

For Stronger Dollar Canada Starts Austerity Plan

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada today began a belt-tightening emergency austerity regime of widespread tariff increases and government economy ordered by Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker to bolster the Canadian dollar.

Diefenbaker, whose Progressive Conservative party was badly weakened in the general election last week, called on Canadians to support the new measures "in a spirit of national purpose." He said Canada's economy is fundamentally strong and sound.

He announced the program on Sunday to avoid market upheavals and emphasized that the measures would be temporary.

The prime minister said Canada has obtained more than $1 billion in short-term financial aid to strengthen the nation's dwindling foreign exchange reserves until the other government measures have their effect. Two-thirds of these loans and credits were made available by the United States.

He said the government is determined to defend the dollar's exchange rate at the recently devalued level of 92½ U.S. cents.

In a related step, the Bank of Canada lifted its interest rate to 6 per cent, a move apparently designed to retain capital that recently has been going abroad for investment. The fluctuating rate was 5.17 per cent last week and 4.18 the week before.

In Washington, U.S. Treasury officials expressed satisfaction with Canada's dollar-strengthening moves even though one effect could be to hurt the United States.

Accidents Kill Five in State Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five persons lost their lives in Connecticut over the weekend. Three other state residents were killed in an airplane crash in New York State.

Three deaths were caused in auto accidents. Fire and lightning took two other lives.

In Connecticut, Donald Brunet, 19, Dayville, died early today in Putnam Hospital from injuries received Sunday when his car collided with a New Haven Railroad Buddliner at a crossing in Killingly.

Arthur Francis Brown, 34, died in the blaze that ruined his two-story frame house in the Norwalk business district. Brown, who lived alone, apparently suffocated when trapped by the flames.

Mrs. Ceila Christensen, 25, Hartford, and her three-year-old daughter, Debra, were thrown out of their car and killed in West Haven early Sunday morning.

State Police arrested the driver of the car that struck the Christensen vehicle from the rear and charged him with misconduct in the operation of a motor vehicle.

He was identified as Peter Connor, 25, West Haven. Connor was freed in $2,500 bond for appearance in Branford Circuit Court July 23.

In Columbia, a bolt of lightning struck a building at the Center Church Camp, killing seven-year-old Judy Ebin. She was the daughter of Mrs. M. K. Berlin, West Hartford.

In addition, a Portland mother and her two children were killed Sunday in the crash of a private airplane in a rural section of Rockland County, N. Y.

The Connecticut victims were Mrs. Audrey S. Marshall, 29; Lorella, 7, and Cynthia, 5.

Mrs. Marshall's brother, William B. Stout, Annandale, Va., and the pilot, David Alistair, 32, Falls Village, Va., were also killed.

Board Could Block Tonight's Execution

HARTFORD (AP)—Circuit Court Judge Douglass B. Wright, the man who put killer Benjamin Reid of Hartford into the shadow of the electric chair, today interceded with the State Board of Pardons in Reid's behalf.

The board must decide whether Reid is to be executed tonight in the electric chair or if its members feel they should vote to give him a commutation to life imprisonment.

A decision is not expected, however, until about 4 p.m. (EDT) when the board members leave the prison at nearby Wethersfield.

If the board doesn't commute the death sentence, Reid will go to the electric chair tonight at 10:30 (EDT), the traditional execution hour.

State's Atty. John D. LaBelle discussed the case briefly after those seeking a commutation had finished.

"Whatever you do," he told the board members, "is not going to upset our office one bit."

"There are elements here which do demand your consideration—his age, his background and his intellectual limitations."

LaBelle succeeded State's Atty. Albert S. Bill, who was the Hartford County prosecutor at the time of the Reid trial.

Judge Wright was one of a large number of people, many prominent, who turned out for the board meeting in the Connecticut State Prison at Wethersfield.

Some of the others were Albert E. Holland, vice president of Trinity College; the Rev. R. Franklin Perry, representing the New York East Conference of Methodist Churches; Dr. Richard K. Conant, representing the Connecticut chapter, National Association of Social Workers; Atty. George Athanason, president of the Greater Hartford Junior Chamber of Commerce; the condemned man's mother, Mrs. Jenny Reid of Hartford; and officials who knew Reid as a youth.

Judge Wright told the Board of Pardons that the Reid case should be considered in connection with the case of Joseph L. Taborsky and Arthur Culombe, the so-called mad dog killers.

While Taborsky and Culombe were being tried in one courtroom in the Hartford County building back in 1957, Judge Wright, then an assistant state's attorney, was prosecuting Reid in another courtroom of the same building.

"When the jury's verdict in the Reid case was reported," said Judge Wright, "I was mildly surprised. It had been rather a routine trial in the north courtroom. In the center court, for many weeks, the main event had been going on—State versus Taborsky and Culombe. No one had been following the Reid trial."

"The papers reported that I made only an 11-minute summary of his relations with Commercial Solvents."

The New York chemical company extended to Estes millions of dollars in credit and enabled him to get into the lucrative business of storing surplus grain owned by the government.

McConnell, former head of surplus grain operations in the Agriculture Department, said he resigned that job in 1956 to become a director and consultant for Commercial Solvents.

He told of inspecting Estes' West Texas farming operations in October 1959.

"Estes appeared to be an excellent customer (for liquid fertilizer) and Commercial Solvents was anxious to keep him," McConnell said. During the 1959 visit, he added, "nothing happened which caused us to have any questions or suspicions."

Freeman said Miller now states that the recommendation he, Miller made was contrary to his own judgment, and that it was made at the direction of Emery E. Jacobs, former deputy administrator of the Stabilization and Conservation Service, who resigned April 13.

Freeman said Miller has advised the department in an affidavit that Jacobs instructed him to write a memorandum justifying a departmental decision "to permit Billie Sol Estes to retain all of the cotton allotments he had acquired at that time."

Freeman's reprimand was announced at the Agriculture Department shortly after a congressional probe of the Estes case was resumed. It brought testimony from a consultant to Commercial Solvents, Edward M. Gilbert, who returned from Paris and denies he left the United States to defraud creditors—as alleged by a brokerage firm.

Sarlie disclaimed liability Sunday for $754,770 of stock ordered purchased on his account during Gilbert's efforts to hold onto one company and acquire another, which he charged to my account. He had no more right to do so than they did to spread the story that I had 'fled' the country.

Including the Yellow Race None Safe in N-War, Khrushchev Asserts

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev turned today from Romania, where he called on the Eastern bloc to pool its economic resources and warned nuclear war will spare no one, including the yellow race.

Even before his plane arrived from Bucharest, Western diplomats were intrigued by his reference to nuclear warfare in the course of a long speech on economic questions at a mass rally Sunday. They took his words as a clear reference to Red China, which long has insisted it would come out of a nuclear conflict relatively unscathed.

The unequivocal statement was delivered against a background of increasing tension between the Chinese Communists and Chinese Nationalists facing each other across Formosa Strait.

"A nuclear war," Khrushchev told the Bucharest crowd, "would be the greatest catastrophe of mankind. All are equal before it—the white, the yellow, the black, believers and atheists, progressives and conservatives. A nuclear war will spare no one."

On the economic side, where the Eastern bloc fears the impact of the West European Common Market, Khrushchev declared: "We shall have to share our work because only by the broadest cooperation among the industries of the Socialist countries can we achieve our aims."

He said the basis of cooperation would be specialization and division of labor which would help the economy of each member of the bloc.

The statement lent support to diplomatic speculation that Khrushchev is exerting pressure on the Eastern bloc to help the Soviet Union out of its economic difficulties, particularly agricultural.

On his departure from Bucharest, Khrushchev said the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and Romania have shown a common front in the struggle against the maniac party chief Gheorghiu-Daj said Khrushchev's visit had strengthened friendship between the two countries.

Khrushchev made no speech on his arrival in Moscow in flag and flower-decked welcome, but some urgent business apparently awaited him.

After greeting assembled diplomats, an aide brought him a document and he immediately went into a meeting with members of the Presidium. The aide read the document. Newsmen could not hear or see what it was, but it obviously was something requiring immediate attention. At one point, First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan leaned over and pointed to something in it.

Walking hesitantly down the steps from his plane, Khrushchev

James Moran Out Of Federal Prison; O'Dwyer Associate

DANBURY (AP)—James J. Moran, 61, a key figure in a major scandal in the administration of Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, was released today from the Federal Correctional Institution here.

After 10 years and five months in prison, Moran was released at 7:08 a.m. and having coffee with his family and newsmen later, immediately said he felt his imprisonment had been an injustice.

He said he still hopes to be vindicated.

Moran had been in prison here since last June. Before that, he had spent nine years in state prison in New York as the mastermind of a $500,000-a-year shake-down of fuel oil dealers in Westchester County.

Moran told newsmen, his wife, two of his sons and a family friend:

"It feels very good to be getting out."

Prepared Estes Report Formal Reprimand For Freeman's Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced today a formal reprimand of Thomas H. Miller, a department official, in connection with a report in the Billie Sol Estes case.

Freeman said he ordered the formal reprimand because of Miller's failure "to reveal that he prepared a report under instructions from a superior recommending that cotton allotments in the Estes case be allowed to stand for 1961 and subsequent years."

Miller is acting Southwest area director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Freeman said Miller now states that the recommendation he, Miller made was contrary to his own judgment, and that it was made at the direction of Emery E. Jacobs, former deputy administrator of the Stabilization and Conservation Service, who resigned April 13.

Alcoholism—1 4th Major Problem In American Health

EDITOR'S NOTE—Millions of Americans use alcohol safely, finding relaxing conviviality in friendly drink. For some, alcohol cannot remain a pleasant—it becomes a painful, self-perpetuating passion. The problem is old, but many elements in the campaign against the nation's fourth greatest health hazard are new. The challenge and the modern response are outlined in this first of a series of five articles.

By ALTON BLANKSLEE,
Associate Press Science Writer

The blight of a tragic sickness touches perhaps a majority of families across this broad land.

The sickness—alcoholism, the uncontrolled and seemingly uncontrollable drinking by nearly five million Americans.

It robs human brains, destroys homes, marriages, careers. It is the nation's fourth greatest health problem. There is no miracle pill to ease its misery. It is estimated one in every 15 teen-agers is likely to become an alcoholic.

Were this disease caused by a virus or virus as polio is— tremendous public interest and effort might be mobilized to halt its devastating human, social and economic losses.

But its root is alcohol, the same alcohol that millions use safely.

Doctors long have recognized alcoholism as a real sickness. The alcoholic simply cannot drink normally. He, or she, falls into the grip of alcoholic drink for complex emotional and physical reasons. Once there, he's enslaved by alcohol, unless he abandons it completely.

Unsuspected alcohol in a cough medicine triggered one middle-aged man—druy for many years—into an unwanted alcoholic binge. Another was seized by his old, controllable urge to drink when he breathed fumes on a warm day from alcoholic antifreeze in an automobile radiator.

Mankind has found comfort, conviviality, relief of tensions—and sometimes oblivion—in alcohol since he first learned some foodstuffs could be fermented or distilled into intoxicating beverages.

Down through history, a percentage of men, women and even youngsters have fallen victims to alcoholism.

Society's historic reactions to worst air disaster on crew members was whitewash of Federal Aviation Agency . . . Dr. Paul Dudley White, heart specialist from Boston, says there should be more home care for the sick and less hospitalization.

Kowalski Bids Ribicoff Leave Post in Cabinet

MERIDEN (AP)—"Mr. Ribicoff ought to resign his cabinet post," said U.S. Rep. Frank Kowalski today when asked about Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff's declaration of candidacy for the Democratic Senate nomination.

The maverick Congressman-at-large and the former governor are rivals for the post since he was vacated by Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn.

Ribicoff sent letters to the more than 900 state convention delegates Saturday telling them "I would like to be the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate and I ask for your support."

"He ought to resign," said Kowalski at his home here. "The President says administration officials seeking elective office should resign."

Ribicoff made it clear in an indirect manner six months and more ago that he was interested in the Senate nomination. But he has ducked the questions of those who

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"
by John Gruber

Robert Brawley, founder, music director, and conductor of the Hartford Festival of Music, has announced a dandy series of programs for the fifth season of the outdoor concert, to be heard in July on the grounds of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. in Bloomfield.

Ordinarily, these concerts are held on Wednesday evenings and three of them will continue this tradition. But the operas on Thursday, July 5th, since independence day falls on a Wednesday this year.

The opening concert is a particularly interesting one. It will feature the one "Vat Cava" resident, Mr. Brawley, who will lead the opening program of the Hartford Civic Orchestra, and at that time he will conduct the opening concert of the group.

With an unavailability, we had Jeanne Benjamin for concertmaster with our orchestra this year. (Jeanne's good-looking blonde who sits to my left at the concert, and plays such nice fiddle.) Both of them will be featured in a special concert for violin on this opening program.

Further, the program will include Beethoven's First Symphony, which appeared on the first program of the Hartford Civic, and which I must have heard to his or her liking. So you see over half the performing time is devoted to works of great interest to Manchester residents.

The remainder of the program will include Brahms' Liebeslieder Walzer, for chorus and orchestra, and the Russian Paganini dances of Bela Bartok. Don't let the name of Bartok frighten you away. I'll admit he can be caustic in his writing, but that's not one of his intentions. These were early piano works which he wrote for his own best friends.

Since this is the year in which Robert Brawley celebrates his 80th birthday, the second program is dedicated entirely to his works. They are all much better than the piano you may have seen recently on television, and I'm quite sure you'll enjoy them. The program consists of his Cello, and proceeds to the Puccini Suite, derived from a ballet he wrote for the Puccini, who was certainly a conventional composer.

Plan to go particularly to the first and last ones. Those I guarantee you will like. I'm certain you will go for the French program too, and really the Brawley's work will be at all hand to take the chosen works are all very listenable. See you there.

Aide to Souvanna Sees Peril in U.S. Force in Thailand

The dispatch of U.S. troops to neighboring Thailand as a precautionary measure, was announced by Sunday's initial Cabinet session, over which Souvanna presided, carried no mention of U.S. troops.

U.S. officials had no immediate comment. The United States has not repeated the U.S. troops, landed after the Pathet Lao made his military gains in northern Laos, had come at that request to Thailand, not Laos.

Yongyit said later the Cabinet did discuss extending recognition to the Communist government of Peking, East Germany and Poland. He said no decision was taken.

Any foreign policy decision can be vetoed by any of the three factions represented in the coalition, pro-Communist and right-wing.

Laos now has diplomatic relations with Communist China, but a Red Chinese mission has been operating for some time at Souvanna's headquarters in Vientiane.

Before leaving to attend a daughter's wedding in Paris, Souvanna cautioned his half-brother not to stir things up which he was doing.

"I am counting on you," said the neutralist premier, slapping his hand on the desk. "I do not want to come back earlier."

After the premier departed, Souvanna took off for Khong Khai, saying he wanted to visit some administrative matters.

The charter provides for five selectmen instead of three; increases the fiscal powers of the town; provides for a board of education; and makes the board of selectmen, rather than an appointive body.
A proposed town charter was presented at a referendum in 1906, but failed to win the approval of 75 per cent of the eligible voters.
