

Brandt Party Wins 89 Seats

BERLIN (AP)—West German voters gave their Socialist mayor, Willy Brandt, a smashing vote of confidence Sunday in their first municipal election since the Communists built their Berlin wall. Brandt's anti-Communist Socialist party won 89 of the 140 seats in the city's new Parliament. They had 77 deputies in the 135-seat house elected four years ago. West Berlin's small Communist party, never represented in Parliament, lost a third of its popular vote. This was blamed largely on the wall. The Communist vote declined from 31,570 in 1959 to 20,827 ballots. In percentage of the total votes, they decreased from 23.9 to 15.3 per cent. The Christian Democrats, led by Franz Arndt, deputy mayor in Brandt's coalition government of Socialists and Christian Democrats, won 41 seats, a drop of 14. They lost over 100,000 votes. The Free Democrats, not represented in the old house, doubled their strength and entered the new city Parliament with 20 deputies. Political observers agreed that the city election outcome gave a new key to the West German political situation. Berlin, like most big German cities, is a tradi-

Court Rejects Curbing Right Of War Absent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional by a 5-4 vote today two acts of Congress which strip citizenship from persons who stay abroad in wartime to avoid military service. The court majority said the two acts failed to provide procedural safeguards which the Constitution demands, and therefore they could not stand. Justice Goldberg delivered the majority opinion. Justice Harlan dissented in an opinion in which Justice Clark joined. Justice Stewart also had a dissenting opinion in which Justice White joined. The high court majority reasoned that the two acts amounted to "punishment by withdrawal of citizenship." They declared that punishment can never be consti-

3 Die in Crashes, Widow in Flames

A weekend in which three persons were killed in accidents in Connecticut was capped early this morning by the death of a Wethersfield widow in her flaming house. The body of Mrs. Madeline Munton, 65, was found badly charred in the ruins of her four-room home at 18 Dale Rd. The cause of the fire was not immediately known. A Sunday night crash in Stamford took the life of 40-year-old John T. Gillan of that city. Police said Gillan's car swerved off High Ridge Rd. and struck a utility pole. Killed early Sunday in a high-way accident in Middletown was Richard A. Sylvia, 35, of Waterbury. Of the other seven occupants of the station wagon, two—Lois Jaynes, 23, and Carlson Evans, 21, both of Waterbury—were seriously injured. The driver, Anthony Britto, 39, also of Waterbury, was charged with negligent homicide and released in $100 bonds. Britto's car missed a curve on Rt. 6A and crashed down an embankment. Early Saturday morning, Michael Cecconi, 19, of Milford was killed when a station wagon crashed into an abutment on the Conn. Tpke. in Norwalk. The driver, James R. Cottrell Jr., 20, of Milford, and Richard J. Brown, 27, of New Haven, suffered broken bones and were hospitalized.

Two Boats Make Visit In Mystery

BELEM, Brazil (AP)—Under constant U.S. air and sea watch, the hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui was anchored in Brazilian waters today with her pro-Communist captors reported ready to surrender to Brazil. A Brazilian government source said the ship will be taken into custody, but the government has indicated that the pro-Communists who seized the Anzoategui will be given asylum and not turned over to Venezuela. Wilmar Medina Rojas, leader of the band that seized the ship on the high seas last week, was quoted by Havana radio as sending this message to Rio de Janeiro: "We are anchored in the territorial waters of Brazil between the mouth of the River Amazon and Maraca Island. We are awaiting Brazilian authorities aboard. Signed, Wilmar Medina Rojas. Maraca Island is about 300 miles northwest of Belem. The river Amazon flows into the sea near the northern tip of the island. The naval base here earlier announced that Brazilian ships were keeping watch on the 3,127-ton freighter. Another destroyer, the Bertog, was putting out from Belem on an ocean survey mission. The navy base said she could easily be diverted to the Anzoategui. The Havana broadcast said two members of the Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN) are en route to Recife, Brazil, to negotiate asylum for the hijackers. The pro-Communist forces of the Venezuelan government seized the ship after she put out to sea last week, in an effort to embarrass President Romulo Betancourt, an enemy of Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro. The incident failed to accomplish one aim—to prevent his visit to the United States. Betancourt flew to San Juan, Puerto Rico, and will leave from there Tuesday for Washington. The U.S. research vessel Gibbs, manned by civilians, is keeping a sea watch on the freighter 23 miles to the east, said an Associated Press dispatch from Paramaribo, in Surinam, Dutch Guiana. The freighter anchored off the Brazilian island Sunday. U.S. Navy planes fly overhead, reportedly they could detect no sign of activity aboard the ship. The ship flew no flag and showed no sign of having steam

Hiking Hordes Raise Blisters Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A hike-happy nation set another blistering pace over the weekend. And blistering it was for the feet of all who tried. They included a governor, a Democratic national committee woman, two sheriffs, two disc jockeys, college students. The governor, Nevada Democrat Grant Sawyer, 44, massaged his blistered feet after a 25-mile trek from near Carson City to Gardnerville, Nev. "The last thing in the world I would do is to challenge another governor to go through this misery. My advice is to stay home," he said. President Kennedy started it with a revival of a 1962 military order by President Theodore Roosevelt to the U.S. Marines. Completing the hike with Sawyer were seven persons, including Lucille Reed, Democratic national committeewoman from Salt Lake City, Utah. A television newsmen lugged a 10-pound camera the entire distance. (Continued on Page Three)

108 Cities Report Epidemic-Level Flu

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Doctors were down with the infection. Other doctors and nurses gave up their weekends to treat long lines of patients in the emergency wards. Many of the victims were children. At least 25 Memphis policemen were absent Sunday with respiratory infection and several firemen were ill. Flu cases were on the increase in other portions of Tennessee, but still under normal levels. Two southern Indiana counties, Clark and Floyd, reported up to 10 per cent absenteeism because of flu and the Clark County health officer described the outbreak as the worst in 30 years. It was not believed to be the Asian type. One flu death was reported in Ripley County where school absenteeism ranged up to 25 per cent. Flu-type diseases were abating somewhat in parts of Virginia and Kentucky. One Louisville hospital reported a sharp drop in the number of cases and several schools expected to reopen, but four northern Kentucky hospitals asked visitors be curtailed. The Elks Home for the Aged at Bedford, Va., had its 14th death from flu-type diseases in two weeks. The North Carolina Health Department reported 65,994 cases in the state last Friday. The Arizona Health Department said it knew of only one case of Asian flu in the last month. Outbreaks of flu-like cases appeared to be decreasing in Connecticut.

300 to Retrain

HARTFORD (AP)—Seven new job retraining courses involving 300 unemployed workers have been approved by Connecticut. Governor Dempsey announced today the courses, financed by $100,000 in federal grants under the Manpower Development and Training Act, will be held in five communities and include six occupations. Connecticut was a pioneer in this retraining program and the pilot projects were started here. Under the new courses the following will be given: New Haven: Sales person, 40 trainees; formal-wearer, 30 trainees; and cook, 30 trainees. Middletown and New Britain: Sewing machine operator, 30 trainees each. Norwich: Outside machinist, 30 trainees. Bridgeport: Machine operator, 30 trainees. Since the state's retraining program began in 1961, 2,600 trainees have participated in 130 completed courses.

Merchants Readying Celebration Sales

George Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22, is being celebrated in Manchester this year, as it has been for the past few years, by a giant sale sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Retail Division. Preparations for the event are progressing at a fever pitch, as Manchester's merchants line up their most outstanding bargains for the single day event. A small group of stalwarts, out on their lips across the sound, undertake in mid-winter. Less reverent historians have suggested that Washington's experience in the frozen boat provided him with the necessary practice for a later and somewhat better known incident, when he stood in the bow of a small boat to observe the far banks of the Potomac. Portraying Washington in the historical re-enactment is Joseph Garman, also chairman of the Chamber's Retail Division. Accompanying the mock-general are Chamber president Frederick Nassif, in the bow, Creighton Shoor beating the drum (probably for warmth), James DeRocco with the merchants' re-enactment. Hickenlooper Says Kennedy Weak on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa said today Republicans intend to continue to "call attention to the failures, weakness and confusion" of Kennedy administration foreign policies. Hickenlooper, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, accused the Democrats of glossing over the hemispheric danger presented by the Soviet military bastion in Cuba. "The Republicans are not going to follow blindly a mistaken and troublesome policy," he said in an interview. "We intend to continue to call attention to the failures, weaknesses and confusion of recent policies. All you have to do is look around the world to see something is wrong." Although he did not couch it as such, the statements of Hickenlooper—senior GOP member of the Foreign Relations Committee—obviously were made in answer to charges by Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., that Republicans were endangering free world unity by "divisive partisan and irresponsible attacks on our nation's foreign policy." Fulbright directed his criticisms in a weekend statement primarily toward New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa. Rockefeller and Goldwater are possible candidates for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination. In a major defense of President (Continued on Page Eleven)

Lavish Suites for Lawmakers

EDITOR'S NOTE—About $100 million is being spent to provide more office space for members of the House of Representatives. Why so much to provide an extra room for each of 435 members? John Becker takes a close look at the project. By JOHN BECKER WASHINGTON (AP)—The vast shadow of a new House office building lies across Capitol Hill today, and across the desks of members busily seeking ways to whittle President Kennedy's budget. Those who pause in their pursuit of economy to look at the massive structure, still uncompleted, may find themselves haunted by the words of the late Rep. Russell Mack, R-Wash. "How can any member of the House hereafter criticize the administration for extravagant spending if we ourselves vote approval of this grandiose project?" Mack asked. How grandiose is the project? Burning out to be? When ready for use in about 18 months, the new building with its three-room office suites for 160 members will have cost $83 million. The members who move into the House of Representatives along with added facilities of the building, at a cost of $483,000 each. Renovation of the present House office buildings to enlarge their two-room offices to three rooms will bring the total cost of the project to about $100 million. Since the original aim was to provide an extra room for each of the 435 members, the taxpayers will be spending $220,000 per added office room. It was back in 1967 when Rep. Mack asked his question about extravagant spending on the project. The new office building then was just a gleam in the eye of Speaker Sam Rayburn. A huge hole marked its site. Mack's question went unanswered. No answer was really needed after Rayburn stated firmly during the 1967 debate: "I know better than any other man in the House that we need this additional room." Today a 10-story structure named the Rayburn Building in honor of the late speaker is covering two city blocks—rises from the site that had only a large hole in 1967. The building also will have a swimming pool, nine committee rooms, a cafeteria and five private dining rooms. There will be parking space for 1,600 cars. Each suite really has a fourth room for a receptionist, and also includes two bathrooms and a built-in refrigerator. The committee rooms will rival movie palaces in elegance and space. Once the new building is occupied the two existing office buildings will get a top-to-bottom renovation at an estimated cost of $18.5 million. Each member in these will be provided with a three-room suite of the House into three office buildings while its membership has remained the same—435—as when only one building was needed, reflects the increased work congressmen have taken on. U.S. as Nuclear Chief Faces Allied Discord

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP)—In the give and take of a fast-moving conference President Kennedy sometimes crashes through the careful restraints worked out by his official advisers and voices in loud, clear words the some hard truths of international relations they would prefer to soft pedal. In the last few days under the stress of question and answer the President has thus thrown the insight of sharp understanding on one of the problems involved in the present disarray of the Western Alliance. This is the problem of U.S. leadership. It arises in many different contexts and it appears to be much on the President's mind. A little more than six weeks ago in a year-end review of his administration he stressed the need to get things done even at the cost of disagreement and unhappiness in friendly capitals. He does not conceive of the United States as being in a popularity contest. He sees it in today's dangerous world as saddled with a lonely responsibility to see that the necessary things get done at the right time and in the right way to save the world from nuclear destruction and from Communist conquest. The problem as Kennedy sees it—the problem which is at the core of his differences with French President Charles de Gaulle—came clear in a few flashing phrases at his news conference last Thursday. Kennedy was talking about creation of a nuclear force under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Missiles with nuclear warheads may have to be fired on five minutes notice, he said, and the decision to fire may have to be almost instantaneous. "Who is going to be delegated on behalf of Europe to make this judgment?" the President asked. "Someone has to be delegated with that authority. "If it isn't the president of the United States it will have to be the president of France or the prime minister of Great Britain, or someone else." His remark appears to have been more generous than practical. It does not appear to be possible that the total and final control over nuclear forces almost entirely supplied by the United States would be handed over to the chief of a foreign government. The issue which the President therefore sharply posed is the use of American leadership. In the present state of international affairs it is essentially the question of whether the Allies now, in changing circumstances, will accept that leadership as a more or less permanent, more or less decisive arrangement. So long as the United States had a clear monopoly of atomic power it was in position to make its will felt not only in the military but in other fields of foreign policy. With the postwar growth of economic prosperity in Western Europe, with the rise of Soviet nuclear weapon capacity, with the development of limited nuclear (Continued on Page Four)

Student Flight Damaged Red African Plans

By HANS BENEDET VIENNA (AP)—Communism has lost a battle in Africa. The defeat will could influence the future course of young nations on the Dark Continent. The battle was lost in the minds of African students who went behind the Iron Curtain and found Communist talk about the equality of man only a lure. They are coming back with the same accusation of racial discrimination they once hurled at their white colonial masters. Chinese and Ethiopians left Communist Bulgaria last week. They led what may total an estimated 350-500 African students after a series of incidents which exploded into a violent protest demonstration in Sofia. The Africans, most of them in their 20s, told of racial abuses, police brutality, indoctrination, deportation, arrests and fear of deportation. Bulgarian authorities hurriedly assured African and Western dip- (Continued on Page Three)

THE WAY I HEARD IT
By John Gruber

It occurs to me that I have never attended the recital or the house for the debut of some of these young men. There are a great many of them, of course, and they are seldom appreciated. Few of them become famous, but there have been some who were so good that they would draw a house on their own accounts, regardless of who might be billed as the leading attraction.

One such accompanist was Conrad Bos, another was Frank Lee. Forgo and more recently we have seen him on the stage with his many recordings, although he does not appear as an accompanist in the country. Incidentally, he has written a book on the subject, and he has been on the radio. The Kahn is still another name who seems to me to be an international reputation.

In general, however, they are more or less obscure, however competent they may be. Without these simply wonderful talents, recitals for singers and violinists simply cannot perform alone for a while, but the public takes them for granted, and even critics are inclined to do the same thing. In general, they make records when they are at the high school in the field. They get paid, even if others were incompetent, they were distinguished.

Incidentally, Miss Strinas was a musical unknown at the time, but last year was at the top of the list. She was accompanied by a young production of "Christopher Columbus" at Italy's famous Teatro. I wonder how much of her success was due to the fact that Mr. Strinas was a young man who understood her abilities, her limitations, and her artistic conceptions.

Plans for the new commandant will be announced in the near future. He also served as a member of the state committee in 1962, and as a state officer.

Osgood is married to the former Miss Sylvia Accomaco of Bolton. The couple has two children, Laurie and Benton Jr.

The special referendum to be held Saturday, Feb. 24, will be on the question of whether the state should prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages to persons under 21 years of age. The vote will be held at 10 a.m. at each polling place.

The referendum is being held in connection with the general election on March 19. The state will also vote on whether to change the date of the general election to the second Tuesday in November.

Bolton Selectmen See Use of Hall By School as 'Impractical'

The selectmen will tell the school board that the use of the town hall for school purposes is "impractical." The school board has proposed to use the hall for classroom space, but the selectmen believe that this is not the best use for the building.

The selectmen are concerned about the safety and security of the building, as well as the cost of maintaining it. They believe that the school should find other ways to expand its facilities, such as building a new school building.

Andover '62 Grand List Up $1 Million

Last year's valuation was reflected in the total of the grand list filed with the town clerk's office. The assessors report a new total of $2,700,000, an increase of $1,600,000 over last year's figure.

The increase is due to a number of factors, including the construction of new buildings and the increase in property values. The town clerk's office is currently processing the grand list and will issue the final assessment roll in the near future.

Just about the time today's edition of The Herald goes to press three questions uppermost in the minds of Manchester High basketball fans will be answered. In order they are: (1) Where will Manchester play its first game since 1956, upsetting the Crusaders 85-75. (2) When and where will it be played? (3) What will be the date of the season's opening game?

The answers will be provided by Tournament Director John Ruskey at a press conference at the high school today. The annual pre-tournament meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium where the team will play or when they will be away from school for a busy week to come.

The Rams will be expected to qualify for Class A competition. This huge field, which may well reach 50, must be held in place at the end of Saturday night's action at the first round of play. The quarterfinals are scheduled a week later at the University of Connecticut Fieldhouse.

Thus it stands to reason, then, in many teams may have to play twice between the opening day of the season and Saturday night.

Should Miss Prelims... Because of their 14-2 record, the Indians should miss the preliminary round. If that score stands, they will be in the 17th place in the playoff round. The Rams will be expected to qualify for Class A competition. This huge field, which may well reach 50, must be held in place at the end of Saturday night's action at the first round of play. The quarterfinals are scheduled a week later at the University of Connecticut Fieldhouse.

Sophomores Key Men In Rockville Success

By HOWIE HOLCOMB
Imagine for a minute you're a high school basketball coach. During one season the following things happen: An expected starter is declared scholastically ineligible before the season opens, one of your high scorers is hurt and lost for more than two-thirds of the schedule, called man on the club is sidelined, then hospitalized with an injury, and finally a backcourt man (one case already weak) is also "hot" down by the books.

What would you do? Take gas head for the bulls, quit in disgust, yell John Canavari did this and that at Rockville, he delved in to the bench, and came up with a flock of sophomores who did not look like they were directed the Rams into the Class B post-season CIAC Tournament.

The picture at the Hilltop gymnasium at the end of the season was not very bright. The sophomores were expected to qualify for Class B competition. This huge field, which may well reach 50, must be held in place at the end of Saturday night's action at the first round of play. The quarterfinals are scheduled a week later at the University of Connecticut Fieldhouse.
