Sheinwold on Bridge

By Alfred Stastnowski
The difference between tournament bridge and rubber bridge is that in rubber bridge you play a hand and win or lose. In tournament bridge, you play a hand and win or lose, but you also have to keep track of your score.
The tournament player would go down at three notrump. He wins the first club and tries the diamond finesse. If this finesse works, South may win as many as 12 or 13 tricks.

Maximum Solar Flashes Add To the Dangers of Radiation

By Dr. H. M. Levitt, Director of the Franklin Institute. The Soviet's accelerated efforts in their rocket and satellite series may reflect their eagerness to make a flight to the moon in 1968 or 1970...

Although flares emit a variety of radiation, the dangerous ones are the high-energy protons which arrive on the earth from 30 minutes to 10 hours after the flare...

Spasms come and go with a cycle of about 11 years. It is observed that the sun has three or four major flares in a 11-year cycle which means that there will be a flare about every 3.5 years...

At the beginning of the cycle the sun is quiet and the sunspot activity is low. As the cycle progresses, the sun becomes more active and the sunspot activity increases...

Flares are not visible in observing the sun. Only when the sun is viewed in light of a single hydrogen or other spectral line...

Wearry Giants to Rest After Big Win

Pierce, Stafford to Hurl Tomorrow When Series Resumes in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees today are expected to rest their weary pitchers after splitting the first two games at San Francisco.

Manager Ralph Houk said today that the Yankees will rest their pitchers after the first two games at San Francisco.

After the Sunday game, Houk is expected to follow with a rest day for the pitchers. He would pitch Jim Marshall in his first start Monday and follow with Billy O'Dell, loser of the Sunday game.

Houk says that the Yankees will rest their pitchers after the first two games at San Francisco.

Right Combination Worked for Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—The Giants had the perfect winning combination in the second game of the series. They had a powerful left-handed slugger in the leadoff spot, a right-handed pitcher, a right-handed batter, and a right-handed pitcher.

Underwriters (ACLU), held at Chicago, Ill. Savva, who holds a BS degree in Insurance Administration, is a member of the Hartford Life Underwriters Association. The ACLU each year grants the CLU or CLU Associate Designation to persons in life and health insurance who pass a series of professional examinations and meet stringent experience and ethical requirements of the college.

Savva joined John Hancock in 1957 and has qualified for his firm's Honor Club and President's Club each year. He has also qualified for the Millionaire's Conference three times and was the John Hancock's leading agent in the country in 1961. In each of his five years with the company, he has received the National Quality Award.

James H. Wilson, a former advertising solicitor for The Herald in the mid-1930's, now of the Stamford Advocate, Tuesday was elected president of the New England Newspaper Advertising Executives Association (NENAEA) at the group's annual meeting held in Boston.

Wilson started his advertising career at The Herald while working under Leon Thorp, who is present secretary and advertising director for the firm. Thorp was elected Tuesday to serve for two years on the NENAEA board of directors along with Loren G. Osborn of the Western (R.I.) Sun, Leslie Snow of the Brattleboro (Vt.) Reformer, and Arnold Harklow of the Ward Griffith Co., Boston.

Other officers elected include: Charles H. Miller, Milford (Mass.) Daily News, vice president; Gordon E. MacPherson, Woonsocket (R.I.) Call, secretary; and Nelson Demers, Middletown (Conn.) Press, treasurer.

Retiring president, Kenneth L. Newberry of the Ansonia Sentinel, takes his place as a director for one year.

Robert C. Heavisides of 8 Christopher Dr., Vernon, has been appointed assistant manager of the Manchester office of Shearson, Hammill and Co., at 913 Main St. It was announced this week by Edward W. Krasenics, manager. Heavisides joined the nation's fourth largest brokerage firm in June 1958 and was licensed by the New York Stock Exchange to sell mutual funds in Connecticut after completing a training course program in the Shearson, Hammill office in New York.

A resident of Manchester for more than 19 years, Heavisides graduated from Manchester High School (1951) and received a B.A. degree, while majoring in marketing, from the University of Hartford (1957). He was co-captain of the first U. of H. tennis team in 1957. Today he is a member of the newly formed University of Hartford Alumni Athletes (UHAA).

He is married to the former Sally Farley of Hartford.

HERALD VETERANS

A total of 120 years' service is represented this month by four of The Herald's employees who have reached service milestones.

William M. Anderson, of 40 Henlock St., circulation manager since Dec. 21, 1953, marks his 40th year with the newspaper publishing firm. Also celebrating anniversaries are linotype operators William Munsie of 38 Adelaide Rd., 35 years, and Walter Laidley of 24 Harvard Rd., 25 years, and Mrs. Viva Rogetta, 269 S. Main St., of the business office staff, 20 years.

LOW BIDDER

Alfred Coda & Son, mason contractor at 655 N. Main St., has submitted an apparent low bid of $48,765 for the replacement of window frames and sashes at the Radio Relay League international distance contest held in February and March of that year. He was declared the winner when he established contact with more than most stations in foreign countries.

Other bidders were the Alrae Construction Co. Inc., Providence, R.I., $35,500; Anderson Patcoaks Inc., Hartford $59,000; Conera Construction Co. Inc. at 21 Tolland T-ke, $61,800; and Levco Construction Corp., Suffern, N.Y., $98,200.

A graduate of Purdue University with a bachelors degree in mechanical engineering, Best joined the Hamilton Standard division in 1940.

He is a "ham" radio operator and member of the Manchester Amateur Radio Club. In 1958, Best was the winner of the 24th Annual

BRIEFS

Richard Rampulla, a Plainfield native, has joined Russell P. Insurance as a full time barber at Russell's Barber Shop on 195 Spruce St. Rampulla recently graduated from the Vaughan Barber School at Hartford and passed the State Barber exams. He specializes in children's hair-cutting. Inzinga, who has been in the business for 24 years, has been located at the present address for the past 12 years.

Jack V. Alves of 163 Spruce St., well known instructor of the Manchester Police Department and the Auxiliary Police unit in the use of firearms, last Tuesday marked his 30th year as an employee of the Hartford Electric Light Co. Alves is a mechanics supervisor in the electric firm's transportation department.

Nels C. Johnson of 270 Ferguson Rd. has received the "top award" as life insurance volume leader in the two-month summer sales campaign recently concluded by the Hartford office of the Travelers Insurance Companies.

William C. Carroll of 407 Summit St., administrative vice president of LaBonne-Silverstein Associates Inc. at 153 Main St. is one of 500 delegates, many top independent insurance agents, who this week attended the 20th annual convention of the Mutual Insurance Agents Association of New England, held at Hartford's Statler Hilton Hotel.

Sales and earnings at LaPointe Industries, Rockville, for the fiscal period ended June 30, 1962, were the largest in eight years. Net earnings per share were about 22 cents compared to two cents the previous year. Sales increased over 50 per cent from $1,623,344 the previous year against $2,327,722 this year. Gross profits a year ago were $174,656 against $47,647 this year with net profits of $12,889 last year and $187,824 this year.

James Carroll, former chef at the Walnut Restaurant on Walnut St., is now preparing his delicacies at the Mecca East Restaurant at 1110 Main St., East Hartford, where he features a Monday night Smorgasbord each week.

New Products in the News: Ronson Corp. of Woodbridge, N.J., has introduced a new ladies' electric shaver, "Tara," which the firm says has the largest active shaving area of any ladies' shaver yet produced, making for more efficient shaving than smaller shavers. A "roll-top" guard can be slid over the shaving head to protect delicate skin. In cold weather at a football game or elsewhere, lovers can hold hands comfortably within the same mitten, thanks to the new "Smitten, the Love Glove," offered by Nolan Glove Co. Inc., New York, N.Y. A second, concealed cuff permits two hands to enter the same mitten. It's worn on the left hand with a conventionally made right hand mate. A new pillow is firm on one side, soft on the other. Called "self-just," the lazy foam rubber pillow affords changeable head support and sleeping height. One side has standard latex foam softness; the other has 20 per cent greater density for extra support. Made by Dayco Corp., Dayton, Ohio.

Sisterhood Guest

Mrs. David Saltman of Holyoke, Mass., will speak Tuesday at 9:15 p.m. to the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Shalom. The meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. Mrs. Saltman will lecture and show color slides on "Jewish Studies in Art - from Rembrandt to Chagall."

Mrs. David Saltman

She will compare and contrast the approaches of Rembrandt and Chagall to the Jewish subjects they painted. Paintings selected include Rembrandt's studies of Jewish communal and family life as observed in Amsterdam, his paintings of Biblical themes, and his portraits of Jews, including many famous rabbis. Slides will be shown of the Chagall Jerusalem windows.

Mrs. Saltman is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke (Mass.) College, where she majored in art history and archaeology. She has done graduate work in art history at Columbia University, New York City, and Harvard University Summer School of Architecture, Cambridge, Mass. She has studied with many modern artists and has done free lance commercial art.

Mrs. George Slossberg is chairman of program. Husbands of members are invited to the lecture.

Rec Centers Open Monday For Winter

Manchester's three recreation centers open for the season Monday, offering a wide range of activities for townspeople.

This includes bowling, basketball, dances, roller skating, swimming, pellet gun rifle shooting, and other pastimes for all ages. 'I'm Dickens... He's Fenster'

New Show Stars Pair
As Zany Carpenters

Harry Dickens and Arch Fenster may go down in history as the two best friends since Damon and Pythias. And the former are a lot funnier than the latter.

Harry Dickens and Arch Fenster are the character names of the new ABC-TV series seen Friday nights, with its correct title, "I'm Dickens... He's Fenster." In the title roles are John Astin as Dickens and Marty Ingels as Fenster. And to the casual observer, they seem the most ludicrous pair imaginable to become close friends.

This writer is not a casual observer, however. And Astin and Ingels have become as close as Dickens and Fenster, not alone because of propinquity working closely together five or six days a week.

"We hadda become god friends," says Ingels in that gravelly throaty voice with which he was born. "Leonard Stern told us to." Leonard Stern is the creator and producer of "I'm Dickens... He's Fenster." He had been cerebrating over the idea for years, during the time he was writing for Jackie Gleason, "The Honeymooners," other TV series and some movies.

"I wanted to do a story about carpenters," Stern says simply. "Because I was always intrigued with the way people are intrigued at watching carpenters work. Walk down any city street past a building site. Passersby are constantly observing. And I felt, too, there could be more comedic possibilities in the occupational hazards of carpenters than, say, bookkeepers."

And so, throughout all his other writing assignments, Stern contemplated the antics of his brain-children—carpenters, and finally, about a year ago, the idea started to fall into place.

"Leonard has seen me," Ingels picked up the tale, "when I worked on the Steve Allen show a few years ago. He was writing that show, too. And he wasn't like my mother—he thought I had talent. My mother still doesn't believe I can earn a living in show business. She wants me to be a dentist," he interrupted himself. "No mean feat, be it noted. Ingels rarely stops talking. "Anyway, we kept in touch. And a year ago,

Leonard saw John in a show at UCLA. He brought us together and said, 'See if you guys can live together happily.' Well, not literally. John has a wife and two little boys. They live together happily. But he wanted to make sure we could get along together."

With the promise of a TV series held out before them like a carrot to a hungry rabbit, the men allowed as how they could indeed make like Damon and Pythias. And production commenced. As did the friendship. There are certain exciting parallels in their offstage lives which exist, only coincidentally, in the TV show.

The format of the series has Dickens married, to pretty Emmaline Henry playing Kate. And Fenster constantly bringing home one pretty girl after another—home being Dickens' house, for their approval. Astin is married, to another pretty girl, a former actress named Suzanne Hahn. Martin is a bachelor, and lives appropriately enough in the Hollywood hills. He does date beautiful girls, constantly, although at the time of this writing he is going fairly steadily with one beautiful girl.

"But I don't bring 'em home to John for approval," he says. "There isn't time. We're here on stage 6 at Desilu Cahuenga more than either of us is at home."

"I'm Dickens... He's Fenster" is shot with the three-camera technique originated by Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz about a decade ago with their original, "I Love Lucy." In fact, Dickens and Fenster is shot at the same studio.

"It's more limiting," Leonard Stern concedes, "in that we can never move out of the studio. And at the same time, it's more of a challenge to construct building cities where the boys are ostensibly working within the confines of the stage. We do it because we insist on live laughter. We do not augment the laugh track. We record it exactly as the audiences react to each scene, and it's honest."

And because of this three-camera technique, shot in absolute sequence from the opening scene to the closing, the cast puts in longer hours than on those shows with a three-day shooting schedule.

Says Astin, "Marty and Emmaline and I often get together on

TV Personalities

Frederick Heider

The first vocational ambition of Frederick Heider, producer of ABC-TV's "Voice of Firestone," was acting. After graduation from Milwaukee's Marquette High School, he found his father, Fred, sympathetic.

Dad suggested: "Go to college for a year. Then, if you still want to be an actor, go ahead."

After a year at Notre Dame, young Heider became an actor, serving a three-year apprenticeship at Chicago's Goodman Theatre. He then joined the Globe Theatre Co. which presented streamlined productions of Shakespeare. Fred appeared in more than 3,000 touring performances, which adds up to a heap of iambic pentameter.

His next move was to New York. "They don't teach you, in dramatic schools, how to go into an office and take 'no' for an answer. You learn it the hard way: It's sometimes humiliating," he recalls. "I finally got a job with Orson Welles' Mercury Theatre unit, carrying a spear."

"The next year I worked at the World's Fair, lecturing about and demonstrating an imported car. That small taste of security—a regular paycheck—spoiled me. When it ended, I got a job as a network page for $15 a week."

Meanwhile, he persuaded a New York radio station to let him produce a half-hour program called "Story Shop." He also wrote some of the scripts, directed most, and occasionally cast himself in a choice role. Network officials, impressed by his ambition, assigned him to the script department. In his case, he discovered, this meant carrying scripts, not writing them. But he was "zeroing in" on his target.

Moving from radio to TV, he became associate producer of the Paul Whiteman show. He also wrote and produced shows starring Martha Wright, Earl Wrightson, Billy Daniels; "The Ted Mack Family Hour"; "Club Seven," and "Life is Worth Living."

NEW YORK (NEA) — Lloyd Bridges describes his new show as "a heyday for a ham," but this particular ham is a cautious one.

"The only reason I took this new series," he says, "is because it gave me a chance to act a different character every week. Why, one of the parts has me playing a fat man. I never did that on Sea Hunt."

And so he accepted the offer and The Lloyd Bridges Show came into being. But not before Bridges laid down a few laws.

"I insisted on two days of rehearsal for each show," he says. "I think we're the only program that gets aside two whole days for the actors to rehearse by themselves."

"And then I insisted that we only film three shows a month. I have to do a different part each week, so I must have time to get to know the character, to live with the character before I go in front of the camera."

"On Sea Hunt, I was the same man every week. I didn't need that time to get to know him from week to week—all I had to do was memorize the lines."

Coming Shows

Tom-Tom DeWitt (Ted Bessell) sets out to buy himself a classy auto for $10 by using this meager sum-as down payment on a typewriter, using the typewriter as down payment on something costlier, and so on, in "It's a Man's World" on NBC-TV Monday, Oct. 8 (7:30-8:30 p.m. EDT).

Ensign O'Toole (Dean Jones) arranges an "unofficial" leave so Seaman White (Bob Sorrells) can visit his newborn son, but White winds up in Bangkok instead of Omaha and O'Toole winds up in trouble, in "Operation: Daddy" on NBC-TV's "Ensign O'Toole" Sunday, Oct. 7 (7 p.m. EDT).

As in the scripts, Ingels is the clown of the group and Emmaline is the understanding feminine type.

"I'm so darn understanding," she says with a grin, "that when I do get married, nothing my husband or his friends do will astound me. I've run the gamut of antics with these two characters. They're both just marvelous! In fact, I owe the part on the show to Marty."

Marty and Emmaline had known each other socially, and when the two men were cast for the title roles, they knew Stern was interviewing practically every girl in Hollywood for the part of Kate. Emmaline was vacationing in Mexico City; Marty reached her there; she flew home to audition for the part, and was thus set for the series.

"Fine thing," she says ruefully, "date one fellow, end up married to his best friend!"

Giants Leading 2-0 After Five

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees led the New York Giants 2-0 at the end of five innings of the fourth game of the 1962 World Series today by virtue of Tom Haller's two-run homer in the second.

Haller's smash into the lower right field stands off the ace Yankee pitcher, Whitey Ford, scored Felipe Alou, who had opened the inning with a double.

A crowd approaching 70,000 watched in almost perfect weather as the Giants, trailing the Yankees by one game to two in the best-of-seven series, sent Juan Marichal to the mound to oppose Ford.

The Yankees threatened in the second, but Marichal was master of the situation. Roger Maris opened the inning with a hard drive to left center on which Willie Mays made a spectacular running catch as Alou, the left fielder, slid under him to avoid upsetting Mays. Jose Pagan knocked down Elston Howard's smash behind second and retired him. Moose Skowron then hit a 440-foot triple over Mays' head in center field but he was stranded when Clete Boyer flied out to Harvey Kuenn.

NEW YORK (AP)—World series play by play:

GIANTS FIRST (0)
Hall of Famer Bob Feller threw out the first ball. Kuenn flied to Tresh. Hiller lined to Kubek. Boyer threw out Mays.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

YANKEES FIRST (0)
Kubek walked on a full count. Richardson struck out and Kubek was caught in a run down between first and second. Hiller to Marichal. Cepeda to Hiller to Marichal who made the tag. Tresh singled up the middle. Mantle struck out on a 3-2 pitch.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

GIANTS SECOND (2)
F. Alou doubled inside the third base line. Kubek threw out Cepeda. F. Alou holding second. Davenport struck out. Hiller smashed a 3-2 pitch into the lower right field stands for a home run, scoring F.

Cut or Reward Bowles Urging Changes in Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential adviser Chester Bowles has proposed a carrot-and-stick approach to nations seeking U.S. foreign aid.

In a memorandum being circulated among top Kennedy administration figures, the former undersecretary of state suggested that some nations, such as Greece, Venezuela, Argentina and Chile, be cut off from direct foreign aid until they make important internal reforms.

He said other nations, such as India, Pakistan and Colombia, for efforts on their own behalf, should be rewarded with increased aid through international lending agencies.

"Why should American taxpayers continue to underwrite governments of nations with relatively high per capita incomes which are unwilling to collect the necessary tax from their own privileged people?" the report, made available to the Associated Press, asked.

Bowles, adviser to President Kennedy on the underdeveloped nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America since stepping down as undersecretary in February, proposed that nations seeking U.S. foreign aid be divided into four classifications. Those in the first group should be "tacitly denied direct project assistance," Bowles proposed but added that they should not, however, be ignored.

Bowles' four proposed categories for foreign aid applicants:

—Nations with per capita gross national product of more than $350 whose financial problems result from "misuse and maldistribution" of their wealth. The report listed in this category nations such as Greece, Venezuela, Lebanon, Cyprus, Singapore, Chile, Panama, Uruguay, Jamaica, Trinidad, and Argentina. These nations should be refused direct financial aid, Bowles said, but the United States should advise them on such areas as land reform, taxes and foreign exchange.

—Nations with a gross national product of less than $350 per person but which show "outstanding competence and courage in mustering their own resources. Among them he included Pakistan, India, Taiwan, El Salvador, Colombia, Nigeria and Tunisia.

Textbook Flight'

Schirra Reluctant To End Space Hop

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Walter M. Schirra Jr., America's most widely traveled space pilot, says he came back from his "textbook flight" six times around the world on one suggestion for the next U.S. space venture: Just move up its launching date.

He came back from that flight reluctantly, said the 39-year-old Navy commander.

"I would like to have gone for 12 more (orbits)," he said.

Schirra's flight was a nationally televised news conference Sunday that at one point in his 9-hour, 15-minute flight he completely cut himself off from ground control.

To conserve the power supply of his Sigma 7 spacecraft, he said, he threw a switch cutting off the electrical system, which would have allowed ground control stations to bring him out of orbit in an emergency.

"From the beginning," he said, "I wanted to turn off the armed squib (control box), which means that it is my capsule and no one can bring me back until I put the switch back."

He left it off until Christopher Kraft, Project Mercury flight director, told him: "I think you have proved our point, old buddy."

As he told the story of Wednesday's flight, Schirra made 9 hours and 15 minutes in the weightless

Truman Faces Slander Suit

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman left Evansville Sunday with a libel and slander suit threatened against him for remarks he made about Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., at a Democratic rally Saturday night.

Truman departed from his speech text to charge that Capehart once asked him to reach a settlement with John L. Lewis in a postwar coal strike crisis to keep Capehart from losing $10,000 a day.

Capehart branded it a "fantastic lie" and added, "I will make Truman pay for that statement."

He said he was "amazed that a former president would make such a statement" and that he would file suit after the Nov. 6 election.

Truman expressed no surprise at the denial, but said his story was the truth, adding: "There were just the two of us in the office."

The ex-president didn't give the date of the alleged incident. He

11 Firemen Hurt In Theater Blaze

WATERBURY (AP)—Eleven firemen were injured yesterday when a fire caused an estimated $25,000 to $30,000 damage to a movie theater, the Lido, 236 South Main St.

About 75 movie patrons, most of them children, were escorted safely to the street when the fire in the basement of the building was discovered.

The blaze was discovered shortly after the first show ended yesterday afternoon.

Two of the firemen were hospitalized for injuries. The others were treated at the scene to $30,000 damage to a movie theater, the Lido, 236 South Main St.

Fire Chief Francis J. Scully and his driver, Lt. Leo J. Kierman, were admitted to St. Mary's Hospital after treatment for smoke inhalation. They were reported in good condition.

One fireman, John Zukauskas, was treated for a back injury. The other firemen were treated for smoke inhalation.

Fire officials said the blaze apparently broke out near the boiler room in the basement.

An alarm was turned in when a patrol detected smoke in the lobby.

The precise cause of the fire was not determined immediately. Theater seats were damaged by smoke, but the fire was confined to the basement.

The movie house is owned by John D. and William Sirica.

On Sept. 30, a fire broke out at the rear of the State Theater here on East Main St. About 50 patrons were evacuated from the building safely. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Extended Forecast

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP)—The extended Connecticut forecast for Tuesday through Saturday, Oct. 13:

Temperatures are expected to average near normal with little day-to-day temperature change. Some normal high and low temperatures are: Hartford 67 and 43; New Haven 65 and 43; Bridgeport 66 and 46.

Precipitation should total between a quarter and half an inch as rain toward the end of the period.

New Coed College

BRIDGEPORT (AP)—A new coed Catholic college will open in the Bridgeport diocese next year, Bishop Walter W. Curtis has announced.

Although a site for the school has not yet been chosen, classes will definitely begin in September, the Bishop said Saturday, the day before leaving for Rome to attend the Ecumenical Council.

The four-year college will be for day students only, he said. It will be staffed primarily by Catholic laymen.

Bishop Curtis said the school will eventually have an enrollment of 2,000. First consideration will be given to applicants from the Bridgeport diocese, he said.

Freshmen will begin attending classes at the institution next fall, even if they have to use temporary buildings, the Bishop said.

Rep. Miller Aboard Plane Lost in West

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP)—A search of the rugged northern California coastline was planned today for a missing plane carrying U.S. Rep. Clem Miller.

A light, twin-engine airplane with the California Democrat aboard was last heard from Sunday afternoon in bad weather over this seacoast town about 20 miles south of the Oregon border.

Pilot George Head of San Rafael, Calif., radioed he would make an instrument landing a few moments before the plane vanished on a 240-mile flight from Santa Rosa, Calif. Head's son Ronald, 13, also was aboard.

The 45-year-old Miller represents California's 1st District, in northern California. He was campaigning for his third term.

Don Clauson of Crescent City is the Republican candidate.

Miller, a native of Wilmington,

Dorticos Raps U.S. Plans School Prayer Review Set

Bible Reading In Class Also Before Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to take a further look at the whole question of prayers and Bible reading in public schools.

It announced it will review:—A decision by a three-judge federal court in Philadelphia that a Pennsylvania law requiring bible reading in public schools violates the federal Constitution; even though the state constitution provides for the recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

In its last term, the high court ruled unconstitutional a prayer which New York State authorities had directed be used in public schools.

The court held that this official prayer breached the Constitution's provision for separation of state and religion.

In the Pennsylvania case to be reviewed in this term, the special three-judge Philadelphia federal court declared that Pennsylvania "has seen fit to breach the wall between church and state" by its bible-reading statute.

The state's attorney general, the Pennsylvania superintendent of public instruction and the Abington Township School Board in suburban Philadelphia, appealed to the high tribunal to reverse the decision. The appeal said that to ban bible reading in morning opening exercises in schools would be to ignore the traditions of this nation.

Edward L. Schempp, member of the Catholic church in the Abington section of Philadelphia, began the litigation. His children attended Abington Township schools. He contended the state plan to ban bible reading, even though the Legislature in 1959 provided pupils should be excused.

Meredith Returns To Mississippi U. Release Near For Prisoners Held by Cuba

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Negro James H. Meredith resumed classes without incident at the University of Mississippi today, starting the second week of desegregation at the 114-year-old institution.

In Washington, the Army announced it was pulling out about 2,000 troops now at Columbus, Miss., and Memphis, Tenn.—the first withdrawal of regular forces sent to Mississippi since riots greeted Meredith's arrival eight days ago. National Guardsmen have already been withdrawn.

About 14,000 troops still remain in the Oxford vicinity.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Supreme Court rejected an appeal by the state of Mississippi contesting court orders that led to Meredith's enrollment.

Justice Department officials plan to talk to student leaders to enlist their help for student acceptance of Meredith. The federal men contend they are "not asking them to like it, but we're hoping there will be some respected students" who can silence the catcalls and jeering.

A scattering of boos greeted Meredith when he came out of the university cafeteria Sunday night. About 130 persons waited outside for him to leave.

Two unidentified white students shook hands with Meredith as he walked toward his apartment in Baxter Hall, a few strides from the cafeteria.

Federal military forces remained in Oxford, snuggled in the north part of the state about 170 miles from Jackson. The weekend was quiet, what with the homecoming football game between Ole Miss and the University of Houston transferred to Jackson by orders of the Defense Department.

Ole Miss, ranked seventh nationally in last week's Associated Press poll, won its third straight game by routing the Texas 40-7. Meredith's personal bodyguard of about 20 U.S. marshals reportedly is seeking permanent quarters. However, one Justice Department spokesman said re-

HAVANA (AP)—Release of 1,113 Cuban prisoners captured in the April 1961 invasion appeared imminent today. A negotiator for the families of the captives said it seemed that "all went well, thank God."

Apparently only a few formalities, such as the wording of the communique, remained to be settled before the men are set free and flown to the United States.

The optimistic impression came from Mrs. Berta Barreto de los Heros, Havana representative of the Cuban Families Committee. She refused to elaborate on her comment that all seemed well. She said she was pledged to silence during the final stage of the talks.

The likelihood of an impending break was strengthened by a quick trip from Havana to Miami by New York attorney James B. Donovan, negotiator for the families' committee. Speculation arose that Donovan, who flew back to Havana Sunday night, had arranged special transportation to Florida for the prisoners.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government asked $62 million for all prisoners taken in the Bay of

Walker Freed, Agrees to Test By Psychiatrist

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who denies he's guilty of federal charges evolving from riots at the University of Mississippi, will undergo psychiatric examination this week.

The former army officer, charged with inciting an insurrection and seditious conspiracy, flew home to Dallas Sunday and greeted by about 200 flag-waving supporters.

He was released late Saturday from the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield, Mo., on $50,000 bond, posted by his family.

Release came only after he agreed to submit to a psychiatric examination.

Walker was jovial and talkative—the point his lawyers would allow.

Amid signs of "Welcome home Gen. Walker," he told his supporters, "I'm happy to be back in Texas. The air is clear, bright and wonderful."

"It was supposed to be a short trip to Mississippi, but it was extended to Missouri—much to my surprise."

During a news conference, his attorneys repeatedly advised him not to answer questions surrounding his actions at Ole Miss, where violence erupted when the federal government forced the enrollment of Negro James H. Meredith in the previously all-white school.

"Although I could live on my pension," Kowalski said, "I am not going to sit on my front porch."

Stating there was too much to be done, Kowalski added: "Only new world is on the brink

Sees War In Cuban Blockade

By MAX HARRERSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—In a speech interrupted frequently by anti-Castro hecklers, Cuban President Oswaldo Dorticos Torrado today branded as "an act of war" any U.S. move to impose a naval blockade on his country.

The Cuban president called on the 108-nation General Assembly to condemn the United States. At the same time he challenged Chief U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson to stand up and give guarantees that the United States plans no attack on Cuba.

Stevenson took the rostrum briefly to accuse Dorticos of abusing his privileged position by attacking the U.S. with unparalleled columny and misrepresentations during a ceremonial speech.

He said he would not "descend to the levels reached" by the Cuban president, but instead would abide by the U.N. tradition of not answering a chief of state directly in the assembly hall.

He promised, however, to answer him shortly at a specially called news conference.

In grave tones, Dorticos reminded the delegates that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had warned that any attack on Cuba means war.

"We believe in the sincerity and value of those statements of solidarity by the Soviet Union," he asserted. "If the United States does not believe it, then it does not understand what principles mean."

Dorticos' reference to a U.S. naval blockade brought a prolonged burst of applause from the Soviet bloc, a small group of African delegates and some visitors in the public galleries.

He spoke for an hour and 45 minutes.

At the conclusion of his speech, a group in the public gallery unfolded a grey banner with bold black letters reading "Stop Kennedy. Hands Off Cuba."
