New Conservatives Pushing to Unseat Rockefeller, Javits

(Continued from Page One) By might have, it faces technical problems first in getting on the ballot. But it claims the initial response to the movement has been electrifying...

Leaders of the movement contend that if they cut frantically into the Republican ticket gain control of the state...

But they hold that this would be a temporary loss and that the Republicans would turn to Conservative candidates to win the next state elections...

Rockefeller is an announced candidate for re-election. Javits is expected to seek a second term. The Democrats have not settled on their candidates...

"O'Doherty says his group endorses the principles of the late Senator Javits of Ohio, known as 'Mr. Republican.' He said the Conservative party formed on Lincoln's Birthday last year..."

Rockefeller has not commented on the state's new movement but has spoken out against what he calls 'arm hand' labels, such as conservative or liberal...

Javits has said, "Of course, any citizen has a perfect right to pursue any political course he feels is right."

Founders of the Conservative party include, among others, Gov. Roy Schmitt, a lawyer who represented members who opposed James R. Hoffa, Teamsters president...

But the Conservatives have lost in mind. They believe a defeat of Rockefeller for second term as governor would increase the chances of a conservative winning the Republican nomination for president...

This, said O'Doherty, would give the voters an alternative between the political philosophies of the Republican and Democratic parties...

"A race between President Kennedy and Gov. Rockefeller," he said, "would be a battle of personalities more than politics..."

He said the Conservatives have received 25,000 letters offering full support, or conditional backing, pending the naming of the Conservative candidates...

Opposes Return to U.S. Congresswoman Blasts Liz Taylor's Romance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Elizabeth Birch, Democrat, a grandmother-congresswoman, says Elizabeth Taylor's romance with Richard Burton will hurt the U.S. foreign aid program and leave the Communists chucking. She denounced the actress and actor Tuesday in the House and said she hopes Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will take the measure necessary to determine whether or not the two are ineligible for re-entry into this country on grounds of untrustworthiness. Miss Taylor, an English-born actress, has announced she plans to divorce her fourth husband, singer Eddie Fisher. Burton is a Welshman, a British citizen, and has a British wife. Burton and Miss Taylor are in Rome for filming of the motion picture "Cleopatra." Mrs. Birch said producers of the film have hurt the prestige of their duty to the people of God and their country, she said. "To make a mockery, for profit, out of that which is ordained by God, is a blasphemy of the highest order," Mrs. Birch said.

7 ways to help you send them to college

Putting a son or daughter (or both) through college these days calls for some serious thought as to where the money is coming from. Because, as everyone knows, you're talking real money—as much as $2,500 or more a year. It's the kind of expense that puts a financial strain on almost any family. If you're faced with the problem of paying for your youngster's college education, consider the following ways to ease the burden. While not all of them will apply in every case, it's a wise parent who thoroughly investigates any and all possibilities of defraying educational costs.

- SAVINGS AND INVESTMENTS—Perhaps the firmest foundation lies in educational life insurance, savings and investments. If you could save, say, 5% of your yearly income from the time your youngster reaches 13, you'd probably save enough for at least the first two years of college.
- SCHOLARSHIP AND ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS—One scholarship exists for roughly every ten students now in college. To qualify, applicants must demonstrate both scholastic ability and financial need. You should investigate all sources: business and industry, state and local governments, colleges and universities, civic, fraternal and religious groups. Scholarships average around $300 yearly. Deferred payment loans through the Connecticut Higher Education Assistance Corporation (CHEAC) are available to qualified students through cooperating banks.
- STUDENT EARNINGS—Part-time work at college can earn as much as $300. Summer time and vacation employment can account for $300-800. Check the Student Placement Bureau at the college of your choice.
- EARN-AND-LEARN PLANS—Some colleges have set up programs where students attend classes for part of the year and hold down full-time jobs for part of the year. While designed primarily to help needy students pick a career field and build experience in it, a student can earn a large part of educational expenses.
- STUDENT LOAN FUNDS—More often available to upperclassmen with temporary needs or emergency expenses, this additional form of long-term aid is offered by many colleges to students whose parents are unable to meet educational expenses.
- MILITARY TRAINING PROGRAMS—Reserve Officer Training courses (ROTC) not only help cover some of the expenses of college, but offer a way for young men to get a headstart on fulfilling their military obligation. A period of active duty is usually required upon graduation.
- HNB'S 8-YEAR EDUCATION PAYMENT PLAN—This plan has two simple objectives: first, it is a low-cost means of spreading heavy, lump-sum education expenses over a longer period of time—up to eight years—so better fit them in the family budget. Second, it insures that needed funds will be available even in the event of the parent's death or total disability. Under the plan, the total cost of a college education may be financed, if desired. Rockville-Vernon Psychologist Denies Some I. Q. Beliefs

There is no evidence to support assumptions of the intellectual superiority of men over women or one ethnic group over another...

In fact, says a professor of psychology, evidence tends to show that all persons have equal intellectual potential.

David D. Komisar, professor of psychology at the University of Hartford, said the differences in intellectual achievement between individuals is the result of differences in opportunity and motivation.

Prof. Komisar addressed a luncheon gathering of Rockville-Rotarians Monday.

He said knowledge of the intelligence of individuals and groups comes to light through intelligence quotient (I. Q.) tests given in various forms in this country and abroad.

Such tests show that the lack of experience, lack of exposure to higher cultural planes, stifles the individual's intellectual growth.

Prof. Komisar said: "Exposure to opportunity does not mean management equipment—the brain that we are born with."

He said it is generally thought that women are intellectual inferior to men. Not so.

Tests conducted among children in the areas of the South, professor said, have shown that intelligence quotients drop rapidly among older children in relation to children of the same age in less advanced areas.

Psychological study, the study of human behavior, offers a "great hope for our way of life."

He said, too, there is no difference in potential between racial, nationalistic and religious groups.

A tea party against polio will be given by the Manchester health department Wednesday, June 13, without any tea, lemons or cream.

The clinic will be held in all schools from 1 to 5 p.m. for every one.

Whether the clinic will be free will depend on whether the town appropriates $3,500 requested by the State Department of Health.

Police Take Course In Latest Radar Gear

Twenty-three Manchester and Glastonbury policemen yesterday afternoon completed a two-day, 16-hour radar training school under the tutelage of State Police Sergeant Nelson G. Hurlbert, an authority on the Radar Speed Meter in Connecticut.

The high point of the program came yesterday when Sgt. Hurlbert directed the use of radar on the road. The group spent about four hours on the road in a "mock" checking of traffic at points on E. Center St. (in morning) and on New Bolton Rd. (afternoon).

In general, radar is an electronic system for determining the rate of motion of a moving object by means of ultra-high frequency electromagnetic radiation directed at and reflected from the object.

Radar was first introduced on a Connecticut road in 1947. State Police officers were the first to use it.

Charter Changes Set For Hearing Friday

The Charter Revision Commission has recommended changes in the town charter that would, among other things, provide for city-year terms for the board of directors of an assistant general manager and a town council from out of town and for indefinite terms, a new election for the board of directors' salaries and the resignation of a town board and commission members when they cease to be electors of the town.

The commission's final report, which must be formally adopted by the commission at a public hearing and approved by the board of directors before going to the voters for an ultimate decision, does not include the change recommended by the Municipal Employee Group regarding a residency requirement for town employees.

The Charter Revision Commission has set Friday, May 25, as the date for the public hearing to be held in the Municipal Building. The proposed changes will appear on the ballot at an October referendum—at the time of the town election.

One proposed revision would broaden the board of directors' appointive power so that it would enable the board to appoint both an assistant general manager and a town council from out of town. The charter now provides that the town council is to be an elector of the town.

The amendment regarding the appointment of an assistant general manager from out of town, for which only the general manager has authority now, was proposed by the board of directors, which wants the charter provisions of the assistant general manager to be similar to those of the general manager.

The charter now provides that only the general manager and auditor or auditors, under positions appointed by the board of directors, need not be electors at the time of their appointment.

Automatic Resignation. Tacked on to the same proposal is a provision calling for the automatic resignation of members appointed by the board to town boards and commissions when such members no longer hold residency in the town. The amendment applies to the assessor and members appointed to the planning commission, zoning board of appeals, library board, board of tax review, advisory, recreation and park commission, and advisory board of health.

It also applies to the town council, unless the change removing the residency requirement for his appointment is adopted. This amendment and one providing for the appointment of one assessor, rather than as many as three, were proposed by Mayor Harold A. Thurston.

The provision for off-year town elections, a not altogether popular issue which has been proposed in the past, would call for biennial elections after an election held October, after an election after the October, 1964, election.

One Year Term. Town officials normally elected for two year terms would, under the proposal, be elected for only one year in the 1964 election, and for two years beginning in 1965.

Appropriate provisions have been proposed for six sections of the charter, including one for election to the board of directors to accommodate the recommended revision of the election system.

Four proposed changes drawn up by the Municipal Employee Group have not been included in the commission's final report. The Charter Revision Commission claims there has not been enough time to study the proposals, one of which would place a residency requirement on all town employees one they have worked for the town one year.

Commission members studying the proposal did not react favorably to it, and had asked the employees group to furnish more information on the subject. Because of the importance of the proposal, the commission felt it was better not to act on the measure hastily, and is therefore not recommending the change this year.

In addition to the residency requirement, the employees' group proposed changes that would establish a personnel department or officer, create a merit system for all town employees, and include provisions for the resignation of directors and the general manager, all clerical employees, now responsible only to their department heads.

Among the recommended changes in the final report are ten that were originally proposed in 1958, but were not adopted when a sufficient number of voters (25%) failed to show up at the polls.

The old charter recommendations represent, as they did in 1958, an effort to modernize the charter and to clarify certain provisions so that they conform with accepted practices of the town government that have evolved since the charter was adopted in 1847.

Sections Affected. The new proposals, if approved by the board of directors and the voters, would:

1. After six sections in order to provide town elections in odd-numbered years. The sections requiring changes are 2-1, elective officers; 2-2, mayor, election and term; 2-3, organization; 7-1, members; 7-3, primary; and 9-1, election to board of directors.
2. Change section 3-3 to increase the compensation of members of the board of directors as follows: from $300 to $750 yearly for the mayor and secretary, and from $200 to $500 yearly for each other member of the board.
3. Revise section 2-2 provide for the appointment by the board of directors of an assistant general manager and a town council from

Rockville-Vernon 'Mailbox Week' Shares Spotlight

This is National Mail Box Attention Week. It is also National Highway Week, National Reactor Week, American Merchant Marine Week, National Salvation Army Week and, in Michigan, Michigan Week. But attention for the moment is concentrated on the wireless telegraph.

Was 1959 scholarship recipient for promoting care and attention of rural mail boxes. Pasted letters can be repainted, post straightened and so forth, she said.

She added that rural box owners whose boxes must be moved to new locations will do well to move them during the week. Mail boxes must be placed in locations designated by the rural carrier. Locations are usually fixed according to the direction of travel of the carrier on the streets, she said.

The sixth annual chicken barbecue of Hope Charter, Order of Eastern Star, will be held June 8 at the Masonic Temple in Rockville. Services will be at 5 and 6 p.m.

Ray Jones of Storrs will be the caterer. The chicken will be accompanied by home made food. Mrs. Harry W. Price, 110 West Rd., Burlington, is handling reservations. The dump site here remains a question. There appears to be some approval of adding the old dump site, closed some time ago, and beyond for further use, and for again looking over the proposed dump site for a lease. For a number of reasons this site would not settle the question permanently, but would at least tie the matter over until something better might be found.

Meanwhile it will cost the town $400 to clean up the old dump site and fence the back, called for on terms by which the present injunction against the town can be lifted.

Providing a boiler room at the rear of the local firehouse will also cost the town $1,400.

Tariff Cut Battle Shifts to House

By EDMOND LEBERTON. WASHINGTON (AP)—The field of battle over President Kennedy's "trade or tariff-cutting" program shifted to the House yesterday as administration supporters rallied a solid victory in committee.

The Ways and Means Committee finished Monday putting together a bill containing every major provision Kennedy had asked for. These include authority to eliminate some tariffs, cut duties on companies and workers hit by increased imports.

The committee takes another look at the bill in final language Thursday, but the issues were considered settled unless there are extraordinary developments.

Administration supporters on the 25 member tariff-cutting committee showed they had the votes to defeat such proposed changes as providing a congressional veto over trade agreements and cutting down the level of assistance workers.

In the House, which probably will take up the bill during the first week of June, the story may be different.

There is strong protectionist sentiment among some members whose districts contain industries especially vulnerable to foreign competition. Republicans are planning to renew the drive, which failed in committee, to limit the benefits for import-displaced workers down to levels of a regular unemployment compensation.

As the bill is written, workers being retrained because their jobs were eliminated by imports could draw up to 65 per cent of their regular wages for as much as a year and half some Republicans and conservative Democrats contend it is impractical to have two different unemployment insurance systems and that the bill ultimately will force costly changes in the way the federal unemployment benefit system.

The bill would provide help also for companies hard hit by imports—including those in textiles, steel, and tax benefits.

Of the tariff-cutting side, the measure would allow the President to bargain for eliminating tariffs entirely in certain cases.

Idle Claims Dip For Sixth Week

Another 33 Manchester and other area residents were removed from the total of those filing unemployment claims in the local office of the State Labor Department, ending this week in reporting the first week of the year since the drop from 908 of the preceding week. The drop from 908 of the preceding week represents a decline of 3.4 per cent.

Manchester's continuing decline in recent weeks in the total of unemployment claims is part of a trend evidenced throughout the state. The State Labor Department reports that claims in Connecticut have now declined for the sixth straight week, reaching a total of 30,242 for the week ending May 19.

The claims figure a year ago was 61,120.

Claims filed at the Rockville office dropped from 157 to 138.

Courtesy Driving Urged by Reardon

This is National Highway Safety Week in Manchester and towns and cities across the nation. Chief James M. Reardon has issued a statement concerning safety on the road.

Now that schools are getting ready to close for the summer months and vacation travelers will hit the highways and byways, I urge all of our citizens, young and old, to drive with courtesy, responsibility and, most of all, safety, and survive a summer of driving, by observing these honest facts," he said.

Plane Ripped Apart in Air Over Missouri; 45 Perish

at Michigan State University, was Air Force captain during World War II.

Among other reported aboard the craft were:

Philip M. Gibson Sr., of Jackson, Miss., president of the Gibson son Band Co. in Jackson and vice president in charge of sales for Koolons Inc., of Houston, Tex., a research and development firm dealing with the study of ballistics.

Jack Alexander, vice president of Paramount Productions, Inc., a Dallas concern which makes radio broadcast commercials.

William C. Chapin, president and treasurer of Vanilla Laboratories, Inc., Rochester, N.Y., a longtime member of the executive committee of the 23rd United States Golf Association.

The plane left Chicago at 2:35 p.m. and was due in Kansas City at 9:35 p.m.

Temporary morgues were set up in Unionville, a small community just south of the town.

The plane was Continental's flight 11 enroute from Chicago to Kansas City and Los Angeles with 37 passengers and a crew of 4, it apparently broke up over Centerville, Iowa, about 20 miles north of Har-Field.

The fuselage lay undiscovered in a field of clover on a farm owned by Zery Russell from about 9:40 p.m. until it was found by radio surveillance screens.

Dewey E. Ballard, air carrier commander of the plane, was apparently broken up by "some tremendous force."

"This tremendous force," said Ballard, "might have been a tornado or a large aircraft which broke apart in the air and pieces spread out to form a cloud."

He said the plane apparently broke apart in the air and pieces spread out to form a cloud.

The plane was flying at an altitude of about 3,000 feet and was traveling 200 to 300 miles per hour at the time of the crash.

In the middle of the wreckage was a jumble of bodies, seats, luggage and clothing.

Nations was found half way down the right side of the fuselage section, which had been against the side of the fuselage.

When the body had reached him, he was able to respond only feebly. He died in St. Joseph's hospital in Centerville.

The craft, a Boeing 707 piloted by William Day, crashed in a field near Fallsville, Calif., made his last flight from Chicago to Kansas City on May 22, 1962.

This was about 130 air miles northeast of Kansas City where it was due to land about 10 miles from the airport.

The plane then disappeared from the FAA surveillance radar at Kansas City.

About the time, too, Mrs. Carl Jones, wife of the postmaster, at Centerville, Iowa, saw a bright blue flash in the sky. Others saw it.

Residents of this farm country disagreed about the sound that followed. Some described it as popping sound. Others as a loud explosion.

Probe Sources Say Big Names In Estes Fraud

sparks in Franklin, Tex., Tuesday.

After a partial autopsy, a medical examiner indicated he believes Henry Marshall, an Agriculture Department agent who investigated Estes' farm operations, was murdered.

The Harris County medical examiner said it appeared that Marshall was killed at the time that this is not a homicide.

The complete autopsy report, he said, will be available later this week.

Marshall, 38, was found dead in a field near the town of Estes, a bolt-action rifle. He was buried without an autopsy, his death officially ruled as a suicide.

When the Estes case flashed into national prominence, authorities turned again to Marshall's death.

Marshall, an chief of production adjustment for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, was assigned to investigate the cotton industry in the area.

Marshall's body was taken from his grave for an autopsy by what was then the state medical examiner.
