Connecticut Yankee

By A. B. O.

It is being considered perhaps the major news of the Connecticut week. The Connecticut Yankee, Richard Lee of New Haven, running for his fifth term, should have been the only by a sharply reduced majority.

We submit that, regarding all the circumstances, it should perhaps be proclaimed a miracle that Lee won at all.

First, the nature of his Republican opposition. As of this date, the Democratic, had for several years been casting his various kinds in the direction of his supporters, the Republicans. In the course of time, it seemed that he had hooked and brought to net one of the most brilliant and capable of his supporters, the late Senator, John F. Kennedy.

Another was a question about equal rights for women, designed to win publicity for the questioner, a lady correspondent.

The third question invited the President to use his personal influence to save a particular school teacher, out in Columbus, Ind., from being called to Army service.

Another question was about the President's financial responsibility for the Vietnam war. It was a question about the President's financial responsibility for the Vietnam war.

Solar Approach Possible For Asteroid Hitchhikers

By DR. J. M. LEVITT, DIRECTOR OF THE PLANETARIUM

The use of one of the minor planets or asteroids as a "vehicle" to scout the planet Mercury, and the sun is the exciting possibility of such a mission, as proposed by Dr. J. M. LeVitt, Director of the Planetarium.

Mercury, in 1968 it will come within 3,000,000 miles of the earth, only 400,000 miles short of its closest approach. In the same year, Mercury will be within 1,000,000 miles of the sun.

While it is quite likely that probes can and will be used for investigation of these two bodies, it may well be that a manned expedition aboard an asteroid could photograph the surface of both the sun and Mercury.

Electromagnetic and particle radiations could be explored. The shape and texture of Mercury's surface could be studied, as could the temperature of the planet.

These scientists indicate that the prime factor in using an asteroid is the advantage which can be taken of its tremendous speed. The use of a rocket launch vehicle to place the probe in orbit in astronomy. To do this a transponder and transmitter would be placed on the asteroid—the technology has been explored. Western ambassadors had talked with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at a Kremlin reception Tuesday. They learned from Berlin that the Soviet stand on Berlin did not indicate any basic change in policy or add up to a presentation of specific proposals for a settlement of the Berlin problem.

Deservedly Special

In the next war, if it were to be so suddenly foolish as to permit itself, one being in uniform and in a position of responsibility, should be the safer role, and that of the ordinary civilian the more quickly and more completely to experience so far, and particularly for this country of ours, it has been the civilian who reposed most confidence in our government.

It is the civilian who has borne the brunt of our wars, and it is the civilian who has paid the price of our freedom.

It is the civilian who has been the victim of our mistakes, and it is the civilian who has been the beneficiary of our successes.

There is always the "woman's angle" to a situation, it appears. Last Monday, retiring board of education chairman Atty. Harold W. Garrity was lauded for his work with the board during the past two years, as new chairman Christie F. McCormick took up the post.
After several male board members and finished praising Garrity's work, one female member added:
"And I would like to say, Harold, that I've enjoyed sitting next to you during these past two years."
And that note of thanks was just as gratefully received as the others, too.

What's Up, Doc?
Last Saturday a small foreign car pulled into the driveway of the 8th District firehouse. The firehouse doors were open. A Manchester doctor nonchalantly stepped out of the car and stroled into the firehouse.
One fireman, obviously concerned about a car being parked in front of the firehouse doors, said, "Hey, doc, how long are you gonna be there?"
"Just long enough for you to put out a fire in the bucket seat," said the doctor just a nonchalantly as his stroll.
And he wasn't kidding!!

The Rev. Joseph Kukulons performed the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial Mass. Miss Margaret Flynn was organist.
The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Leon Genetti, wore a pearl-toned satin gown with fitted bodice, Alencon lace trimmed Sabrina neckline, and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt, also trimmed with Alencon lace, terminated in a chapel train. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was arranged on a crown of crystals and pearls. She carried a cascade of stephanotis. The bride presented a bouquet of white carnations and pompons at the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.
Miss Sandra Parkus of Hazleton, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Sheila Kennedy and Miss Marion McHale, both of Hazleton, were bridesmaids. The flower girls were Louise Ann Genetti, of La Porte Pa., cousin of the bride, and Joy Droppa of Bridgeport, Conn., cousin of the bridegroom.
All the attendants wore romance blue beau de soie floor-length gowns, designed with fitted bodices, scooped necklines and dropped sleeves. Two cabbage roses were attached to the back of the waistlines. The skirts were bell-shaped with inverted box pleats. They wore matching circular face veils, matching slippers, and long white gloves. Each carried star cascades of white feathered mums interspersed with blue roses.
Arthur Young of Hazleton, twin brother of the bride, served as best man. Ronald Cook and Terrence Cunningham, both of Manchester, were ushers.
Mrs. Young wore a candlelight brocade ensemble with mink colored accessories, and a yellow orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a Wedgewood brocade ensemble with matching accessories, white gloves, and a white orchid corsage. The grandmothers of the bride couple wore corsages of white roses.
A wedding dinner and reception for 125 guests was held at Genetti's Pennsylvania Room immediately following the ceremony. An evening reception was held for 250 relatives and out-of-town guests at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Genetti Sr., Hazleton.
For a motor trip to New York City and Manchester, Mrs. Lynchok wore a brown wool suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. The couple will make their home in Santa Ana, Calif.

Stress Put On Training Of Teachers

If the people who know most about the schools have their way, the education of teachers may soon be as rigorous and as lengthy as the education of doctors and lawyers, according to the National Education Association.
The NEA said, "...some of the most influential education leaders in the country appear to be of similar mind on two things: That the only route to higher quality education is through higher quality teachers, and that drastic changes need to be made in teacher education programs."
"One important change, most feel, would be the requirement that prospective teachers be well educated in the sciences, humanities and social science as well as trained in methods of teaching," the association said.
The "musts" for healing schisms in education have been outlined by G. K. Hodenfield, an education reporter for the Associated Press and T. M. Stinnett, assistant executive secretary for professional development and welfare of the NEA.
They include:
1. Involving the whole college or university, not its school of education alone, in search for producing good teachers.
2. Encouraging liberal arts professors to serve as resource persons for overhauling curriculum or lifting the quality of teachers in secondary and elementary schools.
3. Emphasizing the professional aspects of teacher preparation by strengthening programs on "how to teach."
4. Making teacher education programs flexible, so that students may deviate from their regular courses and still be judged competent to teach, possibly through proficiency examinations.
5. Making certification requirements more flexible, again possibly through proficiency examinations.
6. Putting a brake on "mushrooming" courses, often built more upon the interests of professors than on the needs of students.

Documentary to Show Era of Silent Films

By M. GRAY
Lon Chaney perches on the parapet of Notre Dame...

For approximately three decades, millions of men, women and children were fascinated witnesses to the above events that took place when the movies were silent...

It was these audiences—many of whom could barely afford the nickel and dime admission fees—personally changed, by their devoted attendance, a kaleidoscopic form of entertainment called the nickelodeon into the motion picture—America's only genuine art form.

Between 1903 and 1927—or, specifically, between "The Great Train Robbery," the first movie with a plot, and "The Jazz Singer," the first sound film—silent pictures were the most popular entertainment in the country.

Movies were shown in stores that had been hastily turned into theaters as the silent picture craze caught on, and producers, both of the serious and fly-by-night variety, switched from New York, as the production center, to Hollywood.

Then in 1927 Al Jolson told the world "You ain't heard nothin' yet" and it was suddenly all over—or appeared to be for many of the fabled stars, directors and producers who had made vast fortunes from the "silents."

Two years ago two young Hollywood television producers got to brooding about the fact that of this truly distinctive American creative period, there was no complete filmed history.

...silent movie history—had to be made.

The finished product of their joint efforts at producing a comprehensive study of that star-studded era—on an off camera—is an hour-long documentary called "Hollywood: The Golden Years," which will be shown over the NBC television network on Wednesday, Nov. 29.

The documentary includes scenes from 22 silent movies which the producers feel catch the spirit of the times and features cameo shots of 63 stars as they appear in public and in private.

Narration for the documentary is handled by actor-dancer-singer-director Gene Kelly, a dedicated admirer of the silent era.

Kelly does more than skim the surface with flashback photos and light dialogue. He relates how the early producers fled to California to be near the Mexican border in case of lawsuits and need escape the combine established by Thomas Edison which was determined to put them out of business.

He tells how the pressure groups attacked the "immorality" of Hollywood life and how three real scandals resulted in a self-imposed censorship move by the industry.

Wolper explains his frank script by saying: "If we were going to show a 'here's how it really was history' then we had to tell the whole story, the good and the bad."

For Wolper and Haley, 27-year-old son of the well known comedian, "Hollywood: The Golden Years" was a labor of love—but there were many incidents of "labor" pains.

"We started with 1,000,000 feet of film and cut it down to 4,600 feet," explained Wolper, highly regarded for his creative technical documentaries such as "The Race For Space" and "Project: Man In Space."

"Our finished product was filmed in complete co-operation with Motion Picture Producers Association," says Wolper, "and it is the first presentation of its kind to receive full co-operation from all major studios."

Exhausting searches were made for certain films only to find they had been the victims of indifference and old age.

"It's a crying shame," added Haley, "that so many great films—Lon Chaney's 'Phantom of the Opera' for instance—were allowed to deteriorate. We feel we have alerted many people who own old films to get new prints made."

The production teams figure they have a coup in rare films of Garbo when she was doing commercials for a Stockholm baker; Gloria Swanson returning to the U.S. with her new husband, a French Marquis; Chaplin showing Douglas Fairbanks how to do the famed Chaplin walk, and the legendary D. W. Griffith the G.I.s sisters.

"Birth of a Nation," "The Gold Rush," "The Jazz Singer," "King of Kings," "Great Train Robbery," "The Shiek" and many others.

The silent stars shown include Theda Bara, Clara Bow, Carole Lombard, Tom Mix, Will Rogers, William S. Hart, Ben Turpin and Rin Tin Tin, just to name a very few.

Hollywood on TV

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Hollywood—(NEA)—The corpse came up the gangplank and was lifted into a waiting coroner's truck. Perry Mason couldn't be far away.

He arrived a few minutes later, glancing sharply at a little man loitering on the waterfront. Then Perry went down the same gangplank the blanket wrapped corpse had just come up.

Perry Mason's latest "case" had brought him to the Newport Beach-Balboa Bay yacht harbor for location scenes aboard a yacht. Raymond Burr knows his role so well by now that he soon came up the gangplank and we went to lunch. The "corpse" also got up and went to lunch. Wearing a smile, yet.

With Perry around, even the corpse knows the killer hasn't a chance.

Raymond Burr reads a luncheon menu as fast as he reads clues in the eyes of sexy blondes. In less time than it takes him to say, "Della, my brief case," he was telling us how he beat David Niven and Mike Todd by 62 days. "I went around the world in 18 days," he chuckled.

It was CBS' idea to publicize the Perry Mason Show, which is now seen in Australia, Japan, England, Sweden, Italy and Germany. "You should hear me in Italian," Burr said. "An actor named Mario Colli dubs my voice for Italy. We sound practically the same."

The thought of Perry Mason arguing a case in Japanese was hilarious enough to us, but even in cherry blossom land they love the man who never loses. Mason is No. 1 show in Tokyo.

As he retraced his giant steps, moving almost as fast as a spaceman, the days added up to only 17.

"That's right, I forgot," he grinned. "We lost a day crossing the international date line."

Perry Mason never forgets a minor detail, but Raymond Burr does. We were happy he did, too. It made him more of a normal human.

And he is. TV special in Australia put Burr on-camera as you seldom see him. He was the master of ceremonies as well as a performer and—"I broke loose, I sang and even danced a little."

After five years as Perry Mason no one could blame him, but it doesn't mean that he's stir-crazy. He's arranging more time off each summer for such things as "a movie in which we'll have time to get some quality" (he made one he'd like to forget during a three-week layoff because of the TV writers' strike). But he's one TV star who can whistle while he works.

Unlike many an actor, he doesn't find playing the same role artistically stifling, as they say, or boring, or even dull.

Gene Kelly will hang up his dancing shoes for an evening when he appears as host and narrator of "Hollywood, The Golden Years," a TV special dealing with the wildly colorful days of the silents, to be seen Wednesday, Nov. 29, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. over NBC-TV.

Hollywood on TV

(Continued from Page One) "On the contrary," he said, "I think I have to do more acting, playing the same role. It's a challenge finding things to do. I can't do anything startling, but I can't be dull, either. He's never been dull, that's for sure, and that goes for the entire show. The producers have long since exhausted all of the Eric Stanley Gardner stories, but the famed author still takes a sippy personal interest in the plotting of others."

Musical Planned Thanksgiving Day

The Brothers Four have been added to the cast of "Home for the Holidays," musical variety special starring Gordon MacRae, Patrice Munsel, Carol Haney and Al Hirt, to be presented in color on NBC-TV, Thanksgiving Day (Thursday, Nov. 23, 5:30-8:30 p.m. EST).

The full-hour show will feature music by Harry Sosnik and his orchestra and chorus. Carol Haney will create special choreography for the program which will be produced by Roger Gimbel and directed by Sid Smith.

The Brothers Four, favorites of the college circuit, were first organized as a vocal and instrumental quartet when they were fraternity brothers at the University of Washington. Their best-selling record of "Greenfields" launched them on a series of personal appearances which has taken them, within the past year, to every state of the union and to most of the major colleges and universities. They have made numerous guest appearances on such television programs as the "Bell Telephone Hour," "The Chevy Show" and "The Ed Sullivan Show."

Huntley and Brinkley were selected as "Closeup" targets because of their work on the "Huntley-Brinkley Report," "Chet Huntley Reporting," "David Brinkley's Journal" and special NBC News programs.

Pinney in Lead For May's Post

Hartford, Nov. 13 (AP)—Hartford County members of the Republican State Central Committee by a vote of 11-1, this afternoon endorsed former House Leader A. Searle Pinney of Brookfield as successor to resigned GOP State Chairman Edwin H. May Jr.

The resolution endorsing Pinney for the chairmanship over James E. Bent of West Hartford was offered by Committee Chairman W. Sheffield Cowles of Farmington.

Hartford, Nov. 13 (AP)—Former House Leader A. Searle Pinney of Brookfield today appeared to hold overwhelming support in Hartford county as a successor to resigned GOP State Chairman Edwin H. May Jr.

As Hartford County members of the GOP State Central Committee gathered at the Hotel Bond this noon to discuss the filling of the vacancy, there were reports that Pinney was strongly favored over Republican Town Chairman James E. Bent of West Hartford.

A canvass showed that if a vote is taken at today's meeting, Bent will only have the backing of State Central Committeeman Howard E. Hausman of New Britain and possibly a few others.

This could have a key bearing on selection of a new state chairman to be made at a meeting of the 71 members of the State Central Committee tomorrow night.

If Pinney gains the backing of a majority of the Hartford County members of the committee, as expected, this could have a psychological reaction around the state.

It would mean that a Fairfield County candidate for the chair-

Envoy Biddle Dies at 64 of Heart Attack

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., a society sportsman who carved himself an illustrious career in diplomacy and soldiering, died today at the age of 64.

Biddle, ambassador to Spain, had been suffering from lung cancer, but it was announced that a heart attack was the immediate cause of his death at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

President Kennedy and other leaders mourned the passing of the son of a noted Philadelphia family. Kennedy said:

"As a soldier and diplomat in two wars and in other times of crisis, he won the affection and admiration of the international community of free men.

"Our deepest sympathy goes to members of his family. The country will remember with pride his service to it."

State Department press officer Francis W. Tully announced the death. He said the heart attack came after Biddle had shown improvement and "good toleration of the radiation treatment he had been receiving."

He was within a month of celebrating his 65th birthday.

Biddle returned here from Moscow last week.

4 UAC Units Accept New Wage Boosts

East Hartford, Nov. 13 (AP)—Employees at four Pratt & Whitney Aircraft plants and at CANEL in Middletown, all divisions of United Aircraft Corp., have voted to accept wage increase of 6 to 11 cents an hour.

Some 23,000 production workers will be affected by the pay hikes, starting Dec. 4.

The increases were negotiated under a wage reopening clause in the present contract, which have another year to run.

The Pratt & Whitney plants are in East Hartford, Manchester, Meriden and Southington.

The East Hartford, Manchester and Meriden members of the International Association of Machinists voted on the proposal yesterday, while the other units balloted last week.

The pay increases are identical to those granted recently to employees of United Aircraft's Sikorsky Division in Bridgeport and Stratford.

U.S., Britain Bid Peds Renew Test Ban Talk

Ask Parley For Nov. 28 At Geneva

Washington, Nov. 13 (AP)—The United States and Britain in simultaneous notes asked the Soviet Union today to resume nuclear test ban negotiations at Geneva Nov. 28.

There was no immediate indication from Moscow whether the offer would be accepted. Valeriy Zorin, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, indicated last week the chances might be slim. He said a test ban treaty must be worked out within the framework of general disarmament.

The notes were delivered to the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow this morning.

The American proposal said the United States government would consider any other date—in effect meaning any earlier date—the Soviets might propose for opening the talks.

Resumption of the conferences would meet a stipulation laid down by a United Nations resolution calling for new efforts on an agreement to halt testing. The resolution asked for a progress report no later than Dec. 14.

The previous Geneva talks broke up after the Soviet Union resumed nuclear testing Sept. 1. Since then the Soviets have exploded more than 30 nuclear devices and including 25 and 50 megaton superbombs. The United States has tested at least four nuclear devices underground and has made preparations to resume atmospheric tests.

The previous talks bogged down largely over the American and British desire for an agreement with inspection controls and Soviet insistence on handling the stoppage as part of an over-all disarmament agreement.

The U.S. note pointed out that a communique issued when the

Limited World Government

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Hugh B. Hester (ret.) self-described "the monarchical pacifist," says a "limited world government" empowered to back up its edicts is necessary to avert a third world war.

Speaking last night at a "Rally for Peace and Friendship" at Carnegie Hall, the former U.S. Army officer said such a world body is the only means of preventing one nation from attacking another.

"Any rationality of war as a means of settling international disputes" ended when the United States dropped the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima, Hester said.

The rally, attended by about 1,000 persons, was sponsored by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. It was picketed by anti-Communist demonstrators.

Hester, calling for more negotiation and improved communication between East and West, urged full-scale trade with the Soviet Union and increased travel by Americans to Russia.

He said both the United States and the Soviet Union has pictured each other as "monsters," and added:

"These so-called monsters are people, and we are people too. This is a 2-way street."

Hester was applauded when he asked if it was "wise for the United States, in violation of its charter with the United Nations and the Organization of American States and our own domestic laws, to invade Cuba?"

"I'm not attacking anyone," he said. "I'm just asking what it is."

The retired general also called for complete general disarmament with full inspection, saying "We are unable to abolish the institution of war."

Retired General Aims Plan to Prevent War

Bonn to Push Same Policies, Adenauer Says

Hamburg, Germany, Nov. 13 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer says his new Christian Democratic Free Democrat government, formed only after stormy negotiations, "will carry on the same foreign policy that was followed before."

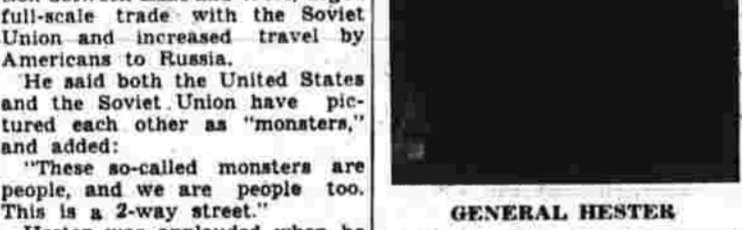

The 85-year-old West German leader gave this pledge last night in Hamburg, where the Socialists increased their usual local lead over his Christian Democrats in a local election.

Speaking on a question-and-answer TV show, Adenauer said "Talk here and there in foreign newspapers about the lack of steadfastness and the unreliability of the German people" is totally wrong. As to western defenses, he said:

"We will fulfill our duties to the utmost."

Adenauer reported he will discuss Berlin, Germany's contributions to the North Atlantic Alliance, and general European issues with President Kennedy when he goes to Washington next Monday.

The chief Berlin angle of the moment is the leakage to western newsmen of a reputed Soviet proposal—never presented formally—

France Cites United West World Peace at Stake In Berlin, NATO Told

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville today warned that the fate of the whole western world is at stake in the Berlin crisis. But he predicted that firmness and unity will preserve western positions and world peace.

"The problem of Berlin is the problem of Germany as a whole, and beyond that, the problem of the future of all western Europe, which itself cannot be divorced from the future of the Atlantic Alliance, that is, of the entire free world," Couve de Murville told the opening of the annual conference of parliament members from the 15 NATO nations.

Citing a "greater sense of solidarity" among the western Big Three, and between them and West Germany and other NATO members, Couve de Murville struck an optimistic note.

"I do not think anything can divide us on essentials," he said. "If we keep together without flinching, there is no reason why we should not safeguard our western positions and preserve the peace of the world."

"We in Europe, and particularly in France," he continued, "have welcomed with satisfaction the considerable efforts made in the direction of strengthening defenses by the government of the United States; in particular, we have noted that these efforts have re-

Four U.S. Jets Find Red Foes Of Vietnamese

Saigon, South Viet Nam, Nov. 13 (AP)—Four U.S. Air Force F101 reconnaissance jets are credited by reliable informants with a powerful assist to South Viet Nam as scouts in its war against Red rebels.

Both Vietnamese sources say the jets, which have been operating from Saigon's International Airport for three weeks, are flying missions to pinpoint photographically the secret bases, staging areas and movements of the Communist Viet Cong troops.

They said highly detailed pictures taken by the jet pilots guided South Vietnamese fighter-bombers in strikes against well-guarded and sometimes almost inaccessible guerrilla installations.

The reports coincided with the arrival of the U.S. Pacific Fleet commander, Adm. John M. Sides, for a one-day visit. Asked if the 7th fleet might be used in Viet Nam if the military situation worsens, Sides replied, "The center of gravity of the 7th Fleet is always near where the most trouble is."

Police could not say why the car went out of control. Dewey was driving alone at the time.

Bus Pact Signed

Bridgeport, Nov. 13 (AP)—A threat of a bus strike against the Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co. ended yesterday with the acceptance of a new contract by the line's 450 drivers, mechanics and office workers.

The pact, retroactive to Oct. 1, provides a 5-cent-an-hour pay increase and will run to Sept. 30, 1962.

A spokesman for the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America said the contract was approved by a two-to-one margin.

The line serves 70,000 bus riders daily in Bridgeport, Waterbury, Norwalk, New Britain and surrounding communities.

The pact also includes a pension

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 13 (AP)—Herchel D. Newson, master of the National Grange, today outlined an 8-point program aimed at solving agriculture's problems of low income and costly crop surpluses.

The program was presented in an address Newson prepared for the 98th annual session of the grange, opening today and scheduled to close Nov. 24.

The eight points were:

- (1) Raise net farm income, rather than lower it.
- (2) Drastically reduce government farm program costs.

Opposes Nikita's Plans Molotov Says 'Nyet' To Purge Questions

Moscow, Nov. 13 (AP)—Former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov disappeared into the secret depths of Soviet society yesterday as if he had been dropped into a well.

Gray and aged, he came from Vienna by train with his gray and aging wife—to face a purge by which the Communist party hopes to wipe out a little more of the memory and a few more of the sins of the Stalin regime.

He came clearly without restraint. Not a public official came to greet him at the train. If he had chosen freedom, he could have remained abroad.

A few plainclothes policemen showed up at the station, but they kept well back of the crowd of western correspondents who came to question Molotov. But the questions were met by the same final "nyet" with which he had beaten back approaches to East-West agreements after World War II.

"Let's change the subject," said Stalin's longtime associate when asked about his reported expulsion from the party and Premier Khrushchev's denunciation of him at the recent Soviet Communist party congress.

"We had a fine trip," said his wife, Paulina. "Many of the passengers came to our compartment to say 'goodbye and good luck.'"

Except for the foreign newsmen, only the couple's daughter, Svetlana, and her husband had been on hand to greet them. But Molotov, now 71, showed no outward concern at the question mark hanging over his future. Seemingly relaxed, he talked with his daughter and son-in-law about their children.

"Now you will be able to go skidding with the children," Mrs. Molotov told her husband.

Not a single Soviet correspondent showed up to report Molotov's arrival. Not a line appeared today in the press about him.

A woman railroad official told that Molotov had just arrived, jumped to the widow in automatic curiosity, then quickly controlled himself and returned impassively at her desk.

Before he left Vienna, Molotov indicated to western correspondents that he might have something to say about the charges made against him in the party Congress that he had participated in many purges of party officials under Stalin. But he has said nothing publicly beyond the letter

Boycott Fails, Salazar Gains 70% of Ballots

Lisbon, Portugal, Nov. 13 (AP)—Premier Antonio Salazar's government reported today that an opposition boycott of yesterday's one-party legislative election failed.

Government spokesmen said that, with the ballots in European Portugal nearly all counted, about 70 per cent of the 13 million eligible voted despite opposition appeals to shun Salazar's National Union candidates.

All opposition candidates withdrew last week, leaving the field clear for the 150 candidates of the National Union. The opposition said the government had made campaigning impossible.

There was no immediate report how many voters cast blank ballots in protest against Salazar's 32-year-old dictatorship.

The chief duties of the legislature are to give formal endorsement to government decrees and to elect the nation's president every seven years.

Opposition sources said the results were not surprising, that the government "controlled" all the voting, and the counting of the votes, and they were able to announce what they wished.

Aside from the distribution of handbills, including a Communist party from a hijacked Portuguese airplane by followers of rebel Capt.

Ethiopia Urges UN Army Take Katanga

United Nations, N. Y., Nov. 13 (AP)—Ethiopia today urged the use of U.N. force to help the Congolese Central Army win back secessionist Katanga Province.

Ethiopian Ambassador Teffaye Gebre-Egze suggested this new assignment for the U.N. force in the Congo as he opened the U.N. Security Council's first debate since February on the Congolese situation.

"The United Nations," he declared, "should help the efforts of the Central Government forces in restoring law and order in the province of Katanga."

Teffaye also said the council should authorize acting Secretary-General U. Thant to use force in getting rid of foreign mercenaries in Katanga.

Without these mercenaries, he said, secessionist leader Moïse Tshombe and foreign interests bolstering him "would crumble."

Congolese Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko, another proponent of U.N. action, also spoke.

"Bomboko" said privately last week he wanted the council to order the U.N. force in the Congo to help the Leopoldville government's army end Katanga's 16-month-old defiance of the Central Government.

Western sources said the United States and Britain feel Katanga must be brought back into the fold by peaceful means only. They also reportedly believe this view is shared by most council members and most countries with troops in the U.N. force.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia called U.N. headquarters Nov. 1 that the council must act decisively "to ensure the integration of Katanga into the Congolese nation." Two days later Ethiopia, Sudan and Nigeria asked for "a council meeting to consider the situation 'caused by the lawless acts of mercenaries' officering the Katanga army and air force."

Western sources said the United States and Britain had been talking with other delegations about a council resolution that would:

1. Affirm the territorial unity of the Congo including Katanga.
2. Welcome the establishment last Aug. 2 of Premier Cyrille Adoula's Central coalition government.
3. Express hope for an end to Katanga's secession by negotiation.
4. Call again for the ouster of

Maker Settles Suits On Faulty Vaccine

Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 13 (AP)—Fifteen suits charging Cutter Laboratories sold faulty anti-polio vaccine have been settled out of court for $1,727,000, Attorney Melvin Bell announced yesterday.

The Berkeley pharmaceutical firm said total settlements to date have exceeded insurance coverage by more than $1 million. The total settlement brought to more than $3 million, the total settlements growing out of charges that some vaccine marketed by Cutter in 1955 contained live polio virus.

In test cases, juries found Cutter innocent of negligence in manufacturing the Salk vaccine, but awarded damages on the ground that the firm breached an implied warranty since the vaccine caused the disease it was designed to prevent.

Originally, 50 suits were filed in behalf of victims seeking more than $10 million. About six cases are pending.

Names of the plaintiffs in the latest settlements were not available.
