during its first summer as eight-seaters and as picnickers. The playground which was supplemented with some new equipment was a popular spot for the youngsters. The oriental garden and the cabin were relaxing places for the older people.

The trustees and management of the park wish to express their appreciation to the public for the warm reception they afforded Wickham Park. They feel that it has been a very successful and rewarding first summer.

Plans call for an extensive road building program to occur about mid-September.

The use of Wickham Park was provided through the generosity of Clarence Horace Wickham and his wife, Edith McGraft Wickham, both late of Manchester.

Speed Said Cause of Schuetz Death

Unreasonable and excessive speed caused the death of Michael H. Schuetz of Bolton in a one-car accident in Coventry July 21, according to Tolland County Coroner Bernard J. Ackerman.

Schuetz, 45, of 18 Sunset Lane, Bolton, was killed instantly about 3:30 p.m. when he drove his car off Rt. 44A, and struck two utility poles.

The coroner said eye witness reports at and near the scene indicated Schuetz had passed on the right a car going in the same direction he was driving, and he was exceeding the posted 45 m.p.h. speed limit.

There were no brake marks, he said, and an autopsy demonstrated no underlying pathologic physiologic cause which might have precipitated the accident, although Schuetz was a diabetic.

Two New Assistants Named at St. Mary's

Two assistants to the Rev. George F. Nostrand, new rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, took up their new posts at the church yesterday.

They are the Rev. John D. Hughes, 46, former rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Waterbury, and the Rev. William F. Gender III, 35, former rector of St. David's Episcopal Church and vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church in Scranton, Pa.

Yesterday, the Rev. Mr. Nostrand announced that he will "call an early vestry meeting to complete the immediate program of St. Mary's Church," now that he has already discussed church activities with the lay leaders of St. Mary's.

It is expected that the Rev. Mr. Hughes will direct religious education, which was formerly under the supervision of the Rev. Canon Thomas D. Byrne, who is now assistant at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church in New York City. The Rev. Mr. Gender will assist in pastoral duties.

The Rev. Prescott Beach, vicar in New Lenox, Mass., was former priest-in-charge of St. Mary's. The Rev. Mr. Hughes was born in Youngstown, Pa., Aug. 9, 1915, and attended public schools there. He received a B.A. degree, with first honors in history, from Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio, in 1937, and a B.D. degree from Kenyon College, in 1949.

Before serving as rector of St. Paul's Church in Waterbury, he was rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Liverpool, N.Y.; vicar of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church and chaplain to Episcopal students at DePue University, both in Greencastle, Ind.; and priest-in-charge of St. James' Episcopal Church in Bucyrus, Ohio.

The Rev. Mr. Hughes did grad-the Protestant Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, Pa. He served in the U. S. Army from 1946-48 with the U. S. Infantry, and was stationed in Trieste, Italy. He says his hobbies are model railroads.

The three appointments fill the openings at St. Mary's.

Ellis Consultant To Newark Police

James H. Ellis, research associate of the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council, has been given a leave of absence from the council during September to serve as a consultant with the Field Service Division of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. He will assist in a survey of the records system of the Newark, (N.J.) Police Department.

The Field Service Division maintains a professional staff to provide consultation and other services to police agencies throughout the United States. The Newark survey will have to do with the efficiency with which information is gathered, recorded, and used by the police department.

Ellis was formerly with the Air Police in the U. S. Air Force, the Barnstable Mass., Police Department. He is the holder of a B.S. degree in law enforcement from the School of Police Administration and Public Safety, Michigan State University.

He lives at 118 Park St., with his wife and son.

Stores Will Open 6 Days, 1 Night

Downtown retail stores will return to their regular store-hour schedule of six days and one night effective Tuesday, Paul Clifford, chairman of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce, said today.

Clifford stated that downtown stores would be open all day every day Monday through Saturday until 8:30 p.m. and Thursday night until 9 o'clock.

The announcement comes after a polling of downtown stores by the local Chamber's retail division store hours committee. Store owners agreed to abide by the majority decision of six days and one night maximum customer service, the committee reported.

A few stores will be open more nights but all are expected to be open at least the six days, having 8:30 p.m. closing, except on Thursday, which will be 9 p.m., Clifford said.

Series H Bonds Pay Higher Rate

Owners of Series H Savings Bonds, bought between June 1952 and January 1957, have been urged to keep their maturing bonds for an additional 10 years at a higher rate of interest—a straight 3 1/2 per cent annually.

The announcement was made this week by G. Harold Welch, chairman of the State Advisory Committee for the Savings Bond Division of the U.S. Treasury Department, Hartford office. Recent change in Treasury regulations will permit the holdings. Welch said that "holders of these Series H Savings Bonds will be notified by the Treasury of the extension privilege granted them when they receive their next to last interest check. Owners will not have to do anything about extending their H Bonds; this is automatic.

"As long as the H Bond is not redeemed, the owner will continue to draw semi-annual interest checks at the new, higher rate of 3 1/2 per cent interest for a full ten years," he said.

Don Wilson Starting 28th Year with Benny

By CHARLES J. LEAVY

To those of us who are at least 20 years old, perennially so as Jack Benny or not, the radio broadcast of the 1930 Rose Bowl Game can well be remembered as a great event. The play-by-play description of this great annual sports event was being brought "live" to every corner of the United States via one of radio's pioneer networks. At the microphone was radio's greatest announcer, the late Graham MacNamee. Certainly, many of us can look back to that day and many other days in the twenties and early thirties with more than a little tinge of nostalgia. However, how many remember that assisting Graham MacNamee in the play-by-play description that day in 1930, was none other than Don Wilson?

Most people think of Don only as the fat, jovial announcer on "The Jack Benny Program." Since he is embarking on the 28th year as Jack's announcer both on radio and television, it is quite understandable that his other activities in the early days of radio are almost forgotten.

To be perfectly honest, when we interviewed Don at breakfast, we had no intentions of questioning him about his early career. However, when the subject did arise, Don rambled on with such enthusiasm that we followed along.

"Those early years in radio were intriguing, and I enjoyed them as much as the long years I've spent with Jack," Don said. Even at the breakfast table, we were impressed by his flawless diction for which he has won many awards since he first broke into radio.

"I worked with Ted Husing broadcasting the Pacific Coast Conference games, and I want you to know I owe him a great deal for he helped me immeasurably," Don rambled on.

Started as Singer
"If few people remember me as a sports announcer, I'm sure very few know I started as a singer in show business—made my radio debut in 1924," Don smiled.

"It wasn't very successful, I must admit, for soon after the trio I sang with broke up, and I was stranded in San Francisco," Don continued.

This end of Don's singing career was a most fortunate occurrence for he struck out for Los Angeles and literally talked his way into an announcing job on a local station. He was featured in a program called "Big Brother Don," a children's hour. Those years of experience in early radio proved most fortunate for Wilson because he got his job on the Benny Program (in 1933) by auditioning and proving himself better than the competition—not by being the jolly fat man who pealed laughter at Benny's every word.

However, Don tells us all these happy years with Jack would never have come about if it were not for a mistake.

When Wilson was an announcer in the late twenties he worked for a Los Angeles radio station owned by a man who also operated a major automobile agency. Failing to get satisfaction from the agency on the purchase of a car, he bought one from a rival dealer, who also owned a competing radio outlet.

"I thought my boss would burst a blood vessel when he heard about it," Wilson recalls. "He called me on the carpet, hauled me out for 20 minutes and then fired me."

Joined Competitor
Wilson returned to the car to the seller, explaining that he could not afford to pay for it because he was out of a job.

"I was flabbergasted," Wilson says, "when he told me to keep the car, then put me on the payroll at his own station."

Wilson's work so impressed network officials that he was offered a staff announcer's job in New York City.

"I took it, of course," says Wilson, "and within a few months I auditioned for and won the announcer's job on Jack's show."

"But I certainly had no idea the job would last so long. And I never would have got the job at all if I hadn't bought the wrong car from the wrong man back there in the twenties."

Certainly Don's many successful years with Jack Benny were no mistake. The Waukegan Wit endlessly kids him about his weight, and Don's hearty good acceptance of the joshing has endeared him to millions. His inimitable handling of the commercials, too, has made that part of the program a model of effective treatment of advertising copy.

'Pip the Piper' Spear's Idea

Jack Spear began preparing for his role as Pip the Piper 28 years ago, but he didn't know it at the time.

"When I was seven years old, I won a toy whistle at school for selling the most tickets to the spring festival," he recalls. "I brought the whistle home and began playing it. In a few days I was doing so well, my teacher had me play 'Oh, Susannah' at the next assembly in the auditorium."

Now, as the title character on "Pip the Piper" (Saturdays, NBC-TV, 9:30 a.m. EDT) Jack uses a toy whistle—very much like the one he played years ago. He is still playing for youngsters, too. But his music provides only part of the entertainment on the fantasy series, he created with Lucian Kaminaky (who is co-starred on the program as Mr. Leader). Jack's wife, Phyllis, (who plays Miss Merrynote) completes the cast.

Jack was born in Newark, N. J., Feb. 18, 1928, and attended Weequahic High School there. At school, he continued his interest in music and learned to play many more musical instruments by ear. He finally learned to read music when he joined the Army and played in the band unit at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Following his military discharge, Jack attended the Newark Conservatory of Music. Though he took up commercial photography to earn a living, he pursued his interest in musical entertainment for children by creating an act in which he appeared as "Sheriff Jack" in Cowboy City, Farmingdale, N. J., and Wild West City in Tom's River, N. J. He also made guest appearances on radio and television.

Meanwhile, as a baby picture salesman, Jack was eager to tell anyone who would listen about his "great idea for a children's TV show." One of his customers, a theatrical manager, became interested in the idea and "helped Jack develop the show. With the help of his talented neighbor, Lucian Kaminaky, "Pip the Piper" became a reality on Christmas Day, 1950, on another network, as a black and white series.

Jack is married. He and his wife Phyllis live in West Orange, N. J., with their two children, David, born Nov. 23, 1953, and Robin, born Aug. 19, 1955.

She Was 'Found' At Drug Store

Mary Murphy, who like Lana Turner was discovered for motion pictures while eating lunch at a Hollywood drug store, will be making her first appearance in a television series when she plays assistant to insurance investigators James Franciscus and James Philbrook on the new adventure series "The Investigators" on CBS-TV (Thursdays, 9-10 p.m.).

The drug store discovery occurred in April after her graduation in 1949 from University High in Los Angeles where she was a classmate of Academy Award winner Elizabeth Taylor. While working for an exclusive Beverly Hills department store, she was spotted on a lunch break by talent scout Milton Lewis, who offered her a screen test at Paramount.

Du Pont Special Gets New Title

The title of the "Du Pont Show of the Week" special color drama Sunday, Oct. 15 (NBC-TV, 10-11 p.m. EDT), about concentration camp victims forced to labor in a Nazi counterfeiting mill has been changed to "The Battle of the Paper Bullets." Previously announced title was "Paper Bullets."

Stars of "The Battle of the Paper Bullets" are Frank Lovejoy, Cesar Romero, Jerry Lester and Russell Collins, with Paul Tripp, Enzo Stuarti, Edward Atienza, Cliff Norton, Lou Nova, Sandy Smith and Mark Lenard. Eugene Burr is the producer and Lela Swift is the director. The original teleplay is by Henry Mircock.

Polly Bergen bypassed green eyes for "Kitty Albright," first color "Wagon Train" episode, because she is allergic to contact lenses. . . . Sammy Cahn and Jimmy Van Heusen have composed a theme song for Screen Gems' new "Hazel" series titled, "Hey Hazel" . . . Doug McClure of "Checkmate" will star solo for the first time on the U. S. Steel Hour in Sept.

Sports Will Join Topics on 'Flair'

ABC Radio's "Flair," a service-features program which covers subjects ranging from baby care to outdoor sports, will also delve into the sports field on a regular basis.

It was indicated that the sports array would include ABC Radio sports commentator Howard Cosell.

Among the talent heard regularly on "Flair" are comedians Jonathan Winters, Stan Freberg, Hans Conrad and Orson Bean; space expert Jeff Davis; Boris Karloff; Ben Myerson; Ariane Francis; Fran Allison and Basil Rathbone.

Today's Huntley-Brinkley Report, acknowledged as the top news program in TV over NBC-TV Mondays through Fridays, was preceded by "The Newsreel Theatre," the original news program in that time slot. It started Feb. 13, 1945, over a small network of ten stations. It was actually a newscast on television, with film supplied by Fox Movietone.

Coming Shows

Charles Bickford and Jean Hagen star in "The Golden Years" on "The General Electric Theater" on Sunday, Sept. 10 (9-9:30 p.m., EDT) on the CBS Television Network.

"The United Nations Handicap," a $100,000 event that annually attracts the top thoroughbreds in the country, will be presented from Atlantic City, N.J., Saturday, Sept. 16 (8:30-9 p.m., EDT) on the CBS Television Network.

When Fred Flintstone discovers that pal Barney Rubble is a compulsive poet, he campaigns to get them a clef of C-notes on "The Hit Songwriters," with an assist from famed songwriter Hoagy Carmichael.

After an all-night session to come up with what has to be "hit" lyrics—they cover everything from mother and love to rock'n' roll.

They meet Hoagy in the office of Roland Rockwell, a top music publisher, and Hoagy volunteers as piano-player for the audition.

Hoagy Carmichael guests in supplying both the voice for his cartoon self and a swinging new tune, "Yabba Dabba Do."

"The Donna Reed Show" launches its fourth season on Thursday, Sept. 14. Donna is one of the few women whose series has been renewed this fall.

Marks Helps Produce Show

Arthur Marks has chalked up an enviable achievement in his field: At 33 years of age he is both a producer and a director of one of television's most popular programs, "Perry Mason."

Marks shares production duties as an alternate with Arthur Seld, who is also the series' film editor.

Marks is not related to the Marx Brothers ("Spell mine with a 'K'"), but the similarity of names frequently brings him mail intended for Arthur Marx.

Marks has a family interest in film production — his father David, in a screen director. But Arthur planned a career in journalism and studied for it at Santa Monica City College and the University of Southern California.

He served in the Merchant Marine in World War II and was a seaman journalist in Korea, writing for "All Hands" magazine.

From MGM he went to Columbia, as second assistant director, working on such features as "The Caine Mutiny," "Gilda" and "Jungle Jim."

In 1955, Marks moved to Warner Bros. as first assistant on the television shows "Casablanca," "Charley McGraw," "King's Row" and "Cheyenne."

A year later, he went to Twentieth Century-Fox where, in 1957, he worked on the "Perry Mason" pilot as first assistant.

Marks is married to his high school sweetheart, Phyllis. They have four children—Kathy, 12, Edward, 10, Beth, 6 and Paul, 4.

NBC Will Cover Tennis in Color

The semi-final and final rounds of the National Singles Tennis Championships at the West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills, N. Y., will be televised in color by the NBC-TV Network on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10.

TV coverage of the 81st annual National Championships will be presented both on tape and live, starting both days at 5:30 p.m. EDT and continuing to 7 p.m. Action in the men's semi-finals will be televised Sept. 9, and in both the men's and women's finals on Sept. 10.

FRIDAY Television PROGRAM

Derek Was Lured By 'Travis' Role

John Derek, who for the past five years has been running his own production company in Europe and South America, turned down many offers to return to the United States to star in television series.

"Travis, a handsome adventurer, is the symbol of authority for the circus," Derek says, "Travis gives me a chance to play the sort of rugged, exciting character I enjoy doing."

And the format for Frontier Circus can take us into an endlessly interesting variety of situations. In the series he joins costars Chill Willis and Richard Jaeckel.

Brinkley Admits Being Scooped

David Brinkley, the Washington half of the Huntley-Brinkley news team, admits to being "scooped" on a news story. It happened to him when he was covering the political conventions in Chicago back in the 50's.

Karl Held Signed For 'Perry Mason'

Karl Held will play an eager young law student, David Gideon, who hero worships Perry Mason and helps out in his office from time to time when "Perry Mason" is on the air.

Most of Held's acting experience has been in New York television and summer stock. On television, he has appeared on "The Ed Sullivan Show" and in dramatic productions including "Mrs. Miniver," "Dear Arthur" and "Young Dr. Malone."
