Wonders of the Universe Stepped-Up Program To Benefit Americans

Senator Robert S. Kerr is chairman of the Aeronautics and Space Committee of the United States Senate, the newest of the standing committees of the Senate. This committee is responsible for the hearings and other activities of the national civilian space program. Sen. Kerr, a Democrat, first came to the Senate in 1949 and previously had served as Governor of his native state, Oklahoma. A successful businessman as private life, Kerr heads companies that have pioneered in several technical fields, including deep water drilling for oil in the Gulf of Mexico and uranium mining and processing. Scientific innovations also dominate his hobby—farming, ranching and farming. In the following article, that in a series of twelve international magazines he has written, he outlines his plans for a great new national program to expand the space program.

Dr. I. M. Levitt, Editor and regular author of "Wonders of the Universe."

By SEN. ROBERT S. KERR
The United States, through its national government, has just made the decision to spend $10 billion in the next five years on the development of space technology. The decision sets the stage for an era of dramatic scientific and technological achievement.

Only of thought and effort mark the events that led to this new program. Recommendations were presented to Congress by President Kennedy in a report to a detailed study by the National Space Council. Earlier in the year, Congress had approved a related study by the House of Representatives. The final Act, which received unanimous approval of the Senate Committee, provides for all necessary appropriations for the program, including a planned expansion to the moon and return before the end of this decade.

While this new national decision was under consideration, the space program was being demonstrated by the United States and other nations. The program has gained many scientific breakthroughs.

By keeping the so-called "tin house" in the program, we are able to maintain a minimum, our country can continue to develop and improve its space program. NASA has established cooperative arrangements with other nations in the field of space research and testing programs with other nations.

One way to kill a cat is with kindness. The same method may also work for the dummy. Put yourself in West's seat. You open the first of spades, and dummy comes down. How do you play? It's hopeless to try for a club trick. South must have all of the missing high cards for his strong hand. Your only hope is to kill the dummy — the hand, not the player. That is, you aim to make the dummy unable to declare.

Connecticut Yankee

By A. H. O.

Just like John Bailey said, there were local personalities and local legends involved in last Monday's Connecticut town and city elections. One can go through the list of winners and losers and find out who they are, but this kind of analysis is not what the Connecticut Yankee is about, and see that here there was an unusually able or appealing candidate for one party or another, and actually having a chance that, either there was a special and probably temporary factional war inside one party, that in some other instance, a community was returning to political normalcy after some kind of special upset two years ago.

Car Repair for Cold Weather?

No doubt it's human nature to put off preparing for cold weather until it's upon us, but unless you enjoy waiting in line to get the first cold snap, you had better drive your car ready for colder weather. It is always wise to have the cooling system checked before adding antifreeze. With the coming of fall and winter, the car owner should have his car checked for antifreeze.

Have our churches lost prestige? Are they falling? This is a fair question. Times are changing. The community is changing. The educational system is changing. Society and our living standards have changed. Our churches are changing. They are experiencing the pressures of new and shifting population.

Heard Along Main Street

And on Some of Manchester's Side Streets, Too

One Word, Too There comes a time in writing when everyone forgets how to spell a simple word, and has to consult a dictionary.

Yesterday morning at The Herald, someone had spelled "firehouse" as "fire house." Upon checking, he learned that "firehouse" was written properly as one word.

And that's not all he found out. According to an old, much used, and highly trusted dictionary in the office, the preferred meaning of "firehouse" is "a house with a fireplace in distinction from out-houses."

Fortification The monthly report of the Police Department contains evidence that the weather is getting nipper.

In the hot month of August only eight arrests were made on intoxication charges.

But last month, which brought with it an occasional reminder that summer could not last forever, also brought 24 arrests on intoxication charges.

Divided We Stand Town elections Monday revealed some hotly-contested posts, an upset or two, and the usual number of happy victors and dejected losers. The first night took note, and the second comfort, from a post-election advertisement placed in a Montana newspaper, once by a man and his wife; the man an unsuccessful candidate, and his wife a woman who realized the frustrations, worries, abuse, and time that often go with public office.

This was their ad: "We wish to thank ALL the voters; I thank those who supported me and my wife thanks those who didn't."

In Other Word... Four Manchester women, on a visit to the UN last week, were caught up in a crowd at the Plaza along East River Dr., awaiting the arrival of President Kennedy.

The crowd surged forward at the approach of the motorcycle escort, pushing the Manchester women in the front row out into the street. One of New York's finest leaned down from his mount and shouted, "For your information, the sidewalk is the raised portion of the highway directly to your rear."

Only the arrival of President Kennedy at that moment spared our friends from self-conscious backward glances to their derrieres.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS by Eugene Brewer

What is sin? Every person has his own definition. Some deny its reality, saying that it is but the distorted fancy of minds tortured by medieval superstition. The vast majority never give it a serious thought, pursuing their lawful ways with little conscience of evil. Few, if any, would correctly define sin as the transgression of God's law, 1 John 3:4.

One need not be an immoral reprobate to be a sinner. The mere neglect of duty the slightest well-intentioned deviation from the Scriptural course, a deed, word or thought out of harmony with Christ's example—these are sins seldom so defined. Men call them small, but God placed no dimensions on sin. Therefore, all need a savior, for none is righteous, Rom. 3:10, 23. Do not scoff at sin, for its wages is death, Rom. 6:23!

Barry Says Westerns Have Universal Appeal

Barry Sullivan, star of NBC-TV's "Tall Man" now in its second year, was very much against doing a Western series only a few years ago.

"I figured Westerns were waning," he said. "I'm not embarrassed to admit I was wrong. On a tour of 20 cities with Bette Davis I discovered that in every area where there was only one or two TV stations, they aired nothing but Westerns in the evening hours. I asked the men who owned the stations why they pre-empted other shows in favor of the out-landers, and their answer was simple. Their viewers had made it clear that they wanted to see them more than any other type of show."

Recently in Rome while filming the movie, "Light in the Piazza," with Yvette Mimieux and Olivia de Havilland, he was further convinced of the continued worldwide appeal of Westerns.

"A group of tourists had been watching us shoot the movie and, during a break, they came over to talk to me. There were some Americans in the group but most of them were English, Japanese and some were residents of Africa."

Unlike Americans who recognize Barry from his movie work in addition to video, the Europeans know him from his television exposure only. His TV series, "Mr. X" is now playing in England.

"But it was mostly 'Tall Man' that they talked about," continues Sullivan. "We've done 'Tall Man' trailers for Japan and next year the show goes to England and possibly Nigeria. It's top-rated not only in Houston and Phoenix—but also in Sweden. This suggests, if nothing else, that the appeal of the oft-maligned shoot-'em-up is a universal affair."

Sullivan feels that the enthusiasm shown by the Europeans indicates the impact of Westerns around the world—violence and all.

"I think the reason is pretty clear. We may tend to downgrade the Western on TV, but the Western still remains a great story-tell-there likes us—from Suen to Singapore."

Having performed in every medium has given Barry Sullivan breadth and perspective. And this always prompts an interviewer to ask the obvious question: Which is your favorite medium in which to work?

"All of 'em," smiles Sullivan. "I'm an actor, and it doesn't much matter whether the audience is sitting in a theatre or lounging in their living rooms. Just so long as they're out there some place!" Sullivan has seen a lot of the acting game since the post-depression days of radio. He was one of the fortunate few who worked steadily. In fact, he has worked constantly—soap operas, summer stock, movies, Broadway and two TV series which dwindled out.

The "good" in yesterday, according to Sullivan, was in the doing and the living. The "good" in TV today is found in the limitless opportunity it has opened for youngsters.

"Actually, there's value in every era," says Sullivan. "In the days of radio drama most of the work was done by relatively few actors and many of these added to their range by using two or more voices. This didn't give newcomers much of a chance to work into the field."

"Television has given young unknowns a boost and, contrary to radio—in which faces meant nothing—TV has brought fame to young actors because viewers see them, not just hear their voices. In 'Tall Man' we've discovered what I call 'the outside factor.' This is the actor who is not well known but is a definite asset to the running stars in the series. In our show it's young Clu Gulager, an Okie who studied at the Sorbonne. TV is a great showcase for young talent and the newcomers provide a priceless counterpoint to actors like myself."

Coming Shows

Cocoa Beach, a Florida village that has grown to a neon-lit boomtown because of its proximity to the launching pads of Cape Canaveral, will be examined on the premiere color broadcast of "David Brinkley's Journal" on the NBC-TV Network Wednesday, Oct. 11 (10:30 to 11 p.m., NYT).

A special full-hour color program retracing the life of Vincent Van Gogh in the artist's own words and through his drawings and paintings—many of them filmed for the first time—will be presented on the NBC-TV Network Friday, Nov. 17 (9:30-10:30 p.m. EST).

Titled "Vincent Van Gogh: A Self-Portrait," the program will feature Lee J. Cobb, who will speak Van Gogh's words, and Martin Gabel, who will do the narration. The two actors will use voice-over-film techniques and will not be seen on camera.

This will be the first documentary to draw on the hundreds of revealing letters written by Van Gogh, most of them to his brother Theo. It will also use scores of Van Gogh's canvases and drawings from museums and private collections in this country, in Europe and behind the Iron Curtain.

A global report on the role of water in the birth and decay of the world's civilizations and the problems man faces today in his quickening search for water across the world will be presented on the CBS Television Network Thursday, Oct. 19 (10-11 p.m. EDT). The title of the program is CBS Reports: "The Water Famille."

Howard K. Smith and Alexander Kendrick will be the reporters. Through sequences filmed among the ruins of Babylon at the confluence of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, at Ctesiphon near Baghdad, Iraq, and in the Negev Desert in Israel, the program will consider the influence of water on the growth and death of ancient civilizations in the Middle East. Other sequences will show the struggle of ancient civilizations to maintain an adequate water supply through construction of aqueducts, cisterns and walled fields.

In exploring U.S. water problems (there has been a sharp growth in water needs as population has increased and industry has expanded), the CBS Reports cameras will follow the 240-mile Colorado River Aqueduct that runs from Parker Dam on the Colorado River across the desert and through the mountains to Los Angeles; will show cattle growing on the dry bottoms of San Diego's reservoirs, and will investigate the massive irrigation system planned by California.

Many noted dignitaries will appear on the program, including the U.S. Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Marx Brothers Together Again

The three Marx Brothers, who have not worked together for more than ten years, will be brought together again by Screen Gems, Inc. for a television comedy series to be produced in the new Tri-Cinematation process.

Over the past ten years the Marx brothers have turned down repeated offers for them to appear together. But when the brothers were shown the Tri-Cinematation process, which Screen Gems has obtained exclusively, they were convinced that here was finally a way in which they could be brought to the TV audience without their getting involved in an arduous production schedule. Through this new animated art form, Groucho, Chico and Harpo will be represented visually by lifelike figures that will talk (except for Harpo; he'll whistle), move and act exactly like the Marx brothers themselves, down to the most minute detail.

Their new Screen Gems television series will not only revive the Marx brothers' famous style of comedy but will update it with current backgrounds and allusions. The producers hope to get some of the writers of the Marx brothers' old movies to work on the new TV series.

MITCH MAKES A FUNNY

On the same day that "Sing Along With Mitch" was being taped at the NBC-TV color studios in Brooklyn, Hallmark's "Hall of Fame" was filming "The Joke and the Valley" on an adjoining set. During a break in the play, Keenan Wynn and several of the actors wandered over to the Mitch Miller rehearsal. Standing around in their costumes and false beards, the actors whistled and tapped their feet to the music pouring out of Studio One. Mitch spotted the bewhiskered group and then he quipped, "I see you fellows are using my make-up man, too!"

BACKSTOP

Donna Reed delayed starting the acting career which brought her fame, fortune and an "Oscar" award until she completed a course at Los Angeles City College. She wanted to be qualified as a stenographer, just in case . . .

Hollywood — (NEA) — There's a small army of performers whose faces are very familiar but whose names are not—unless you're a rapid reader who can catch the credits as they whiz by.

They make a good living as the supporting players on TV series. You see them a few times a week as they move from Western to crime show to Western. Once in a great while, one of them steps into a running part and achieves a degree of fame.

Latest to try it is John Dehner, who'll play a running role as an ace reporter on ABC's "The Roaring 20s" this season. You've seen Dehner dozens of times, most often as a heavy. He always gives a fine performance, so it's nice to see him get this break.

Dehner is a tall, good-looking man who insists he would look ordinary without his mustache. He has worn it in everything he has done and "under no circumstances" would he consider removing it.

He started out as an artist but says: "Today I can't draw a straight line. I try to paint and sketch now but I just can't do it. I think my mind just rebels and says to my hand that my art career is over and that's that."

In his hundreds of TV roles, Dehner has been killed so often that he has developed special tricks for dying.

"I've died a thousand deaths," he says, "generally by gunshot. The way to die best is to have the man firing the gun use a full load of blank powder. Usually, they only use a quarter-load. But with a full load, the noise shakes you up so you can die convincingly."

Another tip from Dehner, which is valuable even if you are not an actor about to die for your art, is on nervousness — or, in his case, stage and/or camera fright.

"I never say to myself, 'I'm nervous,'" he says, "I say, 'I'm excited.'" It may be the same feeling, but now it becomes an advantage rather than a disadvantage.

With his running role in "The Roaring 20s" about to start, John Dehner is excited.

Hollywood — (NEA) — A young lady wearing a yellow sweater walked on the set... and we almost could hear the fire bells ringing inside Brandon de Wilde's head.

You all remember Brandon, of course, from the 1951 movie, "Shane." As a 9-year-old then, his cry of "Shane! Shane! Come back, Shane!" went into the record books as one of the most memorable exit lines in film history.

"Shane" (Alan Ladd) didn't come back, of course, and the strange little boy of the movie grew up and, well—now he's a husky 19-year-old and a mighty powerful reminder that it is later than we think.

We have followed his career since "Shane"—four movies and the TV series "Jamie," and a couple of plays. But in all of them he was the little boy of "Shane" memory. Then he grew up, first for 1959's "Blue Denim," which introduced him as a teen-ager, and now for "All Fall Down," the MGM movie with Eva Marie Saint, Warren Beatty and Karl Malden.

Some things left us wondering about Brandon de Wilde—his pathetic personality in "Shane"; his stage debut at 7; the pampering to which all juvenile performers are subjected. But we're happy to report he's A-O.K. with us.

The Brandon report on girls — "I bird-dog them except when I'm working"—was just a starter in proof that there's nothing wrong with his personality.

"I date everyone," young Mr. de Wilde informed us.

With an IQ of 189, Brandon laughed about hating school, which he did.

"I did O.K. in English and art, but I hated math. My teachers were always asking me, 'Brandon, with that IQ, why don't you use it?'"

He may be undecided about the appeal of redheads over blondes, but about his career de Wilde has blueprinted the future with meticulous care.

"I know what I want to do," he says. "I want to direct before I'm 25 and produce a movie before I'm 30. I want to use the ideas that keep spurring out of me. I don't think I'll ever direct myself, though. I wouldn't have anyone to argue with."

His memories of "Shane" are misty. "The only vivid memory I have," he said, "is about the presents George Stevens gave me to open on the train trip back to New York. There was a new toy for each day of the trip."

"Route 66," beginning its second season on TV, is planning shows set in the following cities during the 1961-62 season: Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Washington, Nashville, Memphis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

To Save NHRR Trustees Ask For $15 Million

New Haven, Oct. 9 (AP)—The trustees of the New Haven Railroad look toward a $15 million loan as the only immediate hope of keeping the line alive.

One of them, William J. Kirk, said the debt-stricken railroad, now operating under trusteeship, "can't provide service beyond next month" unless it receives permission to borrow the money.

The two other trustees, Harry W. Driscoll and Richard Joyce Smith, gave no deadline for a possible end to the New Haven but agreed the loan was necessary. The alternative, they said, was "to stop running the railroad."

The gloomy picture was painted at the first news conference held by the three trustees since they were named last Aug. 3.

As Kirk put it, the life of the New Haven, which filed for reorganization July 7 under the Federal Bankruptcy Act, is "greatly in jeopardy."

The trustees said "much of the passenger operations cannot be operated profitably and therefore cannot be continued unless adequately financed by public funds."

"The trustees stand ready," they said, "to provide such passenger service as federal, state and municipal authorities may decide is essential, provided the railroad is properly and adequately compensated for this inherently unprofitable service."

The conference afforded an opportunity for the trustees to make public what they called some of their "tremendous problems" since assuming their duties. It was held Friday, but with the provision that the trustees' names would not be released to the public until last night.

They have sought U.S. District Court permission to borrow $15 million to keep the New Haven running for the next 10 to 12 months.

Delay Asked On Phone Co. Rate Hearing

Waterbury, Oct. 9 (AP)—State Sen. William J. Verrier today asked the State Public Utilities Commission (PUC) to postpone for 30 days the Oct. 23 hearing on the Southern New England telephone company's petition for rate increases.

Verrier said he made the request in a letter to PUC Chairman Eugene S. Loughlin. He said the scheduled date, "under the most favorable circumstances," leaves a short time in which to prepare properly an adequate opposition.

The Waterbury legislator in Senate chairmanship of the General Assembly's Finance Committee, which drew up the tax increase bills passed by the 1916 session. The tax bills included boosts in public utility company taxes.

Verrier also suggested in his letter that copies of the telephone company's petition for increased rates be sent to every municipality in the state.

Verrier listed as another reason for his objection to the Oct. 23 hearing date the current election campaign in Waterbury. He said that he was "extremely busy" in his role as Democratic Town Committee chairman.

Archbishop Improves

Hartford, Oct. 9 (AP)—Hartford Roman Catholic Archbishop Henry J. O'Brien, stricken late last month with a heart attack, has been taken off the critical list at St. Francis Hospital.

This was reported today by a spokesman for his office, who said the Archbishop spent a comfortable night and appears to be progressing satisfactorily.

The prelate entered St. Francis Sept. 18 for treatment for a respiratory condition, and was held low two days later by the heart ailment. He has been on the critical list since then.

Extended Forecast

Windsor Locks, Oct. 9 (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau at Bradley Field issued this forecast for Connecticut today:

Temperatures during the next five days, Tuesday through Saturday, are expected to average more than 7 degrees above normal with a little day to day change. The normal high and low temperature at Hartford this period is 66 and 42, at Bridgeport 66 and 46 and at New Haven 65 and 45. Little if any precipitation is expected during this period.

Named to PUC

Hartford, Oct. 9 (AP)—Attorney William R. Burke, Farmington, was appointed today to the State Public Utilities Commission by Gov. John N. Dempsey.

Burke, a Democrat and member of the Hartford law firm of Bracken and Burke, succeeds the late Basil P. Fitzpatrick, of West Hartford.

The job pays $11,160 per year. Burke will serve under an interim appointment until the 1963 session of the state legislature. At that time the Governor will nominate him to fill Fitzpatrick's unexpired term, which ends June 30, 1965.

The 49-year-old Burke has served as a research attorney on

President In Midwest Next Month

Newport, R. I., Oct. 9 (AP)—President Kennedy undertook today a sad, sentimental journey to Texas to comfort ailing Sam Rayburn.

The President switched plans and ordered his Air Force jet to head for Dallas, Tex., instead of back to Washington at the close of a weekend here—beside and on the sea.

The 79-year-old Speaker of the House is gravely ill in a Dallas hospital, combating incurable cancer. Distinguished national leaders and politicians have been showing or dropping in to see him. Kennedy himself has been kept informed constantly of Rayburn's condition. He has been checking for several days to find out whether it would be wise for him to visit the Speaker's bedside.

The decision to make the trip was reached this morning. As the man who served longer than any other as Speaker, as "Mr. Democrat" to both political friends and foes, Rayburn was a powerful ally of the President in Congress. He left Washington a month before Congress adjourned to go home to Texas and try to get rid of what he said was luggage in an aching back.

Kennedy will miss Rayburn's advice and help. But he scarcely is in a position to broach with Rayburn a discussion of a possible successor, for regardless of what he may suspect, Rayburn has not been told by his doctors that cancer is striking down his long illustrious career in politics.

Kennedy might hesitate to bring up the matter in any event. Election of a new Speaker will be the business of the House, and as a graduate of the House, before he

War Threat Eases in Laos Princes for Souvanna, Split on Cabinet Jobs

Hin Heup, Laos, Oct. 9 (AP)—The three factions in Laos wrangled today over a cabinet for neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, named premier in an agreement reducing the prospect of new fighting in the jungle kingdom.

Souvanna Phouma, 60-year-old Paris-educated former premier backed by the Soviet bloc, personally announced the agreement reached yesterday by himself, pro-western Premier Boum Oum and Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Red Pathet Lao.

The other two princes stood beside Souvanna during the announcement, made at the negotiations tent at this village on the cease-fire line 50 miles north of Vientiane, administrative capital of Laos.

Agreement on Souvanna had long been expected. Boum Oum presented a major concession by Boum Oum's U.S.-backed regime, which had been demanding that King Savang Vatthana be presented a list of several candidates for the premiership of the coalition government. The Pathet Lao in turn withdrew its demand that the king be handed a full cabinet as well

Local Rejects Profit Sharing In AMC Pact

Detroit, Oct. 9 (AP)—The future of the auto industry's historic profit-sharing plan was cast in doubt today.

AMC's Local 72 of the UAW at Kenosha, Wis., voting contrary to the four other locals of the company, rejected the plan formally last night.

Officials of the company and international officers of the UAW were reported in separate huddles here today on what steps to take.

The AMC development came as another nettlesome problem in the months-long effort to settle on new 3-year contracts in the auto industry.

Ford Local 600 of the auto union set off picket lines barring office workers from entering the company administration building in the week-old strike against Ford.

Since last Tuesday, Ford's 120,000 hourly workers have been on strike over local plant issues. Ford and the UAW already had agreed on a 3-year economic package. But local disputes prevented a general settlement. Negotiations have been continuing.

Yanks Lead 5-0 At End of First

Cincinnati, Oct. 9 (AP)—The slugging New York Yankees stepped off to a fast start in the fifth game of the World Series with the Cincinnati Reds today and held a 5 to 0 margin as the contenders started the second inning.

YANKS FIRST (8)

Jay's first pitch to Richardson was a curve that broke over the plate for a called strike. Richardson lined the next pitch past Kasko for a single. It was his ninth hit of the Series, equalling the record for most hits in a 5-game series.

Kubek fled deep to Pinson. Maris fled to Robinson near the right field foul line. Coleman muffed Jay's pickoff attempt and Richardson went to second on the error.

Blanchard, on a 3-1 count hit a home run into the right field bleachers, a drive of 376 feet scoring Richardson ahead of him, giving the Yankees a quick 2-0 lead.

Howard sent a drive through an opening high on the scoreboard in left center for a ground rule double.

Jim Maloney, a right hander, started warming up for the Reds. Skowron scored Howard with a long drive off the center field fence, but was limited to a single when he fell rounding first base. Maloney replaced Jay on the mound.

Lopez tripled to the right field scoring Skowron. Ken Johnson, a right hander began warming up for Cincinnati. Boyer doubled off the scoreboard scoring Lopez for the Yankees fifth run. Terry struck out.

Five runs, six hits, one error, one left.

REDS FIRST (0)

Blasgame bunted back to the mound and was tossed out by Terry. Kasko singled through the hole into left field. Pinson popped to Boyer near the pitching mound.

Robinson fled to Lopez.

Rayburn Gets Test Injection To Halt Cancer

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 9 (AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn, taking injections that may prolong his life in his fight against cancer, was reported today to be resting comfortably and not in pain.

Dr. Ralph Tompsett, chief of internal medicine at Baylor University Medical Center, issued this bulletin:

"Mr. Sam Rayburn had a fairly good night. He is awake and alert. He seems comfortable and complains of no pain. A few minutes ago he was sitting up in bed having his breakfast. There is no change in his condition."

Rayburn is being given an experimental drug called "5-fluorouracil." He received the first injection yesterday, will get another today and, if all goes well, will receive daily injections for around two weeks.

It will be several days, Dr. Tompsett said, before it is known whether the drug produces undesirable side effects.

Typical bad effects: Nausea, vomiting, changes in blood pressure or in the blood count.

The drug is not a cure, but it may halt the spread of cancer.

Rayburn appears to be doing about as well as can be expected. Each medical bulletin has said "rather fairly comfortably" or "ate reasonably well."

Rayburn is eating what he likes, and yesterday had one of his favorite foods: Honey.

Eminent politicians continue to drop by.

Victim Disputes Charges Prosecutor Says Doctor Gave Wife Poison Shot

Port Orchard, Wash., Oct. 9 (AP)—Dr. Robert E. Boehme, 41, accused of injecting poison into his wife's arm, was to be arraigned today on a charge of first degree assault with intent to kill.

His wife, Dorothy, 34, said she would leave hospital bed to be at his side.

Boehme was freed on $25,000 bond after his arrest Saturday. An attractive nurse, Mrs. Mary Boehme, 28, Annapolis, Wash., was arrested as a material witness, and released on $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Boehme was married to the doctor's brother, Jack, an Oregon State University pharmacy student, for about three years. They were divorced in 1959.

Prosecutor Gordon Walgren said Dr. Boehme is accused of injecting poison into his wife's arm with a blood-sampling syringe Sept. 20.

Mrs. Dorothy Boehme called the charge "preposterous."

The doctor said his wife had been a diabetic for about 20 years, and recently suffered from hepatitis, an inflammation of the liver, "I love my wife," he said. "To say that I would try to destroy her is fantastic."

The couple has two sons, aged 8 and 10.

The involved case took another twist when the prosecutor said he and Mrs. Mary Boehme had filed an application for a marriage license June 22.

Walgren, himself divorced and now engaged to another woman,

Red Envoy Battles Amsterdam Police As Tourist Defects

Amsterdam, Oct. 9 (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Panteleimon K. Ponomarev and several of his staff were involved in a fight with Dutch Military Police at Amsterdam Airport today.

The scuffle came in a dispute over the passport of a Russian tourist, Mrs. Alexei Golub, whose husband bolted from a party of tourists and asked asylum Saturday.

The wife of the 35-year-old chemical engineer was taken by two Soviet officials to a Soviet airline waiting at Amsterdam airport.

Then Soviet officials stormed into the airport police office demanding her passport.

The chief of the police detachment had to hand it over until he had talked with Mrs. Golub to make sure she was returning to Russia of her own free will.

Witnesses at the airport said a fight then broke out in the police office, in which about six Soviet embassy officials, includ-

West Split on Berlin Aims U.S. Seeks to Get Allies Support New Red Talks

London, Oct. 9 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko plans a stop in London tomorrow en route home from the United States and Foreign Secretary Lord Home hastily made arrangements to meet him.

Gromyko's decision to visit London, coming after his fruitless talks with President Kennedy in Washington, surprised and puzzled British diplomats.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Kennedy administration hopes to persuade U.S. allies in the next two or three weeks to go along with further exploratory talks with Russia on the possibility of negotiating a compromise settlement of the Berlin crisis.

Western consultations are expected to move forward on several fronts, including discussions among State Department officials and the ambassadors of Britain, France and West Germany.

One step in that process was scheduled today as Secretary of State Dean Rusk arranged to meet with his chief advisers on Soviet and German affairs.

Invited to a working luncheon in the secretary's office were:

VIOLET NEAR TOKYO
Tokyo, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Central Meteorological Agency reported tonight that Typhoon Violet has changed course slightly and likely will spare the heavily populated Tokyo region its full fury. Weather reports, nevertheless, indicated the capital and surrounding regions will be buffeted by winds up to 95 m.p.h. in the next 24 hours, plus torrential rains. The agency said in an 1: p.m. report that Violet's center winds had decreased from 145 m.p.h. to 134 m.p.h., but warned that its radius of 175 miles would cause it to envelop some of the Tokyo region, in which more than 10 million people live.
