Party-Party Line An office girl was using the telephone for a private call during working hours, when a colleague aware of the nature of the call, stuck on her back a sign reading, "I am talking to my boyfriend." Unfortunately the slip on the back aroused the suspicions of the girl, and she promptly removed it. Just as promptly, another colleague, exercising more caution, pinned on the back of her chair another sign, which said, "I am still talking to my boyfriend." This one went unnoticed by the girl, but not by her boss, who, displaying unusual good humor, typed to her a note saying, "If that's a collect call, I hope it originated at the other end!"

Dial M for Mischief An office worker of our acquaintance has been all week trying to figure out who with a name beginning with "M" she is supposed to call Tuesday—as the notation "Call M." on her desk calendar clearly reminds her. She's thought of "Mother" and a few other "M's," but so far hasn't hit upon "Meddler" like a co-worker who merely duplicated her Friday note, "Call P." on the Tuesday date, changing only the initial. By now she probably realizes that she doesn't have an appointment at 7:30 Friday either. A Non.

Memorable Moments At Oscar Awards

By CHARLES J. LEAVY
On Monday, April 9, in millions of homes, the most popular parlor game will be predicting the winners of the 1961 "Oscars," the golden statuettes awarded for highest achievements in the motion picture industry by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Starting at 10:30 p.m., EST, the combined radio and television facilities of the American Broadcasting Co. and the Canadian Broadcasting Co. will bring into these homes the year's most spectacular, star-studded show direct from the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

Bob Hope will again be master of ceremonies, and such stars as Fred Astaire, Rock Hudson, Shirley Jones, Gene Kelly, Busti Lancaster, Debbie Reynolds, Cyd Charisse, Glynis Johns, Rod Taylor, Shelley Winters and many more are slated to appear on this the 34th annual Oscar Show.

However well you may do predicting the outcome of the various categories, you can be sure most certainly that something will happen either predictable or unpredictable that will identify this year's show for posterity.

Ever since the first ceremony, held May 16, 1929, it has been so. Some outstanding incident, some interesting interlude or personality has become identified with each year's presentation.

At the first presentation, all the winners were men except for a young girl, Janet Gaynor, who was honored for acting achievements in three pictures, "Sunrise," "Seventh Heaven" and "Street Angel."

At the second presentation in 1930, Mary Pickford became the first winner to weep with joy when William C. DeMille presented her an Oscar for her work in "Coquette."

In 1931 the affair had assumed national importance as evidenced by the fact that Vice President Charles Curtis came from Washington to add personal greetings to the well wishes from President Hoover. At the same ceremony, a boy named Jackie Cooper, who had been nominated that year for his performance in "Skippy," slept through the entire affair in the arms of Marie Dressler.

The 1932 program was enlivened by the announcement that there was a tie vote in the actor category between Fredric March and Wallace Berry. Each was handed a statuette while an Academy official looked on in horror. This would make the number of statuettes wind up one short as the man raced for the Academy office and back with an extra trophy just before it was needed for the Best Picture Award. That same year Walt Disney collected the first of the 25 Oscars which makes him the all-time winner.

Will Rogers kept the 1934 banquet in a merry mood with his quips. Director Frank Capra had an embarrassing experience that year. Nominated for the first time, Capra, later to win three awards, got to his feet and started for the rostrum when Rogers said, "Come and get it, Frank." Capra was about 40 feet from his chair when he realized that Rogers was motioning to Frank Lloyd, the real winner for "Cavalcade." Capra later described his return to his seat as "the longest crawl in history."

In 1935, Claudette Colbert, never expecting to win for "It Happened One Night," was getting on a train for New York at the moment her name was announced as winner of the best actress award. While the train waited, she was whisked by taxi to the Biltmore Hotel where she was the only feminine star to receive an Award in Informal dress.

The year 1939 was one of repeats. Bette Davis, for "Jezebel"; Spencer Tracy, for "Boys Town"; and Walter Brennan, for "Kentucky," all got their second Oscars. The same year Edgar Bergen received a wooden statuette with movable jaws in honor of his wooden friend, Charlie McCarthy.

The boo-boo on the news release in 1940 brought into being the sealed-envelope system for the 1941 affair. It has been retained ever since. In 1941 a record crowd arrived early to hear a special radio message to the Academy from President Roosevelt.

In 1943 the big story was sister versus sister. Joan Fontaine and Olivia de Havilland, both unsuccessful nominees before, were up as best actress. Joan won for "Suspicion." It was a most poignant moment back in 1947 when Harold Russell held the two Oscars won for his role in "The Best Years of Our Lives." In his two artificial hands and stepped proudly from the podium. The year 1953 marked a milestone in Oscar's life as the program in its entirety went over television for the first time. (Continued on Page Four)

Shirley Jones, winner of last year's best supporting actress award for "Elmer Gantry," will present an Oscar to this year's winner in the same category at the 34th annual awards, to be telecast by ABC-TV Monday, April 9, 10 p. m., EST to conclusion.

Jan Miner, whose face was as familiar as a test pattern in the early days of television, hasn't done so much lately. Her reason is simple: "I want to act."

When most of television was live from New York, Miss Miner was on many of the Robert Montgomery Presents, Studio One and Lights Out shows. For several years she had regular parts on such detergent operas as Edge of Night and Love of Life.

Gradually, she says, she grew tired of these parts. They didn't give her enough chance to do any serious acting. And then she was faced with a choice. She was in Love of Life when she was offered a good part in an unusual off-Broadway play, "Dumbbell People in a Barbell World."

"There comes a time," she says, "when an actress has to act."

So she chose the play. It was not a success, but Jan got good reviews. That's an important factor in an actress' career.

"To get good parts," she says, "an actress has to go off-Broadway today. On Broadway, they give the good parts to Helen Hayes."

Jan—who is a grandmother—is married to actor Terry O'Sullivan. He's been starring on a soap opera for a long time, and Jan likes to kid him about it.

"Terry is the great prophet," she says, "who once said they could never do soap operas on television, because actors couldn't memorize a part every day. He's had the lead on Search for Tomorrow for nine years now."

Terrorism in Algeria De Gaulle Gets Heavy Backing

By DAVID M. MASON PARIS (AP)—French voters have overwhelmingly approved President Charles de Gaulle's peace pact with the Algerian nationalists. The Secret Army Organization, fighting to keep Algeria French, replied with more terrorist killings and defiant proclamations printed in newspaper plants occupied at gunpoint.

Sixty-five per cent of the 26,963,278 voters in metropolitan France endorsed De Gaulle's Algerian policy Sunday in response to his plea for a public show of confidence. Only 25 per cent of the registered voters failed to cast ballots and 30 per cent of the valid ballots were cast in favor of the peace agreement.

There was no voting in Algeria itself. European extremists there killed at least 25 persons and wounded 67.

Commando bands raided plants of the Oran Echo and Oran Republic in the west Algerian port city early today and forced pressmen at gunpoint to run off thousands of copies of the papers labeled "Special Secret Army Edition."

The rightist secret army was dealt a psychological setback, however, by the French people's thunderous endorsement of De Gaulle's Algerian policy even though it means the end of the once far-flung French empire.

Incomplete returns from metropolitan France and Corsica were: Yes—17,505,473; no—1,794,553. A total of 1,027,477 ballots were invalid.

De Gaulle's supporters heralded the verdict as a ringing vote of confidence in all aspects of his four-year-old regime. Socialists and Communists, however, emphasized that the vote was a referendum on the Algerian situation.

AVON (AP)—A routine check by Avon Police Officer James Marino may be responsible for saving lives of the occupants of the 1950-old Deerpark House atop Avon Mountain when the house was destroyed by fire early today.

After discovering the fire the patrolman called the alarm and then went to arouse the occupants. His pounding on the door finally aroused the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Graham. Jones and Mrs. Jones finally had to break down the door to rescue the housekeeper, Mrs. Esther Ritter.

The interior of the house was consumed by fire, leaving the outside walls mostly intact. The steel roof of the structure fell into the lower stories. Jones is a partner in the Hartford investment concern, Cooley & Company.

Officer James Marino discovered the blaze at 2:30 a.m., while patrolling the area.

Adenauer's Shoes Held Hard to Fill

BOONN, Germany (AP)—Who will eventually succeed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer? That question is popping up again while Adenauer, 86, takes a six-week rest in Italy.

Two leading possibilities have lost part of their political stock recently—Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss.

When Adenauer campaigned last year, he gave a half-promise he would retire before his term runs out in 1965. Lately, the situation has reached a point where many believe he will stay on.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats last year designated Erhard as the eventual successor, although Erhard himself has said he would not accept the post.

Six Traffic Deaths For State Weekend

A rash of traffic accidents in Connecticut over the weekend, including two spectacular crashes, resulted in six deaths.

A 54-year-old man was killed in South Windsor yesterday when a car in which he was a passenger struck the center divider of Route 5 and rolled over onto its side in the opposite lane.

State Police identified the victim as retired Chief of Police Ivor W. Clough of Bennington, N. H. His son, Donald S., also of Bennington, escaped with minor injuries. Police said the son was the driver.

In Hartland, a pickup truck crashed through a fence and tumbled halfway down a 1,000-foot incline overlooking Barkhamsted Reservoir. The driver, John J. Hoffman, 54, Windsor Locks, was killed. The accident occurred on Route 20 between West Hartland and Hartland Hollow at a scenic roadside observation area.

On Saturday night, Mrs. Ida Rabonowitz, 72, Hartford, was injured fatally when struck by a car while crossing a street near her home.

A truck driver, Clayton H. Kennedy Jr., 30, Ashland, Mass., was killed in Old Mystic Saturday when his vehicle collided with a car on Route 65.

A 6-year-old Hartwinton girl, Carol Lynn Morgenstern, was injured fatally by a car while riding a bicycle near her home Friday.

A 28-year-old Danbury man, William Coderre, was killed in a crash in New Fairfield late Friday while taking a drive in a new car he had purchased earlier in the day.

U.S. Urges Reds Ban War Books

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean called on the Soviet Union today to outlaw books which dwell on the inevitability of war—including the works of Marx, Lenin and Stalin.

He made the demand in a heated session of the 17-nation disarmament conference in which delegates from East and West clashed on the question of how to eliminate war propaganda.

Dean reiterated that the United States believes this problem can best be dealt with by increasing exchanges of views across the Iron Curtain.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin contended that propaganda should be made a formal crime in every country. He charged American refusal to countenance this indicated the United States is falsely sheltering behind principles of free expression.

Zorin also accused the United States of repressing American citizens who sought peace.

Dean rejected the contention as absolutely false. He said the United States acts only on the principle that any state has the right to prevent subversion by force.

He emphasized that the American government prosecutes only those who advocate force for political ends. His reference obviously was to Communists.

It was at this point that Dean urged the outlawing of books preaching the inevitability of war, and he specifically named the works of Marx, Lenin and Stalin.

Dean laid down an eight-point statement on measures to eliminate war propaganda.

They were: 1. Reaffirmation of U.N. resolutions on the subject. 2. An affirmation that ignorance contributes to the danger of war. 3. Recognition that lack of East-West exchanges was a primary cause of ignorance.

4. Acknowledgment of the duty of governments to give accurate information to peoples. 5. A declaration of opposition to the inevitability of war theory.

6. An undertaking to exercise restraint in statements on international issues. 7. An undertaking to seek improvement of the exchange of information and views between peoples.

UN Censures Israelis For Attack on Syria

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.N. Security Council today censured Israel for an attack on Syrian territory during the night of March 16-17.

By a vote of 10-0, the 11-nation council adopted a U.S.-British resolution reaffirming a 1956 declaration condemning retaliatory raids by Israel against her Arab neighbors. France abstained.

The approved resolution branded last month's Israeli attack "a flagrant violation" of the council's previous decision. It called upon Israel "scrupulously to refrain from such action in the future."

A Syrian resolution, specifically condemning Israel and warning of possible U.N. sanctions, was withdrawn before the vote.

Syrian Delegate Salah Tarazi declared that the Israeli attack was "an obvious act of aggression for which she cannot go scot-free." He said, however, that he would not oppose the U.S.-British resolution even though he felt it did not go far enough.

Israeli Ambassador Michael Comay announced the resolution as an unexpected development. He called the absence of any rebuke to Syria for attacks on Israel leading up to the March 16-17 incident "a surprise."

The resolution called upon both Israel and Syria to cooperate with the U.N. peace organization in its efforts to strengthen border observation machinery. It also appealed to both to abide by the cease-fire arranged by Swedish Maj. Gen. Carl C. von Horn, U.N. truce chief, after last month's clashes.

Comay said he was instructed to reaffirm his government's adherence to the cease-fire, but he indicated Israel had no intention of ending its boycott of the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission.

As a comment on the council, neither Israel nor Syria participated in the voting.

Supreme Court Upsets Ruling Against NLRB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today told lower federal tribunals they may not overrule a National Labor Relations Board choice between two fairly conflicting views in cases involving charges that workers were fired for union activities.

By a 6-2 vote, the high court reversed decisions by the U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans that set aside labor board findings against three Southern employers.

The Court of Appeals was directed to reconsider the cases in the light of the Supreme Court's 1961 decision in what is known as the Universal Camera Corp. case.

The Supreme Court said the 1961 decision stated "a rule for review by courts of appeal in all labor board cases."

The high court's majority opinion was not signed. Justice Frankfurter wrote a dissent in which Justice Harlan joined.

Justice Harlan, whom he described as an historic pacifist, Mrs. Harvey Perry told the Westery (B.I.) Sun she intends to protest to the Navy and other responsible officials. She quoted a spokesman for the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. as saying the company had no control over naming of the vessel. She said they told her that was the Navy's responsibility. She said the naming of "a weapon of war" after a pacifist was "a blunder."

QUAKER TO PROTEST WESTERY, R.I. (AP)—A member of the religious society of Friends (Quakers) said today she intends to protest the naming of a Polaris submarine after William Penn, whom she described as an historic pacifist.

REBELS HUNTED QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Troops today hunted the remnants of a leftist rebel band after claiming the capture of the 35 leaders. Defense Minister Francisco Tamariz said some of the plotters escaped into the woods and hills on the banks of the Tocha River but the lack of the revolt had been broken. He said the uprising was planned by the pro-Castro Ecuadorian Revolutionary Year 26 Movement and about 200 hard-core leftists took part.

T-H USE UNDER FIRE WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential board of inquiry today received protests from both shipowners and striking maritime unions against a probable Taft-Hartley injunction to end the 24-day Pacific maritime strike. It appeared President Kennedy would seek one, nevertheless. The three-man board, named by Kennedy Saturday because of food shortages in Hawaii, met at noon, received the two statements and adjourned to write its report—all within 10 minutes.

Ship Sent to Bottom—Intentionally

The Lebanese freighter Suerge goes to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean about 250 miles southeast of Halifax where she was intentionally sunk. The ship, built in Baltimore in 1944, was badly damaged when it was grounded in fog off the Nova Scotia coast three months ago. It was towed out and sunk to prevent bunker oil leaking into coastal waters where it would kill wildlife and damage beaches. (AP Photofax).

Supreme Court Upsets Ruling Against NLRB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today told lower federal tribunals they may not overrule a National Labor Relations Board choice between two fairly conflicting views in cases involving charges that workers were fired for union activities.

By a 6-2 vote, the high court reversed decisions by the U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans that set aside labor board findings against three Southern employers.

The Court of Appeals was directed to reconsider the cases in the light of the Supreme Court's 1961 decision in what is known as the Universal Camera Corp. case.

The Supreme Court said the 1961 decision stated "a rule for review by courts of appeal in all labor board cases."

The high court's majority opinion was not signed. Justice Frankfurter wrote a dissent in which Justice Harlan joined.

Justice Harlan, whom he described as an historic pacifist, Mrs. Harvey Perry told the Westery (B.I.) Sun she intends to protest to the Navy and other responsible officials. She quoted a spokesman for the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. as saying the company had no control over naming of the vessel. State News Roundup

Panel to Study Crash Data on Teen Drivers HARTFORD (AP)—A three-man panel appointed by Gov. John D. Dempsey embarked today on a study of the possible mental factors involved when teen-agers have motor vehicle accidents.

Members of the group are Dr. Stephen J. Braceland, psychiatrist-in-chief at the Institute of Living in Hartford; State Mental Health Commissioner Wilfred Bloomberg; and State Health Commissioner Franklin M. Fox.

The appointments, announced Saturday night, are part of Dempsey's campaign against drunken driving by youngsters. He is particularly concerned with the curricula of Connecticut youngsters into New York state to take advantage of that state's minimum drinking age of 18, compared with Connecticut's minimum of 21.

"I feel that it is highly important to assemble all possible information about this distressing problem," Dempsey said.

The three men will analyze data on various phases of the problem and report back to Dempsey. The researchers will study material from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Bloomberg will go over statistics obtained by Harvard University in a study of fatal highway collisions.

Fox will review material from an accident prevention study now under way in Connecticut seeking to correlate a driver's physical condition with his accident-proneness.

When the report is completed, Dempsey said, he will call a meeting of the panel and John R. Feltner, publisher of the Hartford Courant, and Dr. William Lacey, dean of students at Trinity College. Both men have expressed an interest in the problem, Dempsey said.

662 Million for Captives

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban exiles negotiators will fly to Havana Tuesday in hopes of inducing Prime Minister Fidel Castro to reduce the $62 million set as ransom for their sons and husbands captured at the Bay of Pigs.

A spokesman for the Cuban Families Committee said Castro replied favorably Sunday night to a cable seeking an audience with him.

The vice treasurer of the committee, Enrique Liaca, said the committee already has raised $28 million in cash and pledges in four months to aid the prisoners.

The 1,178 prisoners, captured in the abortive invasion last April, are sentenced to 30 years imprisonment each pending payment of ransoms ranging from $25,000 to $500,000.

The unusual verdict came Saturday night by a five-man military tribunal, Havana newspapers reported. The trials were closed to the American press.

Prosecutor Jose Santiago had called for the severest penalties. The maximum penalty is death. But Castro had been reported wary of imposing it.

Some exiles here believe the sentences and ransom provision resulted from the family committee's offer to negotiate for the captive release. A cable offering to negotiate was sent Saturday.

The price for prisoners has more than tripled since Castro made his startling offer last May to swap the prisoners for 800 trucks.

A committee of U.S. citizens organized at that time to try to arrange the trade. It was estimated that it would take up to $17 million to buy enough tractors or bulldozers to free the prisoners.

The prisoners now may be released one by one on payment of ransoms ranging from $25,000 to $500,000 for a man in the ranks to $500,000 for a leader of the invasion.

Far Right Influence Regarded as Fading

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prospect that ultra-conservatives will influence the course of the major political parties in this fall's congressional elections appears to be fading.

Leaders of both parties, in fact, are busy posting keep-away signs against zealous citizens who profess to feel that some of the nation's highest officials are entrapped in a Communist conspiracy.

The signs apply also to those who, among other things, want to abolish the income tax and to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren.

This was demonstrated in the frosty reception Republicans and Democrats gave last week to former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker when he questioned the loyalty of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and others in testimony before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who sparked the inquiry into alleged muzzling of military men at which Walker appeared, made it clear several times he was not endorsing the general's statements.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a spokesman for Republican conservatives, didn't even turn up to hear Walker, as he could have done as a member of the parent Armed Services Committee.

Shy Whoopers Do Their Part

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Crip and Josephine are two bashful whooping cranes determined to do something about preserving their nearly extinct species.

Their fifth offspring cracked through its egg Sunday at Audubon Zoo to increase the world population of the rare bird to 46.

Crip and Josephine are taking turns incubating a second egg, which zoo director George Douglas believes will hatch by the end of the week.

The two adult whooping cranes, who are so shy Douglas keeps them away from public view, hatched the first of their species ever born in captivity four years ago. Since then, Crip and Josephine have produced two other cranes, one 2 years old and the other 1. The parents are the only whoopers to ever produce in captivity.

Josephine got off the nest and helped push her baby out of the rusty-colored baby crane is about twice the size of a newly hatched chick.

"It's a very healthy bird," said Douglas, who put the baby under (Continued on Page Six)

Banker Will Tackle Financier's Jumble

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—An El Paso banker will try to straighten out the snarled affairs of West Texas financier Billie Sol Estes.

U.S. District Court Judge R. E. Thomson said Sunday night that Harry Moore Jr. was resigning as a vice president of the El Paso National Bank to become receiver for the multimillion-dollar Estes' enterprises.

Estes, 57, said at his Pecos home earlier that plans were being drafted to see that creditors receive every dollar he owes.

Irby Dyer, a Midland lawyer, filed a debtor's petition for the receivership Saturday. He estimates Estes' liabilities at $40 million.

The government has accused Estes, free under $100,000 bond, and three other men of plotting to defraud nine finance companies.
