Are You Looking for the Church of CHRIST's Choice?

Many honest and sincere people have never thought that Christ might have a choice in religion, so often do they hear the statement; "Attend the church of YOUR choice." Yet, Paul said, "Wherefore also we make it our aim, whether at home or absent, to be well-pleasing to HIM." II Corinthians 5:9 (A. V. S.) Aren't we more interested in complying with Christ's choice than our own?

Deploring the Decor An appropriation of $3,500 was voted Tuesday night to improve the hearing room in the Municipal Building...

Director Ted Powell added a suggestion after the appropriation had been made, "Let's change the art work."

Powell suggested that the Manchester Fine Art League be asked to install pictures. "Almost anything would be an improvement," he said.

No Metrecol for Them! "How healthy you all look," a friend remarked in greeting, four Senior Girl Scouts upon their return this week from a summer tour of Europe.

One among the quartet of tanned and exuberant girls, putting her hand to her waist, replied, "Oh, we all gained weight." The others nodded assent.

Earlier this week one "broke" into the Westhill housing development for the aged on W. Center St. and eight men working on the project refused to enter the building.

A hurried call was put in for help. Dog Warden Lee Fracchia was at the site within minutes. The skunk was spotted and without any wasted seconds, or fanfare, Lee walked down into the cellar, picked up the skunk by the tail and removed it from the premises.

A golden pheasant, the gift of Lee Fracchia, 260 Spring St., will be one of several new "living exhibits" at Lutz Junior Museum when the center is reopened to the public on Sunday, Sept. 17.

The year-old male pheasant, raised by Fracchia, has been named Haukan (meaning "beautiful" in Chinese) by the Lutz Museum staff.

The year-old male pheasant, raised by Fracchia, has been named Haukan (meaning "beautiful" in Chinese) by the Lutz Museum staff.

Other new live animals acquired by the museum include an alligator, given by Charles Prinsalton; Oscar, a male white mouse, given by Herbert Hammond, 122 Park St., and an unnamed spouse, also a white mouse, given by Miss Betsy Hyde, 11 Meadow Lane.

New acquisitions to be exhibited at Lutz also include a collection of handmade models of sailboats; an exhibit of Heraldry with shields and coats of arms made by Vic Davies, 80 Green Meadow Rd., and a mounted snowy owl, donated by Emil Lido, 44 Avondale Rd.

Three items of historical lore include a wooden baby carriage, purchased in 1888 by the Pitkin family for the successive use of William, Wells and James Pitkin, donated by Wells Pitkin; an 1887 Edison victrola with wax cylinder records, given by George Chagnot, 24 Emerson St., and five old telephones loaned by the Southern New England Telephone Co.

Three Manchester High School art students assisted Mrs. Walter Schulthess and Mrs. William Moore in making a diorama of dinosaurs. The volunteer artists are Miss Lois Smith, 149 Union St.; Miss Linda Garrison, 68 Irving St.; and Miss Kathy Johnson, 283 Center St.

Other recent gifts to the museum are a fluorescent mineral case, with ultra violet light, containing 15 rock specimens, presented by the American Legion Post, and a barograph, a seven-day recording barometer, donated by the Manchester Kiwanis Club.

The Penny Saver Set To Open Tuesday The thrift shop, known as the Penny Saver, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Manchester Memorial Hospital, will open its fourth season Tuesday...

Also, Mrs. John Kirkham, Mrs. M. L. Erickson, Mrs. Robert Fenn, Mrs. William M. Roscoe Jr., Mrs. Robert Lynch, Mrs. Richard Hull, Mrs. Calvin Steinecker, Mrs. Robert Karna, and Mrs. A. Raymond Rogers, decorating; Mrs. Ernest Keane, Mrs. Daniel Morline, Mrs. Herbert McKinney, Mrs. James Marshall and Mrs. Lewis H. Piper, shop assistants; and Mrs. C. H. Jewish Year Of 5722 to Start Sunday

The Jews of the Manchester area will unite with world Jewry tomorrow at sunset to mark the beginning of the Jewish new year, Rosh Hashanah.

The observance, called the Day of Judgment and the Day of Repentance, continues through Monday and Tuesday.

Services for the congregation of Temple Beth Shalom in Manchester will be held at the Wadell School auditorium on Broad St., because of limited temple facilities.

Philip Harrison, president of Temple Beth Shalom, will deliver the annual presidential address at a service tomorrow at 8:16 p.m. On Monday and Tuesday, daytime services will begin at 8 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

The Shofar, or ram's horn, will be sounded at 10 a.m. on both days. Dr. Leon Wind, rabbi of Temple Beth Shalom, will preach "Thou Shalt Choose Life on Monday and 'The Sims of Our Time' at the Tuesday service.

Evening services on Monday and Tuesday will be held at the temple at 8:30 p.m. In South Windsor, the congregation of Temple Beth Hillel will meet at the Wapping Community Church for services led by Rabbi Paul Shiman.

The services will be held Sunday at 8 p.m., and Monday and Tuesday, beginning at 10 a.m. Rosh Hashanah is the beginning of the year 5722, a date based on the Biblical story of creation.

It begins a period of ten days of repentance which culminates on Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, holiest day in the Jewish calendar.

The ten days are a time of soul searching and introspection, during which the Jew reviews his life and conduct to return to God cleansed and purified of his sins.

EJNAR RASK, Parsonage: 47 Spruce St. Phone: Mitchell 9-6647 AN OPEN LETTER TO OUR COMMUNITY: We have only one purpose in writing this letter—it is to call your attention to one of the heavy responsibilities which each of us must face. Our world is in a crisis. This crisis is not only between nations, but between the forces of good and evil. Leaders in the free world are aware of the seriousness of the crisis between nations and have taken positive steps to do something about it. The question in our minds is, "are we aware of this other crisis—the moral one—and what are we doing about it?" We are sitting on the edge of a volcano and yet seem perfectly content to sit here. It has been the experience of our Sunday School Staff in visiting scores of homes that there is an utter lack of concern on the part of many parents for the future when it comes to clothing, food, education and the like, but take the attitude, "well let Johnny decide for himself whether or not he wants to attend Sunday School." So they end up neglecting the most important phase of the child's life. As you already know, we are one of the smaller churches of our community and could not possibly accommodate more than a very small percentage of those children and youth who are not receiving any religious training. So it must be clear that our concern is not based on selfish reasons. If ever there was a time in our community life when we needed to take constructive action, it is now! We plead with you, therefore, to seek out the church of your choice and make it a point to faithfully attend as a family. A new day could dawn for Manchester—yes, for our nation—if everyone took this message seriously! 'Captain Kangaroo' On Screen for Hour

By PAUL GERARD

Starting Oct. 2, four to five million pre-school age television viewers and their parents will be 15 minutes happier and a quarter of an hour better informed.

Bob Keeshan's "Captain Kangaroo" will be seen Mondays through Fridays from 8 to 9 a.m. on CBS-TV. This fifteen minute extension of the program is in itself a small tribute to Bob Keeshan who created the program six years ago and has since won many honors in the field of children programs, including the George Foster Peabody Award.

The genial, gentle-mannered "Captain Kangaroo" has as loyal a following of young television viewers as can be found anywhere.

But loyalty is a two-way street. Keeshan has always given much thought to the content of his program. He not only wants to present a good show, but a good show that is good for his viewers. This he has done without question.

"We are guided by two basic thoughts," Mr. Keeshan says. "What do our children enjoy? And what do parents do we want our children exposed to?"

"We talk the same language as the children do," he continued. "We meet them in a never-never land where they find reality. We give them fantasy and we give them education—learning things about the world they are growing-up in—all as part of a simple, wonderful hour of entertainment that happens to carry with it simple lessons in manners, safety and bits of knowledge children are curious about. There'll be no slapstick, no terror, no matter how innocently such things can be presented. These are gentle adventures for children—we can't think of any better words to describe what we are doing."

While Keeshan is alert to the wholesome part television can play in child guidance and development, he doesn't see his own role as that of a babysitter. In the "Playtime" segment of his broadcasts, especially, where his young viewers are taught to make cut-out toys with scissors and paper, he expects many parents to share the experience with their children.

"Some parents are delinquent in this respect," he says. "I appreciate the fact that we are the best 'babysitter' they have, but we hope we are performing more of a function than that. We don't want television to take all the time away from the parent-child relationship."

By the simplest of barometers, however—fan mail and phone calls from adults speaking on behalf of their pre-school children—it is obvious to Keeshan that a sizable segment of his audience is composed of parents who watch along with their children.

Bob Keeshan takes it for granted that his young viewers have a thirst for knowledge and an amazing capacity for absorbing information presented to them in an interesting manner.

"We are not, in the ordinary sense, striving to teach children," says Keeshan. "We prefer to inform them by stimulating their interests in the world around them."

The average child, according to Keeshan, will grasp a subject quickly if he can relate it to sights, sounds and objects he has already encountered in his own little world. Thus, when the program showed a film of the St. Lawrence Seaway with its intricate system of locks and canals, a simple explanation was made by comparing the sea-level stages to a flight of stairs—thereby bringing them into the realm of the child's every-day experience.

During the recent Presidential campaign, the boys and girls were shown a model of a voting machine and acquainted with the machine's operation.

In explaining the manufacture and use of plastic materials, the Captain had some raw ingredients on hand, as well as a small press with which he made a toy cow and some soldiers by applying heat and pressure.

To clarify the functions of the United Nations, Captain Kangaroo explained to his young viewers that nations, like children, can have differences, and sometimes get into fights. This can be avoided, he pointed out, by getting together and talking things over calmly and sensibly.

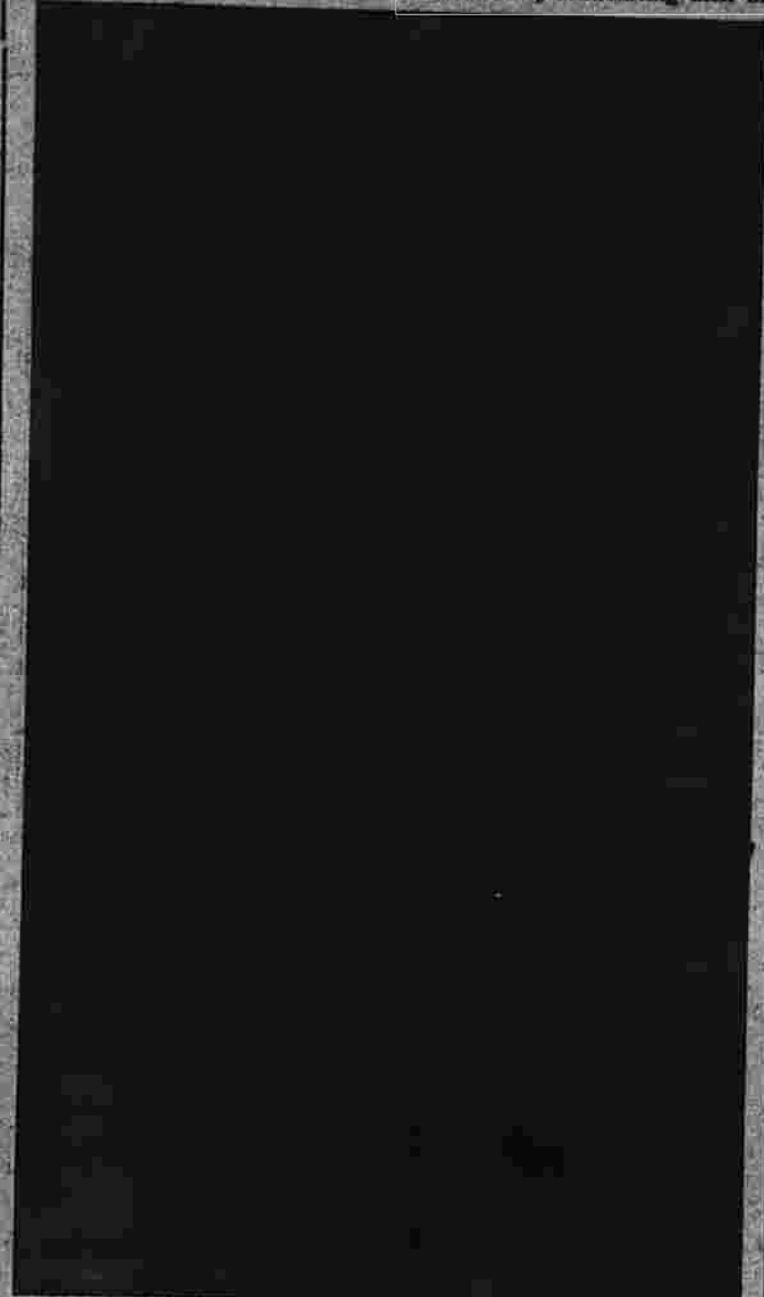

Charts, photographs, films and music play an important part on the "Captain Kangaroo" broadcasts. When the role of the President in government was up for discussion, a recording of the song, "The President on the Dollar," proved a lively way to stimulate interest in the topic. A film showing a day in the life of a U.S. Congressman provided a sight-and-sound acquaintance with another branch of the government.

As to the future of the program, Bob Keeshan's own speculations are expressed thus: "Each morning as we prepare for another visit to the 'Treasure House', I think to myself, this is for me—as long as Junior and his sister want to tune us in."

As far as Junior and his sister and their parents are concerned, Bob is long as you maintain the high standards of the program and continue to present them with the warmth and gentleness that is Captain Kangaroo's, there will be no question about their 'tuning in.'

TEN YEARS AGO

Rosemary Clooney was the vocalist on the Robert Q. Lewis Show. "Truth Or Consequences" was broadcast from the aircraft carrier "Valley Forge" . . . Morey Amsterdam was a guest on "This In Show Business" . . . Burt Ives recorded a Christmas tune for Columbia . . . Walt Disney presented "Alice in Wonderland" on TV . . . The top ten TV shows were Texaco Star Theater, Fireside Theater, Godfrey Talent Scouts, Toast of the Town, Cactus Jim, Man Against Crime, Mama, Philco Theater, Lights Out and Your Show of Shows.

'Focus' to Explore California Fires

"The 13th Month," produced by ABC-TV, Los Angeles, will be the 10th and final award-winning TV documentary presented on "Focus on American," Tuesday, Sept. 12 (ABC-TV, 7-7:30 p.m. EDT).

Forest fires, Southern California's most persistent and menacing problem which makes every month Fire Month, is the subject explored.

Unique among the great cities of the world, Los Angeles is ringed with forests—for beauty, wildlife, watersheds; for camping, hunting, fishing, summer and winter sports. An episode in the continuing battle to conserve these forests is shown from the vantage point of Jane Cheyney, a National Forest fire-watcher on a lookout tower on Mt. Whitmore, as she discovers a forest fire set off by a crashing jetliner, and the various forest fire-fighting services go into immediate action. Vin Scully, is host-narrator of the series.

Ninety per cent of all U.S. homes now have at least one TV set. One out of every 8 homes has more than one TV set. . . . It appears that TV's western trend is over. Only about a dozen that-way series are scheduled for the networks next season. . . . "The Maltese Falcon," said to be one of the greatest motion pictures ever made, may be the basis for an MGM-TV series. . . . It is reported that Jack Benny received $2.5 million in MCA stock as payment for control of his company, J & M Productions. J & M owns such shows as "Checkmate," "Holiday Lodge," "Jack Benny Show" films and others. . . . Maureen O'Hara's 17-year-old daughter, Bronwyn Fitzsimons, has signed a Warner Bros. contract. The same studio has also given an acting contract to the Ginger Drysdale, wife of the Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher.

David Brinkley in a man who loves his work. Most people when they vacation relax in various ways, but not Brinkley. This summer he spent his time off filming special stories at Cape Canaveral for showing at future dates on the Huntley-Brinkley report, NBC-TV.

Smith Writes And Acts, Too

Charles Smith, who plays the role of Woodrow, an intelligent but comic handyman in "Holiday Lodge," the Wayne and Elaine summer comedy series, hasn't worked in front of a camera for almost ten years, but he sports at the suggestion that he is making a comeback.

"I've been around all of the time," Smith points out. "But I've been writing for television instead of acting in it."

Indeed, the only way Smith could be lured back into showbiz was through the offer of a strong role and a schedule that did not conflict with his writing.

He has written some 100 teleplays under the byline of Charles E. Smith, and more than 200 radio shows. His television writing credits include "The Wildcat," "The Sunbelt Strip," "Maverick," "Cheyenne," "Lawman" and "The Deputy."

One of Smith's dramas for the CBS Radio Workshop won him an award from the Writers Guild.

He tossed over acting in 1952 to devote all his energies to writing. At that time Smith was well-known as a comedy character actor through his roles in such feature films as "Three Little Girls in Blue," "Battleground," "Wing and a Prayer," "Adventure in Baltimore," "A Guy Named Jones," and "The Doodies Weaver Show."

"He became an actor when he went too far in his drama classes," Smith says. "I was applied for admittance to Princeton as a pre-law student and, while waiting for word from the University, traveled to Hollywood to take acting lessons."

"I figured the lessons would help me if I became a trial lawyer," he explains.

Before he heard from the University, he was hooked to acting and decided to make it his career. Later, he decided to become a writer.

Smith was born in Elm, Mich., and raised in New Orleans. He was graduated from Gulf Coast Military Academy, Mississippi.

Smith conducts his professional double life from a home in Sherman Oaks, Calif., near Hollywood. He and his wife, Miriam, have three children: Christina, Carol Ann and Kimberly.

"Lawman" to Begin Its Fourth Season

With John Russell, Peter Brown and Peggie Castle continuing in their starring roles of Marshal Dan Troop, Bird Cage Saloon proprietor, Lily Merrill and Deputy Johnny McKay, "Lawman" will begin its fourth television year on Sunday, Sept. 17, ABC-TV, 8:30-9 p.m. EDT.

"Trapped," the opening episode of the new season, features Peter Breck as Hale Connors, a stranger in town for an electrifying purpose.

Quote from Sam Peeples, creator and producer of "Trail Man," the western about Billy the Kid starring Barry Sullivan and Chu Chuiter on NBC-TV 8 p.m. a day: "If I have any philosophy for success—it is write—and cooperate. Be prepared to adapt to any new kind of television story. Don't be afraid to try something new and different—and above all, listen to the men who make and sell your stories. They know what the public wants—and it is my heartfelt belief that a writer should be prepared to deliver exactly that."

Playing a hotel clerk is paying off for actor Grady Sutton. He's just been signed for another season as Laraine's most popular hotel man in "Lawman."

UAW Walkout Hits GM Plants

Detroit, Sept. 11 (AP)—The United Auto Workers union struck General Motors Corp. today. Thousands of UAW members streamed from GM plants across the nation in protest over the failure of negotiators to reach an agreement on key local-level issues.

The strike was expected to shut down most of GM's 129 plants by tonight.

The twice-extended strike deadline expired at 10 a.m.

The union and company agreed on a money package last Wednesday. UAW President Walter P. Reuther declared however an economic agreement "is no substitute for solution to every day plant problems. Just because they pay a worker, they don't own him."

Company and union negotiators promptly broke off marathon bargaining talks on local-level issues shortly after 10 a.m. (EST) when first walkouts were reported. Reuther and GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton said talks would resume at 7 p.m. (EST) tonight.

Seaton termed the strike action "an unnecessary hardship for our more than 325,000 hourly rated employees."

It is a needless strike because the basic economic issues that most importantly affect the income and security of our employees were resolved satisfactorily to the union six days ago," Seaton said.

Reuther said the strike action followed a breakdown in negotiations on non-economic matters.

"This strike is 99 per cent about working conditions, the practical everyday problems the workers have in the plants," Reuther said.

Both Reuther and Seaton agreed the walkouts would force GM to shut down operations across the nation.

Some 31 UAW locals already have reached agreement on local matters.

Asked if these locals would remain at work, Reuther said: "It is an academic question, as the corporation has indicated, because of GM's highly integrated operation, all plants would be down in a few hours."

Reuther said the union's na-

State to Try Rehabilitation For Drinkers

Hartford, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Circuit Court, the State Jail Administration, and the State Commission on Alcoholism will join forces in trying to rehabilitate some of the drinkers who are constantly showing up in court.

As presently planned the program will be modest in scope. It has the backing of Gov. John N. Dempsey.

"If you take a close look at all the crimes that have come before the circuit courts in the first six months of this year," the court's chief judge, Jay E. Rubinow, said Saturday, "you will see that almost one out of every two involves alcohol."

Rubinow said he, state jail administrator Harold E. Hegstrom, and Dr. Dudley P. Miller, head of the State Commission on Alcoholism, have been making plans for the project for months. The State Commission on Alcoholism is a division of the State Department of Mental Health.

The program will seek to identify "treatable alcoholics" when they come before the court and give them treatment for their condition or send them to alcoholism clinics instead of sentencing them to jail.

Rubinow said the facilities under the control of the State Commission on Alcoholism will be used more fully than at present. These include out-patient clinics for alcoholics around the state and the Blue Hills Hospital in Hartford.

Strike Hits Bristol Plant, Not Meriden

Bristol, Conn., Sept. 11 (AP)—United Auto Workers struck at one General Motors New Department plant in Bristol today, but Meriden remained open.

Workers at the Bristol plant, members of UAW local 626, walked off their jobs at 11 a.m. (EST).

But employees at the New Department plant in Meriden remained at work.

The Bristol operation has 2,000 hourly rated employees, UAW Local 626, said.

In Meriden, a local spokesman said union and company representatives were continuing negotiations. James J. Hines, leader of Local 626, said "Workers are staying on the job until they hear otherwise."

Picket lines were set up promptly at all gates at the Bristol facilities. About 100 pickets arrived in orderly fashion outside the gates.

High Winds, Flood Batter Texas, Louisiana Coasts

JFK Battles Unmatched Exodus Future Block Of School Aid Caused by Hurricane

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Kennedy put his weight today behind an effort to prevent Congress from slamming the door against action next year on a full-fledged aid to education program.

With both houses gearing for a final cleanup of legislation that might bring adjournment by the end of next week, Kennedy has had to give up all hope of getting in this session the kind of school legislation he wanted.

Moreover, his supporters face a last-ditch fight in trying to escape lethal winds and tides hurtling tons of water into normally populated spots, refugees from Hurricane Carla surged northward from the Gulf of Mexico.

The state Red Cross disaster headquarters here estimated a total of 142,353 persons in 449 shelters in 63 Texas counties. Yesterday morning there were only 28,149 in 212 shelters.

In Louisiana, a total of 12,641 evacuees are in 60 shelters. Although there was no second wave as in Texas, the Louisiana total is the largest ever sheltered.

National Red Cross officials estimate more than 400,000 people have been displaced from their homes. Many of them sought refuge with inland relatives or friends without registering with Red Cross or other authorities.

In road-clogging masses, they poured inland from the Texas and Louisiana coast in an exodus probably unparalleled in American history.

J. L. Lamanoco of Hitchcock, one of the communities near Galveston cleared before the arrival of mountains of water, said he saw a widespread sentiment.

"I stayed out the 1915 storm when I was a teen-ager," Lamanoco said at an evacuation shelter in Austin, miles from the coast. "I know what a hurricane is. When they said 'Get out,' I got out."

The migrants fled in cars laden with pets and other possessions in addition to necessary clothing and food.

"The girls just wouldn't let me leave the bird," said Mrs. Lester Shemah of Laporte. She carried a four-foot high bird cage containing a blue parrot.

After an hours-long normal drive from Texas City, Mrs. Rector Moreno related:

"The traffic was so terrible that several times we wished we had stayed home. People aren't good drivers when they're scared."

In most cases there was little concern over the jobs left behind. Bobby Kase of Freeport said his boss told him: "Get out. We'll see you when you get back. The important thing is to take care of your family."

Some moved as few miles as possible into the comparative safety of cities only a few miles from their imperiled homes. Others jammed public buildings, armories, hotels, motels and private homes as far north as Dallas, 300 miles from the Gulf of Mexico.

Red Cross spokesmen estimated a quarter million people were displaced. In most cases the migration was voluntary. At a few points the evacuations were by mandatory orders.

The movement was praised as a "miraculous escape."

400,000 Flee Carla, Still Poised in Gulf

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 11 (AP)—Hurricane Carla, the most intense storm aimed at the Texas coast this century, lashed Louisiana and Texas with 173-mile-an-hour winds and battering 11-foot tides today while still miles at sea.

More than 400,000 persons fled the coast in Texas and Louisiana in one of history's major flights, the Red Cross said.

At 11 a.m. (EST) Carla remained in the Gulf of Mexico 65 miles due east of Corpus Christi and apparently had not moved toward land in four hours, although hurricane winds and pounding tides from its leading edge raked the coast.

The weather bureau said winds of 150 miles an hour whirled near the center, but this velocity already was exceeded at Port Aransas, where the weather bureau officially estimated the 173 m.p.h. winds.

The weather bureau predicted tides of 15 feet or more in some places from Fort Aransas north-eastward to Galveston, tides from 8 to 12 feet were expected from Cameron, La., to Galveston, and up to 10 feet elsewhere where Carla's power is felt.

Carla will pack hurricane force winds near the center for 24 hours, the weather bureau forecast, an extremely long duration.

At a late hour the 30-mile-wide eye was expected to strike land during the afternoon between Aransas Pass in the Corpus Christi area, and Matagorda Bay, 75 miles north-west.

Farm losses will be close to $100 million, said John White, Texas agriculture commissioner.

Galveston, island city of 75,000 from 15,000 fled, was completely isolated from travel.

On Port Aransas, on low-lying Mustang Island just off the Texas coast, 35 persons remained including a handful of citizens and a detachment of Coast Guardsmen, cooped up 15 feet off the ground in an elevated house.

They had no choice except to ride out the wind and tide. All communications to them were cut.

As far inland as Bay City, 20 miles from the coast, Carla's slashing winds ripped out power service and telephone communications.

At Port Lavaca, on Matagorda Bay, 9,200 of the city's 10,000 persons left for high ground and winds reached 70 mph.

Shortly after daybreak, tides surging to 10.7 feet above normal at Port Aransas.

Sheet metal, poles, broken glass and trees flew through the air in Corpus Christi. National Guardsmen with loaded rifles patrolled against looting.

Corpus Christi reported nearly five inches of rain since midnight and the deluge continued. Eight thousand telephones went out of operation there.

Surging waves tossed a large shrimp boat on a 15-foot swell. All of North Beach at Corpus Christi flooded. It is crowded with beach houses and motels.

The 173 mph winds struck Port Aransas about daybreak.

Storm Holds No Threat to State Region

Hartford, Sept. 11 (AP)—Hurricane Carla should have little or no effect on the Connecticut region if it continues to follow its present course, civilian authorities and weather officials said today.

Extended forecasts for temperatures two to seven degrees above normal in the next five days and some precipitation Wednesday night and Thursday have not changed, reported the U.S. Weather Bureau at Bradley Field.

The bureau said it is doubtful that Carla, on its present course north-northwest into Texas, could affect this area.

Traveler's Weather Service said it is either too early to know if the hurricane will develop into a major inland storm after it hits the Texas and Louisiana coastline.

Local Red Cross officials said they had not yet received any inquiries about friends or relatives in the storm area.

Dr. Julius C. Early, director of the Connecticut Blood Program, said the state blood bank could furnish relief donations to the stricken area on a "limited basis" if extra blood is needed. He said the blood drive this August was 52 per cent above the same month a year ago and he left the bank in fairly good shape.

The American Radio Relay League in West Hartford said it expects no emergency radio activity in this area as the result of the hurricane. Pre-arranged messages from ham operators in the path of the hurricane may be transmitted in the next few days, however, a spokesman said.

High Power N-Shot Blasted by Russia

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Russia has triggered two new nuclear blasts—its first since the 1953 test—greater than earlier shots in the current tests.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the first of the new explosions in the atmosphere was "on the order of several megatons"—an explosive force equivalent to several million tons of TNT.

Although it was by far the largest fired since Russia resumed testing 11 days ago, the blast was a long way from the 100-megaton level which Soviet Premier Khrushchev boasted the Russians will reach.

The second nuclear device, fired later in the day on the same arctic island as the first, was reported to be "in the low to intermediate kiloton range."

The four devices tested before yesterday's doubleheader ranged from about the 20,000-ton equivalent of the bomb the United States used at Hiroshima to something in the 160,000 to 200,000 ton class.

All Soviet nuclear blasts in this series have been fired in the atmosphere.

There was no immediate reaction from U.S. official sources on the latest tests.

Because it was so much more powerful, the first of yesterday's blasts presumably produced much more radioactive debris than the previous explosions.

This residue from nuclear tests in the atmosphere, which has caused the dreaded fallout that can contaminate the earth and damage both present and future life if it becomes heavy enough.

U.S. experts say there is no danger from fallout resulting from the four earlier tests, but continued atmospheric testing would increase the possibility of deadly radiation.

It was this danger that prompted President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to join in a plea to Khrushchev to confine his testing to underground explosions which are relatively safe from the contamination standpoint.

Khrushchev rejected the proposal last Saturday, calling it a propaganda maneuver.

New Haven, Sept. 11 (AP)—A new million dollar electron linear accelerator, with one of the most powerful high-energy beams of any similar machine in the world, goes into operation this week at Yale University.

The machine, three years in the planning and construction, will enable Yale scientists to study key problems of the structure and nature of atomic nucleus.

It was financed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Han Arranges Surgery

Windsor Locks, Sept. 11 (AP)—A four-year-old boy will be arriving in Connecticut from Cuba this week for a throat operation which was hurriedly arranged with the aid of a hand radio operator here.

Bert Hubbard was idling with his shortwave set in his home (at 31 School St.) yesterday afternoon when he heard the call, "Urgent, Hartford," repeated several times.

Hubbard made a fix on the signal which was being transmitted by a young sailor stationed at the U.S. Navy Base at Guantanamo Bay in Cuba.

The sailor said his boy had been suddenly stricken by a severe throat ailment which required an emergency operation that could not be performed at the base.

He asked Hubbard to call his aunt in Windsor and tell her to arrange for a local specialist to perform the surgery in a Hartford Hospital.

Pope Urges Negotiation To Avert Global War

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, Sept. 11 (AP)—Pope John XXIII in a dramatic appeal recalling papal messages on the eve of two world wars, urged the world's rulers to negotiate to avert a third global disaster.

In one of his most stirring messages since he became pope almost three years ago, the pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church last night asked "the rulers of nations to face squarely the tremendous responsibilities they bear."

He declared they must not "fall victims to false and deceiving provocations" and added: "It is truly upon wise men that the issue depends: That force shall not prevail, but right, through free and sincere negotiations; that truth and justice shall be vindicated by safeguarding the essential liberties and the inalienable values of every nation and of every human person."

The pope mentioned no world leader by name. But his words were bound to figure in growing pressure, especially by nonaligned nations, to bring about a face-to-face meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

Rescuers Dig Amid Mud For Air Crash Victims

Shannon, Ireland, Sept. 11 (AP)—Working knee-deep in mud, rescue workers today dug for bodies in the wreckage of the chartered American plane that plunged into the Shannon Estuary killing 83 persons aboard.

The crash yesterday of the President Air Lines DC8B "Theodore Roosevelt" was the worst disaster ever to befall a U.S. Commercial plane overseas.

Aboard were 77 European passengers and six American crewmen.

Investigators sought to determine the cause of the crash. 19 bodies still remained to be recovered from the wreckage.

The tailpiece of the plane loomed above the slushy, gray mud like a giant tombstone.

Lashed by rain, the people of Shannon toiled all day yesterday in a race against the incoming tides.

Throughout the night, as the tide came in and again covered the remains of the airliner, floodlights cut across the mudbanks and illuminated the wreckage. A constant watch was kept from the shore.

"It was chiefly for security reasons," said an airport management spokesman. "But we also wanted to make sure that nothing drifted away."

The big four-engine plane plunged into the Shannon's waters minutes after taking off for the Atlantic hop after a refueling stop here. The passengers had been taken aboard at Duesseldorf, West Germany.

Cuban Crowd Defies Castro

Havana, Sept. 11 (AP)—Roman Catholic demonstrators shouting "Cuba yes, Russia no" fought police last night in an unusual show of defiance of the Castro regime.

Shots were fired as the police and militia broke up a march on the presidential palace. One man was killed, three wounded and scores suffered bruises from police clubs.

The anti-Communist outburst erupted suddenly after about 4,000 Cubans massed in downtown Havana for the annual procession of Our Lady of Charity, patron saint of Cuba.

In the crowd were Cubans of all walks of life—men, women and children, middle-class and poor, white and colored.

For five hours as they gathered in front of the Church of Charity shouts rang out denouncing the Russians. Many shouted "Long live Jesus Christ."

The police and militia stood quiet by.
