17 Dead, Six Lost, In South

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS Water rationing begins in Harlan, Ky., today as devastating floods and deadly tornadoes left more than 30,000 persons homeless in the South and property damage in the millions. Seventeen persons were dead and six others missing. Twelve of the deaths were attributed to floods and five to tornadoes. A flash flood—one of several caused by torrential rains—broke out from the pumping station at Harlan about noon Tuesday, leaving the city and outlying communities without water. The Red Cross said it had made arrangements to truck water from farm wells on a hillside and from a soft drink plant at nearby Baxter. The plant could distill river water for drinking. Schools were closed in Harlan County and gasoline was limited to emergency vehicles. Many persons were trying to clean up the slime and mud. An elderly miner said the flood water came as a surprise. "Lord, we didn't hear no noise but here we are under in this mess again." He was one of those who went through the 1967 flood which caused 10 deaths and more than $50 million in damage. The American Red Cross opened disaster headquarters in Huntington, W. Va., Tuesday to direct work in flood-stricken sections of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia.

'Very Harmful'
To the Editor,
I would urge the voters of Connecticut to contact their Assemblymen to oppose the bill before the Legislature, House Bill 3103, pertaining to the prohibition of 22 caliber rifles for hunting, on the grounds that the bill is unnecessary and very harmful.

If the bill is being proposed for safety reasons, it is unnecessary because we already have adequate "gun safety" laws. The bill is very harmful because our young people would be limited to the use of shotguns, while hunting, which are just too much gun for many of them.

It is very harmful because it would discourage our young people from hunting, which is a great American heritage. It is very harmful because the close relationship between the outdoorsman and his children would be weakened just at a time when a child's life when he or she needs guidance and teaching most.

I do mean that a boy or girl, taught in the ways of nature, whether hunting, fishing, etc. will become a sound responsible adult. The bill is very harmful because it would take away from the farm and sportsman the very weapon that has done so much to control the crop and woodchuck which can do cause much damage to wildlife and crops.

In conclusion, may I say that if we would have more safety, then we get behind a good selection of drinking, driving bill. This had another thought. Has anyone ever seen, or heard of, a teen-age drinking hunter?

'Unfair Efforts'
To the Editor,
Would you be so kind as to publish a note of thanks to the Town Highway Department, Emergency Crew, and to Mr. Wood of Bantley Oil Company for their untiring efforts in helping me when my car was recently flooded and my furnace stopped as a result of the flooding.

Thank you very truly yours,
Mrs. Corcha Chausse,

A New Neighbor
Is anyone interested in improving the town of Manchester? Copy this letter and send it to the Town Manager, Board of Directors, Board of Selectmen, Town Health Officer, Town Planning Commission, Board of Zoning Appeals, and the Town Redevelopment Agency and hope that at least one of these persons or groups are interested in improving living conditions in Manchester.

The case in point: After putting up for years with an increasing noise nuisance, traffic hazard and generally untenable situation (expansion of P&G Motor Freight in the middle of a residential neighborhood adjacent to the Manchester High School) it was necessary to arouse the neighborhood and fight to prevent further expansion that would have made a mockery of our Zoning Laws. One changed vote at the Zoning Board hearing would have allowed this expansion, in spite of the unanimous opposition to it by nearby taxpayers and residents.

Fortunately, reason prevailed and the further expansion of a nonconforming use was prevented. P&G's decision to move out of their former location on Perrett Place was hailed by the neighborhood (in spite of a few political area predicting dire consequences through loss of industry in town) and peace and quiet returned to Summit St.

It appeared that there would now be an opportunity to "upgrade" the neighborhood since the "more spot" had been removed, as stated in a Curia Dixit of the Connecticut Supreme Court in 1953 (November term 1953). "It is a general principle in zoning that nonconforming uses should be abolished or reduced to conformity as quickly as the fair interest of the parties will permit." But it was not to be. For in the place vacated by P&G Motor Freight we now have our multi-million dollar high school the Sanitary Refuse Company—garbage and rubbish collection trucks! Is this the best we would expect for centrally located residential neighborhood? Is this what we want adjacent to the town's greatest single building investment? Couldn't our Town Fathers find a better use for this area (since much of it is town owned vacant land) more in keeping with its value and location? It always seems to be looking for a centralized location for something of other.

While there has been a lot of talk about redevelopment, master planning, etc., lately, there is a case where mere absent treatment has allowed another ridiculous situation to arise after a real struggle on the part of individual taxpayers (not town officials) to get rid of the previous one. It is a general principle in zoning that nonconforming uses should be abolished or reduced to conformity as quickly as the fair interest of the parties will permit." But it was not to be. For in the place vacated by P&G Motor Freight we now have our multi-million dollar high school the Sanitary Refuse Company—garbage and rubbish collection trucks! Is this the best we would expect for centrally located residential neighborhood? Is this what we want adjacent to the town's greatest single building investment? Couldn't our Town Fathers find a better use for this area (since much of it is town owned vacant land) more in keeping with its value and location? It always seems to be looking for a centralized location for something of other.

Right now there seems to be little to get excited about, just a new truck. Let's not forget that P&G started out with "just a few" trucks, and at the time of the Zoning Board hearing we found people who just couldn't believe that sixty or more huge trailer trucks were kept in a residential neighborhood of Summit St. The ironic thing is that if it were not for the lack of loading facilities which prevented the request for expansion, P&G could still be there, with huge trailer trucks if they were so inclined. All this in the past, but the important question remains: Is anyone interested in improving living conditions in Manchester where the opportunity is there?

attractive with garbage and rubbish trucks lining both sides of Perrett Place? (In case you are unfamiliar with it, Perrett Place is the town owned access drive from the High School from Summit St., which is used by school buses and by many school children walking to and from school. Incidentally, this school access "street" never did have any sidewalks and now has very little left from the constant pounding of heavy trucking over the past several years.)

Personally, I am happy with our neighborhood since the P&G trailer trucks have gone. It is a thousand per cent better, quieter, more peaceful. But it does seem to me that somebody in our town government ought to be interested in what the "old dragged in" street is like. The best laid (Manchester) plans of mice and men will not amount to a hill of overripe beans if Town government is not capable of following through on improvement opportunities as they occur.

Sincerely yours,
Summit St. Citizen.

MORE TAXES FOR HOME
ROME (AP)—City council has increased the number of taxables allowed in Rome from 2,454 to 2,500. The number is fixed by law, because of traffic problems in this ancient city many cars row streets.

It is possible that none of our elected or appointed Town officials have noticed that the garbage trucks which collect contract negotiations only recently, and which, I understand, were formerly kept at the Town Garage next to the town dump, are now being kept at the back door of our High School?

If they have noticed and allow it to continue, then this situation is apparently condoned by our own "management."

If they have not noticed, then it appears that we are going to have difficulty following any Master Plan for re-development, beautification, or other improvement to our town. The best laid (Manchester) plans of mice and men will not amount to a hill of overripe beans if Town government is not capable of following through on improvement opportunities as they occur.

Sincerely yours,
Summit St. Citizen.

The Pattern Crumbles

The cure, we are told, is to be found in the pattern of the Communist's military ally against Communism, happens to be much more emotional about India than about China. In fact, it would rather lose territory to China, as it does by this present border agreement, than run a chance, later on, of losing it to India.

Sometimes, A Grim Joker

Far from ever reaching final goals, the march of science is never over. And gone often than we would like to know, any of us, science has to keep doubling back to analyze and evaluate and perhaps correct the joker hidden in some of its own advances.

TEEN-AGE TYPE ANIMAL

The continuous food requirements of the mouse-like water bear are enormous—the small, sharp-nosed aquatic animal, in tail-set slightly more than their body weight in food daily, eat an average of 30.3 grams of meat and every 24 hours. A period of several hours a water bear is sufficient to cause a water bear to die of starvation.

Rockville-Vernon Talcottville Building Stirrs Ire of Area

Twenty-eight Talcottville residents submitted a letter to the Vernon selectmen which was received last night, protesting what they called the rundown, littered condition of the apartment building on Main St. which once housed a store and the post office.

The owners of the building, however, Dr. L. Norman Dutton and Dr. Alan Kemp, both of Manchester, said they bought the building only two months ago, and have been unable so far to compel tenants in the four apartments to use the trash barrels provided for them.

The letter of protest listed not only the unsightly appearance of the building, referred to as an "eyesore" and "the talk of every decent homeowner of the neighborhood," but it referred to the possible fire hazard involved in the building.

There is only one exit from each apartment, said the letter. And there are no exits into the backyard, which means that all business must be transacted in the front yard. Furthermore, said the complainants, children must play in the front yards and a great many cars come and go.

Among those who signed the letter were State Sen. Franklin G. Waller, Gastano Simonelli, Atty. Robert Kingsbury, Robert Tucker and Mrs. F. W. Spicer.

The new owners of the building, whom The Herald contacted last night, said all of the complaints except the one about trash are unknown to them.

"No one has contacted us on these other things," said Dutton. Structurally, the building is the same as it was when he and Kemp bought it from Grayland Clough two months ago, he said, and as far as he knew, none of the neighbors had complained about structural defects.

As for the trash, he admitted the situation is bad. "We hired a trash collector who comes once a week, and we give each tenant a barrel," he said.

"The place is a mess. One tenant says it's another one that's throwing the stuff around, and another says it's the first. We asked the health department to call the police. We'd welcome police enforcement, but they can't find out any better than we can who's making the mess."

He said he and his partner will try to hire a boy to check the area around the barrels and keep it clean.

The selectmen referred the matter to the building inspector, and they agreed to visit the building themselves today.

U.S. Reduces N-Check Area

(Continued from Page One) until the West accepts the Soviet offer of an annual maximum of three on-site inspections. Stetle said the American suggestions were worked out on the assumption that there would be seven inspections a year on the territory of each of the nuclear powers.

Inspection teams in the U.S.S.R. would include at least 14 American and British nationals with additional team members drawn from neutral nations. The Russians could accompany the team with an equal number of Soviet observers.

"Each nation could include 'sensitive defense installations' from areas subject to inspection, Stetle said. But any abuse of this privilege would be considered grounds on which treaty withdrawal could take place."

This meant that if the Soviet Union consistently refused inspections on the grounds that they would touch defense installations, the United States and Britain longer bound by the treaty and could resume nuclear testing.

However, Monagan made it clear he shared his colleague's admiration of the British statesman. Monagan was one of only a score of representatives who voted against the measure, which was passed on a vote of 87-21.

AWOL Marine Jailed, To Face Rape Charge

Phillip Dale Rose, 21, of 18 Pine Hill St., an AWOL Marine from Camp Lejeune, N. C., today was arraigned in Circuit Court 12, East Hartford, on a charge of raping a teenage Manchester girl Sunday night. Bond was set at $25,000.

Police had nothing further to report regarding the other cases, many involving young girls, but reported a "night crew" on the two incidents in which Rose is allegedly involved. State Police said that more charges may be forthcoming concerning the Coventry incident.

Rose, who was sent to the State Jail at Hartford in lieu of bond, has a second warrant pending from the State Police, which charges him with rape of a 17-year-old Coventry woman on March 4 and 5, State Police say.

Manchester Police Chief James M. Resardon and State Police Lt. Wilfred Bielefleur last night said both departments have been working in cooperation concerning the two incidents and several others that have occurred in the area during recent weeks.

Members of both departments last night picked Rose up in the North End after a 36-hour search. Rose was arrested on a warrant which resulted from the Sunday night incident. The girl, who said she was raped at least once, last night identified Rose as her assailant. He was booked on a 36-hour overnight at police headquarters while awaiting presentation in court today.

Although no report has been received from officials at Camp Lejeune, police said that the man has been AWOL from his base for some time. The Marine Corps recruiting station at Hartford said that they have had no record on Rose, but that he is a definite educational advantage to children to observe, even at a distance, democracy in action.

Alex Rottner said he would be in favor of using schools for polling places on election days, and even if there were a possibility of danger to the public, "specific precautions" could be taken.

Rottner said he feels the schools should be available for such use because they are non-sectarian. The town should not be expected to pay the cost of election day public building for a polling place, he said.

Supt. Curtis said he thinks the State Department of Education is in favor of allowing such use to be decided on the local level.

Board Awaits Rule On Polling Places

The board of education is waiting to hear what the state legislature decides about use of the schools as polling places while school is in session.

A little known state statute denies the right to assign schools as polling places when school is in session, but two or three bills are pending to change the rule.

Rep. John S. G. Rottner, a Republican on the board, said he objects to the rule, which dates from the 1930s, because it denies "a definite educational advantage to children to observe, even at a distance, democracy in action."

Rottner said he would be in favor of using schools for polling places on election days, and even if there were a possibility of danger to the public, "specific precautions" could be taken.

Rottner said he feels the schools should be available for such use because they are non-sectarian. The town should not be expected to pay the cost of election day public building for a polling place, he said.

Appeal Taken To High Court By Lessner

Atty. George Lessner is appealing the Hartford County Court decision in his fight against the construction of a house on an underused lot on Robert Rd. in East Hartford.

He is challenging a ruling by the Hartford County Court which granted a zoning board of appeals decision to allow the construction.

Atty. Lessner is asking that a zoning variance, granted to Burnham Estates, Inc. in 1962, be declared invalid because the unusual circumstances that justified it were of the applicants own making.

Burnham Estates received the zoning variance to build a home on a 100-foot lot on Robert Rd. next to Atty. Lessner's home. The zoning variance allowed the lot to be 120 feet in width in that area.

When the variance was granted, the real estate firm had already started construction, believing that the underused lot was permissible because of a "lot of record" clause in the zoning regulations.

The zoning regulations allow construction on lots smaller than regulations, but only if the lot was on record prior to Aug. 1, 1945.

The Robert Rd. area was rezoned at that time as being divided into 80-foot front lots.

But Atty. Lessner contends that the present building site, being made from 60 feet of one of the 80-foot lots, and 40 feet from another, no longer constitutes a "lot of record."

Burnham Estates bought the property with its present 100-foot frontage, after Thomas Scherer, 188 Main St., had bought a 120-foot lot that would have included one complete 80-foot front lot.

Thus, the situation that Lessner asserts, is Burnham Estates' own fault.

When Common Pleas Judge John Spetie rendered his decision on the appeal last month, he said that he found no irregularities in the ZBA's action, and would therefore not interfere with its decision.

Board Okays Full Budget For College

A $90,000 budget for the proposed Manchester community college for next year of operation was approved unanimously last night by the board of education.

The new budget replaces a $18,500 partial budget, listing only sums required from taxes, previously submitted to the town's board of directors.

N. William Knight, chairman of the finance committee of the Manchester Community College Citizens Advisory Council Inc., explained the new budget to the board.

He said the categories—administration, instruction, operation of plant, fixed charges and capital outlay—are based on a financial accounting procedure suggested by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The new budget is based on an estimated enrollment of 120 students. If the enrollment is smaller, the budget will be reduced, said Knight.

William R. Buckley, a Democrat on the board, moved the adoption of the budget, although he at first said he thought the salary schedule for instructors was too low.

A total of $22,000 is provided for four full-time teachers and $12,000 for 20 courses taught by part-time teachers.

Curtis Addresses WBWO Tomorrow

Supt. of Schools William H. Curtis tomorrow will discuss the proposed Manchester community college as a guest speaker in the education series of the Women's Bureau for Women's Organization.

The program will begin at 10:15 a.m. in Centinel Hill Hall, Hartford.

The superintendent's topic is "Why Manchester? Thought It Vital to Provide a Community College."

The other speakers will be Mitchell Bennett, executive director of Community Progress Inc. of New Haven; Frances C. Strat, retired chairman of the Stamford board of education; and Dr. Henry Becker, superintendent of Norwalk schools.

Strat will talk about the establishment of a branch of the University of Connecticut in Stamford and Dr. Becker will discuss the Norwalk Community College.

Machine, Money Taken in Breaks

Manchester police today are investigating two thefts, one involving a $330 calculator machine, and the other $276 in cash taken from a cash register.

The theft occurred sometime between noon Saturday and Monday morning when the plant opened, he said.

Thomas Hickey, manager of the Burger Chef Drive-In on Main St., has reported that someone took $276 from the firm's cash register. No signs of forced entry were found, police said. The theft occurred sometime between 11 p.m. Monday and 11 a.m. yesterday, it was reported.

Curtis Backs Bill to Clear College Loans

Supt. of Schools William H. Curtis said the California and Texas legislatures have clarified the wording of the act, which the Connecticut bill would also do.

Supt. Curtis said State Department of Education officials, Dean Everett I. L. Baker of the Norwalk Community College, and the others from Manchester were among the small group speaking at the hearing.

There was a serious opposition to any of the bills, he said.

TAX BREAK FAVORED

HARTFORD (AP)—A bill that would give Connecticut industry a tax break on the purchase of new machinery and equipment has received a favorable report from the General Assembly's Finance Committee. The bill would permit corporations to deduct seven percent of the cost of the new equipment from their computation of net income. The bill won approval of both Senate and House committees.

Why? Is it the three 5-foot seats? It holds the regular driver plus 9 more adults.

Is it because the back seats are removable? Or because the side doors open 4 feet wide?

Side a seat out and you can slide in a made-up crib.

Take your seats out and you've got room for a full-length bed.

Is it because the Volkswagen gives you more usable space than the biggest conventional wagon, and yet it's a good 4 feet shorter?

"None whatsoever," the Texas replied when asked whether—as had been suggested in a Senate investigation—political considerations tilted the award of the potential $5.8-billion project to General Dynamics.

Korth was the first of the top Pentagon leaders to discuss publicly the background of the contract which now is under investigation by the Senate investigation subcommittee.

Cotts' Owner Accused Of Bets Against Team

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Carrillo, owner of the Miami Redskins, was accused in federal court of betting $55,000 against his own team in a 1956 pro football game.

Rosenbloom's own lawyer put the accusation on the record in an attempt to have ex-gambler Mike McLaney, of Miami Beach, who made the accusation three years ago, cited for criminal contempt. He said the charge was a vicious and outrageous lie.

But Judge George Young threw out the contempt motion, emphasizing that he was not ruling on the truth or falsity of the accusation.

Also made public yesterday were three affidavits in which McLaney's associates swore that he had often placed bets for him.

National Football League regulations forbid betting by players or coaches.

Robert McGraw, once a Philadelphia detective, declared that he was Rosenbloom's personal assistant from 1951 to 1954 and that he had often placed bets for him.

Richard Melvin, an investor, said in his affidavit that he recalled the number that during one professional season he made nine straight winning bets on professional football games.

Larry Murphy, sometime McLaney chauffeur, swore, "I particularly remember that in 1955 when his team was playing against the 49ers on the coast, Rosenbloom bet a large amount of money against his own team, and because of the point spread, won the bet."

Last winter, a Miami Beach private investigator, Sam Benton, turned the spotlight over to Carrillo.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, on the witness stand, Benton said

Celt Fans to Get Opportunity To Compare Top Rookie Stars

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Celtics fans will have an opportunity to see for themselves who should be called the National Basketball Association's rookie-of-the-year tonight when the Celtics play the Chicago Zephyrs at the Garden.

Terry Disinger, the former Purdue ace, has been a mainstay of the relatively weak Chicago team this season and was recently voted league rookie honors in a poll of NBA players.

But Boston fans find it hard to believe that anyone other than Sam Havlicek took the honor.

Disinger started slowly, but eventually worked his way into a key spot with the well-timed defense of world champions.

Eight of Top 10 Teams in Semifinals UCLA Final Entry

NEW YORK (AP)—The UCLA Bruins, almost counted out of the Big Six Conference race two weeks ago, have become the final entrant in the 16-team NCAA Regional Basketball Tournament field.

UCLA, eliminated the Stanford Indians 91-45 in a playoff to defend its title, won the Big Six Conference at Santa Monica, Calif., Tuesday night. The victory qualified the Bruins for a berth in the Far West regional semifinals at Provo, Utah, Friday night.

The Bruins, coached by Arvid Peterson, finished fourth in the Far West bracket.

Warriors Still Hopeful Of NBA Playoff Berth

NEW YORK (AP)—San Francisco Warriors, still have a chance. Chances are "99 out of 100" Chicago doesn't.

That's the situation in the National Basketball Association today following a night in which the Warriors retained an outside chance to grab a playoff berth, and Chicago General Manager Frank Lane indicated the Zephyrs will be playing in Baltimore next season.

Meanwhile, Syracuse ran its winning streak to 10 games with a 130-106 walloping of the Zephyrs and Cincinnati handed hapless New York its ninth straight setback, 110-90.

The other clubs were idle.

The San Francisco 130-110 victory over Los Angeles left the Warriors 2 1/2 games behind Detroit in the battle for the third and last playoff spot in the Western Division.

Top-Headed Conditioning Exercise

THE Herald Angle
By EARL YOST Sports Editor

Top-Headed Conditioning Exercise

Volleyball is the No. 1 conditioning exercise of America's businessmen. In fact, it was devised for men of middle age and over back in 1895 by William Morgan, a physical education director at the Holyoke, Mass., YMCA. Now males and females of all ages play volleyball, indoors and outside. This information appears in the Journal of All Sports, published by Bob Norris. Facts and figures on 38 different sports are included in the 1955 edition.

Having more than just a passing interest in volleyball, I was interested in the top-headed conditioning exercise. The exercise is a variation of the volleyball game, but it is played on a smaller court and with a smaller ball.

Wilson Gets Off to Fast Start But Red Sox Relievers Falter

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Another manager Johnny Pate's few starting pitcher candidates has made a good beginning, but the Red Sox have discovered an old nemesis still is hard to beat no matter what uniform he wears.

Wilson's control was good—he didn't walk a batter—and he seemed so strong and fresh to me when he finished his assignment for the day. The two pitchers who followed Wilson over the mound didn't have as much success and the Giants tagged both relievers Jerry Stephenson and Arnie Estess for two runs each.

First Garden Ring Sellout in Six Years Due to See Cocky Clay Against Jones

NEW YORK (AP)—Cassius Clay takes the big step tonight on the road to a million dollars.

If cocky Cassius displays the punch to match his mouth against Doug Jones at Madison Square Garden, he could be well on his way to millionaire status before his 22nd birthday.

The 21-year-old, all-conquering heavyweight contender from Louisville is rated the favorite to win the fight against Jones, who is ranked 13th in the world.

The fight will be held at Madison Square Garden, New York, on Saturday night, March 21, at 10 p.m. EST.

The 10-bomber which will be the greatest can fight in the history of the Garden since the opening of the arena in 1925.

For tonight's fight with Jones, Clay will earn about $100,000, and Jones will receive $75,000.

Clay has been predicted to beat him decisively. He will win in four, as he has predicted, or in five, as he has predicted.

Board Weighs Use of School

What is to do with the Buckland School is a question pending decision of the board of education. The board heard various suggestions last night.

Dr. Cummings, chairman of the board's building and sites committee, said the board is to present the committee's recommendations March 20, the date of the next board meeting.

At present, the school houses are under construction. The board is to be built abutting on the present building, but on the site which the town could acquire for the addition to give "additional credit" to the architect.

Board members Atty. William Collins, William Buckley and William Schaffer said they are in favor of retaining the Buckland School and converting it into a neighborhood school.

Prison Chaplain Explains System

The purpose of a prison is to punish criminals, but its secondary function is to try and rehabilitate them, the Rev. Joseph W. Reynolds, chaplain at Wetherfield State Prison, told about 70 parents and teachers last night at a meeting of the Nathan Hale PTA at the school.

Most of the inmates, he said, are given jobs working in the kitchen, running machines in the prison tailor shop, and sweeping floors. He believes that the principal cause for many men having to serve prison sentences are lack of moral and religious training in their younger life.

Reformists were served in the cafeteria after a business meeting. Members of a Girl Scout Troop, sponsored by the school, attended the program. Mrs. Paul White's Grade 2 room won the attendance banner.

One of them was Oro, who had been in the United States before and longed to return. The day he met Shackney in his cab was a day his dreams seemed to be coming true.

Shackney wouldn't say yes to Oro's request to arrange to meet Oro's mother. He said he had five children to Shackney's new farm. There, in the middle of the night, Oro was taken to a room for approval of the State Jail.

That was how it started. The day he met Oro was a day his dreams seemed to be coming true. He wrote to Shackney begging for a chance. One of his letters, introduced during the trial, read: "I will kill my hopes to come to the United States. Please answer me."

One day Shackney returned and on July 12, 1961, a Sunday, Oro, 21, had people standing in line to see him. Shackney said during his trial.

Prison Chaplain Explains System

The purpose of a prison is to punish criminals, but its secondary function is to try and rehabilitate them, the Rev. Joseph W. Reynolds, chaplain at Wetherfield State Prison, told about 70 parents and teachers last night at a meeting of the Nathan Hale PTA at the school.

Most of the inmates, he said, are given jobs working in the kitchen, running machines in the prison tailor shop, and sweeping floors. He believes that the principal cause for many men having to serve prison sentences are lack of moral and religious training in their younger life.

That was how it started. The day he met Oro was a day his dreams seemed to be coming true. He wrote to Shackney begging for a chance. One of his letters, introduced during the trial, read: "I will kill my hopes to come to the United States. Please answer me."

One day Shackney returned and on July 12, 1961, a Sunday, Oro, 21, had people standing in line to see him. Shackney said during his trial.
