ILA Shutdown Binds Coasts

NEW YORK AP — A strike by longshoremen—the dock workers who load and unload ship cargoes and baggage—has tied up shipping operations all along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. President Kennedy's plea to postpone the walkout for 90 days went unheeded. Some 81,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), by estimate of the union's president, are involved in the strike, affecting major ports from Searsport, Maine, to Brownsville, Tex. The walkout began promptly at 8 p.m. Sunday, the very minute an 80-day federal court strike injunction against the ILA expired. The government, acting on Ken-

Joy and Sorrow Mark Bounds Of Christmas

By GEORGE W. CORNELL The festival has many faces. Some are sad. Some are funny. Some are loving and generous. Some are cynical. They are the faces of Christmas. By deeds and words, people traced their imprint on the occasion. It was a mixed image, mirrored in little episodes here and there, in attitudes, circumstances and incidents. They formed a varied tableau, breaking through the general mass mantle of decorations, crowded stores, ringing carols, holiday time off, bulging traffic and parties. There was the rushing woman shopper in Waterville, Maine, who piled armloads of gift purchases in the back seat of someone else's parked car, then drove home in her own, a similar model. A newspaper account of the unexplained cargo of packages enabled Mrs. Louis Carey to get them back. In Providence, R.I., there was the buoyant and benevolent bus driver who veered off his route, in a burst of yuletide chivalry, to take passengers directly to their destinations. Most everyone aboard was laughing as the bus rolled on its zig-zag course, the driver grandly puffing a cigar. A pair of small boys, Pee-wee, age 7, and Fatty, age 9, got themselves locked in a Cambridge, Mass., department store overnight, in a world of whirring toys and goodies. Next morning, they were found laden with treasures filled with candy. One was clomping about in a pair of huge new shoes. There wasn't only humor in the Christmas countenance. There were also the marks of sorrow, the empty chairs at the family tables, and sometimes the slim fare. In Carmichaels, Pa., where 37 men died in a coal mine explosion three weeks ago, 65 children are without their fathers this Christmas, and 34 wives without their husbands. Many of the families were going on, in their grief, with efforts to observe the day. "Mom said Dad would like it that way," said Delcie Boyd, 13. In Vineland, N.J., it was a time of agony for Mr. and Mrs. William Jones Jr., whose boy, Billy, 3, died in his blue snowsuit, disappeared Dec. 19. His gifts lay in the attic. There will be Christmas for the two other small children. "But I won't bring down Billy's gifts," Mrs. Jones said. Unless, unless... In Philadelphia, a 16-year-old boy will spend Christmas, solemnly aware that on the day afterward, he will be confined in a youth disciplinary house for an indefinite term. A court proscribed the prospect because the boy had struck a school teacher. Sentence was deferred until after Christmas. These are only examples of the admixture of distress that comes in many forms, in many places, even amid the festivities. But there are other qualities, too. There is the large heart, the bounty, and the tenderness. A San Francisco woman, reformed and married after years of frequent jail terms for vagrancy or drunkenness, visited the jail she once occupied with gifts. Before boarding a chartered plane for Detroit, Hoffa fired a parting shot. "Verdicts by the attorney general must cease," he said. "We have a right to believe that every man should be treated equally." Neither Hoffa nor Neal would comment on the judge's announcement that he was impaneling a special grand jury to investigate the alleged jury tampering. The judge unsealed the transcripts of two secret court sessions which preceded the dismissals from the jury of Mrs. James Paschal of Woodbury and Grain Fields of Nashville. The records told of "a long series of suspicious calls" by Larry Campbell, business agent of the Nashville local with Mrs. Paschal.

Airlift from Cuba Unites Captives and Exiles in Joy

Ransom Is $53 Million In Supplies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Operation Ransom roared into action this Christmas Eve to continue an airlift of 1,113 prisoners of Cuba's Communism to freedom and wildly joyous family reunions on free U.S. soil. All the indications were for a full-speed effort to wind up the job begun Sunday. The day's first plane load—109 more survivors of the unsuccessful April 1961, Bay of Pigs invasion—touched down at Homestead Air Force Base at 10:24 a.m. It seemed possible the whole job would be completed in the afternoon. Today's first flight brought the total on free soil to 535. The airlift brought 426 men to Florida from the San Antonio de los Baños military airport outside Havana in the spectacular Sunday operation before suspending for the night. The halt was sudden and without explanation of the last of four flights deposited its humanstoo-foods cargo on free soil. The pilots of planes waiting in Cuba then decided, however, to spend the night there and resume, rested, in the morning. This meant the vigil kept throughout Sunday by many thousands of anxious, weary prisoners' relatives had to be faced again on Christmas eve. All the pent-up tension of a long, prayerful campaign to free the 1,113 invasion survivors exploded in a roaring storm of emotion as Cuban exiles got their first glimpses of wan, tired young men brought in by a spectacular Operation Ransom shuttle. DC's supplied by Pan American World Airways flew between Miami and Havana carrying to freedom plane loads of men exchanged by Fidel Castro's regime for $5 million worth of food and medicines sorely needed in Cuba. The first plane landed at 6:06 p.m. EST. Sunday, carrying 108 pale, tired men who suffered bitter defeat in their attempt to liberate their island nation and repeated humiliations at the

'Liked the Way You Managed' Yuletide Cards to JFK Praise Crisis Handling

WASHINGTON (AP)—A deluge of Christmas cards with greetings from the warm hearts of Americans—and even from people in other lands—has been pouring into the White House at a rate of 1,500 a day. They offer President Kennedy words of prayer, confidence and encouragement. They give him thanks and praise. Those from important people—and there are many—and a sampling of those from ordinary people have been forwarded direct to the chief executive at his holiday hideaway in Palm Beach, Fla. He doesn't have the time to see them all. Yet every one is counted and catalogued at the White House. Let's leaf through 80 pulled at random from the mountain of Christmas mail from just plain people. They come from as far away

Baldwin Urges Court Program Of $20 Million

HARTFORD, Dec. 24 (AP)—A $20-million courthouse building program to replace what he calls the existing "horas and buggy" facilities is being proposed by Chief Justice Raymond E. Baldwin of the State Supreme Court of Errors. Baldwin, also chief administrative officer of the Connecticut judicial system, wants five new Superior Court buildings to replace the 14 existing courthouses by 1974. He also recommends the addition of seven Superior Court and three Common Pleas Court judges to ease the logjam of cases. In a detailed preview of requests he will make to the 1963 General Assembly, Baldwin said most of the existing courthouses were "inadequate and ill-suited for the efficient administration of justice." Construction of the new courthouses would be spread over 10 years under the Baldwin proposal. Baldwin also proposed scrapping the current system of eight Superior Court and Common Pleas Court districts, based on county lines, and replacing them with 14 courthouses spread across the state.

News Blackout Hits 17th Day

NEW YORK (AP)—This city of avid newspaper readers appeared headed today for the longest newspaper blackout in its history. This is day No. 17. The longest newspaper blackout on record occurred at this time of year in 1958, when a strike of newspaper makers kept the nine major dailies off the stands for 19 days, resulting in an estimated total of $30 million lost in advertising, circulation revenue and employees' wages. International Typographical Union Local 6 struck four of the papers Dec. 8 in a contract dispute, whereupon the other five voluntarily suspended publication. Peace talks between the ITU and the Publishers Association of New York have been recessed and are not due to resume until Wednesday.

4th Move to Jail Hoffa Ends in Failure for U.S.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Justice Department failed again for the fourth time in five years to put James R. Hoffa behind bars. The $1-million conspiracy trial of the Teamsters Union president wound up with a hung jury Sunday. After the judge declared a mistrial, several jurors said the vote was 7 to 5 for acquittal. Hoffa was accused of conspiring with a Michigan car-hauling firm to violate the Taft-Hartley Act's ban against payoffs from employers to union officials. The complex trial began Oct. 22. As he released the jurors, U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller ordered a thorough investigation into heretofore secret FBI testimony that two Hoffa associates tampered with or tried to influence two members of the jury. The two jurors were replaced by alternates earlier this month. The jury received the case Friday and deliberated 17 hours, including three hours Sunday. Upon receiving the jury's fourth report that it was hopelessly deadlocked, the judge dismissed the panel. "I dislike very much the idea of not having the case resolved one way or the other after all of this labor and effort. However, there comes a time when, if the members of the jury cannot agree, they cannot agree, and that is it," Judge Miller said. Hoffa said he was disappointed he was not acquitted but gratified he wasn't convicted. James F. Neal, special assistant to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy

Have you ever asked a nine-year-old to tell you the story of Christmas. If she tells it with a picture, she might use crayons. Triangular white stars glow over brown mountains in a blue sky, except for a big gold star flashing through a window... There is an orange angel, white-winged, with an orange halo, guarding a frame manger. There are only two Wise Men, because the orange is small, and only one camel. There is a child, swaddled in orange, watched over by a peach-robed, hatted Joseph and a blue-robed Madonna who are kneeling on yellow straw. The artist is Elizabeth Marie Blanchfield, 81 White St., a fourth grader at Bentley School. (Herald photo by O'Hara).

The Greatest Story Ever Told

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.) And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David.) To be taxed with his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"
by John Gruber

Last Wednesday, in a review of the actual sound, seems to me the only piece of music treated in this manner, and so by implication it should be the greatest work ever composed. This is not the case. It's a great chorus, but it certainly isn't the greatest musical work in existence. As a matter of fact, most of the music on the album stands up for it on the continent of Europe; this custom persists only in England and America.

"Nobody stood up for its first performance, which was in Dublin, by the way. I've never heard it there, and I don't know what the attitude of the music brought him to his feet spontaneously. The custom dates from the London premiere, when George II got to his feet during this section of the work, and his subjects were forced to follow his example. Nobody knows just why he got up, but that case, you would get up during the performance, not before you heard a note of the music. That's the custom that has been passed down to us by a British king."

One lady carefully explained this to me over the telephone, adding that "the music just naturally brings you up on your feet." In that case, you would get up during the performance, not before you heard a note of the music. That's the custom that has been passed down to us by a British king."

After reading an earlier column on the punishments of the dark ages, another friend reminded me that it is mostly in waters where discipline has been modified by the minor offenses behind the iron curtain. He said he too could cite an example of perhaps a not too well known torture from the dark ages that might interest our readers. It seems that during the reign of Henry VIII (1509-1547) he invented this one (among others): The penalty specified for a seaman guilty of sleeping on the watch for a fourth time "The him under the bowsprit of the ship, give him a blacuit, a can of beer and a knife, so that he can make the interesting choice of starving to death or of cutting his bonds and falling into the sea." Not much of a choice... but to go from the ridiculous to the sublime, what a choice of fine cars you can have right here, right now! And what values! USE NOTRUMP PLAY AT TRUMP CONTRACTS
BY ALEXANDER SHEINWOLD
If you open up a bridge play-er's hand (which may be a good idea, at that), you will find all sorts of plays fled away in separate compartments. For "Notrump Only," one compartment may be labeled—and that should tell you that you've opened the wrong lead. Don't use such a lead in your own hand.

Both sides vulnerable
Opening lead—King of Diamonds.
West opens the king of diamonds, and South wins and draws trumps. South next leads the nine of clubs for a finesse, losing to the jack.

Back comes the seven of spades, and South has to give up what kind of lead he has.

Most declarers would play a low spade from the South hand. West plays the eight or the ten, which ever is needed to force out dummy's queen.

Continues Clubs
South gets to his hand by ruffing a club and then winning the king with the ace of spades and ruffing the king with the king of clubs.

Now East leads his other spade, and West takes two spade tricks to defeat the contract. South loses his bid, and North is sympathetic in the dictionary.

If the contract had been notrump, South would have known to play the spades. After losing the king with the ace, South would have played the king of spades on East's first spade ruff.

If West failed to win the trick, South would have only one spade left. He would have known to play the ace of spades and ruff the king with the king of clubs.

What do you say?
Answer: Bid two spades. Raise an overall about as light as you would raise an opening bid. If partner has a mediocre hand for his bid, he will not rely too heavily on your raise; if he has a good hand, he will not rely too heavily on your raise; if he has a good hand, he will not rely too heavily on your raise.

Police Chief Urges Highway Caution

Manchester Police Chief James M. Reardon today urged that all motorists on our Manchester roadway be with us to welcome the new year. If you drink, don't drive, he retorted.

"We can still get to grandmothers' houses on our Manchester roadway, by going by driving with courtesy, responsibility and sensitivity. Let's survive the holiday season and enjoy the ones to come," he said.

With Christmas giving, children will be receiving new sleds and ice skates.

The chief has issued a special warning for safe sledding and skating. "Keep children from sliding in the streets—use new covered hills; and ice skaters should do their skating on safe ponds where supervision is provided. Manchester has a number of skating rinks and facilities for safe sledding parties. Let's enjoy them," he added.

Chamber Asks Early Action On 2 Master Plan Proposals

The Manchester Chamber of Commerce has recommended that immediate consideration be given to two aspects of the town's proposed master plan, establishing new industrial zones and constructing a new north-south connector.

Initially suggested by Nicholas Fencher, chairman of the Chamber's Industrial Development Committee, the two recommendations have been adopted by the Chamber's board of directors.

Asked an industrial zone land property west of the Wilbur Cross Highway on Tolland Tpk., the Chamber feels this area will be particularly suitable for industrial expansion because the junction of Rts. 84 and 10 and Interstate 291 will be built there.

The location would take advantage of the overflow of industrial traffic from the North End Renewal Project, or other such assistance programs.

The Chamber's Industrial Development Committee is willing to meet with town representatives to further explore the possibility of establishing a north-south connector.

Pole and I told the real Santa Claus to Rochester, N.Y., one of the mistakes that turned up in a special mail box for children's Christmas letters was a typewritten demand for payment of a bill appended with this note in an adult's handwriting: "Dear Santa: Please pay this at once."

The mingled faces and moods of Christmas, with its joy, tears, poignance and hilarity is a large package.

Through it all runs a special spirit, a particular flavor, that shows strength even in tragedy, and merriment even in the clamor and the fear.

That blended note of sentiment and gravity, was in the appeal of a Texas girl, Miss Charlie Brown, to the News-Collier, shortly to release her fiance from jail in time for a Christmas Eve wedding.

"I was a little girl I would write to Santa Claus," she wrote. "But I believe you're the only one who can help."

The sheriff called the parole board, which agreed to early release of Otis E. Calhoun, 40, who had been sentenced Nov. 15 to 60 days for driving while intoxicated.

The sheriff wired Miss Brown: "Get out the wedding bells. Your 200-pound Christmas present is on its way."

It was a laudable mood, a softening note and a helpful hand that gave the central theme to this holiday commemorating the coming of Christ to help a helpless mankind.

In cities across the country, agencies and organizations sent out the gift of 25,000 packages. In New Hampshire state troopers rounded up 1,200 gifts, from state employees for needy kids.

In many places, the kindness and grace of the season was expressed in side-by-side with the hardship of the laugh, tears and mile.

In St. Louis, at a school for blind children, all of them were given new dolls and packages. Mrs. Fanchal was dismissed Dec. 6, said Commercial Carriers set up fields was replaced just hours before the case went to the jury. Chamber Asks Early Action On 2 Master Plan Proposals

The Manchester Chamber of Commerce has recommended that immediate consideration be given to two aspects of the town's proposed master plan, establishing new industrial zones and constructing a new north-south connector.

Initially suggested by Nicholas Fencher, chairman of the Chamber's Industrial Development Committee, the two recommendations have been adopted by the Chamber's board of directors.

Asked an industrial zone land property west of the Wilbur Cross Highway on Tolland Tpk., the Chamber feels this area will be particularly suitable for industrial expansion because the junction of Rts. 84 and 10 and Interstate 291 will be built there.

The location would take advantage of the overflow of industrial traffic from the North End Renewal Project, or other such assistance programs.

The Chamber's Industrial Development Committee is willing to meet with town representatives to further explore the possibility of establishing a north-south connector.

out into the glare of television lights and flashlight bulbs. The men were taken once to the base's processing center for identification by health and immigration officials before being given dinner in a room with Christmas decorations. Then they were taken to Miami and the auditorium, and to scenes of wild joy.

Many of the men seemed surprised to believe it was true. The 213 men who had been confined at the Isle of Pines prison camp were told only Saturday night that liberation was imminent. From the Dinner Key Auditorium reception center, some simply dropped from exhaustion in their chairs.

Crowds waiting for the prisoners since early Sunday morning had gone through eight hours of tense flight by the firm announcement was made that the first liberation aircraft had taken off from San Antonio de Los Baños military air base, 8 miles southwest of Havana.

The men were processed after landing at Homestead Air Force Base, 26 miles from Miami, fed a hearty roast beef dinner and then brought by bus to the auditorium in Miami. For hours there they sat in a room that was swept by gates of emotion.

Young fathers showered kisses on infant children who they had never seen. Gaudy veterans of flight were hugged and wept tears of joy. Wives, wrapped through the milling crowds to throw themselves into the arms of husbands they had not seen since Brigade 206 departed for the ill-fated adventure at the Bay of Pigs.

Complete strangers grabbed the Latin backslappers and clasped them in "abrazos," the peculiarly Latin back-slapping, bear-hugging embraces.

Ten thousand wives, sweethearts and kinfolk spent most of Sunday night cheering and crying with happiness as buses discharged their young men at the doors of the auditorium.

It had been packed with almost intolerable tension.

Small crowds had gathered early in the morning, since the word was that the first plane load of men to be ransomed would arrive by 11 a. m. That hour passed, and another and another. It was nine o'clock before the first of the liberated prisoners set foot in the United States.

The reason, apparently, for the delay was that Cuban wanted to inventory the main down payments on the ransom: $11 million worth of food and drugs taken to Havana by the freighter African Pilot. It arrived in Havana harbor at 2:30 p. m.

The captain of the freighter and Americans aboard her connected with the operation found Prime Minister Fidel Castro on the scene in a merry mood. He told them he had declared a 24-hour "state of peace" with the United States for the occasion of the exchange, and he even escorted them on a personal tour of Havana.

In Miami, thousands of Cubans exiles waited in an agony of suspense. Of the 100,000 or so Cuban exiles in the Miami area, about 20,000 are close relatives of the Bay of Pigs invaders.

Just the moment they sometimes scarcely even dared hope for arrival. The first plane load of prisoners touched down at Homestead Air Force Base, in the Miami southern Colaba watching the drama on television roared out their cheers.

One woman fainted from the excitement. Another gaped, "My God, they are really coming now."

Darkness had closed in before a second plane touched down an hour later and prisoners stepped demand that longshoremen cut their work gangs from 20 to 27 men, saying a larger number is "feather-bedding." The ILA says it will not "negotiate our men out of business."

As soon as the current without began, pickets appeared at such points as New York; Newark, N. J.; Houston, Tex.; and Lake Charles, La. No picket lines were planned for some ports, including Mobile, Ala., and Providence, R. I., ILA spokesmen said. One ILA spokesman said that city at 4 p. m. after being delayed six hours by fog on Chesapeake Bay—stood fully loaded alongside the dock when 2,500 Baltimore longshoremen struck at 5 p. m. They had refused to touch her cargo.

"How long will the strike last?" "Who knows?" said David Aiston, an ILA international vice president at Hampton Roads, Va. "We've just now pulled the plug out of the barrel."

Even before the strike dead-line, the United States Lines announced cancellation of two sailings this week—a Caribbean scheduled for Wednesday, and the transatlantic crossing of the liner United States, set for Thursday.

The vessels will be laid up at Newport News, Va.

White-collar workers or passengers will have to put the baggage aboard the 20m Lines vessel itself before it sails today.

The dock workers said Longshoremen in Portland, Maine, completed loading the ship's cargo just before the strike dead-line.

Economic effects of the strike go beyond possible price rises on merchandise. In New Orleans, two local claims a membership of about 4,700. But some 14,000 people who work around the Gulf Coast are tied up by the strike, according to Alfred C. Lantieri, ILA spokesman.

At Lake Charles, La., port director John Grah said the port will lose $50,000 to $60,000 a week due to the shutdown.

Shippers may find a ship operator about $1,000 a day when a vessel remains docked. In New Orleans, about 21 vessels were at anchor in the Mississippi River, unable to leave port. Thirty-six other ships got out on the final day.

Fifteen hours before the walk-out, President Kennedy's message asking for a postponement was opposite the formal greeting.

From youngsters and adults there were expressions of approval for the formal greeting.

One card posted on the USS Forrestal, the aircraft carrier, pictured four jets hauling Santa's sleigh. On it a member of the 13th Squadron 101 told his commander in chief: "Thanks for your stand in the Cuban crisis. It makes me proud to be an American."

She told the President she saw him worship two weeks ago at a Palm Springs church and added: "You looked different than in a telegram. You look younger."

WASHINGTON (AP)—An experimental tractor tire has outperformed a regular tractor tire by 40 per cent under average operating conditions in tests conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture engineers.

The treadless tire has a stable casing, with cords in parallel, rather than diagonal layers. The tread base is stiffer than the regular tread base, and the rim width is three-and-a-half inches, as compared to the regular tire's three-and-a-half inches. All changes make for better distribution over the soil, the tests showed.
