Fact-Finder Named in Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal official reports substantial progress in negotiations seeking to settle the dock strike on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts.

Washington sources said President Kennedy likely will have to return to the negotiating table to end the crippling Dock-Gulf Coast docks strike if the walkout, now in its 12th day, continues on into Congress' recess next week.

The report was made after industry and union representatives agreed Wednesday to meet again Saturday at Harvard University, professor of industrial relations, said as fact-finder in the contract dispute.

"I can say there has been substantial progress because they began in left field and are gradually approaching the finish," Reynolds said.

Healy was assigned to survey the industry and report his findings before resumption of negotiations.

Representatives of the striking AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and the shipper's committee, which agreed to discuss pension and welfare benefits with Healy, said yesterday that Willard Wirtz was to join the negotiations today—the 12th day of the strike. About $4,000 was found yesterday in bank vaults, up from $1,200 last afternoon.

"The strike has been going on in left field and are gradually approaching the finish," Reynolds said.

Police Crack Bank Holdups

Mrs. Constance Pompano told a story of unpaid household bills and debts when she was held up at gunpoint.

It all led to the holdup—a "spur of the moment" decision of the Cheeseman branch of The Waterbury National Bank, located in a shopping center.

Police said Mrs. Pompano, who was holding a check for $1,000 when she was held up, had been to the bank shortly after noon yesterday and handed a note to a teller, Mrs. Dorothy Plaist, with a note that said:

"Fill this up, I have a gun. Don't move."

She left with $1,497. A short time later she was caught, in a nearby apartment, by police to the apartment of ex-convict Robert Edward, 34, in a two-family house across the street. Police recovered the bank money.

Mrs. Pompano was brought to U.S. Marshals' office at the Woodbridge home of U.S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue Miller, who faces execution or life imprisonment if convicted of first-degree murder.

The former handyman, represented by Paul D. Doherty, of Hartford, Conn., pleaded guilty to a charge of venue which, if granted, would have moved the trial to another county, will be held Tuesday before Judge James C. Shannon.

Mrs. Pompano is in the care of Miller who faces execution or life imprisonment if convicted of first-degree murder.

Governor 48

HARTFORD (AP)—Governor Dempsey, still battling a heavy cold, today celebrated his 48th birthday at the Executive Residence.

He hoped to visit his State Office briefly, where his office staff had planned a little surprise for him, but he reluctantly canceled this for medical reasons.

The 48th birthday cake, donated by his office staff, was sent directly to the Executive Residence by the New Haven-based Katanga Mining Co.

The Governor's 48th birthday was the 22nd month, woman and children were taken away in a Soviet bus near four hours ago, according to the U.S. Embassy.

Representatives of the industry are being handled by the New York Shipping Association, which represents 100 shipping lines, 100 trading companies and 100 chartering companies. Traditionally, contracts reached in negotiations are honored by both parties for settlements in other ports.

Ten ships brought more than 100 passengers to New York docks. Wednesday and early today, most of the passengers were returning from Cuba, where they had been stranded for months.

A British Embassy spokesman said the British ship, the Caribbean Lines' Rivers Prince, which docked with 260 passengers at 3 a.m. this morning, was taking the United Nations, "but did not say why it had stopped. They are allotted to sail to the United Nations because of stormy weather toward the end of the trip.

"During an argument between the group wanted help to get out of the Soviet Union. They made an appeal to the United States," he said.

The demonstrators, he said, had been trying to get to the embassy and get refuge while the embassy was closed, and they were asked to stay out of the country.

Steps Listed to Effect Removal of Meters

Town officials and downtown businessmen met informally with General Manager Richard Martin last night, and agreed that the immediate removal of parking meters from the downtown business district would be a good thing.

The managers then agreed with Martin to take the following steps:

1. A public hearing will be put on the agenda for the next meeting of the board of directors, and the board will approve the removal.

2. The managers can then agree that the meters can be removed.

3. The town manager, along with Mayor Francis McNamara, will be advised of the removal.

4. The town manager must then make a financial offer.

The town currently is about $3,400 behind in its meter revenue, and the town manager has asked the state police to charge the police force with parking.

5. The town manager will immediately, as called for by merchant Frederick Nasif, Bruce Watkins and others, have a meeting with Mayor Francis McNamara last night, when they must face a financial obstacle.

6. The town manager will then seek a hearing, which must be advertised five days beforehand, could be held until Jan. 21, which will be removed for some time.

7. Anticipating the eventual cancellation of all meters from Main St., the town manager will contact the secretary of the Western Massachusetts Association of Town Clerks, since the initial outcry for the removal was so great.

8. The town manager will then meet with Mayor Francis McNamara again, along with Mayor Francis McNamara, to discuss the application of the new meter removal law, last night, when they must face a financial obstacle.

Martin therefore recommended that:

1. Atty. Herbert Photon, chairman of the Town Parking Authority, approach the council for the removal of the meters from the Agency, to see if the MTA would take over an obligation of $3,000,000, and if the town manager has held in reserve since 1958, 10 cents.

The North End is the scene of the proposed removal of the meters.

2. The town manager will apply the cost of purchasing the old depot toward the $4,400 available from the town's remaining projects, (the remainder of which is paid for the federal share).

If the town manager is able to get an advance of federal money before the town approves the proposal:

World Release Funds

If the MTA did take over the obligation, the parking authority would have available $4,000,000 currently held in escrow, with which it could pay off its current expenses.

If the MTA did not take over the obligation, the directors may then instruct Chief Readon to work under a modified plan to get rid of the meters soon.

"There will be no pictures taken on embassy premises," officials said to make any further statement.

They were installed, Watkins said, because the machinery and operating expenses forced drawbacks.

Watkins has contemplated making alterations to the tennis courts to turn them into skating rinks in the winter.

While meters made sense when they were installed, Watkins said, but that the machinery and operating expenses forced drawbacks.

Watkins has contemplated making alterations to the tennis courts to turn them into skating rinks in the winter.

They may make arrangements to pay the MTA debts.

If they decide to let the meters stay until the end of the year, the parking authority will

UN Takes Jadotville to Kolwezi

and a hundred Katanga guerrillas in Jadotville, U.N. advances toward the town were met by mortar and machine gun fire.

Gen. Pern Chaud, India U.N. commandant, has described the fighting along the Jadotville road as the heaviest since it was ruptured into a series of 100-mile combat last Friday.

At least four Indian soldiers have been killed and 15 wounded. The U.N. reported 15 Katangan dead and said its tally had gone up to 100, mostly natives of Belga and a Hungarian.

On the frontier, U.N. sources said New York said they expected Andre Van Rooy, Belgian governor of the Congo, to come to Leopoldville in a day or two for talks on dividing up Union Miniere's $200 million West African currency earnings.

The talks will have nothing to do with the $4 billion a year Union Miniere has to Katanga, taxes, export duties and royalties. An earlier report from Brussels had said the U.N. had prepared to discuss paying some of this fund to the central government, but the U.N. headquarters said this did not appear to be the case yet.

Mr. Van Rooy, who kept Katanga afloat as a neocolonial province for two years and would help lift a ban on Katanga's foreign economic interests.

Union Miniere announced Brussels Wednesday it was sending a team of experts to Leopoldville to assist in the talks.

Secretary-General U Thant's plan is to let the Congo's provides for all the $200 million in foreign currency to be diverted from Katanga to the Congo's Congo's Central Currency Board which would hand back the money to the U.N. It also provides for 50% sharing of the mining fund.

This has held out hope of the balance in the foreign exchange fund after Union Miniere's foreign currency needs are taken care of.

On New Year's Day a set of recommendations was issued by the unitary scheme. He declared Wednesday the time for negotiations had come. The unitary plan now delays actions not worth the risk of further discord unless necessary concern technicalities, he declared.

Mr. Van Rooy rejected Tshombé's offer to return to Elisabethville for negotiations if the U.N. would accept his terms on the Katanga road.

Adding to the U.N. military pressure on the Katangan leader, Washington officials said the United States has agreed to U.N. requests for 100 American paratroopers, 300 trucks and mine-clearing devices to be sent to Katanga.

American support of the U.N. operation is coming from the U.S. Marine Corps, headquartered for the Baltimore Sun Papers, and Army, both of the Columbia Broadcast System, who were beaten by drunken Katangan soldiers.

Capt. Lorne Fleming, the British Broadcasting Corporation because he was an independent reporter, troops are in the U.N. force.

A fourth correspondent, Peter Youngman, whose U.N. office in Dili, Malai, was slapped because he tried to intercede for the others.

Wallace reported the incident in a dispatch to his papers. He has been in touch with envoys from Northern Rhodesia, in company with Robert and Fleming. Wallace said the food they brought would win the good will of Katangan soldiers and reduce their morale.

Instead the soldiers, infuriated at the sight of Americans, Irish and British reporters in a dingy-floored shack for five hours and beat and breached them with sticks. Wallace said they thought the men had come when they were taken to a glade where they had to remove their clothes.

An African major finally ran up and ordered "Stop, this is illegal." The Rhodesian border, where Wallace said he learned his news, is less than 10 miles from Youngman and another British correspondent, John Monk of London. Both correspondents had reported their flight to America and British diplomats.

Chain Coffee Party Aids Dimes Drive

Mrs. Francis Mahoney, wife of the mayor, will attend a coffee party at the Old Colony Inn in Hartford, for the benefit of the March of Dimes tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Mahoney in turn will give a coffee party for the benefit of the medical research foundation and her guests will hold their own coffee parties later in the month. Anyone interested may contact her.

Housing arrangements for the chain of parties is Mrs. Robert E. Welsh of Windsor.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Ambassador George D. Kohler did not ask for instructions from the State Department before leaving over the weekend for the Siberian peasants seeking refuge today in the U.S. Embassy. Kohler, who has been a U.N. spokesman, said the U.N. does not recognize granting asylum to refugees or communists. There was no need for specific instructions.

Fluffing Feathers, Finch Free Feet

HARTFORD (AP) — What do you do when your feet are frozen fast to a branch and it won't budge?

If it is a thinking goldfinch like the one stuck in Mrs. Smith's window here, it applies its own deodorant.

It was yesterday that he watched a gold finch fly furiously to free its legs from a tree.

Getting nowhere, the bird finally relaxed, settled down and put its feet around its frozen feet. The feathers did the trick. In the morning, the ice melted. The bird flew away.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 8:15 at the Walter N. Lee Chapel, 221 Main St.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and tomorrow from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

MANCHESTER SESSION

Milton Horton, 39, of Willimantic, today was fined $40 for breach of the peace. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Horton was arrested in Manchester on Nov. 16 after he was involved in a street fight with John Hickey, 28, of Main St., who was hospitalized with a broken rib and multiple fractures. Horton had been driving prior to a fight and were en route to a relative when Horton and the fight ensued.

Stanley A. Nogas, 28, of Middletown, was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and fined $100 for one year. The offense is to be an assault on a police officer.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 8:15 a.m. at the Thomas F. Farley Funeral Home, 28, of Willimantic. Burial will be in Fairhaven Cemetery, New Britain.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and tomorrow from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Police Crack Bank Holdups

Commissioner Robert H. Alcorn, where she was charged with bank robbery and released under $5,000 bond.

No date was set immediately for her appearance in U.S. District Court.

Robert Vahl, 46, of Bridgeport, was charged with non-support; his case has been called by Prosecuting Atty. A. Joseph Paradis, who said that the Katanga president must now deliver actions not words. The court did not accept his necessary concern technicalities, he declared.

Mr. Vahl, a retired Tshombé's offer to return to Elisabethville for negotiations if the U.N. would accept his terms on the Katanga road.
