

Algerians Closer to Civil War

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria tottered nearer to the edge of civil war today as 80,000 regular army troops massed southwest of Algiers for a threatened offensive against munitious guerrilla forces holding the capital.

The rebel guerrilla leaders of Wilaya (military zones) 3 and 4 ordered their smaller and less well equipped forces to hold the city at any cost.

They also attempted to drum up civilian backing for their cause, calling on the Moslem population to form human barriers against any advance by the motorized, heavily armed regular troops loyal to Vice Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's Politburo.

There appeared to be scant popular support for either side in the capital. On Friday, 20,000 Moslems paraded through the streets of Algiers shouting "down with civil war." They demanded an end to the chaos which has rocked this nation since it won independence from France two months ago after 7½ years of bloody rebellion and terrorism.

The rebels appeared to have some success in the countryside, where they organized demonstrations in scores of villages and towns.

There was no report that the regular army forces, armed with Soviet and Red Chinese weapons, had received marching orders. However, one group of 2,000 at Tiaré, 150 miles from Algiers, had broken camp, loaded their heavy machine guns, howitzers and recoilless field guns and awaited word to move out.

Their commanding officer, Maj. Ahmed Sadoun said, "The National Liberation (regular) Army intends to establish order in the capita, and order will be established."

The rebels took Algiers last Saturday, forcing the Politburo to flee. The insurgents claimed that Ben Bella's faction sought to turn its de facto government.

Up to Southern Democrats 4 Steel Firms Face Contempt Citations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democrats on the Senate Judiciary Committee appeared today to hold the key to contempt of Congress action against four big steel companies battling against disclosing production costs to Senate investigators.

The Senate Antitrust Subcommittee, a unit of the Judiciary Committee, voted 5 to 2 Friday to recommend that the companies and nine of their top executives be cited for contempt, punishable by a $1,000 fine, a year in prison, or both.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., accused the steel executives of "contumacious conduct" after they failed to appear in response to subpoenas and supply detailed figures on production costs.

The companies are the Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco steel corporations.

The cost data first was subpoenaed last April after announcement of a $6-a-ton steel price increase, subsequently rescinded under pressure from President Kennedy. Kefauver contends the information is essential to evaluate steel pricing practices.

The next step is up to the full Judiciary Committee, a conservative stronghold in the Senate presided over by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss. It is not expected to meet before the middle of next week.

"I think Sen. Kefauver will find it rather difficult to get the Judiciary Committee to recommend contempt action," Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., told a reporter. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said the committee would act only if the steel companies refused to disclose their production costs.

State News Roundup

First August Without Polio

HARTFORD (AP)—August 1962 was a memorable month in the annals of the State Health Department. It was the first August on record without a polio case.

The department began keeping track of polio in 1916.

Dr. Franklin M. Foote, the state health commissioner, said more than one million Connecticut residents have been immunized with Type 1 Sabin vaccine. He urged towns which have not yet embarked upon immunization programs to do so soon.

Only two polio cases have been reported to the state this year. The first, turned up in April in Ansonia where a one-year-old girl was stricken. The other, reported in July, involved a 10-month-old infant who caught the disease in West Virginia before her family came to this state.

CAB Hearing Oct. 2

HARTFORD (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has scheduled a hearing here Oct. 2 to hear arguments pro and con about where a regional airport for southern Connecticut should be located.

Bridgeport and New Haven are both vying for the regional terminal, which would be created by expansion of facilities at either of the two municipal airports.

Gov. John Dempsey, who announced the hearing date yesterday, said the CAB will also hear Eastern Air Lines' plea to discontinue its scheduled service to the New Haven Airport.

CAB examiner Robert L. Parks has been designated to conduct the hearing in the old Senate chamber at the State Capitol.

In addition to New Haven and Bridgeport, the State Aeronautics Department and the airlines serving southern Connecticut will be represented at the hearing.

School Defies State

BRISTOL (AP)—Dewitt Hall, a private, two-year, post-secondary school, defied a state order yesterday despite a threat of prosecution from the state, a school attorney said yesterday.

"I am proud of you for resisting this Communist-inspired force," said the attorney. "I am equally proud there has been no trouble."

Father Schneider, a tall, lean Franciscan priest who has been here for 10 years, told Sheriff Woolton that several priests had been threatened.

Also closed Friday was a church-run school for mulattoes, two Negroes had enrolled Thursday and the mulattoes—who segregate themselves rigidly from the Negro population—protested.

Vital School Pages Will Be Published In Herald Tuesday

The Herald will publish its annual school pages edition Tuesday as a service to Manchester area school children and their parents.

Bus schedules, cafeteria information, home room lists, and plans for the 1962-63 school year will be included on the pages.

School calendars will also be listed.

Integrated Wednesday

BURAS, La. (AP)—FBI agents investigated today reported threats of violence stemming from desegregation of a Roman Catholic school in this small, unincorporated town near the mouth of the Mississippi river.

The school was closed Friday by church authorities, who said they feared violence and insufficient police protection. They indicated they expected to reopen it Tuesday.

On Wednesday, five Negroes and 33 white persons walked past a large white tomb inscribed "None except those of white blood to be buried in this tomb" and started the first day of integrated Catholic schools in Louisiana.

The next day the Negroes stayed away and the white attendance was down to 26.

Less than three hours after church authorities ordered the school closed, U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy ordered the FBI to probe charges of threats.

Sheriff Chester Woolton said his deputies had the situation in hand. A dozen uniformed officers mingled with the crowd of 100 spectators and pupils outside the school Friday.

An hour after the church pastor, the Rev. Christopher Schneider, told newsmen he had decided not to hold classes, Leander H. Perez Sr., excommunicated political boss of Plaquemines Parish (county), went to the school to address the pickets.

"The world—our world—will applaud Plaquemines for its courage," said the 71-year-old Perez, who has had political control of the parish for 40 years.

"I am proud of you for resisting this Communist-inspired force," said the attorney. "I am equally proud there has been no trouble."

Father Schneider, a tall, lean Franciscan priest who has been here for 10 years, told Sheriff Woolton that several priests had been threatened.

Also closed Friday was a church-run school for mulattoes, two Negroes had enrolled Thursday and the mulattoes—who segregate themselves rigidly from the Negro population—protested.

FBI Probes Threat To Catholic School

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration is investigating a common headache remedy ingredient after reports that excessive use may damage the kidneys.

The headache remedy drug—used in a number of trademarked products sold over drug store counters—is acetophenetidin, a 190 known as phenacetin.

In disclosing the inquiry Friday, FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick said the question of possible harm has been raised only in connection with large and repeated doses for ailments other than headaches.

He stressed that the investigation is one of a number now under way. Howard L. Weinstein, acting medical director of the FDA, said in a separate interview that "There is nothing against the drug when it is used normally in recommended therapeutic doses."

Weinstein said the drug generally is regarded as safe, as aspirin and that some physicians believe it is even safer.

Dr. Lionel Jacobs of Sydney, Australia, had told the FDA that 54 deaths in his country over a three-year period possibly were connected with excessive use of the drug.

The FDA accordingly sent questionnaires to about 120 American kidney specialists, asking for reports of any adverse effects following excessive use of the drug.

Larrick said there was a touch of irony in the investigation. The drug was put in the headache remedies, he said, largely because it was safe.

2 Days Before U.S. Shot Soviet Venus Probe Failed, U.S. Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—An informed source says Russia tried a Venus probe shot a week ago but it failed and fragments of the probe are now orbiting the earth. A space agency spokesman confirmed that it has received information of the Russian failure.

The source, who asked not to be identified, said Friday night that the Russians tried their deep space shot last Saturday, two days before the United States launched its Mariner 2 from Cape Canaveral, Fla., for a fly-by of Venus next December. The source said three fragments of the Russian space craft are still orbiting the earth.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration declined comment at first but later said of the report: "That conforms with the information we have."

NASA Director James E. Webb had no comment. Nor was there comment from Moscow.

The Russians have never announced a space shot beforehand, and they have never announced a failure. When a Soviet space shot is successful it is made public.

The failure of the Venus probe could mean Russia will be unable to try again until early 1964. Time is fast running out for such shots, and it will be 19 months before the earth's nearest planetary neighbor is close enough for another attempted probe.

The NASA spokesman declined to give information on the orbital path or the size of the fragments from the Soviet spaceship. But it was learned from other sources that three fragments are on a relatively low and slow elliptical orbit and a fourth piece fell to

3 Others Injured Coventry Driver, 19, Killed in Car Crash

Richard David Bodreau, 19, of Monument Hill Rd., South Coventry, was killed instantly early today when the sports car he was driving, with three other youths in it, swerved out of control, struck a pole and rolled over on Parker St. near Academy St. in Coventry.

The fatal crash occurred at 11:30 a.m. on Monday. Bodreau, 19, of Kingswood Trail, Coventry, was pinned beneath the overturned vehicle. Police freed him soon after they arrived at the scene. He received multiple abrasions and facial lacerations and was treated and discharged at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Robert Cornelius, 17, of 5 Seaman Circle, Manchester, was admitted to the hospital where X-rays revealed a fractured right shoulder and a third passenger, David S. MacLachlan, 18, of Cedar Swamp Rd., North Coventry, were hurled from the car as it flipped over. MacLachlan was treated at the hospital for multiple abrasions and laceration of his right knee.

Bodreau, 19, was born May 19, 1943. He graduated from Windham High School in 1961.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Doris Daniels Bodreau; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Clapp and Mrs. James Breen, both of Coventry; a brother, F. Louis Bodreau, also of Coventry.

The Rev. James R. MacArthur, pastor of the First Congregational Church in Coventry, will conduct funeral services, to be held at the Potter Funeral Home, 456 Jackson St., Williamstown, at 1 p.m. on Tuesday.

Anti-Red Drive Runs into Red

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Fred Schwarz, leader of the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, says the movement financially went into the red for $75,000 in its New York sessions.

At a closing banquet last night, Schwarz described the loss as "financially the greatest defeat we've ever conceived or thought about." But he added: "We're not depressed."

Cash and pledges from about 500 persons at the banquet, in the ballroom of the Commodore Hotel, however, came to $12,210.

The five-day anti-Communist School of Anti-Communism was conducted at Carnegie Hall, with its closing session yesterday afternoon.

Schwarz called the New York venture "a great school... we have accomplished much of what we came to do. We've changed our image in the national press."

"But we've had to spend Western money to do it—and Midwest money," he said.

2 Bay Staters Questioned in Mail-Cash Case

LEWISTON, Maine (AP)—Two Massachusetts men were linked by police today to a shooting, a kidnap-robbery and a stolen car accident, but they denied any part in the $1.5 million mail robbery in Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 15.

Charles J. Alfano, 34, Quincy, and Raymond McGrath, 37, Worcester, were to be questioned further today, police said, by postal inspectors, FBI agents and state and local investigators.

Lewiston police said FBI agents would arrive in Lewiston later in the day and extradition proceedings probably would get under way. It was not determined whether the pair would be extradited to Massachusetts in connection with the shooting, or to Connecticut in connection with the kidnap-robbery.

William F. White, chief postal inspector for New England, said in Boston there might be a link between the two men and the mail robbery and investigators want to explore the possibility.

The mail robbery was the largest cash haul in the nation's history.

State Police Detective Camille Carrier said Alfano admitted he shot and seriously wounded ex-convict Thomas McElhinney, 31, in East Boston, early yesterday. He

U.S. Orders All Planes Shoot Back

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro declared today United States charges that Cuban patrol boats fired on a U.S. Navy airplane over international waters Thursday were "absolutely false."

The prime minister's strongly worded statement to the Cuban press appeared under banner headlines. The Communist newspaper Hoy said Washington's charges were "only a pretext to attack us."

By GEORGE ARFIELD

HAVANA (AP)—Invasion jitters gripped Havana today as Cuban propagandists stepped up charges that the United States is preparing a new attempt to topple Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime.

The jitters stemmed from unconfirmed reports of new landings by anti-Castro insurgents in central and eastern Cuba. The Castro regime, officially ignoring the reports, ordered partial mobilization of the militia and reinforced guards at key Havana installations.

Havana traffic policemen carried stubby submachine guns in addition to their usual side arms, but the city was quiet. However, informed sources said Cuban police have stopped accepting applications from Cubans for travel to the United States "until further notice."

The informants said the order also apparently affects travel by Cubans to other Western nations but does not apply to foreigners coming into Cuba.

No hint was given as to the reason for the decision or when it might be rescinded. However, it apparently will not immediately slow the exodus of Cubans who have been leaving for the United States at a rate of almost 2,000 a week, most by the 16 flights a week to Miami. There is a four-

New Britain Bans Prayers in School

NEW BRITAIN (AP)—When New Britain's public schools reopen next week, prayers as a "collective exercise" will be banned.

The ban is contained in an administrative bulletin prepared by School Superintendent Ralph M. Gantz for distribution to school personnel before the fall term starts Wednesday.

The bulletin was drafted in the wake of the U.S. Supreme Court decision that prohibited official prayer in New York State Public Schools.

The bulletin apparently rules out the prior practice of daily recitations of the Lord's prayer with opening of class in many of New Britain's primary schools.

It presumably permits continuation of reading of a scripture passage by the principal at the opening of auditorium assembly periods in the high school.

Gantz' bulletin said the Supreme Court ruling does not preclude a designated time being set apart for prayer "upon occasion," such as an assembly period, "at which time pupils may silently commune in a manner best suited to religious inclinations."

While prayer as a "collective exercise" is prohibited, the bulletin said prayer "should be encouraged as an individual experience of the pupil, to be exercised whenever he realizes the need for spiritual exercise."

In no matter, however, the bulletin says, "shall the school limit its emphasis on the moral and ethical development of the pupils. Rather, the statistics of juvenile delinquency, gang warfare, rumbles and social misbehavior among our youth call for new and more fruitful academic pursuit of ways and means for developing moral responsibility and ethical relationships."

"This is a joint obligation of the home, church and school. As a highly organized social institution, we need to work more effectively with our partners in this realm of pupil growth and adjustment in this respect. Possibly the supreme court ruling will incite greater activity among us in this regard."

The Persistent Barrier

It would be difficult to realize from the brochure way in which Russia and the United States have been rejecting the very most proposals in the matter of a nuclear test ban, how narrow, how hopelessly narrow, the difference between their two positions has become.

Destiny Plus Armor

For the first time that we have observed, President Eisenhower de Gaulle's mystical sense of his own unalterable destiny seems to have degenerated some compromise. As he two nations, it is the infinity of a discovery when one begins dividing any given distance in half.

Why Not More Holidays?

We would say that this particular Labor Day, when the free-lance elevation of a labor attorney to the Supreme Court of the United States, is perhaps as suitable as any Labor Day for an off-beat suggestion we have been wanting to make for some time. We make it, but rather in what we hope might be considered good-humored sharing of a laborer's joy.

Why Not More Holidays?

What is the difference of position on underground testing between the United States and the Soviet Union? The United States, for its part, will sign a treaty banning nuclear explosions in air, water, or space but insists on continuing to test unless Russia agrees to an inspection system for monitoring underground tests, the right to continue with such underground testing.

Why Not More Holidays?

What Russia proposes, on the other hand, is that we sign the same treaty against nuclear explosions in air, water, or space, but insist on continuing to test unless Russia agrees to an inspection system for monitoring underground tests, the right to continue with such underground testing.

Steps Outlined for Landing On Moon from Lunar Orbit

By Dr. I. M. LEVITZ, Director of the Franklin Institute. Now that it has been decided that the lunar orbital rendezvous technique will be used to land a man on the moon, the question being raised is how does one leave lunar orbit and, once on the moon, how does one get back?

Giants Win, Fail to Gain on Dodgers

Trail by 2 1/2 After Month Of 'Catch Up' Caught in a game of catch-up in a seemingly endless treadmill, the San Francisco Giants have spent 54 consecutive days trying to overhaul the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers. Today they entered the last month of the baseball season, still 2 1/2 games behind.

Have Score to Settle Giants Face Packers In Rematch Monday

It's just an exhibition game, but the New York Giants will have a score to settle this holiday weekend. The score, of course, is 3-0. That's the margin by which the Green Bay Packers humbled New York's proud defense last year in the National Football League title game in Green Bay.

Yanks Boost Lead Inept Challengers Slip Backward

As September dawned a year ago, the New York Yankees had 87 victories, while the Baltimore Orioles, 84, and the Detroit Tigers took the Chicago White Sox, 82. The Yankees led the pennant month by month, and by the end of the season they had 103 wins, while the Orioles had 90, the Tigers 87, and the Sox 82.

How many ears of corn is that? It appears, on close examination, to be five or six ears rolled into one and enclosed in the "same husk." Deborah Grondin found the unusual ear in her backyard garden at 21 Angel St. Deborah is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grondin. (Herald photo by Saternis.)

Rights of Way Ownership Dot Agenda for Directors Tuesday

Several of the items to be considered by the board of directors at the meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building concerning the ownership of road rights of way. One is the acceptance of various easements in connection with the installation of a sanitary sewer in Norwood Rd. and Farm Dr. Another is the proposed purchase of the Olcott Dr. parklet for $1,000. Another is the possible acceptance of deeds to permit realignment of Burnham St., which is being reconstructed. The directors will consider approving assessments for sanitary sewers benefiting portions of Olcott Dr., Falkner Dr., and all of Jarvis Rd., Salem Rd. and Morse Rd. The water department is seeking approval of a $47,000 appropriation from its capital improvement reserve fund for installing 12-inch pipe instead of 6-inch pipe in 900 feet of Linwood Dr. in the Darling Farm subdivision off Keeney St., and to cross Keeney St. on an existing town water main. The water department also wants approval of installing another 600 feet of the 12-inch main at a later date. Other items on the directors' agenda are authorization of a referendum in November on whether the town shall establish a two-year community college; appointment of a successor to Mrs. Charles Pontell on the advisory park and recreation board; appointment of a successor to the late Louis H. Custer as constable; consideration of designating park property south of Oak Grove St. as a nature recreation and education park; setting a public hearing on an increasing appropriation for street lighting; and consideration of revising the Manchester Country Club lease to limit play by non-residents.

LaPointe Industries of 155 W. Main St., Rockville has been awarded a $1 million government contract. Vital School Pages Will Be Published In Herald Tuesday

The Herald will publish its annual school pages edition Tuesday as a service to Manchester area school children and their parents. Bus schedules, cafeteria information, home room lists, and plans for the 1962-63 school year will be included on the pages. School calendars will also be listed.

Citizens Unit To Organize

The federal government helps those who help themselves. This seems the lesson to be learned from the requirement that any town accepting federal renewal money establish a Program for Community Improvement and a Citizens Advisory Council.

The goals of the program are to maintain high standards for the physical condition of the community, to encourage orderly growth and to keep the citizenry informed about renewal programs and needed community improvements. It is designed to supplement the Federal Urban Renewal project that the town recently initiated. The town has established a Citizens Advisory Committee to establish effective citizen participation in all PCI activities. The committee was appointed by the board of directors in June, and will hold its first organizational meeting Wednesday.

Scheduled for the meeting are the election of officers and the adoption of bylaws. A tentative program will be decided upon, and future meeting dates set. Town Planning Engineer Edward Rybczyk, in charge of getting the CAC started, has suggested the establishment of three subcommittees to study problems of housing, planning and development, health, education and welfare. An executive committee will be elected from the 15 appointed members of the committee. The Program for Community Improvement has seven sections: 1-To establish codes such as the new housing code, to insure the maintenance of minimum standards of community dwellings; 2-To encourage adoption of a comprehensive plan for the town; 3-To study areas of present or incipient blight within the town; 4-To assist in the enforcement of codes and ordinances; 5-To develop means for the town to meet the expenses of slum clearance; 6-To help families displaced by relocation to find new homes; 7-To encourage citizen participation in community projects. Members of the Citizens Advisory Committee are Norman C. Colombo, 71 Concord Dr.; Raymond F. Danato, 24 Homestead St.; Edwin F. Dwyer, 52 Litchfield St.; Thomas J. Dziwenda, 49 E. Elbridge St.; John J. Hutchinson, 113 Helaine Rd.; Walter N. Leclere, 23 Main St.; Edward J. Sweeney, 90 Baldwin Rd. Also, Neil Patterson, 104 Baldwin Rd.; Victor Swanson, 30 Hilliard St.; John W. # Parks Again Emcees Miss America Pageant

Bert Parks will return for his eighth year as master of ceremonies of the Miss America Pageant. He will preside over the programs of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening, leading up to the finals which are telecast on Saturday evening.

Offering numerous new features and all the ingredients that have given it the largest audiences of any program of the year on television—last year's Pageant was telecast to an audience estimated at nearly 65 million—the Miss America Pageant again will be telecast from Atlantic City, N.J., over the CBS Television network Saturday, Sept. 8 (9:30-midnight, EDT).

The basic content of the Miss America Pageant program will be the same as in previous years—56 of the world's most beautiful, talented and personable young women, representing the 50 states, the District of Columbia, New York City, Chicago, Puerto Rico and Canada. They will be seen in evening gown and swimsuit competitions; 10 semi-finalists will perform their talent acts; and five of this group, as finalists, will engage in a question-and-answer session to display further their personalities, which the judges will have been evaluating during the entire week in Atlantic City.

Climactic event of the two-and-a-half-hour broadcast will be the coronation of Miss America 1963 by this year's Miss America, Maria Beale Fletcher of Ashville, N.C.

As a new feature for the television audience this year, commentary will be offered by a team of four former Miss Americas, led by Marilyn Van Derbur (1958), who has served in this capacity with male commentators in previous years. In her group of beauty experts will be her Miss America sisters of 1958, 1960 and 1961—Mary Ann Mobley, Lynda Lee Mead and Nancy Anne Fleming.

Their selection as commentators was for the obvious reason that they once held the much sought-after distinction. The fruits of victory still follow them, as do daily reminders that for a year they reigned as Miss America.

Each of the four was asked to estimate how many days a year she does not hear a reference to having been Miss America. Few, if any, they replied, especially when they are making professional appearances.

"You never escape the responsibility of being a Miss America," said Miss Mobley, who since her reign has been making great strides in carving out a career in the entertainment world. "Almost every day I hear some reference," she added.

Miss Mead, Miss Mobley's successor and likewise an alumna of the University of Mississippi, concurred. "Whether on a social or professional level," she declared, "it always seems to be a point of great interest."

Miss Van Derbur noted that when she is traveling or working, there is generally a reference made to having been a Miss America every day. But when she is with friends in Denver, skiing in Aspen or horseback riding in the Rockies, "they are more concerned with the condition of the snow or whether I remembered to bring the lunch."

The most recent of the quartet of Miss America titleholders, Miss Fleming, reported a similar reaction at Michigan State University, where she is a student. "There are very few references made to last year here at school," she said, but when she makes bookings for local or state pageants elsewhere, "naturally it is what people want to hear about."

Singer-dancer Bobby Van will be the only on-stage performer other than Parks and the 56 contestants. He will serve as a partner for Maria Beale Fletcher, Miss America of 1962, who is an accomplished dancer.

These of the program will be "The Magic of Miss America." A variety of magic effects and illusions will be employed to carry out the theme.

Bernie Wayne, who composed the award-winning "Miss America Song" ("There She Is, Miss America") has written several new musical numbers for this year's Pageant. They include "The Magic of Miss America," "A Very Special Girl," "Abbracadabra Alakazam," "Everybody Can't Be A Sinner," which will be sung by 4 contestants who were state winners competing in last year's Pageant, and "Good Night, Everyone."

State pageants have been in progress during the spring and summer months to select the 56 representatives to go to Atlantic City for the Miss America Pageant. The thousands of contestants compete on a local, state and national level for scholarships worth in excess of $300,000, plus other valuable prizes. All national finalists receive monetary and scholarship awards, and the girl chosen as Miss America receives a $10,000 scholarship and upwards of $100,000 in payment from commercial and civic organizations who sponsor her public appearances during her reign. Miss Lenora B. Slaughter, executive director of the Pageant, and Bert Parks, master of ceremonies, commented on the Miss America

Pageant. Miss Slaughter said, "Whatever a girl wants to do in life, she can't do on beauty alone. Miss America is a girl who possesses the loveliest qualities of womanhood—grace, charm and spiritual beauty. Outward beauty is not enough. Miss America is not a bathing beauty contest. It is a pageant in which America's loveliest, most intelligent, talented, personable girls compete for the right to represent all American girlhood as an idea girl."

As for Bert Parks, he commented, "I get a real kick out of being part of the 'Miss America Pageant.' The girls are delightful to work with, and I'm not bogged down by any script."

"This year I hope to win. I finished second last year, you know."

Jeff Spencer (Roger Smith) and Kookie (Edward Byrnes) separately approach the same killers in "The Parallel Capers," the "77 Sunset Strip" story over ABC-TV Friday, Sept. 7.

TV Notebook

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Service

Rita Hayes has had her day in the bright, early morning sun of Today, and now is waiting for the big decision. She is one of the nine or 10 girls who have each had a week on Today, before a decision is reached as to which girl will do the show permanently when Hugh Downs takes over in the fall.

Her week has whetted her appetite for the job, and also convinced her anew that it's a spot for a married woman. (Which she is.)

"The hours would be rough on a single girl," she says. "You have to be at the studio at 4 a.m. for make-up and you're not through until around noon. When I was on, I broke my sleep up—I'd sleep in the afternoon from 12:30 until around 5:30, then again from around 11 at night until I got up at 3. A single girl would have trouble doing that."

Rita Hayes is an Exeter, Pa.,

Rita Hayes

girl who sang with Ralph Flanagan (but she didn't care for "the bus bit") and Vincent Lopez (but she didn't like being "a night people"). She she switched to television commercials.

You've seen many bits and pieces of Rita. Her legs have been used frequently. It's her fingers which do the walking across the Yellow Pages. Finally, her whole, pretty self was seen in the deodorant commercials aired during the Miss Universe Pageant telecast—and she has better looking than some contestants.

Miss Hayes still sings on occasion, but she finds that it is a frightfully expensive way to make a living. To get ready for her last New York club engagement, she says, she spent $1,400 on gowns and arrangements.

"And the lessons! It's $10 for a singing lesson, $10 for a dancing lesson, $10 for a dramatic lesson. If I hire a pianist for a rehearsal session, that's another $7 or $8. You can easily spend close to $50 a week on lessons."

But she figures that all the expense will be worthwhile if she lands the Today job.

TV Personalities

Donald Voorhees

When Eddie Cantor opened in "Broadway Brevities" an unknown youngster of 17 was making his debut as conductor in the pit. He was Donald Voorhees, a youngster from Allentown, Pa. Starting things at an early age was not new for this young musical director. He had been church organist and choirmaster in his home town at the age of 11.

After 21 years as musical director of the "Bell Telephone Hour" on NBC, 17 on radio and 4 on television, Voorhees is perhaps one of the most familiar musical figures in this country. While this does take most of his working time, Voorhees does manage to take a dozen or so engagements conducting symphony orchestras around the country each season. And he never omits his favorite engagement, conducting the Allentown Symphony.

Following his success with the Eddie Cantor musical, he received similar engagements including musical direction of "George White's Scandals" in 1921, Joe Cook's "Rain or Shine," Victor Herbert's "The Right Girl" and five editions of "Earl Carroll's Vanities."

It was from the stage of the Earl Carroll Theater that Donald Voorhees entered radio in 1925. He did a series of weekly concerts over station WBAF (now WNBC) in New York. When the NBC Radio Network was formed the following year (1926) this program became one of the first national music concert series to be heard by millions.

For the next few years Voorhees divided his time between theater engagements and radio, with a few symphony appearances sandwiched in—but finally radio took so much of his time that he concentrated there and finally gave up the theater.

In radio he was musical director for such outstanding programs as "Show Boat," the "Atwater Kent Hour," the "General Motors Show," Ed Wynn's "Fire Chief" series, "The March of Time" and "Cavalcade of America." He also conducted concerts on the "Ford Sunday Evening Hour."

In 1939 and 1940 he conducted "American Jubilee" at the New York World's Fair.

Voorhees is a favorite conductor, not only with his own orchestra, half of whom have been with him over 20 years, but also with the distinguished soloists who have appeared with him over the years. Voorhees brings a special sympathy to singers and instrumentalists, helping them to do their very best in performances.

Any Questions?

Q: Would you please tell me if Perry Como was born in Carnegie, Pa., or Canonsburg, Pa.—Joyce V. A. Perry Como was born in Canonsburg, Pa.

Q: Whatever happened to Venetia Stevenson who used to be on TV regularly?—Barbara M.

A: Venetia Stevenson recently married Don Everly of the Everly Bros. She still does occasional TV work.

Q: Will Tommy Sands and Nancy Sinatra appear on television together next season?—Jan R.

A: So far they are not scheduled to appear together. Sands was recently signed for three Ed Sullivan appearances.

Q: Will "Naked City" and "Route 66" be back on TV in the fall?—C. T.

A: Yes, both series have been renewed.

Q: Could you please tell me where to write for tickets to "Password"—C. T.

A: Write to CBS, 485 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y., and print the word "Tickets" on the envelope.
