55 MILL TAX RATE IN 1967 AWAITS YOU By Rogers

The Herald on figures released at City hall recently said the tax rate in 1967 would be a little more than 55 mills. I have figured with a statistician (not Dr. Moran) present, town commitments, projected expenditures, amortization and interest on present and proposed new bond issues and I say Mr. Taxpayer your tax in 1967 will be 55 mills. A mill is one-tenth of a cent. On each $10 thousand evaluation that means your tax bill will be $550. No double-talk, no tongue in cheek, no attempt to confuse you, but I'm giving it to you straight.

Before I go further I direct the attention of every voter in Manchester, republican or democratic, that John F. Shea, chairman of the republican town committee, makes into the columns of The Herald to defend everything the board of directors do which means that he must have been denigrating me and voter to the directors all of the time. He will shortly seek re-election as a representative. If you vote for him your tax rate ought to jump to 100 mills.

I publicly challenge Shea to cite one bill he introduced which was for tax relief for any group. Of course, Representative Riker was ill most of the session and I doubt that he knows about any of the bills. Mr. Riker says he is not even going to attend the state convention. When the board of directors dropped the move to have that monstrously removed from Depot square when Town Counsel LeClaire by the silliest decision I ever read, temporarily thwarted my efforts to help Depot square lose an oppressor, I turned to Governor Dempsey and asked him to use his good offices. He has already started without consulting either the board of directors or LeClaire and other moves are in the works. I'll lift the town up by tearing down the railroad station.

Mrs. Katherine Bourne says service on the board of directors should be given cheerfully without compensation. She's right. I spent out of my own pocket in the years I headed up state commissions more than $20,000. The internal revenue refused me any credit on my income tax, saying this was a gift to the state. Knowing first-hand what I spent on one occasion, a Connecticut governor sent to me, out of his contingent fund, a check for $2,700. I tore it up and returned the pieces.

I just said The Herald $735 in presenting facts to awaken taxpayers in the last couple of weeks.

Of course, I'm rather dumb when it comes to governmental economics. I warned 3 weeks ago that automation was to take a frightful toll in re-adjustment. To say nothing of the hundreds of millions to be paid to unemployment during the installation of machine labor for man labor. President Kennedy has already received $45 million worth which to train for new jobs more than one million men thrown out-of-work by automation. And Mr. Taxpayer, you who are working are going to pay that bill.

This is aside from the common world market which will throw many more millions out of work during the transition or adjustment period.

That is the reason I warned town officials to go very slow in even considering the unnecessary expenditure of $1. That is the reason I now warn the taxpayers to vote "no" thousands of times over on any appropriation we do not need now. The old argument that "what we ask is but a pittance" amounts to less than one hundredth of a mill, but an attempt to brainwash the taxpayers.

Shortly, I will spend a few more dollars in warning you taxpayers to keep a tight hold on the clasp of your pocketbooks if you don't want your homes plastered with increased mortgages. And notwithstanding that Martin LaBelle and LeClaire would play down the new library addition costs and the way in which the contracts have been handled I'm going to play the whole situation up more than ever at another governmental economic seminar at Wadsworth school, Friday, March 23. LaBelle and LeClaire may attend the meeting and let's see who's who in Manchester when it comes to understanding the town government in all of its ramifications.

Of course, I'm afraid of town managers, state's attorneys, and town councilors. Yeah.

Food Mart--First Discount Food Store in This Area

By KEVINNE G. ABRAHAM, General Manager, Food Mart

Ours is the first discount food store in the Greater Hartford area.

Simply said: We offer the lowest prices in town for good food. At Food Mart, every day is a low price day. We sell a complete variety of national brands. We sell the best of quality in our meat and produce departments.

Now, let's talk about quality control for a few minutes. What do we at Food Mart do to maintain a consistent level of quality?

First in the Grocery department, quality is controlled almost exclusively in the buying. Now you know that there are a variety of grades of groceries, most modern super markets today carry two or three grades with a price differential on each item. This leaves the control of quality exclusively to the customer.

In the Perishable department, this is not the case. The maintenance of quality lies directly in the responsibility of the seller.

In the Meat department, quality begins with the buyer who selects the company, depending again on the approval of the company, and what level of merchandise they choose to carry—the selection is made at that point.

In our Company, we select and buy nothing but top quality choice meats. Our buyer appears at the market, and selects the choicest cuts from shipments into the city.

We also buy directly from the west, we have made arrangements with two suppliers who ship us full carcasses of cattle and pork, and this is a pre-determined quality which these people know about, and which is natural to the animal basis. The same act of fact is followed in the produce department, where individual selections are made by our buyer.

Now, when the merchandise arrives at the store it is again examined by the receiver, every item, but every second or third case is checked to see if the basic requirements are met. At that point the merchandise is rejected, and it is returned to the supplier. It goes through its processing, to be cut, or packaged, and the final stage of the line, it is again examined.

The major purpose in this is to get the right people, we must be competitive in the prices we sell. We do this by providing that little bit extra, in your business, if you want premium best, you don't mind paying a cent and a half more. Well, it is the same with people. Paying a little extra, to bring the best people to your door.

We blend our job indoctrination and insistence on performance along with our benefit program. Our fringes must be as good or better than any of our competitors. In trying to do this, we provide insurance programs; business insurance; family policies; company housing; family affairs and atmosphere, only to mention a few.

We see little value to spend a large advertising dollar if it should be creating the wrong image. This is another phase, that we should be continually controlled. Here are a few basic rules that, to create our quality at Food Mart, to create our Advertising Image:

1. We do not attempt to merchandise specials for a profit. As I mentioned before, we do not design a special cut, or special trim

FRINGS VANISH—SAVINGS APPEAR

Needless sales personnel? Home deliveries? Telephone orders? Charge accounts? No, none of those at Topps. Savings have been perpetuated. The Fringe services have been eliminated and the overhead costs are lower at Topps—and the savings are passed right on to shoppers.

TOPPS INTRODUCES New Vitamin Line

Topps Discount City's reputation for high quality at lowest prices now manifests itself in a complete line of vitamins bearing the Topps label.

Formulations similar to most leading national brands are being made available at the Vitamin Center at Topps Discount City. Prices at savings of two-thirds or more can save Greater Hartford people many hundreds of dollars.

The Topps Vitamin Center is probably the largest of its kind in the entire United States. Not only are all of the national brands of vitamins represented and available, but in addition it has the complete line of Phoenix Vitamins which is today one of the leading name vitamin brands in the country.

In addition to the Phoenix Line, Topps is now introducing a complete line of vitamins under the Topps label, thereby bringing to the public every vitamin at prices and savings to suit every pocket book and in the words of a well known authority in the vitamin business, "a department as complete that meets and beats all competition in the vitamin field."

TOPPS BREATHEES Convenience

Topps does not sell convenience. Topps breathes it!

Ideal display racks... specially designed shopping carts... marked departments... convenient check-out counters... services desk for checking prescriptions... and color-coordinated in-store music and color-coordinated in-store lighting.

In every way, it's Topps!

OUT IN THE OPEN—This is a Food Mart policy in handling top-quality meat. Here, with customers looking on at 467 Main St., East Hartford, the meat is carefully wrapped.

Insurance City Pharmacy Issues Senior Citizen Cards

It is a well known accepted adage, supposedly expressed by Mark Twain that "everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it."

Congress and many many organizations in the United States have been talking about the Senior Citizen and the fact that his medical needs are greater, his income is less, and he is thereby in need of special attention.

When Insurance City Pharmacy was founded, the company decided that it was going to do something about it rather than talk about it, and it organized the Senior Citizens Society, a non-profit organization whose members would be entitled to a special price whenever it was possible.

When this policy was announced publicly, it created a tremendous amount of commentary, both complimentary and praise, from senior citizens and from the general public at large.

What this idea was formulated, it was the desire of the Insurance City Pharmacists to render service which would give them a purpose and mission in life other than just being in business.

The mission is giving everyone in the area the best possible service while it is given by the fact that such an extent that the idea has been picked up by several large national organizations.

President Julian Gross says:

"The former office boy now dedicated to helping elderly citizens. Or, The advertising-public relations-broadcasting dynamic now generating ideas to help his fellow man.

"Or, The president of Insurance City Pharmacy, now in Topps Discount City in East Hartford. You don't have to take your job, Julian Gross, actually, is all three.

"He is headquarters in Hartford. He has been in the advertising business since high school days. Gross understands the business. Others say he is an advertising man who made good in business. Even critics agree he is one of the best advertising-merchandising men in this section.

"He often serves as a business consultant on a professional fee basis.

"Though strikingly successful in business ventures, Julian Gross has concentrated all his efforts in the Connecticut area.

"Chatting with him, you feel a strength and assurance of purpose. You have to contribute to mankind to receive," he says.

"My aim is to help our elderly citizens. They deserve every bit we can do for them.

"Associate Commissioner Pauline Frattini, with more than 40 years of experience in computing has been appointed to the staff of Insurance City Pharmacy.

"These persons need assistance."

"To Enjoy Life, One Must Give"

That's why Insurance City Pharmacy helped organize the Senior Citizens Society. Membership to the society entitles members to special prices whenever possible.

He is a selfless enthusiast. He has been a member of Tumblebrook Country Club since 1931. He is a very average golfer, but my wife says he is an excellent one," he says, guaranteeing a warm dinner tonight.

For vacations, Mr. and Mrs. Gross go on cruises. Their favorite island: The Bahamas.

Some colleagues consider Julian Gross a big man—one successful in numerous business enterprises. Others say he is an advertising man who made good in business. Even critics agree he is one of the best advertising-merchandising men in this section.

He often serves as a business consultant on a professional fee basis.

Though strikingly successful in business ventures, Julian Gross has concentrated all his efforts in the Connecticut area.

Meet Store Manager Nat Falk

Smiling Family Makes Him Grin, Too

Nat Falk was excited yesterday when he was busy. Both days were A-OK with him. That's the way it is when you are store manager," says friendly, 44-year-old Nat Falk, top man in Topps Discount City, East Hartford's newest business venture.

Nat was born in New York City (date of Manhattan, to be precise), but Connecticut is nothing new to him.

Of the three Topps stores in the state, he has opened two of them—the one in Fairfield and East Hartford. He has worked in the one in Middletown. He also opened the store in Baltimore, from where he came to his newest assignment.

Nat makes his home in Bridgeport, Conn., with his wife, the former Kate Cooper. They have two children, Gerald, 23, and Bennett, 18, a student at the University of Connecticut.

When not working, Nat relaxes by watching TV, going a little bowling and reading a lot.

Nat's business career began as a buyer of ladies coats and suits for Grayson Shops. He entered the retail field in 1951 by taking a management post with Layne Bryant, ladies specialty chain.

Later he came to Topps—and he has been with the fast-growing organization ever since.

Topps future in East Hartford? "Everyone has been great. I have extreme confidence in this store's potential," says Nat.

In other areas, Topps has been accepted because we sell at lower prices the top merchandise found in big cities. Or, in other words, first quality merchandise at considerable savings—that's the reason."

Nat Falk looks around the new spacious East Hartford Discount City.

His eyes pause here, delay a bit there, then move on.

He smiles.

"See that family. An entire family passing through the checkout station. Their entire shopping has been done in one place."

"I have been in this business many years, but believe me, when I see an entire family pleased, I'm pleased. Though I have seen it thousands of times, this scene always is a rewarding experience."

"For the more severe, cases special testing kits are available to licensed physicians in order that specific allergies can be handled under a physician's care. A wide range of shades and cosmetic supplies in this hypo-allergic line are available at Insurance City Pharmacy, 467 Main St., East Hartford.

The Man Who Doesn't Stay

In Comes Crowd--and Out Goes Denis

When Topps Discount City opened yesterday, Denis R. Boroski walked out.

No, not a sorehead.

It's just that he was there long before anybody else—weeks, as a matter of fact—so it was only fitting he should be the first to leave.

Boroski, you see, is a Topps employee.

Moreover, he's a new breed in the mass merchandising business. He's the man who goes to the new store site, gets the store built and stocked and then, when it opens, goes.

And he's only 25 years old.

He has been in the Topps chain since it began five and one-half years ago. In fact, he worked for Frank Beckerman, president of Topps, when Beckerman owned a small Army & Navy store in New Britain.

"We stay on the scene about six to eight weeks," says Denis. "When not supervising the building of a new store, we travel between stores and trouble-shoot."

"This is a fascinating job. Hard-at part, I'd say, is the long day. Eight in the morning to 10 at night, and that's the way it is. That's the most satisfying moment to me."

Boroski is in charge of about 200 people, directly or indirectly. His biggest worry, in putting together a super discount store, is merchandise, wondering if it will arrive on time.

"Opening day, to me, actually is a big letdown. After being told as a drum for weeks, running here and there, I find myself all done out to fall apart at the seams," says Denis.

You can take a picture of a garden that would curl your wallpaper on your paint.

"Alright, we confers."

This is an intricate and contrived sentence.

"It's written only to make a point about the new Topps Discount City in East Hartford. The point is this:

"Topps has a complete complete supply department, complete service center, and fully-stocked wallpaper-paint department."

Topps' Newsy Ads Making Headlines

KEITH B. SMITH, President, Keith B. Smith Associates

When it comes to something to add, that's something Topps Discount City has done this year.

The secret: A unique format in current events to newspaper advertisements.

The result: Nationwide attention.

Developed by store President, Frank Beckerman in conjunction with the Keith B. Smith Associates of Hartford, Topps advertising agency, the ads sparkle with news fresh in the minds of readers.

Whether it be "Khrushchev at the United Nations, the battle for the presidency, or Ralph Houck of the Yankees calling a play, Topps ads attract the peruser's attention.

The remarkable ability to draw the shopper's eye in the daily battle for attention in the country's newspapers has made the Topps presentations tops in the country.

Proof of the pudding lies in the numerous commercial establishments that have imitated the presentation. Newsprint headlines provided by clipping services about the same form of ad being used in many places throughout the country.

"Often without altering it one bit," says Keith B. Smith, who heads the advertising firm.

He also confides that a check can be made to determine if it is the same ad because his artists that prepare the Topps displays very ingeniously initial them in an inconspicuous place.

"We very often can pick up the initials in other people's ads," Smith relates. "If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, this new idea has certainly been highly lauded," he adds.

A format utilizes local and national events, current events, trends, family situations and other items in presenting Topps to the consumer. They are presented in cartoon form and are a pleasing departure from the conventional department store ad.

Topps, a very strong advocate of newspaper advertising, feels that this medium gets home to the family, whose patronage the store cartoon form and is a pleasing regular schedule is being prepared for the Manchester Herald and the East Hartford Gazette.

Topps President Beckerman--and Jack Benny

PRESIDENT FRANK BECKERMAN, head of the 31 Topps Discount City stores, chuckles as the one and only Jack Benny, a long-time personal friend, quips about something—or well, let us say—mild interest: Money.

When it comes to discussing pennies, Jack Benny isn't one to pass the buck.

"Paas it! He won't even let you look at it."

Frank Beckerman has been close associate for some time.

Or Jack Benny is talking, as you can see in the picture. The man on the left, smiling and listening, is Frank Beckerman, president of Topps Discount City stores.

Beckerman has opened 31 discount stores throughout the nation.

Benny has opened 1,889,312 penny banks.

Not all were his. And not everyone had some pennies, but even the looking was profitable, says Benny.

He and Beckerman have been close associates for some time.

"To say closer than two Benny pennies would be stretching it a bit. Nothing is quite THAT close," Jack says, pausing for effect.

In any case, the two wanted recently. Benny wanted to find out all about the new Topps store in East Hartford.

He had a good reason (in addition to the simple, plain pleasure of talking about money.)

The next Topps Discount City you see open in Jack Benny's home town—Waukegan, Ill.—early in May.

Whether Beckerman will be able to rent cigarette machines and soda dispensers and ice cream machines and penny scales Jack Benny has in his home is something else.

Topps president Beckerman started in the retail business when, as a youth, he went to his parents' dry goods store in a Boston suburb.

Frank Beckerman will be in often—poorly announced, informed, captivating.

Jack Benny, at last word, won't be with Frank Beckerman.

You can't be in East Hartford and home counting pennies near Topps' 31st store in Waukegan at the same time—no profits in pennies.

Conn. He has four children, ages 15 to 25.

East Hartford, as of yesterday when Topps opened there, picked up a new citizen.

Frank Beckerman will be in often—poorly announced, informed, captivating.

Jack Benny, at last word, won't be with Frank Beckerman.

You can't be in East Hartford and home counting pennies near Topps' 31st store in Waukegan at the same time—no profits in pennies.

His home is in Kennington.

BALANCING FAMILY BUDGETS is easier at the new Topps Discount City, 467 Main St., East Hartford. Here, clerk does balancing act of his own as he re-stocks boys' T-shirts on attractive counters.

Meet Saunders Kaufman Finds Right Prescription for Success

There's no one prescription for success.

You don't have to be a pharmacist to know that.

Saunders J. Kaufman, in this vein, is fortunate. He's both a pharmacist and a success.

Neither was guaranteed. He earned both the hard way.

During World War II, Kaufman had many harrowing experiences, including abandoning ship.

Kaufman prefers to talk about anything but As vice president and general manager of Insurance City Pharmacy stores, he has a lasting interest in this area.

There are four ICP stores. The newest one opened yesterday in Topps Discount City in East Hartford.

"East Hartford, we feel, will be ideal for us. It is a progressive town that already has shown its interest in Senior Citizens by building housing for them."

We believe our own Senior Citizens program of providing them with medical needs at minimum prices fits right in with their town's attitude.

"Sandy" Kaufman was born in Hartford. Today he lives in West Hartford with his wife, the former Gladys Kaufman. They have two children, Larry, 10, and Steven, 4.

Kaufman is the chief pharmacist of the organization. He attended Temple University, the University of Connecticut and UConn College of Pharmacy. He was licensed as an assistant pharmacist in 1941 and a pharmacist in 1942.

Before joining the ICP organization, he was a territory manager for five years for a leading pharmaceutical manufacturer in this country.

Mr. Kaufman is active in Civil Defense and has submitted a community Civil Defense program to the Federal Government.

In manner, Kaufman is both dynamic and patient. He listens quietly, intently. Then, when the facts are in and evaluated, he acts quickly and positively.

He is a friendly manner.

He is quick to joke and equally fast to assist.

Business success is, of course, important.

So is the satisfaction of serving. Like all members of the Insurance City Pharmacy organization, Saunders Kaufman is interested—extremely so—in aging, needy persons.

He likes to help.

And he knows how.

New Card Service

A unique card system has been installed as one of the more progressive features of the new Cosmetic Bar at Insurance City Pharmacy. The system consists of a permanent file record for each customer. These cards list the shades of lipstick, make up, cosmetics, creams, etc. currently being used by each individual customer.

"EVERYDAY IS SALES DAY"—as the sign says—and this is true at the new Topps Discount City in East Hartford. Furthermore, the store features 120,000 square feet of shopping area and allows customers to park right at the front door. Address: 467 Main St.

Topps Good Luck Omen Famous Ribbon Wears Staples

When Keith Smith shows up, Frank Beckerman says to him, "Not at Smith."

But at the ribbon Smith will be carrying, if it is red satin, two inches wide and seven feet long, fit for a king and 25 cents.

It's a good omen for about 150 years old, better.

And if it has been cut from end to end and stapled back together, great.

Frank Beckerman will smile. And that morning in the middle of this month, grand opening ceremonies of the 31st Topps Discount City will take place here at 467 Main St.

The ribbon will make it. You see, it's quite a ribbon. It flies in private planes. It goes everywhere. It is cuddled and caressed. And it is used to open every Topps Discount City.

It was used to open the first Topps store in Hartford five and one-half years ago. Since then, it has flown off of hands and 2545 air miles over 28 states.

Beckerman, president of Topps, raises the ribbon, his good luck omen. And for good reasons. He has it at the opening of every store.

Smith, president of Keith B. Smith Associates, Inc., advertising agency for Topps and official spokesman of the ribbon, isn't worried about the stapled-ribbon fast becoming the ribboned-staple.

"It's good for about 150 years opening," he says.

Frank Beckerman agrees.

Even almost simultaneous openings are no problem. Once stores were being opened in Fairfield, Conn., and Albany, N. Y., within hours of each other.

Solution?

Chartered private plane.

Result: Two openings, same ribbon.

Today, the Topps Division is a nationwide chain of 30 department stores which will be doing business at the annual rate of $300 million this year.

"That record rate a ribbon in any league."

NOTE: STAPLES holding together famous Topps Discount City opening-ceremonies ribbon, which was snipped for 31st store opening in East Hartford. Considered a good luck charm, ribbon will be used at next Topps opening—after being stapled.
