Bidault Letter Left Unopened By Adenauer

BONN, Germany (AP)—A spokesman said today Chancellor Konrad Adenauer sent back unopened a letter from former French Premier Georges Bidault asking for asylum in Germany. The spokesman said that under German law, political asylum is a question for local authorities in Bavaria, where Bidault is under police protection. Because of the political importance of the case, he added, advice had been asked from the interior minister in Bonn. No reply had yet been given, he added.

Bidault, political chief of the French terrorist movement sworn to eliminate President Charles de Gaulle, was located Sunday by German police in a lakeside hide-out near the Swiss border. He made his request for asylum at once. Adenauer's spokesman, deputy press chief Werner Krueger, said Adenauer has apparently heard in advance what was in Bidault's letter. "The chancellor did not accept it," Krueger said. Bidault is expected eventually to be expelled to another country, perhaps Austria or Switzerland. Extradition to France seems unlikely since he is wanted on a political charge—treason—and international law bars extradition on political charges. His presence in Bavaria put a new strain on French-West German relations. Erwin Gerhardt, press spokesman for the Interior Ministry, explained that if the authorities decide to give Bidault asylum, a regular residence permit will be issued to him as required of foreigners who want to stay more than three months. "Since he wants asylum," Gerhardt said, "he apparently wants to stay more than three months." He added that if asylum is not granted Bidault would be asked to leave the country. He could only be sent to a country willing to accept him, Gerhardt said. Bidault was living in the house of a Dutch magazine writer in the village of Steinbach, on Lake Woerthe near Munich. A dozen police officers entered the house before dawn. Bidault asked for police protection saying he feared attempts on his life. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Iraqi Deputy Cites Arab Union Plan

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Iraq's deputy premier, Ali Salem el Saadi, said today plans are underway for an eventual merger or federation embracing Syria, Iraq and the United Arab Republic. Recent revolutions in both Iraq and Syria have placed admirers of U.A.P. President Gamal Abdel Nasser in positions of power. El Saadi told a Damascus news conference the Iraqi Communist party is now "absolutely and completely banned and will never be allowed to operate again because we regard it as a fifth column of Moscow." Syria's new government was urged to join four other pro-Nasser states in a joint military command as a step toward uniting the Arab sphere from the Atlantic to the Persian Gulf. Building Planned On Allyn St. Site HARTFORD (AP)—Charles H. Miller, who owns extensive real estate in Hartford, is asking the Zoning Board of Appeals for variances for a seven-story building proposed on Allyn St., east of Union Station. The request calls for variances for lot size and for parking. It is proposed to use the ground floor of the building for business and the upper floors for 120 apartment units. The parcel includes a two-story commercial building at Allyn and High and an empty lot west of the building. If the building materializes, it would be the closest new apartment structure to the downtown business area.

Dirksen Favors Blockage of Oil to Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois says he agrees with President Kennedy that a full blockade of Cuba would amount to an act of war and "I don't want to go to war and Fidel Castro." But there could be a selective blockade, Dirksen said, a selective quarantine of some kind and that would be the end of Fidel Castro. The GOP leader said he had in mind blocking shipments of Soviet oil to Cuba in Soviet ships. If it could be done in such a way as not to constitute an act of war, "If you shut off oil to Cuba it would strangle her economy," Dirksen said in a radio-television interview. In another radio-television interview, Republican Sen. Kenneth P. Keating of New York said Soviet ships are still carrying arms to Cuba. "I think weapons can be offensive or defensive, depending on who is holding those weapons and what they intend to do with them," Keating said. "Helicopters can be used for perfectly innocent, peaceful purposes, but we know they are not getting those helicopters down there to fly civilians from Havana to Santiago." Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., who appeared with Keating, said he had heard five Soviet bloc generals are in Cuba, but Keating said he does not have confirmation of such a report.

JFK Urges Fast Action On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's administration sent its first annual manpower inventory to Congress today with word that a nation as rich as America should be ashamed to tolerate six per cent unemployment. Kennedy reported that unemployment is the No. 1 economic problem, a situation waiting lives and unrealized production that could materially increase the nation's living standards and its ability to resist foreign tyranny. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz submitted a thick report on manpower resources accompanying Kennedy's own message to Capitol Hill. Wirtz, meeting newsmen at the White House, said he had already used such words as intolerable, inexcusable and outrageous to describe the heavy unemployment levels. Both the President and Wirtz urged quick action on Kennedy's tax cut proposals and other programs to get the economy moving faster. Latest government data shows a military unemployed out of a work force of 63.3 million, or a seasonally adjusted unemployment rate of 6.1 per cent, the highest since late 1961. "There is no excuse for a country as rich as ours to waste six per cent of its manpower," Wirtz said. "We ought to be ashamed of ourselves to tolerate a situation like this." Kennedy said in a statement that for too long now "we have contented ourselves with platitude statements about the waste of our human resources." "With the issuance of this report, the President said, "we have committed ourselves to a national policy designed to provide all Americans with the opportunity to develop and use their talents and energies to the maximum of which they are capable." The President said the economy is growing steadily more efficient but is progressively failing to supply the jobs to occupy a fast-expanding population and work force. "We cannot accept this situation," Kennedy said in again urging on his tax cut proposals and other programs advanced to spur economic growth and job expansion. "It is within our power to take these steps," he said, "to consummate an achievement of such magnitude as to mark this decade (Continued on Page Five)

Air Force Opposes Loss Of Space Glider Project

EDWARDS NOTE—In the past year, the Air Force lost two of its pet projects, the RB70 reconnaissance strike plane and the Skybolt missile. Now a third Air Force program, the Dyna-Soar manned space glider, may be scrapped. In motion a review of the Dyna-Soar project and has told the Air Force, in effect, to justify moving ahead with it. The Air Force, which contends there is no comparison between the two projects—is mustering data and arguments to present to the tough-minded Pentagon chief. His mood was underscored by Lt. Gen. James Ferguson, the Air Force's deputy chief of staff for research and development, who said "we think it is a most critical part of the national space program." Death or major curtailment of the manned space glider would hand the Air Force its third aerial defeat within the past year. The others came on McNamara's refusal to permit full development of the 2,000-mph RB70 reconnaissance-strike plane and junking of a bomber-launched Skybolt missile. The Air Force has significant congressional backing for its Dyna-Soar, now officially called the X-20, and for its so-called frustrated ambitions for a big-scale military space program. But if McNamara should decide against the Dyna-Soar, it is unlikely congressional outcries will budge him. The Dyna-Soar, whose name comes from the term "dynamic soaring," is a winged craft whose pilot would control its return from orbit, then maneuver through the atmosphere to land at an airport, much like a conventional aircraft. The Air Force regards this experimental program as an important stride toward such military hardware as a spaceplane that (Continued on Page Five)

Flood Victim Buried

NORWICH (AP)—Mrs. Madlyn M. Atterbury, 61, of 243 Broad St., the last Norwich flood victim to be buried, was laid to rest following rites at 10 a.m. today. Mrs. Thomas Moody, 23, of 55 Lake St., another victim was buried after services at 9 a.m. today. The four other flood victims who were buried Saturday, were Mrs. Edward M. Barrett, 45, of 22 Burghard St.; Mrs. Mae C. Robidou, 50, of School St.; Alexander Fobol, 48, of 54 Ward St.; and Mrs. Charles Roode, 44, of 30 Hickory St. (Continued on Page Five)

Jury Gets Trial

NEW HAVEN (AP)—The fate of David L. Shackney, first man ever tried for involuntary servitude in Connecticut, was expected to be placed in the hands of a U. S. District Court jury today. Six counts of involuntary servitude remained against the 52-year-old chicken farmer. The white-haired, Polish-born Shackney is accused of keeping six members of a Mexican family against their will on his farm in Middletown. Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a fine of $5,000. Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld has dismissed two counts of peonage and one count of involuntary servitude against Shackney. The charges arose out of Shackney's employment of Luis Hernandez Oro, a former Mexico City cab driver, and his family. (Continued on Page Five)

Rusk Statement Risky N-Ban Held Better Than None

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk told Congress today the United States is warranted in running the risks of its proposals for a nuclear test ban treaty. For these risks are not so great, he said, as would be the risks in a world without any restraint on development of nuclear weapons. And, in a statement to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Rusk argued that achievement of the arms race with the Soviet Union. There has been criticism in Congress that the U.S. proposals for a test ban agreement do not provide sufficient safeguards against Russian cheating. "I am aware of the risks involved in an undetected Soviet violation of the treaty or its surprise abrogation," Rusk said in his statement. But, he testified, he is aware also "of the graver risk to our security and the security of the free world implicit in a future without any multilateral restraint on the development of nuclear weapons." Under questioning, Rusk was not optimistic for an early agreement with the Russians. "Do you anticipate an agreement in the near future?" Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., asked. "No," Rusk replied. "I do not." At another point, Rusk said he thought the Russians wanted a test ban treaty when they agreed in December to three on-site inspections but were not negotiating seriously now. "Why they have not been able to pursue this matter seriously since then, I'm frank to say I don't know," he said. Although the United States has trimmed its demand from 20 to seven on-site inspections, Rusk said the U.S. proposals are more rigorous than two years ago. Under the new proposals, he said, the United States would have more control over the inspection force and not have to rely on an international body. Also, he said, the new proposal calls for an inspection of all suspected nuclear explosions, where previously those below the force (Continued on Page Five)

'Genteel' Ladies Home A Dream Condemned

HUDSON, Wis. (AP)—Things never worked out very well for Essie Williams. Now, even in death, she is being frustrated. Miss Williams, 80, an ex-school-teacher and disbarred lawyer, died in March 1962. She left detailed plans for use of the 13-room home she had inherited from her parents. The Williams Foundation, named by Essie to supervise the home, found the instructions so elaborate they couldn't be followed. In a 26-page document, Miss Williams ordered the foundation governed by three trustees, all women and teetotalers. She envisioned five to eight residents, "genteel and refined spinsters or widows." Preference was to be given widows of Presbyterian or Episcopalian clergymen, and the trustees were to select those with "the most gentle, sweet, lovable, kindly, unselfish and spiritual disposition and character." Essie explained, "I only wish women of the same type as my mother to be in her old home." Miss Williams barred ink and medicines from bedrooms, lest there be damage to "costly rugs." Everything in the home was to be kept exactly as it was. No cats were to be allowed. The instructions added, "No (Continued on Page Four)

Rocky Peddles GOP Unity to Conservatives

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appears to be encountering the customary difficulties of politicians who seek a presidential nomination but don't say so openly. Modern practicalities demand that any man who runs for a nomination get started early. But protocol dictates that he mustn't appear so over-eager for the prize that he lets the public in on the secret a year or more before it becomes available. These circumstances have put New York governor in the position of acting like a campaigner while saying it is too early for the party to be thinking about its nominee. Rockefeller is publicly buying himself at this point selling party unity. "This is a commodity that doesn't appear to be in over-supply, so far as it concerns GOP conservatives and the governor's nomination ambitions," he said. In pursuit of this endeavor, Rockefeller happened to find a convenient gap in his schedule of state duties which permitted him to drop in on a weekend Republican rally in Milwaukee. In Wisconsin presents one of the problems which plague a non-candidate. At least three factions of Republicans would like to climb into the local driver's seat of the Rockefeller bandwagon once it gets going. There is every evidence the governor might be willing to sacrifice a little of party unity with enthusiasm for a little more unity. Wisconsin is the scene of presidential primaries that have been crucial in the past and may be in the future. Illinois, which also has a primary, already has had a Rockefeller visit. In this wooing of what might be described as the heartland of Republican conservatism, Rockefeller is not overlooking Kansas and Nebraska. He will be in the states to make speeches April 5 and 6. Meanwhile the New York governor has been doing what he can to contribute to party unity with statements that most Republicans find palatable. He tied off in a New York (Continued on Page Four)

Backs Med School Site

HARTFORD (AP)—Gov. John N. Dempsey said today he is still in favor of the location for the proposed state medical—dental school by a special site-selection committee. The committee, appointed by Dempsey, was created by act of the 1961 General Assembly. It has recommended a site in Farmington. The Republican minority in the Senate voted last week in caucus to oppose the Farmington site. The GOP senators want the school built in Hartford. At his news conference today, Dempsey indicated he is not about to toss out the work done by the site-selection committee. "In my opinion they gave the state a good site," he said. "I backed their selection then and I back it now." The Republican senators were accused of "sabotage" Saturday by the Senate's Majority Leader. (Continued on Page Five)

Two Charged In Murder of Police Officer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Authorities are holding two ex-convicts on charges they kidnaped two Hollywood police officers and later killed one in a moonlit field 75 miles north of here. The suspects were taken into custody separately Sunday—one in an automobile on busy U.S. Highway 99 and the other in a Bakersfield, Calif., rooming house. The slain officer was Ian James Campbell, 31. His companion, Karl Hettinger, 28, escaped Campbell's fate early by running away when a cloud suddenly passed over the moon. Hettinger gave this account: Campbell and Hettinger, both in plain clothes, had stopped a suspect's car about 10 p.m. Saturday in downtown Hollywood. Its rear license plate light was off and the car matched the description of one used in several holdups. Two suspects, later identified as (Continued on Page Three)

88th Congress Gets to Work, Draft Bill Ist

WASHINGTON (AP)—After two months of dilly-dallying, the 88th Congress buckled down this week to some serious floor action, starting today with consideration of the draft extension bill in the House. Bills scheduled for votes in both the House and the Senate will give critics of President Kennedy's budget an opportunity to test their strength and start toward their goal of a cut of from $10 billion to $15 billion in appropriations. The Senate legislative menu is relatively thin. It serves up a vote Tuesday on an administration bill to coordinate federal and state outdoor recreation facilities. Republicans have decided to use the bill for an initial scrap in their budget-cutting drive. The measure carries no actual appropriations (Continued on Page Five)

Finances Junkets Foreign Money Burns Holes in U.S. Pockets

EDITOR'S NOTE—Although the United States owns more than $3.8 billion worth of foreign currencies, it often has to dip into its own gold supply to meet expenditures abroad. In Poland, for example, U.S.-owned Polish zlotys total more than $100 million. But every year the United States dips into its own gold to pay $1.4 million in U.S. Social Security and other benefits to residents of Poland. In most cases, legal limitations, diplomacy, and economics prevent the United States from using all this foreign money that accumulates as a result of U.S. foreign aid. Under U.S. laws, in fact, more than half the money, while American owned, must be used for the benefit of other countries. And, according to U.S. officials, the United States would rock and perhaps wreck the economies of other countries if it ever spent the rest of the money in one swoop. "We would cause inflation," said Bartlett Harvey, chief of the Economic Progress Division of the Agency for International Development. "We would hurt the very countries we are trying to help. We would end up spending more American dollars to help them fight the inflation." Even such a critic of foreign aid as Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., agrees that little more use can be made of this huge pot of U.S.-owned money. "No improvement can be made in this part of the program," Passman said. "It's like having a whole barrel of post-dated checks. It's better than having nothing." "The wrong," he continued, "is in making the contracts that acquired this money in the first place. We could be a little less liberal in giving away the wealth of this country." (Continued on Page Three)

"This inconsistency between a actual position is a great cause for concern," said Rep. Craig Horner of California in a statement issued by the GOP Conference Committee on Nuclear Testing. CLAIMS INNOCENCE TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Hersh Borenblat, assistant conductor of the Israel Opera, pleaded innocent today to 12 charges of collaboration with the Nazis in 1942-43 as commander of the Jewish militia in Bendin, Poland. Borenblat is accused of helping in the deportation to extermination camps of thousands of Jews, whipping Jews, extortion, and belonging to a hostile organization. Assa Blass, Deputy Attorney General, charged that the Jewish militia was hostile to Jews.
