Secret Parleys End

France Nears Truce With Algeria Rebels

PARIS (AP)—The French said today secret talks with the Algerian nationalist rebels have ended, raising optimism in Paris and at rebel headquarters in Tunisia that a cease-fire may be near.

A rebel leader arriving in Tunisia from the talks instead of negotiations still are going on and declined to elaborate. But it later was announced that the rebel parliament will meet in Tripoli Wednesday. The French Cabinet meets the same day.

This brought the optimism in Tunisia where it was pointed out that any decision as important as an agreement to end the long rebellion would have to be submitted to the rebel parliament for approval. Should parliament raise objections, more talks with the French may be necessary, a dispatch from Tunisia said.

A French announcement said the conclusions will be brought before the government. The three-man negotiating team arrived in Paris from the talks and met at once with President Charles de Gaulle.

Arriving at his headquarters in Tunisia from the talks with the French, rebel Foreign Minister Saad Dahlab told reporters: "Negotiations are going on in very good conditions."

Dahlab declined to elaborate. While his statement did not appear to rule out the possibility of a cease-fire soon, it indicated further contacts with the French are necessary before final agreement can be announced.

The full rebel government is expected to meet soon to discuss the secret talks. It also was thought likely the rebels would call a meeting of their parliament, the National Council of the Algerian Revolution, which must have a say on any peace accord.

Buller, diplomatic quarters in Paris expressed belief the wording of the French announcement indicated an agreement had been reached for ending the nearly 7½-year-old rebellion.

With a feeling of optimism prevailing in Paris, the price of gold fell off slightly. Frenchman usually sell gold when the political outlook takes a favorable turn.

Louis Joxe, French minister for Algerian affairs and chief negotiator, arrived in Paris to make his report to De Gaulle. Joxe was accompanied by Premier Michel Debre, and his two fellow negotiators, Sahara Minister Jean de Broglie and Public Works Minister Robert Buron, on his visit to the president.

A French spokesman confirmed for the first time what was generally known all along, that the secret talks had taken place Feb. 11-18. He said they were held on French soil. It was believed the two sides met near the Swiss border.

Joxe and two other French ministers met with rebel Vice Premier Belkacem Krim, Foreign Minister Saad Dahlab and two other Algerian rebel officials.

The Algerians had left their Tunisia headquarters Feb. 10 to meet the French at a secret location.

Throughout the week optimism reigned both in Paris and Tunis over progress of the talks. But over the weekend there was a note of pessimism with reports from Tunisia that difficulties had cropped up.

7th Volunteers Spread Terror In Middletown

Troops from the Seventh Manchester Colonial Volunteers braved withering musketry fire and frigid surf yesterday to hit the beach at Middletown in a determined bid to wrest trading concessions for Manchester's George Washington Birthdays Sale on Thursday.

Led by Gen. Joe Garman and his small band of trusted lieutenants—all veteran campaigners of past commercial wars—wave after wave of the colonially garbed youths scrambled through the snow covered fields, bent on striking terror in the hearts of Middletown merchantmen.

Losses were heavy on both sides in heavy fighting around Ye Olde Middletown Chambers of Commerce and its East Indian stores last Friday. The rioting left six dead, scores injured and $11 million property damage.

Jagan, an East Indian himself, gets most of his support from East Indian farmers and workers outside Georgetown. Negroes generally support Forbes Burnham, leader of the People's National Congress party, whom Jagan defeated in last August's election.

Tensions relaxed somewhat Sunday night, with the announcement of labor leaders that they had called off their week-long strike.

The back-to-work call came after the union leaders met three and a half hours with Jagan. One negotiator said Jagan agreed to a series of demands.

A terse radio announcement said the unions, grouping civil servants, government employees and primary schoolteachers, had agreed to return to work with the Trade Union Council also recommending its 12,000 strikers to return to work.

SNET Will Not Appeal

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Southern New England Telephone Co. will not appeal the refusal of the State Public Utilities Commission to approve rate increases averaging 7.5 per cent.

The company announced yesterday in a statement it did not think much would be achieved by such an action. It added that it could not agree with some of the PUC's regulatory concepts in the board's decision on the rate request.

SNETCO had asked for additional annual revenue of $11.8 million in the proposed increases.

However, this was turned down by the commission which said the level of earnings requested by the company is substantially in excess of that which is required.

In its statement SNETCO said it would follow through on the PUC's decision and file amendments to its schedules of rates and charges to:

- Discontinue offering four-party service to new subscribers in exchange for the number of party subscribers is less than three per cent.
- Make a monthly charge for semi-public coin telephones instead of the present daily guarantee plan.
- Reclassify exchanges into 10 groups and advance Bridgeport to group 8 and Thompsonville and Westport to group 9.
- Extend certain base rates.

Labor Leaders End Strike in British Guiana

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—An uncertain peace settled on this tropical capital today after a siege of rioting, looting and burning. Labor leaders called off their general strike against leftist Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan, but his East Indian followers were reported plotting reprisals in the hinterlands.

British armed forces, hurriedly flown from Jamaica and London on appeal from Jagan, were braced for trouble, although fire-blackened Georgetown was quiet.

British officials said Sunday night more troops were due in today to reinforce those that arrived Friday and Saturday.

The situation remained tense until it could be determined whether workers would obey their union leaders' call to return to their jobs.

Racial tensions between Negroes and East Indians ran high after rioting Negro mobs burned a half-mile square of Georgetown's business center and its East Indian stores last Friday. The rioting left six dead, scores injured and $11 million property damage.

Jagan, an East Indian himself, gets most of his support from East Indian farmers and workers outside Georgetown. Negroes generally support Forbes Burnham, leader of the People's National Congress party, whom Jagan defeated in last August's election.

Offers Plan To Prevent Recession

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today sent to Congress legislation to give him power to trigger up to $2 billion of public works projects in the early stage of any business slump.

In an accompanying letter Kennedy said the standby authority would be "an invaluable anti-recession tool."

It would permit a speedup of authorized federal projects and provide grant and loan funds for the states to activate their own high-priority improvements, Kennedy said without the necessity of waiting for congressional action which "may be too late."

The standby plan, part of the three-point program urged by Kennedy in his economic message Jan. 22, has been hailed by most Democrats but attacked by Republicans as a potential invasion of congressional authority.

The other requested measures were the standby power to reduce income taxes subject to veto by Congress and permanently enlarged unemployment benefits.

Kennedy said he would permit the government to act "more promptly, more flexibly and more forcefully to stabilize the economy."

The administration bill set out a formula which would permit the President to start the work program. He could move when unemployment had risen in three out of four, or four out of six consecutive months by not less than one percentage point, and after the

Glenn Relaxed, Ready to Try Orbit Tuesday

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A brightening weather picture buoyed hopes today that astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., will be launched toward a round-the-earth orbit Tuesday after months of delays.

At a morning briefing, Project Mercury officials reported "generally improved conditions" in the Atlantic recovery areas where Marine Lt. Col. Glenn's capsule would descend.

The first half of a split two-day countdown was started at 2:30 a.m. The precount was finished at 8 a.m. with both the Atlas booster rocket and Friendship 7 spacecraft described as in "go" condition.

Officials were shooting for a launch between 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The weather outlook in the Cape Canaveral vicinity gave officials some concern. A cold front preceded by a squall line was advancing into northern Florida this morning. This could leave lingering cloudiness in the cape area, possibly delaying the shot for the 15th time.

However, officials were hopeful holes could be found in the clouds through which the rocket could be fired.

A complete check of the weather was due for about midnight tonight, after which officials were to make a preliminary decision.

In Air Space, Reds Want Allied Planes Fly Corridor to Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Allied aircraft flew through the north corridor from Berlin today to counter renewed Soviet pressure on the vital air lanes, informed sources said.

Military and commercial transports thrummed through the Berlin-Hamburg corridor over Communist East German territory, the informants said.

The Western operation was designed to assert Allied rights in face of the renewal of harassing tactics by the Red air force.

Western commanders gave orders to harass Soviet aircraft flying liberally below the level the Soviets want for their exclusive use for a three-hour period.

For the seventh time since it started harassing Western airliners to Berlin on Feb. 7, the Soviet air force told the Berlin Air Safety Center Sunday night it was reserving air space up to 7,500 feet in the north corridor leading to Berlin from Hamburg.

Allied control officers rejected the Soviet flight plan and ordered military transports to stand by.

The Soviet move came after a weekend pause in the Berlin air crisis. Sunday morning, Moscow announced it had rejected a Western proposal that maneuvering of the Red air force in the corridors were dangerous and illegal.

The Allies insist that air safety rules, in force for 17 years, require notification of each individual flight through the three 20-mile wide corridors linking Berlin with Frankfurt, Hannover and Hamburg.

The Western powers charged the Russians were trying to change the rules by making "block bookings" for the Red air force. The Allies do not dispute Soviet contentions the Red air force "has equal rights in the corridors but they insist on carrying out the safety rules."

The Allies complained to the Kremlin that Soviet jet fighters bombed Western aircraft in the corridors last week.

Officials said it would take several days to get a complete casualty list of the toll taken by the slowly receding waters which left the area looking like a battlefield.

The search was stepped up as several special units were brought in to comb the flood areas. More than 100 helicopters were flying supply and evacuation missions.

'Lost' Woman Balks at Toll, Accepts Jail

HARTFORD (AP)—A Hartford woman spent the night in jail rather than pay a 25-cent toll at the Charter Oak Bridge.

It was a matter of principle, Mrs. Edith White, 65, of C-47 Overlook Ter., accompanied by her two children, said she refused to pay the toll Sunday afternoon.

Her intention was to use the toll-free Bulkeley Bridge but Mrs. White lost her way among the detours bordering the Connecticut River, in the area where the highway construction work is progressing.

That's how Mrs. White turned up at the toll booth on Oak Bridge toll station and why she felt it was unjust to pay a toll.

Argument failed to sway her and Troop H, Hartford, of the State Police was finally notified.

Trooper Joseph Krajewski arrested Mrs. White on a charge of evasion of toll. He told her the bond would be only $5 for her appearance in court but Mrs. White refused to put this up also. Off she went to the Hartford State Jail with her two dog.

The dogs were taken to Mrs. White's home later and this morning Mrs. White was taken to Circuit Court H, East Hartford, to face the consequences of her standing on principle.

U.S., Thai to Push Laos Peace Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. and Thai officials today agreed to continue their efforts to bring about a settlement of the Laos crisis peacefully, U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today.

Kennedy, here on a whirlwind 22½ hour visit during his world tour, spent more than an hour in private conversation with Thai Prime Minister Marshal Sarit Thanarat, with Laos as one of their major topics.

In brief comments to newsmen after the meeting in Sarit's office, Kennedy said, "We are hoping Thailand and the United States—that the matter can be resolved in Laos in a satisfactory manner. We are both in accord on efforts being made" to reach a settlement.

He declined, however, to be pinned down on whether his reference to efforts meant a U.S.-supported move to form a coalition government with the Pathet Lao.

Will Bobby Become Brother's Adviser?

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ally Gen. Robert Kennedy's world tour has revived speculation that sometime later the President's brother may move to the White House to expand his operations as presidential adviser.

Although those accompanying the attorney general have tried to make it clear he isn't armed with specific diplomatic powers, Kennedy has not hesitated to wade directly into ticklish international waters.

Kennedy's blunt weekend declaration to Indonesians that they would be crazy to think the United States will drop its neutral attitude and oppose the Dutch in Indonesia's claim to West New Guinea apparently illustrated the confidence he has that he reflects accurately the President's views.

Republicans already have begun to depict Kennedy's trip as a kind of training mission for him to become what a few of them call a super secretary of state. Others have hinted that the younger Kennedy already is beginning to prepare himself to bid for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1968.

While they can only guess about any such developments, the Republicans have shown that they are assaying line-by-line everything the attorney general says.

They obviously are searching for some major booby that goes beyond the attorney general's statement in Jakarta that the 1846-48 war with Mexico was unjustified and not a very bright page in American history.

LECLERC FUNERAL HOME FUNERAL SERVICE WALTER N. LECLERC, Director Call MI 9-5869 23 Main Street, Manchester

Point of View HISTORY DOES REPEAT In our 57 years in business, we have seen scores of Connecticut companies grow to importance... some to national importance. In many instances the stockholders of these companies have been richly rewarded for their loyalty to local enterprises. But this is not merely something of the past. History does, and probably will, repeat. We know right now of potential growth situations here in Connecticut which are worthy of your investigation. If you'd like to know about them, drop in or call.

Town firemen will call at the Watkins-West Funeral Home, 142 E. Center St., tonight at 7 to pay respects to the late John S. Gordon, a former member.

Pat-Matrons Association, Temple Chapter, O.E.S., will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. Henry Thornton.

Manchester harbor shops will be closed Thursday this week but will remain open other days.

Meeting Canceled By Country Club The meeting of the Manchester Country Club membership tonight has been canceled again because of weather.

The Newcomers Club will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Cavesy's Restaurant.

League to Study Trade and Tariff

This nation's trade and tariff policies will be the subject of two meetings of the Manchester League of Women Voters tomorrow morning and Wednesday night.

Tomorrow's meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Halja Buchanan, 57 Constance Dr., at 8 a.m. Mrs. Austin Cheney, 36 Hartford Rd., will be hostess for the meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The role of import and export trade in American domestic economy and foreign relations will be discussed by Mrs. Michele Zilberstein tomorrow and Dr. Ann Beck at the Wednesday session.

Mrs. Thomas Danovian and Mrs. Paul Hillery will discuss conflicts in the pressures on congressmen from groups asking for high protective tariffs and others who believe fewer trade restrictions are in the nation's best interest.

The plan concerns the purchase of the country club of land, now owned by the town, for the purpose of establishing the club to revert to a private status.

The land has been appraised at $200,000 by the Carroll and Driggs firm of East Hartford. General Manager Richard Martin suggested the appraisal be made after the club expressed a desire to buy the land last June.

Skating Report

No public ice skating will be permitted at any of the park department maintained areas today or tonight, due to the snow.

However, skating will be allowed daily from 8:30 to 10 o'clock at Mt. Nebo.

Special Meeting Slated by Board

There will be a special meeting of the board of directors Friday at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building.

The water main extension would be made on Spring St., Wyllys St., and Glen Rd. The $60,000 would come from the water department's capital improvement reserve fund.

Officers Seated By WWI Vets

James Walker, 366 Hartford Rd., and Mrs. Alphonse Berbery, 13 Arch St., were installed as commander and president of Manchester Veterans of World War I and his auxiliary, at the VFW Home yesterday.

More than 200 members and guests attended the installation. Dr. and Mrs. John D. Grogan, past commander and president, Nathan Hale district 1, and their team installed the new officers.

Congressman-at-large Frank Kovalicki spoke to the group on "Legislation Affecting Veterans."

He blamed older veterans for not being foresighted enough when the social security bill was formulated, to make certain it included medical care for the aged.

He said that the aged veterans of today were in their prime when the bill was passed and took little heed of the fact that they themselves would need help as they grew older.

The Congressman urged veterans, their friends and relatives to write to their Congressman and to a member of the House Veterans Affairs Committee in Washington immediately.
