State Library Wing Bid

BRITTON (AP)—State Chief Justice Raymond E. Baldwin came before a legislative committee today to argue for a cause dear to his heart—expansion of the State Library and Supreme Court building.

The building, begun in 1928, is now inadequate for the needs of the state more than two decades ago, but almost $10 million has been spent on the situation since then, he said.

"It seems to me that it's about time we look at the State Library and Supreme Court building for a bond issue," Baldwin said at a hearing of the finance committee.

The bill he supported would authorize issuance of $2,250,000 in bonds to build an addition to the building. Gov. John P. Dempsey has earmarked $1.7 million for construction of an addition.

Baldwin noted that the State Library is the largest building in the state.

Egypt, Syria, Iraq To Form Republic

CAIRO (AP)—The rulers of Egypt, Syria and Iraq have agreed to unite their 38 million people in a new Arab Republic with Cairo as the capital, but they are keeping most of the details secret. The new republic will be named the Arab Republic of Syria-Egypt-Iraq. Egyptian Premier Aly Sabry announced the news today. The new U.A.R. will have a strong central government, controlling foreign affairs, defense, economic planning, currency, foreign trade, customs and taxes. But a source who was present at the negotiations said many local affairs will be kept in local hands rather than under tight central control as was the case in the previous abortive Syrian-Egyptian union.

Sabry said the new state will be a unitary republic, with a central command and one nationality for all.

Sabry did not say who will head the united state, but there seemed little doubt that Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser would hold the reins. The three original states are continuing to meet in Cairo. Of major importance is the Syrian region and Iraqi region.

President Charles de Gaulle has made no commitment to put his own nuclear bombers and bombs, now being developed, into the NATO pool as the British have done with their V-bomber force.

De Gaulle also is standing firm in his refusal to buy American Polaris missiles, his decision to buy U.S. nuclear stockpiles from French soil and his determination to create an independent French nuclear force.

The NATO nuclear strike forces will go into action only on orders from Lemnitzer, who will get his instructions from the President of the United States. U.S. law requires the President to retain control over the use of the nuclear Kennedy men in the Senate had promised to pass the youth employment bill before Easter. They made good Wednesday night, but the spread could be discouraged if, for instance, the Western allies could share in a unified NATO force. The idea was pushed. Now the details have to be worked out.

TARENTUM, Pa. (AP) — A mock disaster shelter exhibition scheduled here had to be canceled.

Red Cross workers who were to supervise the public exhibition were called to duty at two real disaster shelters as a result of food emergencies in the area.

Man Remodeling Task Set at Parsonage

The Rev. and Mrs. John N. Cross, of Hebron and Gilead congregational churches, and their children, will be on vacation during the last two weeks of April. They are to take half of their annual vacation at this time, and will visit their 20 family members here and the Gulf Coast of Texas. During the absence of any congregation, the church officers and deacons will respond to calls. This coming Sunday the Rev. Joseph Duffy, director of admissions at Hartford Seminary Foundation, will substitute for the Rev. Mr. Cross in the pupils of the two churches.

The Gilead Women's Fellowship members recently visited at the convalescent homes in Colchester. The plan is to make these visits every month. Some of the elderly citizens being cared for in these homes have no relatives or friends to visit them. Any one who would like to join this group is invited to do so. Even a visit of once or twice a year would be appreciated.

At these homes a brief worship service is often held, or the singing of songs, in which the patients join; sometimes the showing of slides or just a short visit, as the occasion calls for. Yesterday the Rev. Mr. Cross, and one of the deacons, visited the homes and held communion services.

Anyone who would be willing to babysit at the Gilead parish, in order to help out any member who could be free to go on one of these visits, is asked to contact Mary Porter or Charlotte Motyka.

Easter Preparation
On Good Friday, a Three Hour Meditation on the Seven Last Words will be held, from noon to 3 p.m. The cantata, "The Crucifixion," will be presented at St. Peter's at 7:30 p.m., Good Friday. On Saturday, the children's Easter service will be held. The presentation of their Lenten mite boxes is to be made also, the offering of Easter plants, which are to be taken to the Newtoning Hospital for crippled children.

Cuba in Sales Event
Hebron Cub Scouts will be selling household items during the next two weeks, proceeds to be used to finance troop activities. Boxes have been given out to the Cub Scouts, and they will make house-to-house visits. The best salesman will be awarded a prize.

Gentle Adieu
A tiny offering of snow fell here early Wednesday morning. Last winter saying goodbye again. Not a trace left in half an hour or so.

Show Football Film
A principal feature at the June-Kee American Legion last evening was the showing of the motion picture, "Pro Football's Longest Day," an exciting motion film, considered one of the best ever shown. It is the official color showing of the National Football League championship game played December last between the Green Bay Packers and the New York Giants. Memorial Day plans were discussed.

Services Tonight
A Maundy Thursday Communion service will be held at 8 p.m. in the Hebron Congregational Church, and at 8:15 in the Gilead Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. John N. Cross.

McDonald Death
Mrs. Helen Coleman of Hebron attended the funeral service of her brother-in-law, Donald R. McDonald of Windham, on Tuesday, at Potter Funeral Home. Mr. McDonald's death occurred Monday after a heart attack. The Rev. John G. Manton, pastor of Windham Congregational Church, officiated at the service.

He was retired manager of the Armour Norwich plant. Born Aug. 30, 1880 in New Haven, he was the son of John and Carrie Porter McDonald, and was 72 years of age. He leaves two sons, Frank W. McDonald of New Haven, and Richard C. McDonald of Windham Center, also four grandchildren and a nephew. His wife died of a heart attack only a few years ago.

Homeless on Way
Mr. and Mrs. Lucille Robinson started on their way home from Florida last Friday, having spent the winter in their trailer in Punta Gorda. On their way home they spent two nights as guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Howard E. Champe, in Lake Helen, Fla. The Rev. Mr. Champe, former pastor of the Hebron and Lebanon Congregational Churches, and later of the Shelton Church, plans to leave his Florida parish in June and will come back to Connecticut to live. The people of the church were shocked at hearing his resignation, and urged him to remain, but he said the decision is final. His wife is the former Eleanor Lord of Hebron.

News of Old Friends
Many local people will remember Mrs. William Hamner and Mrs. Flora Lord Buell. Mrs. Hamner is the former Flora Fletcher, daughter of the late N. E. Lord of Hebron, and Mrs. Buell, the former Flora Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Lord. They are now in their late 80s and are being cared for in convalescent homes—Mrs. Buell in a home near Katona, N. Y., and Mrs. Hamner in a convalescent home in Hartford.

Mrs. Buell received injuries in a fall at her home, from which she never fully recovered.

shall either have it or consider it necessary.

But at the moment, West Germany does seem to have the appearance of waiting impatiently for the atom, or some sort of emotional reaction, as if at the appearance of some traditional national peril.

Let us hope Russia controls its emotions while we proceed to push the "gimmicks" nobody in Europe and Russia obviously feels are necessary to our own policy, or they will be necessary to our own policy, either.

Alarmist

Then, of course, we do not need to blow ourselves up, or burn ourselves up, in any evil act of war in order to bring our somewhat pleasant stay on earth to an end which most of us would consider untimely, when some of us might in an effort to do this, be quite timely after all.

We could, conceivably, abolish the bomb and abolish war, and still make our own nation the secret of the atom the instrument of our death.

You have to be quite an alarmist to worry about anything like this. Therefore, we judge, one David E. Lilienthal is constitutionally an alarmist, and the fact that he was also the first chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, a few years ago, is relatively unimportant.

What this alarmist said in Washington the other day, testifying on a proposition to build a nuclear plant for the production of electric power down in New York, was that "he would not back down and let 36 stocks on which they have new research opinions. Connecticut Yankee

Among the many themes and leads developed by the first day of the legislative probe on insurance commissions there were two which were somewhat surprising.

One was the spirited defense of the political spoils system by former State Comptroller Fred Zeller, who was also the Republican party's candidate for governor in 1964.

The other was the blind acknowledgment of the friendly device of the political spoils machine, this from Democratic State and National Chairman John M. Bailey.

Except for one moment in which, having stated bluntly "I believe in the spoils system," he made half humorous attempt to take it "off the record." Former Comptroller Zeller was asked whether he had any views on the proper qualities of a candidate for his own views by noting that, when he had first come to Hartford as a state senator a century ago, he himself had been "damned." He recounted proudly how, upon his entry into state office, he had noticed the name of a different man on the list to be quite an alarmist to worry about anything like this.

A Bearish Argument Rebutted

What's ahead for the stock market? Little comfort for the bears, says Shearson in its latest issue of BUSINESS & SECURITIES, and records three basic reasons why it believes this is an ideal time to accumulate good quality stocks.

Also, Shearson's analysis names three issues they recommend for purchase, now and list 36 stocks on which they have new research opinions. For your free copy of BUSINESS & SECURITIES, send your name and address to BURLISH REPORT.

A Thought for Today

"The wages of the righteous is life" — Proverb 10:16

Despite the frequent prosperity of the wicked and suffering of the righteous this statement is basically true. Wickedness in the end destroys itself, while righteousness and goodness are redeeming factors which make for life and health of humanity.

The Gimmicks We Push

Herald Tribune Correspondent Don Cook, writing from Bonn, West Germany, had this to say about the current main drive of American diplomacy in Western Europe.

"The trouble with the idea of creating a NATO multilateral nuclear force, a European diplomat remarked in a recent interview is that it doesn't have any political sex appeal.

"It is going to be extremely costly. It is not the sort of project which people vote for or wave flags over, or get out and lobby for to build up enthusiasm and support. And to top it all, when the question 'Is this necessary?' is asked, it turns out that even the prime mover, the United States, does not say that the answer is yes.

"It is not very surprising, therefore, that three months of tireless and intensive United States diplomatic activity in NATO capitals in pursuit of a NATO-owned, NATO-controlled, NATO-financed and NATO-integrated force of missile-bearing merchant ships, Polish submarines has so far produced only one really enthusiastic taker: West Germany."

Then Correspondent Cook went on to reason why West Germany should be that "one really enthusiastic taker."

"The reasons for Bonn's strong support for the idea are straightforward. As a non-nuclear power, already providing the biggest contribution of man power and conventional forces to the North Atlantic alliance, West Germany has everything to gain and nothing to lose by pushing into the nuclear field via the multilateral force concept.

Along with Correspondent Cook's description of the way Western Europe feels about our pushing of our proposition for a European nuclear force, one might read Columnist Walter Lippmann, in the Courant this morning, as he describes this policy of ours from his vantage point on this side of the Atlantic, as one of the "gimmicks" in which the administration at Washington has been "over-anxious" in pushing a facade scheme which is not really necessary. He refers to many things which may be motivating Washington into such elaborate foolhardiness as "a naive fixation about the Germans will insist on nuclear weapons for themselves unless we let them have the right to smelt them as members of the crew of a ship which carries nuclear weapons."

From these two points of view, the points of analysis, of what the Kennedy administration is trying to move heaven and earth to accomplish, and what, in any realistic evaluation of prospects, it is quite likely to be able to push through, one can shift to a third point of view, which would be that of Russia.

What all this activity described by Correspondent Cook and analyzed by Columnist Lippmann has evoked from Russia has been one of those diplomatic howls which sounds as if somebody really means it.

Even Russia's most confirmed enemies have conceded, in all these postwar years, that Russia probably does suffer from one genuine and perhaps quite logical nightmare—the nightmare of the rearmament of Germany, and the nightmare centered on the moment in future history when Germany gets its military hands on the power of the atom.

This is more emotional than sensible and strictly logical. Actually, there is no real proof that the atom would be any more dangerous in the hands of the Germans than in the hands of anybody else. Actually, the real world problem is not that of which particular nations shall have the military atom, but that of creating a kind of world system in which no nation

Board Checks Works Budget In First Workshop Session

The town directors and department heads leafed through the proposed budgets for public works and municipal buildings at a workshop session last night, to get an idea what the town would get for its money.

The directors expressed their interest in the proposed sidewalk construction program, about $100,000, and provisions for new employees, about $100,000.

The directors also sought more information on the proposed $200,000 for new highway equipment, particularly a $15,000 vacuum machine that could clean catch basins and double on other highway jobs.

Two new employees requested by the building inspectors office would help to administer the town's new housing code, Building Inspector Thomas Monahan told the directors.

The directors said that they did not think it necessary to start a "sweeping" inspection of the town just because the housing code had been adopted.

Monahan replied that the inspectors were needed for other jobs as well as to administer the building code.

The directors also considered the possibility of raising the upper limit of the salary schedule to provide increases for veteran town employees.

Fowell said today he thought that the general tenor of the meeting showed the directors were conversed with finding possible places for budget cuts.

But whether the items they discussed last night offer any definite clues as to what parts of the budget will be reduced was questionable, in the minds of one town employee.

Sometimes they don't ask you a single question, and when the budget is complete you find cuts where you never expected them.

Probers Might Recall Bailey, Kelly Officials

and authorized subpoena powers for the committee. The roll call vote was 168-88 with no Democrats for the motion and three Republicans against it. The committee's primary aim is to get from the Kelly company a list of subagents to whom it distributes commissions on state insurance policies. So far, the company has refused to release the list. The company was founded by John P. Kelly, late Democratic town chairman in Hartford. Among his major stockholders are the son and daughter of Democratic Leader Billie Kelly. While the Republican-controlled House was holding subcommittee hearings for the insurance committee, the Democratic-controlled Senate insurance committee was reporting favorably on two bills that would make reform in the way insurance is purchased on both state and local levels. The Senate committee action came immediately after a public hearing at which spokesmen for the insurance industry assailed the measure. The bill also drew objections from the House insurance committee. One of the bills would create a state insurance fund to make the state a self-insurer. The size of the proposed fund was not indicated in the bill. The second bill would eliminate all commissions on policies written for political subdivisions of the state (towns and cities) and would require towns to let insurance contracts by competitive bidding. The Republicans said they favored a proposal advanced by the Connecticut Association of Insurance Agents. The association proposed, in the event the state decides to change its system, that a non-profit independent agency be incorporated to serve as agent of record for all insurance purchased by the state. The board of directors of this corporation would include representatives of the insurance industry, insurance agents, the state insurance commissioner, and the dean of the University of Connecticut's Hartford College of Insurance. Byrnes said the future hearings would definitely be conducted by the House committee, and he implied that it would do so without the participation of the Senate committee. Sen. Edward L. Marston, chairman of the Senate insurance committee, indicated that the Senate might still try to take part in the investigation but he declined to say just what steps he would take. He said the Democrats would first want to know just how the Republicans plan to proceed.

Come-from-Behind Victories Feature Activity as Giants and Phils Triumph First Crucial Series Set After Three Days

NEW YORK (AP)—The White Sox 21, Minnesota topped Cleveland 8-3 and the Boston Red Sox topped the Los Angeles Angels 4-1.

ORIOLES-SENATORS— The Baltimore Orioles and the New York Yankees, the only unbeaten teams in the league, squared off today for a three-game set at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees were the Pennant pick, with the Orioles drawing a lot of support.

The Orioles kept their slate clean Wednesday with a 3-2 victory over the Washington Senators, fashioning with the aid of some erratic Washington base running.

The Yankees kept pace with a 5-3 pounding of the Kansas City Athletics at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees were the Pennant pick, with the Orioles drawing a lot of support.

Koupax Impressive In Winning Debut

CHICAGO (AP)—The unbeaten Los Angeles Dodgers, despite a few prime aches and pains, showed their best possible spring tonic—the successful 1963 debut of strikeout artist Sandy Koufax.

Koufax, bidding stronger as the game progressed, shaded the Chicago Cubs 2-1 Wednesday, striking out 10 and scattering 5 hits for his first victory and first full game since last mid-season.

"The finger didn't bother me at all and my shoulder stiffened just once," said the southpaw, whose arm was in good luck. He was hit in the eighth, but didn't make the effort to win after July 12 and never completed a game after July 4.

Koufax, who now has fanned 10 or more batters in a game 41 times during his National League career, said:

"The one thing pleased me yesterday was that I had no trouble with the cold weather (upper 30s) and I was making good pitches in the last few innings. There was a little numbness in the finger, but that was due to the cold."

Manager Walt Alton, who has such sick bay duties as Marv Williams, Tommy Davis and Bill Skowron, was delighted over Koufax showing as well he might with the Dodgers' wagon hitched mainly to the big three of Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres and Koufax.

"I was worried about Sandy before the game because the doctors had said if anything troubled the finger it would be cold weather," said Alton. "But Sandy actually pitched stronger the seventh, eighth and ninth innings than in any of the earlier innings. And when he got in a bit of a jam in the eighth, he didn't make the effort to throw back and become a thrower rather than a pitcher."

Hospital Appeals For Canteen Fund

The auxiliary of the Norwich Hospital is making its annual appeal for the Canteen Fund on behalf of the needy patients of this hospital.

All essentials are taken care of by the state but about half of the 3,000 patients have no resources of their own and are dependent on funds raised by this campaign for any money that they can spend in the canteen for pleasure. The auxiliary is trying to raise enough money to give each one of these patients 25 cents a week to spend for a cup or two of coffee, cigarettes, soda or a hamburger. The 1962 appeal raised only enough to give each one of them 20 cents a month.

This is the fourth annual appeal, and many of the patients who received money from this drive are still in the hospital and many will be there the rest of their lives. Send contributions to The Welfare Fund (Canteen), Norwich Hospital, Norwich, Conn.

Auto Industry, UAW, to Slate Advance Talks

By A. F. MARIAN DETROIT (AP)—It's a good bet that the automotive industry and the United Auto Workers union will set up joint committees this year to explore problems they're both facing. The government cannot object to the bargaining table in mid-1964.

Walter F. Reuther, UAW president, proposed it. Chairman Henry Ford II of Ford Motor Co. likes the idea. American Motors Corp. member of the UAW is also a profit-sharing contract, welcomed the suggestion.

General Motors Corp. will sit down with the UAW Monday to talk about starting talks. UAW will do the same Tuesday, and Chrysler Corp. on April 26. Current three-year contracts were signed in 1961. Those with the three-year run to Sept. 30, 1964, are being renegotiated.

In proposing joint management-union study committees last year, Reuther said that the government cannot object to the bargaining table in mid-1964.

Red Defies Crackdown On Artists

MOSCOW (AP)—Boris Ioganson, ousted head of the Soviet Artists' Union, is stubbornly defending some Western art against heavy Communist party criticism at the current Soviet artists' congress.

The aging painter's plea for moderation in the Soviet regime's all-out campaign to root out Western influences was published today in the newspaper Literary Gazette.

In a speech to the congress Thursday he said: "As a convinced realist I want to emphasize that the struggle with alien ideology is not an urgent task for the Soviet artist."

"I dare say that we cannot and should not, under the flag of the struggle with bourgeois ideology, reject the splendid achievements in the graphic arts such as those left to us by the best representatives of the Western art of the past."

Ioganson argued that in addition to giving rise to the abstractism of the 1920s, the "modernist" movement, which was widespread speculation in Congress and among leaders of the party drive here.

Diggs came here Wednesday to study the Negro vote registration drive in nearby Greenwood, where arrests have been made.

He called his trip South "in line with my congressional interests," gathering information for a House Judiciary Committee hearing May 8 on voter registration and "civil rights legislation."

"We were all in bed," said Henry. "We were awakened by the sound of the explosion and ran out. There was this fire in the living room."

"We got the baby out of the room. Then I woke up Mr. Diggs and dashed water on the fire. Henry said the bottle smashed the picture window in the living room and set draperies on fire."

"About 15 minutes later the fire department came. Then policemen came to investigate," Henry said. Assistant Fire Chief C. D. Doss said the fire, which occurred about 2 a.m., was out when firemen arrived. Doss would not estimate the damage.

Those who favored repeal included Fred William Bradley of the Hartford Seminary Foundation, who represented the Connecticut Council of Churches and the Conference of Congregational Christian Churches, and the Rev. George R. Cox, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hartford.

Senate Debates Arms Funds in Secret Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has authorized the purchase of $15 billion worth of military hardware after clearing the galleries of visitors and holding its bonding measure in secret.

Guarda stood at the doors of the Senate yesterday over Republican objections. Both measures now go to the House, where the GOP holds a slim majority.

Rep. Joseph P. Cooney, representing the Roman Catholic diocese of Bridgeport and the diocese of Worcester, said the measure would be a "disgrace to the Senate."
